

Seasonal upkeep made simple

By Paul Krawzak
Copley News Service

As robins flit across lawns and children head off in search of mud, there is another unmistakable sign of spring: The sounds of scrubbing and reorganizing, moving and shaking, pitching and tossing.

It is spring cleaning time again.

"I just get all kinds of energy as it starts to warm up," asserts Susan.

"Your yard starts blooming and you feel like stirring things up," adds Mary. Nobody actually enjoys the work—well, hardly any body.

List Nancy as an exception. Spring is spending her spring break spring cleaning. And you can bet she is doing it with a pronounced spring to her step.

"I enjoy it. It's kind of relaxing. I like to muck everything up," says the 32-year-old schoolteacher.

Her two roommates, who rent a house with her, nominated spring to coordinate the enterprise because "I'm the one with the big mouth," she explains. Sue, on the other hand, is putting it off as long as possible.

The 32-year-old mother of two says there isn't anything she particularly hates about spring cleaning. "It's all pretty bad," she explains. Still, she does it every year. Sue is not alone.

A recent nationwide survey found that spring cleaning is "flourishing," in the survey's words.

"Nearly half of Americans surveyed still arm themselves with buckets, mops and brooms in their annual assault on household dirt and grime," according to the poll of 971 men and women, conducted by ICR Survey Research Group in Media, Penn.

Cindy has mixed feeling about the yearly chores. "I hate washing the woodwork; that's why I get that done first. I'm not really wild about closets. I hate vacuuming out all the furniture."

Even so, the wife and mother of three feels guilty when she skips it, as she has several times.

"I just kind of feel like it's something that you have to do. My mom always did it."

Unlike many sons and daughters, Susan didn't inherit the tradition from her mother, who hired a cleaning lady for the task. Even so, she has become something of an expert.

It lasts about two months for her, and includes the cleaning out of closets, moving and scrubbing under appliances, straightening out the garage, cleaning out the basement, "where the kids have been playing all winter," and even replacing the paper in cupboards.

Oh yes, and washing the windows.

"One of my favorites," Susan says.

"I'm kidding..."

Everybody, it seems, hates the window washing. Surely spring cleaning becomes easier after years of experience.

Not for Mary. "It's as difficult as ever," she insists. Does she have any tips? "Not that I can think of."

After a period of recollection, however, she is able to share the ingenious "box" philosophy. Put stuff in boxes. Put the boxes in closets. Organize the boxes down the road. The key words here are: down the road.

Mary says the method works, but she admits that when it is time to organize the boxes, "there's no telling what will turn up there."

Others point to the importance of making a list and getting all your cleaning supplies together at the beginning.

Green cleaning tips

Nobody likes cleaning. Any usually the products we use have that extra-strength capability that helps bust dirt away. But as it turns out, that extra-strength may be extra-deadly.

As we move to a more Earth-conscious way of thinking, the way we clean our house comes under question. It is no longer safe.

Cindy offers a tidbit of accumulated wisdom, designed to keep the clutter level down.

"When you're cleaning out closets, if you think you're going to use it, but you haven't in the past, get rid of it," she says.

Whatever gets you through the chore is all right, and frequently it is the radio for these children of the '60s and '70s who now are keeping house. Surveys show that three-fourths of adults live up their cleaning routine by listening to music.

"When I do a major cleaning I really blast the radio," says Susan. I like loud music, rock and roll. It has to be fast if I'm cleaning—a good strong beat."

Nancy also subscribes to the powers of music.

"I blast the stereo, kick everything out of the house," she says.

Others prefer the television.

A SAFER SPRING CLIPPING

by Bob Tracinski

John Deere Consumer Information Manager
Spring has sprung, the grass is growin'! I wonder how the mower's doin'?

Ever find yourself asking the same question? With springtime's arrival, most homeowners do. The last time most of us thought about our lawn mower was in the fall when we pushed it into a dark corner, happy to have one less chore to do. But eventually, one bright, sunny morning we all face the inevitable -- that first spring clipping.

Before you turn a key or pull a cord, do yourself a favor. Take a few minutes to think about your mower and how to use it safely. It could make the difference between a summertime full of fun activity and a serious accident.

Whether you've just bought a brand new machine or are simply dusting off "old reliable," the key to mower safety is knowing your equipment and how to use it properly. That means reading the operator's manual and familiarizing yourself with mowing techniques.

Over the seasons, here are some safety tips I try to keep in mind.

Dress for the job. Wear close-fitting clothes, long slacks and closed-toe shoes with traction soles for protection. Loose clothes can snag on controls or get caught in moving parts. Tuck in that shirttail and avoid dangling jewelry or flowing scarves.

Take a hike. Before you mow for the first time each spring, take a hike, or at least a walk, around the lawn. Pick up any stones, sticks, toys or other debris that can get caught in whirling blades and become unidentified flying objects.

Gas up. Be sure to add the correct fuel or fuel mixture for your mower. It goes without saying to hand fuel with care.

If you smoke, leave cigarettes, matches and lighters so you're not tempted to light up. Add fuel outdoors where there's plenty of ventilation and never, never and fuel when the engine is running or hot.

Clean up. Move the mower away from any gasoline that may have spilled before starting the engine. Store fuel in an approved safety container.

Check-up. Visually inspect your mower. Make sure all safety devices are in place and working. Tighten nuts, bolts and screws to keep equipment in safe working condition. Replace worn or broken parts immediately. Keep guards and safety shields in place. If you haven't had your mower serviced in a while, you may want to take it to an authorized service center for a maintenance checkup.

If it's not running right, turn it off! Don't be tempted to make even the slightest adjustment to your mower with the engine running. Even if you have a "hard-starter," turn off the mower and give the engine and muffler time to cool before working on the machine. On riding equipment, disconnect the battery ground cable before working on the electrical system.

A lawn mower is a powerful cutting tool and like any high-speed equipment with sharp blades, it needs to be operated with your complete attention and a great deal of respect. It takes only a few moments to make sure that you and your equipment are properly prepared to kick off the new mowing season. Investing the time to get to know your lawn mower and observing a few basic safety rules will help prevent mishaps and ensure a safer mowing season. Happy mowing!

Here are some common questions I'm often asked about safe mowing techniques:

Are there any specific safety tips for mowing in "tricky" areas like hillside and around trees?

If you have slopping ground in your yard, mow across a slope with a walk-behind mower. That way, should you trip and fall, the mower is less likely to tumble onto you. With a riding mower, travel up and down a slope because this is more stable. If a slope is simply too steep to mow safely, plant a decorative groundcover to avoid mowing the area altogether. Likewise, consider a groundcover for tight corners that require you to mow forward, then back up. Spread shredded tree bark or pine straw along the borders of the lawn and around trees. This saves trim time and prevents damage to trees from the mower hitting against the trunks. Fill low spots with soil and replant grass to avoid turning an ankle while you mow. If you have trees on your lawn, prune lower branches that can flick an eye or knock you off balance while mowing.

What's the best way to clean the mower's discharge chute to free tufts or leaves that occasionally get stuck?

First, try to prevent clogging your discharge chute. Before you mow, patrol the lawn to collect any objects that could get caught in a mower's discharge chute. If the chute becomes clogged, turn off the mower, on a riding mower, disengage the mower blade before attempting to clear a clog. Disconnect the spark plug wire on walk-behind mowers to make sure the engine won't restart if you accidentally turn the blade. And remember, use a stick or tool to clear clogs, not your fingers. Otherwise, you may end cutting more than just the grass.

Do I have to fertilize if I leave my grass clippings on the lawn?

Leaving grass clippings on the lawn can provide as much as 20 percent of the nitrogen needed by your lawn. Within a week after mowing the lawn, nitrogen from the decomposed clippings will show up in the new grass growth.

However, you'll still want to fertilize about a month after the grass starts growing to replenish root zone food reserves, and again about a month before the lawn goes dormant to prepare the root zone for continued growth underground. The pre-dormant feeding is the most important one.

Can grass clippings be used in a backyard compost?

Yes... and also chopped leaves in autumn. The only precaution is this -- wait at least four mowings after the application of a pesticide. Also, use only vegetable matter in a compost and avoid plants that are obviously diseased.

How can I tell when my lawn needs to be watered?

If the grass blades begin to curl, that's a sure sign that they need a drink. If the lawn turns a bluish-green color or if you walk across the lawn and can see your footprints in the grass, those are other signs that your lawn needs water.

Here's a good way to gauge the application of one inch of water. Put a mark about one inch from the bottom of several plastic food containers of the same size. Spread them around the watering zone of your sprinkler and time how long it takes the water to reach the one inch marks. Then water for that length of time whenever your lawn shows signs of thirst.

What do the results of a soil test reveal?

Basically, soil tests determine current conditions and identify lawn problems. For example, the tests will reveal the pH of the soil -- how acidic the soil is -- and the level of nutrients in the soil. Most test results will not provide these determinations but also suggest types and amounts of lime or sulphur and fertilizers you may need to put your soil in the best possible condition. Contact an extension service or university turf specialist to find out where you can have your soil tested.

WALLS AND FLOORS

New finishes are fancy and fun

By Debra Lee Baldwin
Copley News Service

According to product styling specialists at Armstrong Floors, shades of one particular color are especially popular.

"Never before have we offered so many greens, and in such a diverse range," says Armstrong's Ann Miller.

But whether green gives you delight or vertigo, it's certainly not the only option for your home's walls, floors and ceilings.

In fact, never before have there been so many choices, from unusual paint techniques and wallpapers to durable and beautiful carpets and flooring.

WALLS

Paint suppliers can mix and hue for you. You might, for example, match a color found in the patterned fabric you've chosen for drapes or upholstery.

Textured walls with a marbled or sponge finish can lend a sophisticated, contemporary look. And now there are kits that contain everything you need, including step-by-step instructions.

It's also possible to apply stenciled designs anywhere paint will adhere, even to textiles. Ready-made patterns abound, and simple designs are easy to cut.

Consider a mural for a windowless wall; perhaps a ready-made wallpaper scene. You might have an artist create a custom landscape - or, for the ceiling, a faux sky, complete with cottony clouds and mischievous cherubs.

Wallpapers range from abstracts and crisp geometrics to beautifully rendered florals. Stripes come in fresh color combinations, such as black, gray, and white with tomato red.

Wallpaper borders can be applied in just a few hours for minimal expense; the results can be dramatic.

You might use a floral or fruit patterned border against a striped wallpaper or solid-color wall. Or apply a border with carpenter's glue to edge your floor; seal with polyurethane.

"Juxtapose crisp checks and stripes in a child's room," suggests Home magazine. "It is easy to cut striped wallpaper crosswise into strips and then to reassemble them into a checkerboard."

Another idea from Home: decoupage. You cut out design elements from wallpaper (flowers, bows, tassels, stars, patterns, animals, whatever) and use them to punctuate walls - in clusters or at random.

Lincrusta and Anaglypta are high-relief embossed wall-coverings, luxurious plasterwork friezes and gilded leather wall-coverings.

The popularity of embossed coverings derives from their intricate designs, versatility and durability; they're perfect for adding a "period look" to any interior.

Go ahead and write on the walls, advises Metropolitan Home magazine. But rather than graffiti, choose words in flowing, elegant script or lettering reminiscent of ancient Greece. As for content, consider poetry or philosophy (Plato, Socrates, Shakespeare).

FLOORS

No wonder vinyl tile flooring is popular - it's comparatively inexpensive and easy to install or repair.

Resilient flooring products, both sheet and tile, also offer myriad design options. Not only are there numerous ready-made textures and styles, you can create custom patterns and borders.

Newly popular are custom patchwork quilt designs made from vinyl squares, triangles, diamonds and rectangles. Armstrong offers nine classic quilt patterns for "instant country style."

Hardwood flooring lends beauty and warmth; it's durable, and excellent insulator and comes in light colors such as soft white and natural golden. New no-wax finishes ensure long-lasting beauty and minimal maintenance.

Glazed ceramic tile is ideal for high-traffic areas, such as foyers and hallways. You might choose a dark, mottled surface that is unobtrusive and blends well with adjacent carpeting. Make sure the tile has a non-slip satin glaze.

Also popular for entryways, kitchens, bathrooms, and patios is handcrafted stone. It's waterproof, durable and much less expensive than the real thing; styles include faux flagstone and slate, as well as "cement" pavers.

On the high end is natural quartzite stone. It has a shimmery, variegated surface; colors range from silver gray to blends of silver and gold. Quartzite stone is especially attractive when used in combination with wood or marble.

If you have a concrete floor, perhaps in a cellar, patio or breezeway, you should coat it (for practical as well as aesthetic reasons). Check paint and hardware stores for sealants that range from high-gloss urethane to epoxy-reinforced latex.

To cozy up a large room, choose a dark-colored carpet in a warm hue. Light-colored carpeting on the other hand, gives an illusion of spaciousness to a small room.

A carpet with an uneven texture will lend vitality. Options include frieze, multilevel loop, cut loop and random shear. Visit a supplier to see and experience textures.

Use rugs to define areas. A fine Oriental rug is more than a functional floor cover; it's an investment and a work of art. You'll find an extensive range of patterns, colors, materials and prices.

Custom area rug makers can create designs as simple as a rug with a contrasting border, or as complex as the yellow-gray-and-white geometric abstract Robert A.M. Stern created for Metropolitan Home's annual Show House. Rug patterns are given dimension with "carved" edges, and virtually any design is possible - including florals, sports logos and family crests.

Another option: Have a rug maker inlay roses and vines (to match your upholstery or wallpaper) into your wall-to-wall carpeting.

If all this seems overwhelming and you don't know where to begin, consult an interior designer. With professional advice, you'll fine-tune your preferences and avoid costly mistakes.

ROMPER ROOMS

Creating the perfect space for kids

By Alison Ashton
Copley News Service

Expectant parents might envision the ideal nursery as a fantasy place, complete with an antique cradle, lace curtains and Amish quilts.

But whose design needs does a room like that serve?

As Mary Gilliatt points out in "Designing Rooms for Children" (Little, Brown), that kind of nursery might be a parent's dream, but it won't do much for the child.

Instead, the ideal nursery is a functional room, a stimulating place where children can sleep, play, sit, read, draw and store all their stuff. Even a room for a newborn can be designed to grow with the child. Gilliatt is a staunch advocate of function rather than making trendy design statements, and she insists that the same basic room that serves a baby can be adapted to suit a teen-ager. Smart new parents look ahead: instead of blowing decorating dollars on a fancy crib, they invest in a sturdy wardrobe and drawers (not baby-size ones, either).

Take, for example, a nursery that includes a sleeping cot, wardrobe with cubboards, bookshelves, a counter with two sets of drawers and a trolley for baby things. For a toddler, the cot is replaced by a bed with a safety rail, and the trolley now holds toys.

Once the child is in school, parents might add bunk beds, and the trolley holds a computer or books; the counter that served as a changing area in babyhood is now a desk for doing homework. For a teen-ager, the room also can serve as a private sitting room - the bunk beds are replaced by daybeds or futons that convert from sofas to beds; the trolley can hold a television set or stereo equipment.

Along the way, parents can use light fixtures, prints and color schemes using inexpensive paint techniques and throw rugs to create a room that reflects their child's interests and stage in life.

Here are more tips from Gilliatt's book:

"Provide plenty of storage. Kids, like adults, have lots of stuff and they need room to store it. And having enough storage space might even encourage tidy habits."

Be sure there is plenty of drawer space, as well as open shelving that is accessible to the child. Storage can be improvised out of almost anything, including built-in wood shelves, wire and wicker baskets, crates and bookshelves place for children to hang their own artwork.

If you have your heart set on wallpaper, be sure to choose one that's washable.

"Shared rooms. Like it or not, many siblings must share a room, and that puts a strain on space and privacy."

Bunk beds are the obvious space-saving choice, but also consider installing loft beds with desk and play space underneath. For children who have to share their sleeping space on an occasional basis - when a friend sleeps over - invest in a trundle bed.

As children get older, they'll want more privacy. Gilliatt suggests turning the master bedroom over to them, where they'll have more space, which makes sense children tend to spend more time in their rooms than parents. Privacy can be created with anything from folding screens to partition walls to roller blinds hanging from the ceiling.

"Install adequate lighting. The ideal room has a mix of natural, general and task lighting. Try track lighting with a dimmer switch, as well as wall lights. For task lighting, use lamps or clip-on spotlights."

"Remember safety. Children spend a lot of unsupervised time in their rooms, so it's important to remove any hazards."

Electrical outlets should be child-proof, and keep freestanding lights and appliances out of reach of the small and curious.

FINISHING TOUCHES Art, accessories, antiques and more

By Sharon Williams
Copley News Service
Stare at a bare wall or an empty tabletop for long and the stark realization will set in.

Home accessories aren't just optional, excessive trinkets to mindlessly toss about the house. Instead, they're essential elements that can instantly make a humdrum room interesting and fashionable.

Accessories offer pizzazz, power and personality -- and help promote the overall ambience a room's decorator is trying to convey.

And, because they're more affordable than major furnishings, accessories can easily update or change a room's feeling without blowing the bank account.

There are as many ways to accessorize a room as there are rooms themselves. Following are some tips and trends to consider:

FINE THINGS

This down-to-earth decade has many decorators going back to basics -- basics such as lead crystal, sterling silver, fine porcelain, bone china, gleaming brass and pewter.

Opulent, yes. But, far from the stylish clutter of the excessive 1980s, these timeless accessories signal a return to the less-is-more concept.

You need, for instance, only one or two well-edited porcelain figurines or an important pair of brass candlestick holders to get the message across.

And, what could be more elegant -- and understated -- than a cluster of petite silver picture frames displaying poignant family photos or a lead crystal vase brimming with long-stem flowers?

Practically everyone recognized the value of such fine things -- and for reasons that go far beyond status.

Workmanship, investment potential, heirloom quality, styling and function are just a few of the many reasons why china trinket boxes, pewter fruit bowls, porcelain clocks and silver tea services are well at home in humble abodes of the unpretentious 1990s.

If Grandmother didn't leave them to you, find those timeless treasures in the china section of your favorite department store or in specialty boutiques. Antique emporiums and estate sales are the prime spots for treasure hunters with a few valuable years on them.

FINE ARTS

You can't afford a Julian Schnabel, much less find room in your house for one of his colossal creations. Never fear -- fine art -- which always ranks among the hottest home accessories -- is still within your reach.

When it comes to fine art, price is often a factor with would-be buyers.

Thus, whether they're shopping for a full-scale watercolor to hang over the fireplace, a sculpture for the entryway, a small photograph or a piece of art furniture for a specific nook or pottery for the sideboard, many home owners are forsaking the bright lights and big prices of metropolitan art markets for the oftentimes more affordable wares of regional artisans.

Find out about the Van Goghs and Matisses in your own neck of the woods by scouting out nearby galleries and art shows. Once you find a favorite, ask to be put on the mailing list for any private showings.

Another popular trend among art-conscious home decorators lies in the area of reproductions. One can find virtually everything -- from graceful reproductions of Grecian statuettes and works of the old masters to artful copies of botanical prints and contemporary sculpture -- through retailers specializing in home decorating.

COLLECTIONS

Somewhere between pastime and passion lies the art of collecting, and many home decorators aren't content to hide their accumulations in show boxes under the bed anymore.

Thus explains the current trend of accessorizing the home with beloved collections. Everything from kitschy salt-and-pepper shakers and breezy seashells to sparkling piles of junk jewelry and shiny enameled boxes are showing up all around the house.

And, new acquisitions are gleaned from frequent jaunts to estate sales, flea markets, garage sales and antique emporiums.

For collectors, the key to good display, say experts, depends more on how a collection is displayed than it does on the individual objects of the groupings themselves. A collection is just a series of disjointed objects when scattered about a room. But, when like objects are placed together, dramatic impact ensues.

So much impact, in fact, that home decorators often play up collections by using spotlights or specially designed display lights.

Open shelves and bookcases are prime spots for less fragile collections, while glass-enclosed display cases and tables await valuable collections or those made up of small items, such as jewelry.

FOLK ACCESSORIES

A Western-style room just wouldn't cut it without a few Indian blankets, a rawhide lamp shade and a 10-gallon cowboy hat hanging on a weathered coat stand.

And a Victorian room wouldn't have the same appeal without a needlepoint pillow, blossom-filled vases and a delicate antique wrought-iron bird cage.

The growing popularity of theme and period decor has resulted in accessories that fit right into the ambience at hand -- accessories that play up the decorating music without drowning out the melody.

Examples range from handmade baskets, colorful quilts and wall-mounted platters that are quintessentially country to the kachinas, ristras and cactus indigenous to Santa Fe chic.

Garage sales

By Sharon Williams
Copley News Service
Some of the best home accessories belong to other people.

And, in some cases, they're for sale. Many real finds are waiting for perusal and purchase at nearby garage sales.

Shopping the garage sale circuit takes patience and persistence. You don't know what you'll find at each sale, you've got to fight the crowds and you can't put things on hold or return them if they don't work.

And sometimes, it's hard to tell what's a treasure, and what's trash.

But, good things await those who rise to the challenge. Following are some tips for finding home accessories at garage sales.

* Do your homework: Search classified ads and community bulletin boards for sales in your area, then plot your strategy. Prioritize the sales you'll visit according to advertised items or plan to hit several sales located in the same area.

* Know what you want: If it's footstool you're after, resist the temptation to blow your wad on a mediocre plant stand just because it's a good buy. But do keep an open mind, lest you stumbled upon something that you didn't plan on buying but could really use.

* Be prepared: No returns, holds or refunds mean garage sale shoppers have to make on-the-spot decisions. Thus, it's a good idea to bring along fabric swatches, paint chips, snapshots of the room you're working on and anything else that will help you determine if an item will work in the scheme of things.

CONSIDERATIONS

* All things green: Whether it's a lush, live fern atop a freestanding plant stand, cut flowers in a hand-blown vase, a potted tree situated in a corner or a tiny faux topiary sitting on a mantle, the right plant can play an important supporting role in any room.

* Reading up: Books are as much of an aesthetic pleasure as they are an intellectual one these days. Stack art books on or under the coffee table, and use rare, valuable or just plain pretty books in object groupings.

* Comfort accessories: Throw pillows and rugs, afghans and quilts are just a few of the many accessories that offer both comfort and charm. Drape them over the sofa, toss them on a chair or display them on free-standing racks.

* Wonderful wicks: Candles and their accompanying holders can add a glowing touch to any room. Scented candles, clusters of votives and elegant tapers are just a few of the many choices.

AFFORDABLE DECORATING Cost-friendly ways to perk up your abode

By Sharon Williams
Copley News Service

High fashion and high style once carried a hefty price tag, and the best rooms were achieved only when the sky was the limit.

Things are considerably more down to earth in the lean '90s, but nobody is suffering on the home front.

Instead, home designers, owners, renters and decorators have gone back to the basics. They've stretched their budgets and their imaginations, tightened their purse strings and shopped until they've dropped for the bargains.

Their efforts have resulted in some spectacular rooms -- rooms that put an end to the myth that good decorating requires gobs of money, massive amounts of manpower and months of renovation.

You can achieve the same marvelous, money-saving results if you plan to tackle a decorating project in the coming months.

Following are some suggestions for getting the most for your refurbishing finances.

GO WITH A PRO

Employing an interior designer might seem an indulgent expense for someone who's counting every penny. But a modest budget doesn't mean you should shy away from consulting a home decorating professional.

In fact, an interior decorator might help you save money -- or at the very least enough to cover his or her design fee.

Typically, he or she will begin the job by establishing a budget with you. Once that's accomplished, he or she can advise you on design trends, new materials and products, offer a variety of affordable suggestions without compromising quality and suggest features that can boost your home's resale value.

Design professionals also have a knack for making everything old new again through artful rearranging and the reintroduction of forgotten objects and furnishings that were relegated to the closet or back room.

In most cases they have insiders' access to merchandise, labor and materials sources that are out of reach for the average consumer.

RENTERS RIGHTS

So you've rented a drab pad. You don't have to spend a fortune on furnishings to compensate for the obvious lack of aesthetic appeal. And you don't have to just live with it, either.

Instead, say design pros, why not focus on simple, inexpensive, adaptable pieces that you can take with you once you're ready to move on?

Some examples: Cover dull, worn carpet with area rugs; replace unsightly window treatments with inexpensive miniblinds, lace panels or balloon shades; and pull slipcovers over couches and chairs.

Throw pillows can add splashes of color, ugly drawer pulls and cabinet knobs can be replaced with prettier versions from a nearby do-it-yourself emporium, and makeshift furnishings -- such as a table made from a wooden crate and circular piece of plywood -- can be camouflaged with patterned sheets or fabric.

Another thought: If your landlord won't allow paint or wallpaper, rent furniture that works with the apartment's existing scheme. When you're ready to move, you can leave the furniture behind.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

From wonderful window dressings to fabulous floor coverings, many home accessories

AFFORDABLE DECORATING--Give a roomful of hand-me-down furniture new panache with inexpensive matching pillows and striking objects d'art.

sories are just a hammer, scissors or a few yards of fabric away.

Home projects abound for do-it-yourself decorators. You can, for instance, find patterns galore in a range of skill levels for converting designer sheets or decorator fabrics into folding screens, dining room appointments, bedroom ensembles, window treatments and slipcovers.

Ditto for patterns and explanations in magazines, books and on video that offer instruction on subjects such as how to construct a lampshade, drape a valance, stencil an unfinished bench or spongepaint a wall.

CREATE YOUR OWN ART

When culled from an uptown gallery, art can take a big bite out of your decorating budget. So why not save a pretty penny by creating your own masterpieces?

If you've a spare art book, for instance, you could dismantle prints or photographs, then mat and frame them for a unified presentation in a hall or entryway.

Flea markets, garage sales and estate sales often are meccas for interesting prints, drawings and paintings that might mesh with your decorating scheme.

If you're an artist in the family, why not put his or her works in the spotlight? Your child's kindergarten masterpieces or cousin's wondrous watercolors take on new importance when they're given a frame and a well thought-out place to rest.

A recent issue of Sunset magazine featured two colossal works by three small artists who delightfully applied four colors to the canvas with foam brushes and sponges. Commissioned by their parents, these sentimental and abstract pieces were designed to fill the empty walls of the family's new home at minimal cost.

With a little imagination, you can even create art from objects you already own. Prop your pictures and photographs instead of hanging them for a new twist, or fill a ceramic bowl with fruit for a still life study.

ADD INTEREST

Weary of four square walls and rectangular doorways? You can change your home's geometric proportions without months of expensive remodeling.

It's easy, for instance, to add inexpensive decorative moldings or chair rails to a ho-hum room, or to create divinely draped window treatments with the installation of tiebacks in interesting shapes such as stars and circles.

Paint in contrasting tones can bring out the best in trim, enliven dull rooms or enhance flow throughout the house. Free-standing screens can help define boundaries in open floor plans.

WATCH FOR BARGAINS

To make your decorating dollar go the distance, scan the classified ads for second-hand furnishings, attend auctions and estate sales if you're looking for antiques and keep abreast of the sales.

Bargain buys that have seen better days often can be revitalized through refinishing or reupholstery -- with the total price still coming in at a fraction of the cost of a brand-new piece.

Refinishing furniture

By Sharon Williams
Copley News Service

You love wood. And you'd never let age get in the way of a relationship with a beautiful, if not youthful, piece of furniture.

Your state of mind fits right in with the times. Furniture recycling and refurbishing are among the hottest decorating trends going today because they're smart both economically and environmentally.

Both also offer loads of opportunities in the way of creativity since there are dozens of ways to refurbish and refinish a wooden piece.

Your romance probably will begin at a junk yard or at a flea market, garage sale, antique store, thrift store, estate sale, auction, junk shop or swap meet. You might even uncover something worthwhile in your neighbor's trash heap.

Once you find it, it's up to you to evaluate just how you'll revamp your newfound treasure. Options include:

• Refinishing: Revive a distressed or worn piece of furniture by restoring its original finish or creating a brand-new one through refinishing.

Do-it-yourselfers can find a wide array of strippers, stains and sealants -- some that are environmentally friendly, and myriad books and magazine articles on the subject.

If you'd rather take a hand-off approach, have a professional strip your piece, or let him or her take the entire job start to finish.

• Paint: Many of the most fashionable home furnishings are those with painted-on finishes.

A brush, sponge and techniques picked up through craft workshops or instruction booklets can help you create faux effects such as marbling, antiquing or tortoise shell, a stenciled design or a whimsical trompe l'oeil presentation.

With contrasting colors, you turn an ordinary piece into art furniture simply by highlighting interesting features with color, or by applying bold patterns and motifs.

• Upholstery: A few yards of cloth can revive a weathered sofa or chair and bring it into your present decorating scheme.

Turn the job over to an upholstery professional or learn do-it-yourself techniques through community education classes and how-to instructions in decorating magazines.

Those handy with the sewing machine can whip up slipcovers that update a worn piece while neatly disguising sins of the past.

LIGHTEN UP Fancy and functional bright ideas

By Jennifer Plantier
Copley News Service
Anyone who has brought home the perfect pair of lamps to match with the new sofa and then discovered they were still forced to squint while reading in one or more corners of the room has learned the primary rule of home lighting.

The key to successful home lighting is striking a balance between function and form. It's smart to use lighting fixtures and lamps as part of a decorative scheme. However, think first about what the room needs to be well lit and what purpose the light in the room must fulfill.

HOW MUCH LIGHT?
It's no wives' tale that while using the eyes for activities such as reading or writing, a shortage of light can strain the eyes and cause headaches or even permanently damage vision. For this simple reason, making sure that rooms and work areas are lighted adequately should be a priority.

When determining the amount of light needed in a room, keep in mind that the colors used, and coverings has an effect. White rooms of course reflect more and thus need less light, while darker colors require more. Rooms with paneling or wall paper will generally need more light as well.

WAYS OF LIGHT

Think about what job the lighting in a room will be expected to perform. Will it be used to highlight a collection of antique figurines, jazz up a party or illuminate the path to higher education via book reports and term papers? Specific functions call for different lighting techniques, which may require particular light fixtures.

General lighting is the primary source of light in a room or area. Much of it comes from overhead in the form of incandescent ceiling light fixtures, recessed lighting or even the more decorative ceiling fan or chandelier. However, table lamps and taller, free-standing floor lamps can also perform this function.

Task lighting provides direct light for work areas like desks or work benches. Flexible goose neck and drafting lamps or even inexpensive clip on lights work well in these spaces.

Accent lighting is dramatic and impressive although not always necessary. Use it to draw attention to and beautify collections, art and other decorative items. Mounted spotlights and strategically placed fluorescent strips accomplish this effect.

A FLAIR FOR FIXTURES
If preoccupation with window coverings and wall accents has meant that lighting details have been neglected in previous decorating projects, you may want to reassess them now. Lighting is certainly necessary but it could also be the creative or dramatic touch a room has been lacking.

As with other areas of the decorating world, a look at emerging trends provides valuable information about what kinds of new or recycled products are now available. Consider how these novel ideas might work to light up an existing decorating scheme.

Track lighting is not altogether new, but has steadily improved with time. It is versatile because it functions as just about any type of light source, providing general lighting, task lighting or even accent lighting in one fell swoop.

It consists of several small spotlights mounted to tracks on the ceiling, and the fixtures come in a multitude of shapes and colors. Track lights work best with modern and contemporary decor. Halo manufactures easy-to-install track systems for custom designs. Choose from a variety of cylinder, round-back or even nautical style fixtures, complete with dimmers.

Recessed lighting has replaced old-fashioned, hard-to-clean ceiling fixtures and fluorescent kitchen lights as general lighting most new homes. While most recessed or "can" lighting is not meant to draw much attention to itself, Edison manufactures a whole slew of styles, some with more decorative touches like a different shape or brass trim.

You won't have to go far to find Halogen floor lamps this year. Most floor lamps are about six feet tall but some are adjustable. The range in styles and prices is startling. Inexpensive torchiere lamps in simple styles with one, two or three poles run as low as $30 and often come in a choice of colors.

More elaborate designer styles with dimmers come as high as $600 or more. The floor lamps are made to send each other.

If you're committed to going all the way when it comes to lighting and decor, you'll welcome the news that art and light have collided.

Many artists and sculptors have turned their talents into creating custom lamp bases. In addition, less expensive manufactured versions capture the same artistic look. Sculpted metal bases, with their new and interesting brushed and mottled finishes, are some of the year's most popular decorative lamps.

So before setting out to find the perfect lamp with a shade the same color as your floor rug, take a good look at the room in question. The lighting path you choose could add more to your decor than light to see by.

It's often said that a person's home is his castle. More accurate, however, would be the statement that a person's home is his cocoon.

Most folks crave warmth, comfort and relaxation in their homes, not the cold, stark ceremony of a stony castle. While some furnishing trends of the past have tended more toward impractical castle chic, today's strongest trends combine style with comfort — chairs you sit in, not on; over-stuffed sofas; richly textured upholstery that is both durable and stain-resistant.

Aside from furniture, another design trend certain to add warmth to any decor is the liberal use of color.

Cold and stark white-on-white walls and ceilings have been painted over with the new neutral — green — or any of an entire spectrum of warm pastel and vivid shades.

On fabrics or furniture, walls or floors, color makes a room alive. It also is the greatest unifier in any room scheme.

To select a color scheme, peruse decorating magazines and furniture showrooms and note which arrangements appeal to you. The colors that predominate in those setups are sure to be among your favorites. Or let an upholstery fabric or heirloom quilt spark a room's plan. Take one or more of the paler tints and use them for areas like walls and floors. Pick up a brighter tone from the pattern for large upholstery pieces and window treatments. Save the strongest hues for accents such as pillows and lamps.

Just as you can determine your color preferences by searching through magazines and furniture showrooms, so too can you learn of the styles of furniture you find appealing.

Tour furniture stores and galleries, specialty-design shops and antique stores. Talk with salespeople and browse the displays. You'll get ideas on style and how a room scheme goes together.

When it actually comes time to purchase furnishings, aim for a continuity of style. Although styles need not be the same in a room or house, generally one or two dominate simply because a person's preferences lean toward that design. In any case, only two or three designs per room generally is best.

While comfortable style really knows no boundaries — casual-comfort furniture encompasses elements of nearly all designs — some of the most popular furniture trends are:

- Quaint, cushy romance reminiscent of European country homes — consider, as an example, the English manor charm of a floral print wing chair.

- Contemporary pieces redone with softer lines and nurturing cushions.

- American West collections that incorporate the broken-in leather look and desert earth tones as well as the seaside hues and nautical themes of the Pacific Northwest.

- Styles that reference back to the plush, rounded '30s and '40s looks of comfortable art deco or those influenced by the function-first straightforward appeal of Mission and Prairie furnishings.

- Tactile materials have become more important as well. People want furniture that makes you want to touch it, whether it be soft and sensuous or rough and rugged twig, wicker and rattan — topped with over-size cushions, of course, and paired with ottomans to prop up your feet.

With today's complex lifestyles and limited home space, another important trend — regardless of design style — is for furnishings to be versatile. As more rooms in the house pull double-duty so too do the furnishings in them.

The addition of a sofa bed and decorative screen to a great room used primarily as an entertainment center or home office also allows it to be a guest bedroom. A drop-leaf table used as a work surface or game table in a family room or den can double as a formal dining table when the need arises.

Sofas scales to fit the end of a bed or luxurious chaise lounges make the bedroom a sitting room as well, and artful armchairs can hide away a work space or entertainment center.

When starting to shop for new furniture, plan to buy the best furnishings you can afford. Consumers of the '80s have replaced a disposable philosophy with the mind set of wanting pieces that will endure both structurally and aesthetically — wanting to feel that there is inherent value in the products they buy.

Also, take along a floor plan showing windows, doorways and any special architectural features — as well as the width of doors and hallways so you can be certain the furniture will fit in the home.

Also take along paint chips, swatches of fabrics and carpet-samples with which your new purchases must coordinate.

For example: Soft white panels, perhaps twisted over the top of a window in an abstract valance, cascade to the floor and trail out a foot or so.

You easily can do this yourself. Look for the perfect fabric at a yardage supply store; hem the edges to prevent fraying, then drape over and around a curtain rod.

If you have old-fashioned pull-down shades, the kind that roll up (and snap, if you're not careful!), don't be in a hurry to toss 'em. If you or a friend have artistic inclinations, use the shades as canvas to create a trompe l'oeil "view," just for fun, with a brush and paint.

On the other hand, new find pleated shades in drap-pleated shades are wonderfully efficient. They roll up smoothly into a half-inch space at the top window sash and come in sun blocking, miniblinds made of the same transparent fabrics. You'll

WONDERFUL WINDOWS

Trends in letting the light in (or out)

By Debra Lee Baldwin
Copley News Service

Windows used to be invisible. They framed views and allowed light and air to enter, but were themselves of little interest.

Today, with no sacrifice of function, windows are making design statements. Window "treatments" (not just coverings) are as important to your home's interior as the chairs you choose.

Used in groupings, windows become important architectural accents.

Builders and architects save clients money by routinely combining manufacturers' standard windows in configuration that look custom.

And large windows needn't be holes in a home's insulation. Glass now comes with protective coatings or is double-paned and insulated with gas.

DRAPES, SHADES, SHUTTERS

It's old-fashioned but very "designer" now: windows treated with billowing, puffy, trailing and just plain romantic fabrics.

GREENING THE PALACE

Smart home-improvement projects

ity Debra Lee Baldwin Copley News Service.

All homes eventually show wear, less dated and without regular maintenance deteriorate.

Smart owners stay on top of the situation. They set aside time and money to keep their homes in excellent condition.

And as they make their residences more pleasant, they're also building investments that someday will appeal to buyers.

WHAT YOU SEE

Make no mistake. First impressions count.

You may have passed the peeling paint on your entryway many times, but you no longer notice it. But you can bet guests, real estate appraisers and potential buyers will certainly see it.

Take a few minutes to view your house as though you've never set foot in it before.

If your front door is ugly or nondescript, it's easy to replace it; a handyman can do the job in a few hours. While you're at it, check the weatherstripping.

Scrutinize your home's walls, inside and out. Is it time for a new coat of paint? Consider wallpaper for a touch of class and character.

"The use of molding can not be emphasized enough," says Dan Lieberman and Paul Hoffman, authors of "Renovating Your Home for Maximum Profit" (Prima Books).

"A wooden chair rail or wainscoting can be added to the walls at little expense, totally transforming your living room from its former boxy self into a room with character."

Niches and nooks also add character, as well as storage space. Built-ins, such as bookshelves, make a living room or den seem more substantial and inviting. Consider enhancing the dining room with a built-in

Universal Design: A Major Feature Of Future Kitchen

When someone says "kitchen of the future," our minds may picture scenes from an old TV series, the Jetsons.

While that may be our image of a futuristic kitchen, it's not the one described by knowledgeable architects, interior designers and home builders, report home economists for Whirlpool Corporation.

To these housing experts, future kitchens don't look like a series of plastic bubbles installed in a space station. In fact, their future kitchens come in almost any style—country, traditional or contemporary—and don't look too different from what we have today. But regardless of their surface appearance, these new generation kitchens have a common theme: They incorporate the concept of universal design.

Just as the name implies, it's a design that provides home spaces which serve all family members, the young, the old and the in-between, the tall, the short and the average, the able-bodied and those with a disability.

How do you design a kitchen that's totally user-friendly, yet affordable and stylish? "That's a very legitimate question," note Whirlpool home economists. They point out that ready-to-use standard cabinets, appliances and materials form the core of any universal design kitchen, just as they do in today's designs. It's not so much the products themselves, but rather how they're installed or assembled that creates an accessible, user-friendly design.

For example, microwave ovens inherently offer universal design. They have front controls, a side opening door and can be positioned almost anywhere in a kitchen. But if you install an oven under a low counter, you eliminate users who can't bend or stoop and those who have a balance problem. In addition, tall people and those of average height may find it uncomfortable to work so low.

One universal design solution: Install microwave ovens at a comfortable working height for both standing and seated users.

In this Whirlpool universal design kitchen, the microwave oven installed at the raised end of a cooktop island works equally well for children and adults who are standing, and is also at a good height for a seated user.

The pull-out shelf below the oven provides a handy spot for hot dishes—or space for a blind user to read the Braille operating instructions and cookbook. This appliance also has a Braille control panel overlay, an accessibility feature available free to visually impaired owners of Whirlpool microwave ovens.

Like the microwave oven, dishwashers offer many inherent universal design characteristics. Front controls, pull-out racks for easy access in loading and unloading and detergent dispensers in the door. Many Whirlpool dishwashers also have removable cutlery and silverware baskets in the door for easy safe reach and use.

But even a well-designed dishwasher can be installed in a corner or adjacent to a wall so that it's inaccessible to many users.

One universal design solution: Install the dishwasher under a counter adjacent to the sink, leaving users room to reach racks from either side of the unit. The dishwasher is easily loaded or unloaded from both seated and standing positions. For wheelchair use in this kitchen, the designer removed the undersink cabinet doors. Many older people who like to work seated also might benefit from removing cabinet doors at the sink and in other kitchen areas.

From these examples, it's obvious that it isn't difficult to incorporate universal design into a kitchen. It just requires selecting and installing standard fixtures, appliances and materials so that they provide easy reach and use for all family members.

"With today's busy lifestyles, increasing numbers of two wage earner families, millions of latchkey children helping with household chores and an aging population wanting to live independently, incorporating universal design into our kitchens makes good sense," comment Whirlpool home economists. "It's easy to do, and as the housing experts note, universal design is the wave of the future of America's kitchens."

If you're planning to build a new home or remodel an existing one, Whirlpool home economists suggest you write for free booklets to help you put universal design into your future kitchen. Request Universal Design and Independent Living brochures by sending a post card to: Appliance Information Service, Whirlpool Corporation, P.O. Box 85, St. Joseph, Michigan 49085.

Other storage areas well worth adding include a coat closet for the entry hall; a linen closet for towels in the bathroom; a utility closet for brooms and mops in the kitchen; and space for ladders, tools and garden equipment in the garage.

You can increase the airy feeling of your home and add square footage to your living space by adding a balcony, deck, solarium or patio. And how about turning the attic or basement into a guest room, home office or entertainment center?

Interior designers use lighting to create memorable and dramatic effects. Would track lights, used to emphasize works of art or antiques, add elegance to your living room?

If they're aluminum-frame, consider upgrading your windows to wood-frame. And clean, crystal-clear windowpanes will make the whole house seem brighter.

Is the overall interior too dark? A skylight can work wonders, as does having trees and bushes trimmed away from windows.

You might add a mantel to your fireplace if it has none.

"You can also cover the facing of your fireplace with new tile, brick, and even old lithographic plates," advise durable, tinted clear plastic used for sunglasses.

Simple window treatments -- or none at all -- are best if the outdoors is an asset. Stylish and versatile, three to four inch shutters can be adjusted to let in or totally shut out light and view.

To lend the illusion of taller, larger windows, extend shutters past the top of the window to the ceiling -- and then keep the view-less shutters closed.

Shutters can be left simple or softened with valances, drapery panels and/or shades.

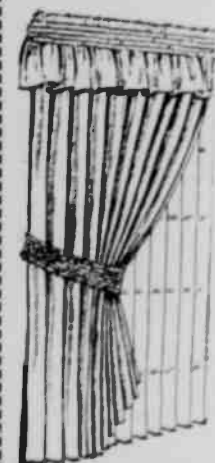

If your view is uninspiring, you might replace your existing windows with etched or stained glass -- or have them covered with stained-glass overlay.

Are security and privacy priorities? Exterior rolling shutters, used extensively throughout Europe, can be adapted to any size window. They roll down -- electrically or manually -- from a housing that hides them when not in use. The inside of your windows is left uncluttered, which is especially nice in a small room.

DESIGN WITH LIGHT

Tour model homes and you'll wonder where the walls went. Framed glass is everywhere: rounds and half circles, stately Palladians, French doors, sharp-angled geometrics.

Often what seems to be one large window with numerous panes and an intriguing shape is a clever mix of smaller windows.

By the way, muntins needn't be uniform. You can order them in intriguing designs -- perhaps a grouping of small squares in one corner or rectangles within squares. Think Mondrian.

As for style trends in window configurations, Susan Marvin of Marvin Windows says that vertical and horizontal alignments of rectangular and square windows seem to be gaining on arches, circles and Palladians.

It's like playing with one-dimensional glass building blocks. The creative possibilities are endless.

Andersen Windows publishes a guide that illustrates hundreds of window configurations; other innovative, high-end manufacturers include Marvin, Milgard, Peachtree, Pella, Pozzi and Windowmaster.

MAGIC WITH MUNTINS

Call it Cape Cod: small panes of glass within larger windows.

The architectural term is "muntins," but manufacturers refer to them as "grills" or "grids." The look they create is "divided light."

Windows with grids range in style from traditional to contemporary; they're often what sells the product.

Muntins can be simulated -- which reduces costs and maintenance. Grills snap in and out to make cleaning easier, and one large piece of (double-paned, argon-filled) glass can be more energy-efficient than a grid of panes held in place with metal or wood.

To muntin or not? Consider what best results your home's ambience and architecture. Grills add a cozy look, but they'll also partially

You may wonder which is the lesser of two evils.

If you love your house and

But how are you going to afford that room addition or remodeling project?

Work Safely Near Overhead Power Lines

Even though electricity is one of our safest forms of energy, there are certain situations in which electricity can be deadly. High voltage power lines are designed to carry large amounts of electricity, at exceptionally high voltages, from the generating source to the end consumer. Because it would be prohibitively expensive to insulate these lines or bury them underground, they are carried 18 ft. or more above the ground on wooden poles or metal towers to reduce the risk of equipment or people coming in contact with the bare wires.

But even with these precautions, individuals working on top of buildings, using metal ladders, or operating tall machinery must be particularly cautious not to come in contact with overhead lines. As you work outdoors this season, please keep these safety tips in mind:

- Know the clearance height of all farm machinery or other tall equipment you are about to operate. To be safe, keep all equipment 10 ft. away from overhead lines.
- NEVER attempt to raise or move a power line. If you're operating a tractor or other tall equipment that touches a line, stay where you are and have someone call the utility.
- If you must leave the equipment, jump as far as you can so that no part of your body touches the equipment and the ground at the same time.
- If you are carrying a tall metal ladder, irrigation pipe, TV antenna, or other tall object, always look first to see whether overhead power lines are nearby.

Always remember, utility lines are uninsulated. Never let your body become a direct link to ground, or the result could be fatal.

broken heads

Clean out the fireplace and check the flue; if creosote has built up, call a chimney sweep. Before the rains come, patch mortar joints and flashings, check the roof and replace any broken tiles or shingles.

Gutters and downspouts also should be examined before fall. When it rains, check gutters for leaks. Walk around the house to see if water gathers in low spots; fill these with dirt or gravel to make sure water drains away from the house.

Is your refrigerator (a major energy user) running efficiently? Check for gasket leakage around the doors and vacuum the coils.

And speaking of money-saving energy use, you'll also want to make sure your home has adequate attic insulation and ventilation.

Finally, test the batteries in all smoke alarms, replace as needed.

an improvement loan, second mortgage or home equity loan. Another option (if interest rates remain low) may be to refinance your existing mortgage.

You'll find that lenders are especially receptive to enhancements likely to increase the value of your home.

Best bets are remodeled baths and kitchens; enlarged master suites; room additions; and upgrades of windows, doors, and flooring. Also consider "going up" - adding a second story.

"The biggest benefit of move-up remodeling may be the financial reward," says Home Mechanix. "Experts say that if the work is carried out thoughtfully and aesthetically, the home's value can increase dramatically."

BEFORE YOU BEGIN
The fun part is touring model homes, paging through home improvement magazines, visiting showrooms and envisioning how you're going to fill and use all that extra space.

A word of caution: Tether your dreams lest they carry you away. The most practical of homeowners find it absurdly easy to overspend during remodeling. Keep your budget in mind at all times.

Also, "Give as much attention to who will do the installation as you do to the design and to the products you choose," advises Decorating Remodeling magazine.

How do you find a competent contractor?

Ask friends, neighbors and business associates for referrals.

Visit and evaluate a few completed projects similar to the one you're planning. If you like the work, ask if the same crew is available to do your project.

Find out how long the firm has been in business and how many projects it does per year. Also verify that the contractor is insured for workers' compensation, property damage and personal liability.

Call the Better Business Bureau to see if the firm has had any complaints filed against it. And if contractors in your area are required to be licensed and bonded, ask to see proof.

SURVIVING REMODELING

If you can't look at the process as an adventure, one you're determined to endure with unflinching good humor, maybe you ought to move instead.

No kidding: It's not uncommon for couples to divorce after completing a major home improvement project.

Can you cheerfully vacate your home at dawn to be put out of the way of a crew of plasterers? Can you wash dishes in the bathtub while your kitchen is out of commission? And during a bathroom remodel, can you... well, you get the idea.

Believe it or not, there are people who enjoy remodeling so much they feel let down when it's finished - and then buy a dilapidated home so they can start over. (These are the folks who make a mint on fixer-uppers, but that's another story.)

A few survival suggestions:
• Read the novel "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House" by Eric Hodgins

(Simon & Schuster, check your local library). It was written in 1946 but remains a chilling eye-opener to the follies of homeowners undergoing remodeling. (The book also was the basis of an RKO Radio Pictures comedy starring Cary Grant and Myrna Loy).

WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW

There's much more to home maintenance than meets the eye. Focus only on appearances and you'll end up, over the long run, with inconvenient and costly repairs.

The following tasks should be done by every homeowner on a regular basis:

Before the weather warms, inspect and clean the air-conditioning unit; change filters and oil the blower fan. And if you haven't done so recently, clean or replace the filters in your home's forced-air heating system.

Tools box tips

By Debra Lee Baldwin
Copley News Service

Similar to a well-stocked medicine cabinet, a basic tool kit is must-have for every home. You'll be glad you have it when those inevitable repair projects come along. Your basic tool kit should contain:

- Hammer, fiberglass or wooden handle, weighing 16 ounces.
- Screwdrivers, several sizes of Phillips head and flat head.
- Slip-joint pliers (10-inch).
- Curved-jaw locking pliers. Commonly known as Vice-Grips, these work like a clamp or small vise.
- Needle-nose pliers with a built-in wire cutter.
- Adjustable wrench, also known as a Crescent wrench.

- Crosscut saw. The basic hand saw.
- Retractable steel measuring tape.
- Utility knife with a retractable blade.
- Putty knife.
- File for sharpening blades and tools.
- Power drill with a starter collection of bits.
- Plastic goggles for eye protection.
- Plumber's friend or plunger.
- Carpenter's level (18-inch). If you'd like to stock your garage or workshop with tools that go beyond the basics consider:
- Pipe wrench (8-inch and 10-inch sizes).
- Combination square, for building projects.
- Set of wood chisels, for making cuts in wood and chipping.
- Cold chisel, for removing bolts and rivets.
- Small hacksaw, for cutting metal or plastic.
- Set of hex key wrenches, also known as Allen wrench.
- Pocket plane for shaving wood from boards.
- Sandpaper holder.
- Staple gun, heavy-duty version.

You needn't buy the following, unless you plan to use them often; they're available at rental service stores and yards:

- Concrete saws.
- Generators.
- Ladders.
- Power drain cleaners.
- Pumps.
- Power tools.
- Rototillers.
- Floor polishers.
- Air compressors.
- Rug shampooers.
- Wheelbarrows.
- Welders.

* When finance charges paid in the first 12 months are equal to or less than the closing costs charged, a rebate will be issued for that amount. Closing costs are estimated to range between $200 and $600. Property insurance is required on the home during the loan term. Rebate not available when loan is secured by commercial, rental or investment property.

** The annual percentage rate is an on-going variable rate, adjusted monthly, at 2% over the Prime Rate published in the Money Rates section of the Wall Street Journal. The minimum interest rate which applies to this line is 6.5% APR and the maximum is 15.75% APR.

Loans are available to Maryland and West Virginia residents only. Offer subject to withdrawal or alteration at any time.

FUNCTIONAL FADS

Kitchens and baths that make a splash

By Sharon Achatz
Copley News Service
The splashy attractions of the '90s home are the most public and private of rooms: the kitchen and the bath room.

Today's kitchen is not merely a place to cook, chat and chow down, it also has become the principal gathering area for everything from family discussions to cocktail parties. And the bath has become the last truly private refuge, a hideaway where a person can float, dream and unwind.

While the function of these rooms has been modified over time, the design of many has not. Therefore, kitchen and bath remodeling are two increasingly common home improvement projects - and two that provide the best return on investment dollar when it comes time to sell the home.

With kitchen and bath renovation home priorities of the '90s, there is a burgeoning industry of design innovation for these rooms encompassing everything from appliances, components and cabinets to fixtures.

A design element common to both rooms is an openness to the outside, either through the use of skylights or windows. While no privacy is necessary for a kitchen's large windows, a bath's windows generally overlook a secluded garden or private hillside vista.

When remodeling and updating, white is the color for fixtures. While warm and vivid colors are the rage today, people have a tendency to get tired of color. It's more economical to change wall, paper, paint, towels and shower curtains than tubs, refrigerators and countertops.

And now, some specifics on creating today's best baths and choice kitchens.

BEST BATHS

The master bathroom is joining forces with the master bedroom and closet to become a dressing, grooming, exercise-relaxation suite.

Today's master bath suites have separate showers and oversize tubs, his-and-her vanities, whirlpools and steam rooms, dressing rooms and dual walk-in closets. Some even have exercise areas, reading nooks and fireplaces.

Whirlpools are becoming a mainstay of even middle-class master baths, providing psychological and physical therapy after a hard day's work.

They come in various shapes, sizes and colors, can be recessed into the floor or built on platforms with decorative tile or furniture-quality aprons.

Side by side or replacing whirlpool tubs in an increasing number of baths are so-called power showers.

For the busiest people, shower time is the only time they can allow for privacy and relaxation. That has triggered a demand for power showers with a variety of functional and luxury options - accessories include everything from multiple shower heads to therapeutic massaging jets of water and steam options.

In this age of the environment, it's important also to consider water-saving and low-water consumption products for the bath, especially if you live in an area where there are water-usage restrictions.

CHOICE KITCHENS
Sleek, sterile kitchens have shed their antiseptic image to become warmer, more welcoming places, with a style that combines charm and convenience. The best kitchens offer an invitation to sit down and relax, plan the day or help kids with homework.

As such, they need to incorporate non-food related areas - such as bay-window daybeds, built-in desks, perhaps a couple of wing chairs in front of a fireplace - as well as efficient work areas.

Built-in storage is a big plus for the best kitchens, everything from wine racks and shelves to display collections to desks and entertainment areas that house TV and stereo equipment.

With the trend toward several family chefs joining together to prepare meals, an increasing number of kitchens also have two food-

Sanitary District To Be Established In Deer Park Area

The residents of Deer Park who showed up for a public hearing on the proposed establishment of a Sanitary District for sewage disposal there reportedly voiced no opposition to the plan. The Garrett County Commissioners conducted the meeting Tuesday evening at the courthouse, and those in attendance also expressed an interest in securing a water system for the town.

Garrett County Sanitary District Administrator Wendell Beutzel reported that the plan calls for the construction of a sewer system for approximately 150 dwellings in the town. The Garrett County Sanitary Commission has already obtained $200,000 from the Maryland Department of the Environment and is currently waiting to hear if grant funding from other sources will be forthcoming.

Deer Park is the last incorporated town in the county to have a sanitary district established.

The record for public comment will be held open until Friday, April 16.

Southern Garrett Winter Guard To Host Local Show

The Southern Garrett High School Winter Guard Invitational will be held Friday, April 16, beginning at 7:30 in the school gymnasium. Southern's guard will host five other groups in competition, with the local guard performing in exhibition.

Winter guards consist of a band's color guard members, who perform a choreographed show on a basketball court. The guards execute extensive equipment handling as well as perform complex dance routines in the shows, which are set to various types of music.

Scheduled to compete at Southern's show include guards from Westminster, Frankfort, Ligonore (Frederick), Waynesboro/Walkersville, and Hedgesville (W.Va.) high schools. They will be judged by members of the National Judges Association.

To open the show, members of Brenda's Body Shop's Mat Mats, Diehards, and jazz dance team will perform. Also slated to be presented are solo and group performances by jazz and ballet students of Jeannie Matras's Step By Step Dance Studio. Refreshments will be available.

Tickets to the event are $5 for adults and $3 for students.

"AND IN GREEN UNDERWOOD and cover, blossom by blossom the spring begins," said Algernon Charles Swinburne in his 1865 poem, Alalanta in Calydon. Spring has emerged in the area as crocuses (or is it croci?) poke their sleepy winter heads through the warming earth. The blooming of the crocuses will be in perfect union with the Easter season this year. While some April showers are predicted for Friday and Saturday, mild temperatures should prevail throughout the Easter weekend as Christians celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ and the promise of rebirth in the Holy Spirit.

State, County Jobless Rates Show Increase

Although employment in Maryland increased in February to its highest level on record for the month, an increase in the number of jobseekers entering the labor force caused the state's unemployment rate to rise from 6.4 percent in January to 6.7 percent in February. Even with this increase in joblessness, the state's current jobless rate is considerably below the February 1992 rate of 7.5 percent.

Although joblessness increased in February, we are encouraged that the unemployment rate and the number of people out of work are much lower than a year ago," said Mark L. Wasserman, secretary of economic and employment development (DEED). "Unemployment is up because more people are looking for work, a sign of confidence in the future growth of the economy."

Garrett County's jobless rate also increased, from 12.2 percent in January to 13.3 percent in February, but was below the February 1992 figure of 14.0 percent.

During February, state employment gained by 23,547, reaching an all-time high for the month of 2,426,201. However, unemployment increased by 8,849 as jobseekers entered the labor market in unprecedented numbers. The civilian labor force grew to 2,599,802 in February, a gain of 32,396 and more than 67,700 above

State Forest's Ten-Year Mgmt. Plan To Be Subject Of Upcoming Hearings

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is soliciting comments from the public concerning Ten-Year Resource Management Plans for Potomac, Garrett and Green Ridge State Forests during four upcoming public meetings.

Before the plans are drafted, all Marylanders are invited to comment on alternative approaches and strategies for each forest. By April 12, the draft forest plans will be available at Green Ridge and Potomac Garrett State Forest headquarters, state parks and forests in western and central Maryland, as well as from John Wolf, Public Lands and Forestry, Tawes State Office Bldg. D-3; Annapolis, MD 21401.

Locations for the meetings are as follows: Green Ridge State Forest -- Tuesday, April 20, Allegany Community College Theater, Cumberland; Wednesday, April 21, Catonsville Community College, Barn Theater.

Potomac Garrett State Forest -- Wednesday, April 28, Northern High School Auditorium, Accident; Tuesday, April 27, Catonsville High School Auditorium.

Maps will be made available for review and questions will be answered beginning at 5:30 p.m., and the informational public meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

Robert Mosley Among Soloists For "Elijah"

Metropolitan Opera baritone Robert Mosley, New York City, will sing the role of Elijah in the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Mendelssohn's Elijah. The oratorio will be performed Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland.

Mosley is described by critics as one of the most gifted and experienced performers on the American stage today, having sung with the leading United States opera companies, including Seattle, San Francisco, Boston, Houston, New York City, and the Met. He has been a soloist with the Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and New York Philharmonic orchestras under such masters as Ormandy, Kostelnetz, Boyanowski, Stokowski, Allers, Steinberg, and Schermerhorn. He has completed many tours of the United States, Canada, Europe, and South America.

His musical and operatic roles have included those of "Joe" in Showboat and, his most well-known performance, as "Porgy" in Gershwin's Porgy and Bess, performed with the Metropolitan Opera at Lincoln Center, as well as at Radio City Music Hall. His European repertoire has included the roles of "Amonasro," "Trinity Moses," and "Scarpia."

Mosley has performed with the Choral Society on several occasions and has also presented his own concerts in Garrett County. This

"Quick Draw" GLAF Benefit Being Planned

by Jenianne Stitt
Guest lists of patrons and updated addresses were studied last week by 10 women from Garrett and Allegany counties who make it their job to keep the Garrett Lakes Art Festival in business.

These are the women each summer stage the GLAF Benefit Gala that has become one of the area's largest charity fund-raisers. "Quick Draw at the GLAF Corral" is the theme chosen for this year's party which will be held Saturday evening, June 19, at Wisp Resort's McHenry House.

"Quick Draw" will serve as a showcase to demonstrate the talent of a number of prominent artists at work in studio settings. The theme calls for a relaxed western motif both in decoration and informal attire. Party-goers are being urged to wear 10 gallon Stetsons, favorite boots, diamonds, and denim.

The Benefit Committee works over 10 months of the year to create a memorable evening that traditionally features musical entertainment by the popular GLAF Orchestra, a cash bar, dinner with wine, and the high point of the evening, the auction of art with Tom Henline.

To further enhance the gala, this year a number of choice items including prints and antiques will be featured in the silent auction. Partygoers will have this opportunity to inspect the various

Lost Woman's Body Found By Rafters In Yough River

The search for a Deer Park woman came to an end yesterday when a group of rafters discovered her body in the Youghiogheny River, 15 miles downstream from where she is assumed to have entered the swollen waters. Jacqueline L. Jones, 35, was reported missing last Friday afternoon, and an extensive search was set in motion at that time by the Maryland Rangers of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

According to Gary Yoder, DNR liaison for Western Maryland, her body was found shortly after noon when the group of rafters capsized about three miles south of Friendsville, just below the National Falls. When the boaters were gathering their belongings, they apparently spotted the body. The Garrett County Office of Emergency Management was contacted immediately, and the dispatcher in turn contacted the rangers. Miss Jones's body was then transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where it was positively identified. It was later transferred to Baltimore for autopsy, a routine procedure in cases of unattended death.

Miss Jones's car was found parked at Swallow Falls State Park last Friday, locked but containing several of her personal belongings, according to reports. At the start of the search, Ranger Roger Riley assigned Ranger Butch Zimmerman to the investigation, who worked with Detective Jeff Murphy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office during the five days that Miss Jones was missing.

Yoder expressed gratitude

GCC Schedules Open House For Area Students

Garrett Community College has scheduled an open house for area high school seniors and juniors and their parents, to be held Saturday, April 17, from 10 a.m. to noon. Invitations have been sent to high schools in Garrett County, Tucker and Preston counties, and those in nearby Pennsylvania.

According to Darlene Reed, admissions assistant, the Open House will begin in the Laker's Cafe in the Student Center and will include campus tours, informal presentation about GCC programs and services, demonstrations and displays of student activities, and a financial aid seminar for parents.

Included in the tour will be a visit to the Bausch and Lomb Art Gallery of the college where the juried high school art exhibit is currently on display. A mock debate by members of the GCC Maryland Student Legislature will be another feature of the Open House.

Following the open house, a Job Fair sponsored by the Job Placement Office and Small Business Development Center of the college will be held in the Continuing Education Center, from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Anyone desiring further information about the open house may call the Admissions Office of the college, 387-3010.

Commissioners Hear Unusual Request Concerning Statue In Washington

The Garrett County Commissioners heard an unusual request this week from a representative of a group involved in attempting to remove a statue of Andrew Pike from public land located in Washington, D.C.

Eric Thomas, a representative of the Schiller Institute, Inc., met with the commissioners Tuesday to ask if they would submit a resolution stating that Garrett County would be in favor of removing the Pike statue. Representatives of the group are conducting the campaign in local governments throughout the United Nations.

Thomas explained that the statue is of a man who was one of the chief founders of the Ku Klux Klan and who "was actually convicted as a traitor by both the Confederacy and the Union," he said, adding that Pike is still held in high regard by the Scottish Rite Freemasons.

It was, in fact, the Masons who persuaded Congress in 1898 to approve the memorial for Pike, now located in the center of Judiciary Square. Thomas, a follower of Lyndon H. LaRouche, Jr., told the commissioners that it is a "disgrace" that the statue still stands and is maintained by taxpayers' dollars.

"As far as the disgracefulness in D.C.," said Commissioner Elwood Groves, "I'm more concerned about the ones that are walking around than I am about a statue."

Groves continued, "Traditionally speaking, county government does not involve itself in the realm of national concerns. I've got enough problems of my own right now to worry about what statues are in D.C."

Thomas again urged the commissioners to take positive action on the resolution but Groves, along with Commissioner Brenda Butcher, declined, noting that the full board was not in attendance and that a hasty decision on an issue that had not been fully examined would not be wise.

BROTHERS WIN STATE ARCHERY TITLES -- Brian and Brad Roderick, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roderick, Swanton, recently captured Maryland State archery titles in their respective age divisions. Brian, 10, a fifth grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School, won his third straight title in the Cub Freestyle division, won first place in the regional tournament, and then won the Mid-Atlantic sectional, which included archers from Maryland, Virginia, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania. Brad won the state title in the Cub Bowhunter division in his first year of competition. He also won first place in the regional event and third in the Mid-Atlantic sectional. The 8-year-old is a third grade student at Broad Ford Elementary. Both boys then traveled to Louisville, Ky., March 27-28 to compete for national titles. Brad finished fourth in the national tournament, while Brad placed 16th. The Cub Division includes youth up through age 12.

GLAF GALA PLANS IN MOTION -- Plans for the gala event to benefit the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) are underway with the benefit board members working long hours to make this year's event a successful one. "Quick Draw at the GLAF Corral" is this year's theme, as the event, scheduled for June 19 at Wisp Resort, will feature demonstrations by a number of prominent artists. Those attending will be encouraged to wear western garb, including ten-gallon Stetsons, denim, and diamonds. The yearly art auction will be held, as well as a new silent auction event. The Garrett County Commissioners conducted the meeting Tuesday evening at the courthouse, and those in attendance also expressed an interest in securing a water system for the town.

Garrett County Sanitary District Administrator Wendell Beitzel reported that the plan calls for the construction of a sewer system for approximately 150 dwellings in the town. The Garrett County Sanitary Commission has already obtained $200,000 from the Maryland Department of the Environment and is currently waiting to hear if grant funding from other sources will be forthcoming.

Deer Park is the last incorporated town in the county to have a sanitary district established.

The record for public comment will be held open until Friday, April 16.

Southern Garrett Winter Guard To Host Local Show

The Southern Garrett High School Winter Guard Invitational will be held Friday, April 16, beginning at 7:30 in the school gymnasium. Southern's guard will host five other groups in competition, with the local guard performing in exhibition.

Winter guards consist of a band's color guard members, who perform a choreographed show on a basketball court. The guards execute extensive equipment handling as well as perform complex dance routines in the shows, which are set to various types of music.

Scheduled to compete at Southern's show include guards from Westmar, Frankfort, Lingonore (Frederick), Waynesboro (Walkersville), and Hedgesville (W.Va.) high schools. They will be judged by members of the National Judges Association.

To open the show, members of Brenda's Body Shop's Mat Mates, Diehards, and jazz dance team will perform. Also slated to be presented are solo and group performances by jazz and ballet students of Jeannie Matras's Step By Step Dance Studio. Refreshments will be available.

Tickets to the event are $5 for adults and $3 for students.

"AND IN GREEN UNDERWOOD and cover, blossom by blossom the spring begins," said Algeron Charles Swineburne in his 1865 poem, Atlanta in Caledon. Spring has emerged in the area as crocuses (or is it croci?) poke their sleepy winter heads through the warming earth. The blooming of the crocuses will be in perfect union with the Easter season this year. While some April showers are predicted for Friday and Saturday, mild temperatures should prevail throughout the Easter weekend as Christians celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ and the promise of rebirth in the Holy Spirit.

State, County Jobless Rates Show Increase

Although employment in Maryland increased in February to its highest level on record for the month, an increase in the number of jobseekers entering the labor force caused the state's unemployment rate to rise from 6.4 percent in January to 6.7 percent in February. Even with this increase in joblessness, the state's current jobless rate is considerably below the February 1992 rate of 7.5 percent.

"Although joblessness increased in February, we are encouraged that the unemployment rate and the number of people out of work are much lower than a year ago," said Mark L. Wasserman, secretary of economic and employment development (DEED). "Unemployment is up because more people are looking for work, a sign of confidence in the future growth of the economy."

Garrett County's jobless rate also increased, from 12.2 percent in January to 13.3 percent in February, but was below the February 1992 figure of 14.0 percent.

During February, state employment gained by 23,547, reaching an all-time high for the month of 2,426,201. However, unemployment increased by 8,849 as jobseekers entered the labor market in unprecedented numbers. The civilian labor force grew to 2,599,802 in February, a gain of 32,396 and more than 67,700 above

State Forest's Ten-Year Mgmt. Plan To Be Subject Of Upcoming Hearings

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is soliciting comments from the public concerning Ten-Year Resource Management Plans for Potomac, Garrett and Green Ridge State Forests during four upcoming public meetings.

Before the plans are drafted, all Marylanders are invited to comment on alternative approaches and strategies for each forest. By April 12, the draft forest plans will be available at Green Ridge and Potomac Garrett State Forest headquarters, state parks and forests in western and central Maryland, as well as from John Wolf, Public Lands and Forestry, Tawes State Office Bldg. D-3; Annapolis, MD 21401.

Locations for the meetings are as follows: Green Ridge State Forest - Tuesday, April 20, Allegany Community College Theater, Cumberland; Wednesday, April 21, Catonsville Community College, Barn Theater.

Potomac Garrett State Forest - Wednesday, April 28, Northern High School Auditorium, Accident; Tuesday, April 27, Catonsville High School Auditorium.

Maps will be made available for review and questions will be answered beginning at 5:30 p.m., and the informational public meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

More information may be obtained by contacting John

Robert Mosley Among Soloists For "Elijah"

Metropolitan Opera baritone Robert Mosley, New York City, will sing the role of Elijah in the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Mendelssohn's Elijah. The oratorio will be performed Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland.

Mosley is described by critics as one of the most gifted and experienced performers on the American stage today, having sung with the leading United States opera companies, including Seattle, San Francisco, Boston, Houston, New York City, and the Met. He has been a soloist with the Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and New York Philharmonic orchestras under such masters as Ormandy, Kostelnetz, Bojancowski, Stokowski, Allers, Steinberg, and Schermerhorn. He has completed many tours of the United States, Canada, Europe, and South America.

His musical and operatic roles have included those of "Joe" in Showboat and, his most well-known performance, as "Porgy" in Gershwin's Porgy and Bess, performed with the Metropolitan Opera at Lincoln Center, as well as at Radio City Music Hall. His European repertoire has included the roles of "Amonasco," "Trinity Moses," and "Scarpia."

Mosley has performed with the Choral Society on several occasions and has also presented his own concerts in Garrett County. His

Lost Woman's Body Found By Rafters In Yough River

The search for a Deer Park woman came to an end yesterday when a group of rafters discovered her body in the Youghiogheny River, 15 miles downstream from where she is assumed to have entered the swollen waters. Jacqueline L. Jones, 35, was reported missing last Friday afternoon, and an extensive search was set in motion at that time by the Maryland Rangers of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

According to Gary Yoder, DNR liaison for Western Maryland, her body was found shortly after noon when the group of rafters capsized about three miles south of Friendsville, just below the National Falls. When the boaters were gathering their belongings, they apparently spotted the body. The Garrett County Office of Emergency Management was contacted immediately, and the dispatcher in turn contacted the rangers. Miss Jones's body was then transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where it was positively identified. It was later transferred to Baltimore for autopsy, a routine procedure in cases of unattended death.

Miss Jones's car was found parked at Swallow Falls State Park last Friday, locked but containing several of her personal belongings, according to reports. At the start of the search, Ranger Roger Riley assigned Ranger Butch Zimmerman to the investigation, who worked with Detective Jeff Murphy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office during the five days that Miss Jones was missing.

GCC Schedules Open House For Area Students

Garrett Community College has scheduled an open house for area high school seniors and juniors and their parents, to be held Saturday, April 17, from 10 a.m. to noon. Invitations have been sent to high schools in Garrett County, Tucker and Preston counties, and those in nearby Pennsylvania.

According to Darlene Reed, admissions assistant, the Open House will begin in the Lakers' Cafe in the Student Center and will include campus tours, informal presentation about GCC programs and services, demonstrations and displays of student activities, and a financial aid seminar for parents.

Included in the tour will be a visit to the Bausch and Lomb Art Gallery of the college where the juried high school art exhibit is currently on display. A mock debate by members of the GCC Maryland Student Legislature will be another feature of the Open House.

Following the open house, a Job Fair sponsored by the Job Placement Office and Small Business Development Center of the college will be held in the Continuing Education Center, from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Anyone desiring further information about the open house may call the Admissions Office of the college, 387-3010.

"Quick Draw" GLAF Benefit Being Planned

by Jenianne Stitt

Guest lists of patrons and updated addresses were studied last week by 10 women from Garrett and Allegany counties who make it their job to keep the Garrett Lakes Art Festival in business.

These are the women each summer stage the GLAF Benefit Gala that has become one of the area's largest charity fund-raisers. "Quick Draw at the GLAF Corral" is the theme chosen for this year's party which will be held Saturday evening, June 19, at Wisp Resort's McHenry House.

"Quick Draw" will serve as a showcase to demonstrate the talent of a number of prominent artists at work in studio settings. The theme calls for a relaxed western motif both in decoration and informal attire. Party-goers are being urged to wear 10 gallon Stetsons, favorite boots, diamonds, and denim.

The Benefit Committee works over 10 months of the year to create a memorable evening that traditionally features musical entertainment by the popular GLAF Orchestra, a cash bar, dinner with wine, and the high point of the evening, the auction of art with Tom Henline.

To further enhance the gala, this year a number of choice items including prints and antiques will be featured in the silent auction. Party-goers will have this opportunity to inspect the various

Commissioners Hear Unusual Request Concerning Statue In Washington

The Garrett County Commissioners heard an unusual request this week from a representative of a group involved in attempting to remove a statue of Andrew Pike from public land located in Washington, D.C.

Eric Thomas, a representative of the Schiller Institute, Inc., met with the commissioners Tuesday to ask if they would submit a resolution stating that Garrett County would be in favor of removing the Pike statue. Representatives of the group are conducting the campaign in local governments throughout the United Nations.

Thomas explained that the statue is of a man who was one of the chief founders of the Ku Klux Klan and who "was actually convicted as a traitor by both the Confederacy and the Union," he said, adding that Pike is still held in high regard by the Scottish Rite Freemasons.

It was, in fact, the Masons who persuaded Congress in 1898 to approve the memorial for Pike, now located in the center of Judiciary Square. Thomas, a follower of Lyndon H. LaRouche, Jr., told the commissioners that it is a "disgrace" that the statue still stands and is maintained by taxpayers' dollars.

"As far as the disgracefulness in D.C.," said Commissioner Elwood Groves, "I'm more concerned about the ones that are walking around than I am about a statue."

Groves continued, "Traditionally speaking, county government does not involve itself in the realm of national concerns. I've got enough problems of my own right now to worry about what statues are in D.C."

Thomas again urged the commissioners to take positive action on the resolution but Groves, along with Commissioner Brenda Butcher, declined, noting that the full board was not in attendance and that a hasty decision on an issue that had not been fully examined would not be wise.

BROTHERS WIN STATE ARCHERY TITLES - Brian and Brad Roderick, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roderick, Swanton, recently captured Maryland State archery titles in their respective age divisions. Brian, 10, a fifth grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School, won his third straight title in the Cub Freestyle division, won first place in the regional tournament and then won the Mid-Atlantic sectional, which included archers from Maryland, Virginia, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania. Brad won the state title in the Cub Bowhunter division in his first year of competition. He also won first place in the regional event and third in the Mid-Atlantic sectional. The 8-year-old is a third grade student at Broad Ford Elementary. Both boys then traveled to Louisville, Ky., March 2-5 to compete for national titles. Brian finished fourth in the national tourney, while Brad placed 16th. The Cub Division includes youth up through age 12.

Oakland Man Granted PBJ For Battery

An Oakland man was granted probation before judgment on a battery charge in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Jason P. Kelley, 19, was placed on 75 days of probation and the fine was waived. In plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office, another count of battery, two counts of fourth-degree sex offense, one count of malicious destruction of property, and one count of harassment were not prosecuted.

Kelley had been charged with those offenses by a student who claimed that Kelley continued to harass her from October 5 through December 15 of 1992. She said he touched her breast on one occasion and ripped her jeans on another while making lewd sexual suggestions.

In a related case, charges of battery and harassment against Kelley were not prosecuted. Those charges were filed by another student who claimed Kelley kept hitting her in the back of the head and making lewd suggestions to her.

In other District Court news, Timothy W. Arnold, 39, Mt. Lake Park, was found guilty of battery. Judge Jack R. Turney ordered a pre-sentence investigation in the case. Five counts of assault and one count of reckless endangerment were not prosecuted in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office.

Arnold had been charged with those offenses following a January 23 incident in which Arnold allegedly struck Alice Arnold and threatened her children after the two had gone out for the evening.

Raymond C. Uphold, 29, Grantsville, was found not guilty of assault. He had been charged with that offense after allegedly arguing with his brother, Robert Uphold, and firing a rifle into the air to warn his brother to leave his property.

Angela Y. Shafer, 24, Swanton, was found guilty of trespassing on private property and of telephone abuse. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by the judge. She was found not guilty of harassment, and a charge of GERMAN EXCHANGE STUDENTS from Gymnasium Sulingen (a university-preparatory high school) are currently learning about schools and culture in Garrett County. They are being hosted by a number of local families and have visited many points of interest in the county as well as historical sites in Washington, D.C. A farewell swimming party will be held at the Blakeslee on Monday and the students will return to Germany on April 15. Pictured first row, left to right, are Frauke Ebert, Henning Albers, Kirsten Gosee, Andre Richter, Beate Brauer, Marion Luebbers, Christoph Jehn, and Tobias Meyer. Second row, same order, Peter Jehn, teacher, Urthe Binder, Nicole Wrobel, Christene Jehn, teacher, Julia Sudhop, Sascha Bade, Martina Funck, Kristina Kuhlmann, and Jens Fabian Kusche, and third row, same order, Thomas Schaefer, Thorben Ehrlich, Meike Barkhausen, Björn Goetz, Christoph Jehn, and Sven Biermann. breaking and entering was not prosecuted.

She had been charged with those offenses by Gary A. Wotring Sr. who contended that Shafer had come to his home on numerous occasions after being asked not to and calling him repeatedly. He also stated she broke his video cassette recorder and cut up a chair he had loaned her.

John J. Sullivan, 29, Bowie, was found guilty of being disorderly on private property. He was fined $50. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a charge of malicious destruction of property was not prosecuted. He had been charged with those offenses by the Maryland State Police following a January 3 incident at a rental property in which he threw a picture and broke the frame. He reportedly also became disorderly when police arrived.

Leonard F. McKenzie, 65, Frostburg, was found guilty of violating an ex parte order. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

He had been charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on February 7 after it was reported that he had been in violation of a domestic violence protection order signed by the court. He allegedly entered the family home after being ordered not to.

The next visit by the bloodmobile to Friendsville will be Friday, May 14, from noon to 6 p.m.

DWI CASES

Several DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol) cases were heard in District Court last week.

In a sentence revision hearing case, James S. McCrobie, 31, Md., was granted probation before judgment. He had been charged by the Maryland State Police on September 17, 1992.

Terry E. Twigg, 39, Md., was found guilty of violation of probation. His original sentence was re-imposed and all was suspended but 10 days. He had initially been charged with DWI by the Maryland State Police on August 8, 1991.

David A. Kahl, 37, Pa., was found guilty of violation of probation on a DWI charge. The judge ordered that sanctions be withheld. He had initially been charged with DWI by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on September 10, 1991.

Bloodmobile Nets 33 Pints During Friendsville Visit

The American Red Cross bloodmobile collected 33 pints of blood during a visit to the Friendsville fire hall on March 19. Thirty-seven persons responded as donors, with four being deferred.

Becoming a one-gallon donor was Ken Tressler.

Volunteers assisting with the visit were: Eleanor Teets, Susie Lytle, and Belinda Benedict with registration; Danny Moon, R.N., with hemoglobin testing; Karen Moon and Mary Teets, bag labeling; Esther Benedict, R.N., medical histories; and Amy Platter and Sophie Benedict, canteen.

The next visit by the bloodmobile to Friendsville will be Friday, May 14, from noon to 6 p.m.

Correction Noted

In a story regarding donors at the recent bloodmobile held in Oakland an incorrect spelling of one donor's name was inadvertently submitted to The Republican. The Red Cross and The Republican regret the error.

Actually, it was Lavonna Frazee, Friendsville, who became an eight-gallon donor, not Larrianna Frazee. The Johnstown Unit of the American Red Cross bloodmobile netted 194 pints of blood during the Oakland visit.

Grantsville Man Charged With Various Offenses

A Grantsville man was arrested Tuesday night by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. Melleny, and charged with various offenses.

Joseph W. Martin, 19, was charged with breaking and entering, malicious destruction of property, and trespassing.

He was charged after Tammy House, also of Grantsville called police to report that Martin was attempting to break into her house. She said she had been awakened earlier by Martin knocking on her window. She said she opened the window slightly and that he forcibly removed the window screen and partially entered the residence. He allegedly fled when he saw House calling the police, but later returned to the scene and was arrested. Police termed it an "ongoing domestic dispute." Tpr. M. Rodeheaver was the arresting officer.

ARBOR DAY PLANTINGS - Wednesday, April 7, marked the 110th year that Marylanders have celebrated Arbor Day, and Garrett County Project Forester Ernie Metz is reminding county residents that now is a "good time to start thinking about planting trees." In celebration, trees were planted this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and at the Oakland Mountain Fresh building. Metz also stated, "It's important to plant trees every year so that future generations can enjoy their beauty, appreciate their ability to reduce soil erosion, moderate temperature and wind, and provide wood fiber, wildlife habitat, and recreation opportunities." Each year, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) also distributes pine seedlings to third-grade students. Forest landowners are encouraged to contact DNR, Forest Service, at Mt. Nebo Work Center, Rt. 6, Box 1990, Oakland, MD 21550, or call 334-3296 for tree information. Shown in the above photo at the hospital tree planting location, front row, left to right, are Garrett County Commissioners Elwood Groves and Brenda Butcher, and (kneeling) Ernie Metz and Karen Miller, Garrett County Forestry Board. In the back row, same order, are Wade Dorsey, Maryland Forest Service; Tom Fowler, Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Mike Kosier, Garrett County Forestry Board; Asa McCain, Oakland mayor; and Sonny Newhall, Garrett County Forestry Board.

LUMINARY PREVAILS - The annual Grantsville Luminary display was successfully accomplished last weekend, despite sub-freezing temperatures and high winds that nearly forced its cancellation. The winds made lighting the candles virtually impossible, until finally dying down after sunset. Participants worked until 9:15 p.m. to light the luminaries, which symbolize lighting the way for Christ. The annual event was started in 1990 and remains funded by former Grantsville High School teacher, William Grimm, Hagerstown. Pictured above, left, Brooke Brennenman, Blittinger, and Grantsville resident Bob Bender unload and place the translucent candle-bearing sacks along Cemetery Road. Pictured at right is a view of arranged luminaries at the end of the cemetery. The Republican will publish a photograph from the night display, showing the American Legion monument, the Thursday before Memorial Day weekend. Photos by C. Spelcher.

Students, Others Invited To Attend Second Annual County Job Fair

The second annual Garrett County Job Fair will be held on Saturday, April 17, from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Deep Creek Lake Business Association is sponsoring this event in coordination with the Garrett Community College Job Placement Center, the Maryland Job Service, and the Western Maryland Consortium.

The Job Fair will provide an opportunity for local employers to recruit employees for summer or year-round or future jobs. The Job Placement Center is inviting Garrett County high school students and community members as well as students from Garrett Community College, West Virginia University, Frostburg State University, Potomac State, and Allegany Community College to attend the Job Fair. Each person seeking a job will be asked to complete a GCC application. This application will be copied and distributed to employers of his/her choice at a cost to the applicant of 10 cents per copy. Applications may be obtained prior to the Fair at the GCC Library, the Loft at GCC, and the GCC Oakland Center.

Those seeking jobs are asked to bring resumes if possible and are encouraged to dress as they would for an interview.

An individual display table will be set up at the college for each employer who is participating in the Fair. The following employers are currently registered to participate: Financial Computer Support, First United Bank and Trust, Flushing Shirt Mfg. Co., Coldwell Banker, Beauty Control Cosmetics, American Trust Bank, Hallmark Engraving, Dominick's Pizzeria, McClive's Restaurant, Dr. Willy's Seafood Restaurant, Point View Inn & Motel, Maryland Job Service, Western Maryland Consortium, U.S. Army, Bausch & Lomb, Buchmann Optical, First Federal Savings Bank, JG's Pub, Arthur's Dog House, Browning's Foodland, Denny's Restaurant, Recreational Industries (The Wisp-Food & Beverage), ReMax 1000 West, School House Earth, Deep Creek Lake State Park, Deep Creek Outfitters, Josie's Restaurant, UNO's Restaurant & Bar, Arrowhead Market, and DNR Forest and Park Service (Volunteer Program).

Additional employers may also be involved. Employers will provide details about current or future job opportunities and application information. They may also conduct mini-interviews at the Job Fair.

Bausch and Lomb has donated Ray Ban sunglasses to be used as door prizes at the Fair and there will be refreshments. Cathy Cocker will be doing live remote broadcasts from the Job Fair on WKLL Radio.

Community members and students wishing to attend the Fair should arrive at the Continuing Education Building no earlier than 12:30 p.m. and no later than 3:30 p.m.

Conference Plans Near Completion

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging is finalizing plans for its conference, "Caring for the Frail and Vulnerable Elderly," to be held at the Wisp Resort Conference Center on Tuesday, April 27, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Conference topics include elder abuse and appropriate geriatric treatment for frail, functionally impaired elderly.

The Area Agency on Aging has extended the registration deadline to April 13, as space remains available for additional attendees. Persons dealing with the elderly in any capacity are encouraged to attend. The $20 registration fee includes a buffet luncheon and conference materials.

Registration forms and information may be obtained by contacting the Area Agency on Aging at 334-5856 no later than April 13.

Chair Of State Demo Party To Speak At Dinner

Vera P. Hall, chairwoman of the Maryland Democratic Party, will be the guest speaker at the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner, to be held May 7 at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake. The event is sponsored by the Garrett County Democratic Club and Garrett County Democratic Central Committee.

Ms. Hall holds a B.S. degree in education from Coppin State College, Baltimore; a master's degree in education from Towson State College, and has completed several post-graduate courses at Loyola College, Johns Hopkins University, Towson State, and Morgan State University.

An educator in the Baltimore City School System since 1963, Ms. Hall was a Team Member, Project STAR, Maryland Department of Education, from 1976 to 1979. She was a special assistant, Division of Instruction, for the state department (1979-83) and was state relations director for Morgan State University (1983-92).

She assumed the position as chair of the Maryland Democratic Party in 1992 after having served as vice president for three years. She has been a Democratic National Committee Woman since 1989.

She became vice president of the Baltimore City Council in 1991. Since 1989 she has been a board member of the Baltimore Literacy Corporation and also a board member of the Baltimore Development Finance Corporation. ### State Police, NHS And NMS Receive Praise

The Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, and Northern High and Northern Middle schools, Accident, received high praise last week from the Maryland Committee for Safety Belt Use, Inc. and the State Highway Administration Office of Traffic and Safety for achieving exemplary safety belt use rates during two consecutive surveys in 1992.

Receiving congratulatory letters were Sgt. William J.

Lehr Jr. of the state police; Wilda Massi, principal of NMS; and Mildred Wucik, principal of NHS. The three coordinated the surveys which entitle the schools and barrack to receive recognition as "Pacesetters" in promoting the importance of safety belt use which assists in increasing statewide usage rates.

Groups that have attained a status of 78% Plus Pacesetter will be recognized at an awards ceremony, according to Barbara W. Beckett, executive director of the Maryland Committee for Safety Belt Use, Inc., Hanover.

Oakland Woman Injured In Two-Vehicle Mishap

An Oakland woman was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Tuesday, according to a hospital spokesperson, following a two-vehicle mishap at the intersection of Old Rt. 135 and Md. Rt. 135.

Wilma J. Brown, 49, Oakland, was slightly injured when the vehicle she was operating was struck in the rear by a vehicle operated by Jennifer K. Beckman, 18, Oakland. Beckman told police that she looked back

Awakened By Spring...

Spring has apparently arrived finally on the Mountaintop and it certainly feels good. March 1993 will be remembered as one of the longest on record, at least from a psychological standpoint, as winter not only maintained its grip, but also dealt us one of its most severe blows in history.

The most obvious signs of spring are, of course, the moderation of temperatures, the return of the robin, and the blooming of daffodils and crocuses. But it has also been interesting to note the marked change in behavior and attitude of us humans this week. The moment the sun finally breaks through cloud cover and pulls the mercury above 60 degrees for the first time in several months, our attitudes, our feelings, dramatically change. We are suddenly overcome with a sense of rejuvenation, of re-birth, almost, that makes us want to get outside and clean the yard, dig in the dirt, and take a long walk.

Even for those of us who remain physically active and outdoors during the winter months, there still seems to be a type of hibernation or dormancy that exists inside us throughout those frigid weeks, both psychologically and physiologically. Just as the warmth of the sun serves as the catalyst for buds to burst forth on the previously bare limbs of sleeping trees, we are likewise "awakened" and become energized for another year.

Perhaps for those of us who are Christians the message of Easter will be all the more meaningful to us this year. For us, the most important event in the history of mankind is that which took place on the first Easter nearly 2,000 years ago. Indeed, that single, incredible event of rebirth and new life is the very foundation of our faith.

Regardless of our many differences in religious beliefs, may we all be truly thankful for new life this week, and pursue the many new opportunities that are presented to us each spring.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor

I would like to ask what is this world coming to when a man can just shoot two dogs who are just running across his field to get home? The third dog, who was a small one, he didn't shoot because it belonged to a friend of his. Wouldn't it have been easier and nicer to pick up the phone and call the owners of these dogs and have them come and get them?

These dogs were loved by their owners. I work with one of the owners and I can see how heartbroken they are. When they hurt, I hurt, and believe me, they are hurting.

It is against the law to shoot someone else's dog. I can't mention this man's name, but he knows who he is.

To the Editor

We feel this letter is very unnecessary. Why should we as citizens have to call attention to a very serious hazard that has existed at the intersection of I-68 and Rt. 219 since the construction of I-68/18?

We also feel that the state is aware of this problem, because there have been numerous accidents at this location. But the latest accident has claimed the lives of two of our close friends, Tony Georg, 21, of Accident, and Danny Miller, 37, of Grantsville. So who is next your husband, wife, or even a bus load of children on their way to school?

The problem continues to grow as Garrett County's tourist business increases, and the Keyser's Ridge interchange develops.

A few years ago the west-bound exit was changed to the proper pattern to which it was designed. Since the construction of the interstate the eastbound exit has been incomplete.

It should be an embarrassment to our governments at all levels. If money is an issue, then why can we spend millions of dollars to inaugurate a president, spend millions of dollars to build a golf course (Rocky Gap), and cannot spend thousands to save a few lives?

Please help! Contact Federal and state highway administrators, delegates, senators, representatives, county commissioners, the governor, or whoever you feel will listen to your concerns.

Very deeply concerned and sorrowed,
Joe and Tammy Friend

To the Editor

The tragic accident on the Keyser's Ridge cloverleaf that claimed the life of Tony Georg and Daniel Miller is devastating to their families and friends and our heartfelt sympathies are extended to each one.

There have been many accidents at this intersection, but the latest has claimed two too many lives. The major factor in these accidents is the exit ramp coming off I-68 for eastbound traffic. Vehicles must cross over Route 219 to go to the intersection at Route 40. The original exit ramp was never completed and it makes no sense why this was neglected. We must petition our officials to correct this death trap and correct it before another life is claimed. Please contact your public officials and demand that this be given top priority. If we don't get something done, there will be more fatalities, you can be sure.

With saddened hearts,
Joe and Snookie Friend

Thank you for writing such a compassionate editorial on the fate of little Jessica. It is a sad fact of life that there are so very few advocates for children.

When discussing the pros and cons of abortion, it must never be forgotten that last year there were 2.7 million reported cases of child abuse. How many unreported cases there were only the unfortunate victims know, most of whom are too small and helpless to protect. These figures of abuse are a national disgrace, which are consistently ignored. Why?

It is obvious from these figures that far too many unwanted children are being born. Again one asks why? Especially when it is remembered that birth control has been proven for so many years as an effective means of preventing unwanted pregnancies.

Every encouragement should be given to couples who do not want to be nurturing and loving parents to alert themselves of birth control programs.

Sincerely,

Margaret Beale

With all the snow slow downs experienced in March we were sure no one would see the posters and flyers announcing the Woman's Fair March 26th. But The Republican really came through for us and we truly do thank you. The Fair was deemed a success with attendance estimated well over 300. Many said they were there because they "read about it in The Republican." It may be true that papers generally print only the bad things that are going on in an area, but we can be proud that in Garrett County we have The Republican which gives equal coverage to positive action in our community.

We would also like to acknowledge at this time all of the wonderful cooperation we received from the individual class presenters and organizational booth displayers and demonstrators and the women's stores that put on the concluding Fashion Show. Without all these people willing to give so freely of their time and talents, such an undertaking as a Woman's Fair would not have been possible. It was very much a community effort that made it the success people are proclaiming it.

The 1993 Celebration of Garrett County Women is far from over with the completion of the Woman's Fair. There is still lots more to come: a series of evening seminars at the college on Financial Concerns of Women by Irmgard Koscielniak of Cooperative Extension Service (April 6, 13, 20, 27); Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Women's Health Month in May, and AAUW's Computer/Math and Science Fair to be held May 1 in Morgantown, W.Va. The Story Telling Festival will highlight June's activities followed in July by the Garrett County Arts Council's Laceworks and Group Weaving projects. The musical play "Quilters" with an all female cast, directed by Jane Avery will be GLAF's contribution in August. And so it goes for the rest of the year. Times and places are available for these and the rest of the year's activities planned to Celebrate Gar-

Spring is the season of renewal and birth which gives us all the opportunity to re-focus our goals and vital missions. The outreach efforts of the Garrett County Alliance for the Mentally Ill have been greatly enhanced by your personal cooperation and our organization's excellent exposure in the pages of The Republican over the last two years.

We commend you in your efforts to help us inform, educate and increase awareness. We must draw the attention of people in Garrett County to the needless suffering of millions of Americans - many of them friends and neighbors - who have treatable mental illnesses. Mentally ill people are feared or stereotyped as irrational, aggressive or violent when in fact they are more likely to be isolated, passive and withdrawn. Too many times they are blamed for falling victim to an illness that is clearly biologically based.

For all those reasons, we thank you once again and encourage you to continue the exceptional effort for our loved ones and their families.

As chairperson of the Fund-raising Committee for the Northern High School After Prom '93, members of this committee are contacting businesses and organizations throughout our community to solicit financial support for this year's after-prom activities. This is the first of this type of activity at Northern High School and we are excited.

The two highest risk nights are prom and graduation. We feel by planning such an activity is an answer for both parents and students.

Teens attend parties throughout the year, but peer pressure is highest these two evenings. Many students feel as if they haven't really celebrated if they don't have the opportunity to drink, use drugs, or spend a night in a hotel room. Some parents seem to condone drinking parties stating that since the students are going to drink anyway, why not provide them a place, take their keys, and watch over them? Unfortunately, the role models our students have - televi-

CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION MONTH

Family Involvement In Head Start
by Dolores Burrell,
Social Service Parent Involvement
Coordinator for Head Start

The month of April has been set aside as a time to reflect on the needs and rights of our children, and to commit ourselves anew in improving the quality of programs for all children and their families.

This is the second in a series of articles submitted by Garrett County Children and Youth programs in recognition of Child Abuse Prevention month.

Head Start, a pre-school program, believes that the gains made by the child in Head Start must be understood and built upon by the family and the community. To achieve this goal, Head Start provides the involvement of the child's family by providing many opportunities for a richer appreciation of the young child's needs and how to meet them.

Head Start offers an education program designed to build on parents' pre-existing skills. It provides training on child abuse prevention techniques, drug abuse prevention, child safety, single parenting, and parent awareness of children's rights/parents' responsibilities.

Referrals are made by staff (upon request of a parent) to appropriate agencies for counseling concerning family problems. Staff is available for child abuse neglect training each year, providing the needed expertise in working with abused children. Staff is also able to offer alternative methods to parents in coping with stressful situations.

By calling attention to the educational programs and services available for all children and their families, we hope to encourage a renewed sense of the importance of children and the role of adults in nurturing their growth and development.

It is not enough to tell our students to "JUST SAY NO!" We must give them an alternative to which they can and will say "YES!" We are providing a chance to give the teens of our community a wonderful memory, keep them alive, build a tradition and provide an alternative to parties and hotel rooms.

Our proposed budget is approximately $5,000.00 for the after prom activities. It is our sincere hope that local residents will see the necessity of this very important evening for our teens and will contribute a monetary donation or an item to be used as a prize. Checks should be made payable to Northern High School After Prom to the attention of Linda Swauger. If you have any questions or prizes to be picked up, please call Bonnie.

I have never written a letter to a paper before in my life, but feel the need to respond to your local police department in Oakland and the Maryland State Police in McHenry.

During the Autumn Glory Festival last October, my 69-year-old mother, who lives in Garrett County, and her three lady friends had dinner at Deep Creek and visited neighbors before going home at 10:30 p.m. on a Saturday night.

On the way into Oakland they were stopped by the State Police on Rt. 219. She asked what the problem was and he responded "have you been drinking?" She does not drink nor has ever touched alcohol. She again asked if she was driving erratically, had any lights out on her vehicle, or any other problem. The answer was negative. Talk about harassment. It was learned that this has occurred to many other drivers in Garrett County and the reason being (I know you don't want to hear this) that these policemen work in a LOW crime area and have absolutely nothing better to do to earn their wages and justify their jobs.

It is common knowledge to everyone who lives in and visits wonderful Garrett County that there are entirely too many state and local law enforcement personnel when compared to the population of the county. The ratio is one of the highest in the United States.

I believe the Chamber of Commerce should direct these policemen to stop pulling over little old ladies late at night and transfer at least half of the force to Prince George's County where the

I am writing in response to the letter to the editor in last week's Republican written by Cynthia Knight urging all open-minded people to write to their representatives in the U.S. Congress in support of the Freedom of Choice Act.

In that letter, Ms. Knight states that her religious beliefs are being trampled upon by those who insist that the Bible forces us all to believe that life begins at conception. She also states that she was taught all her life that life begins at birth and that unborn fetuses are not persons.

May I suggest to Ms. Knight that she forget what she has been taught in the past and begin to read God's word and pray that He will show her the true meaning of the scriptures.

In Jeremiah 1:5, God himself says: "Before I formed thee in the belly, I knew thee; and before thou camest forth out of the womb I sanctified thee." Also, in Luke 1:41-44 it speaks of the babe (not fetus) leaping for joy in his mother's womb. These scriptures prove that life does in fact begin at conception. To end that life for any reason is murder. (Matthew 19:18 Mark 10:19, Exodus 20:17) We can't change God's word!

I do not endorse nor condone the murder of Dr. David Gunn or any violence at abortion clinics. Instead, I feel that we need to pray for the doctors, nurses, and assistants who operate these clinics.

Edwards Introduces Jennings Randolph Lake Legislation

In an effort to establish a compact that would provide for the consolidation of authority over both the West Virginia and Maryland portions of Jennings Randolph Lake, District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards recently introduced House Bill 1615 - a bill he says would "eliminate the confusion as to who has authority."

Edwards explained that the bill seeks to establish a cooperative effort between the two states and the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers that would ultimately provide for "concurrent jurisdiction over the lands and waters of the Jennings Randolph Lake Project for enforcing certain natural resources and boating laws," as stated in the text of the bill.

The two states and the corps would cooperate in the planning, operation, and maintenance of the project, as well as the protection and management of fish and wildlife resources. As an example, he said, if a fisherman is limited to three fish in West Virginia while Maryland law allows for five fish, then an agreement might be reached that within the boundaries of the Jennings Randolph Lake, a limit of four fish would be imposed.

Edwards also noted that West Virginia, as well as the U.S. Congress, would have to pass concurrent legislation in order for the agreement to actually be executed. The lake is located in the southeastern portion of Garrett County, northeast of Kitzmiller, and in Mineral County, W.Va.

The bill has unanimously passed the House, and is awaiting the approval of the Senate.

Ag Transfer Tax Bill
In other news from the delegate's office, House Bill 1279 - Agricultural Transfer Tax - is being co-sponsored by Edwards in an effort to extend the three year limit on agricultural transfer tax funds for one more year.

Edwards explained that current legislation calls for a local jurisdiction to remit any remaining funds not yet expended from the Maryland Agricultural Preservation Fund after a period of three years. HB 1279 would suspend that requirement.

The delegate stated that the "state slow-down in the ag program" was part of the Practice Of Forestry Bill.

A bill that is intended to "recognize forestry as a business and an industry, and to consider forestry practices" in the update of the county's master zoning plan, has now received a favorable review with amendments from the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee.

tee, according to District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards.

Introduced by Edwards upon the request of the Maryland Forests Association (MFA), House Bill 1135 is intended to "keep the practice of forestry on private land in mind when zoning changes are being considered," he said.

In his testimony favoring the passage of the bill, MFA President John Forman stated, "The primary purpose of passing a right to practice forestry act is to ensure the preservation of Maryland's forest resource base."

House Passes Health Care Reform Bill

The House of Delegates overwhelmingly passed a major health care reform bill this week that could reportedly set a precedent among the states. The bill will now go to the Senate where its future is not expected to be as bright. Reports of a filibuster on the issue have even surfaced.

Doctors and trial lawyers are among the opposing forces to the measure, which calls for the creation of a commission to regulate doctors' fees and would provide stricter guidelines for lawsuits, as well as controls on medical malpractice insurance.

The bill would also ensure that small businesses have access to health insurance, and would require all insurance companies that do business in Maryland to provide a basic-benefits plan with automatic renewals.

Garrett County has the fourth highest rate of children living in poverty (19%) of all the counties in Maryland.

General Assembly Approves $12.5 Billion Budget

The Maryland General Assembly this week approved a budget of approximately $12.5 billion for Fiscal Year 1994 that includes a multi-million dollar increase in public school funding but does not call for any new taxes. The budget, agreed upon by a House and Senate Joint Conference Committee, will eliminate nearly 1,200 in vacant state positions.

This year marks the first in decades that state lawmakers have been able to submit a budget that met the constitutional deadline, and reflects a cut of approximately $227 million from Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer's proposed budget and is a 3.3% increase over the current year's budget.

According to District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards, "This budget is the most conservative budget since I've been here. Over all, I'm pleased with it."

He also stated that more money is being set aside for the Rainy Day Fund and unbudgeted surplus funds in an effort to offset any shortfalls that may occur in the future. Revenues are still "a little ahead" of projections and, even though estimates call for five percent increase from last year, "we used more conservative figures," he said.

The final proposal from the conference includes a $195.3 million increase in state aid to the 24 local jurisdictions, and a significant portion of that amount is earmarked for education.

Although approximately $1 million has been set aside to provide Norplant and vasectomies to low-income state residents, and some other monies for local health programs, trimmed during the recession, have been restored, a large amount has been trimmed from welfare and medical assistance programs. This was based on projections that fewer Marylanders would need those services next year.

The budget also provides for increment raises for half the state's work force, since the workers have been without a cost of living raise for the past three years.

The impact the budget will have on Garrett County will be covered in next week's issue of The Republican.

Assembly Approves Cleaner Car Bill

The General Assembly this week gave its final approval to a measure that would require cars registered in Maryland to meet pollution control standards as set by California - standards more stringent than the federal regulations.

The bill, however, is contingent on surrounding states adopting similar legislation.

The bill is also intended to help the state comply with a federal mandate to reduce ozone pollution around major metropolitan areas (Washington, D.C. and Baltimore being the prime examples in the state).

It is likely that the bill will now be signed by Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer since it was part of his legislative program this year.

Senate Panel Kills Speed Limit Bill

After a bill that would have raised the speed limit from 55 mph to 65 mph on certain rural interstate highways was passed by the House, a Senate committee voted this week to kill the bill.

House Bill 1117, co-sponsored by District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards, was the third attempt in as many years to raise the speed limit on certain highways, including parts of I-68 and I-70 in Western Maryland. The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee rejected the measure on a 7-3 vote.

The fate of the bill was in question, however, even if passed by the Senate because reports indicated that Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer, who has been opposed to the proposal for the last three years, would have vetoed the bill.

Delegate Edwards stated that there probably would have been enough votes in the House to override that veto.

Opponents of the bill have contended that if the speed limit were raised to 65 mph, motorists would tend to travel at 75 mph, and more traffic accidents would result. Proponents, however, claim that the rural highways were built to handle a 70 mph maximum speed limit, and that a 65 mph limit has proven to be safe in other states.

OBITUARIES

RUSSELL BRENNEMAN

Russell Edgar Brenneman, 77, Accident, died Tuesday, April 6, 1993, at his residence.

Born June 11, 1915, in Bittering, he was a son of the late Simon and Susie Klotz Brenneman.

He was a farmer and a member of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittering. He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II, a member of Grantsville American Legion Post 214, and Woodmen of the World, Camp 85, Bit-tering.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Anna (Opel) Brenneman, three daughters, Mrs.
Royce (Carolyn) Reiss,
Brookville, Mrs. William (Doris) Kerns, Rockville,
Mrs. Louis (Ruth) Detrick,
Eighty Four, Pa., one brother,
Homer Brenneman, Bittering, one sister, Fern Myers, Rawlings, and six grandchildren.

Friends will be received in the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, today from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m.

A service will be conducted
Friday at 11 a.m. at Emmanuel Lutheran Church with Pastor Louise Knotts officiating. The body will be taken to the church one hour prior to the service.

Interment will be in the Bittering Cemetery.

The family suggests that memorials take the form of contributions to Emmanuel Lutheran Church Building Fund.

HELP AFTER-PROM PARTY EFFORT - The Northern Garrett Republican Women recently donated money toward the Northern
Lole Rowe, one of the committee chairpersons for the After-Prom Party. "Our club would like to encourage other groups to contribute to this event for the youth of our community," said Gano.

FRED D. LEAREY
Fred D. Learey, 87, Tampa, Fla., died Thursday, March 25, 1993.

A native of Findlay, Ohio,
Learey graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1928 and immediately began a career in telecommunications that lasted 50 years with his retirement as chairman of the Board and consultant to General Telephone Company of Florida in 1978. Five years ago he founded and became chairman and chief executive officer of Business
Introductions Limited in Tampa.

Learey is survived by wife, Mary Whitaker; two sons, Frederick K. Learey, Mtn. Lake Park, and Richard N. Learey, Indianapolis; one brother, Carl J. Learey, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; four grandchildren, and one great grandson. He was preceded in death by his first wife, the late Marian VanValkenburgh Learey, who died in 1981 after 46 years of marriage.

After serving 32 years in the Bell System, including increasing responsibilities in Ohio Bell and AT&T, Learey became president of General Telephone Company of Florida in Tampa in 1961. During his tenure the company tripled in size.

Learey served as chairman of the Florida Council of 100; president of the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce; chairman of the Committee of 100; president of the Florida Telephone Association; and a past president and district governor of Rotary Clubs in Ohio. He also was a member of the Downtown Tampa Rotary Club.

In 1975-76, he served as interim president of the University of Tampa. He served for many years on the Board of Trustees and was awarded an honorary doctorate of civil laws in 1978. He also served as a trustee with the then New College in Sarasota, Fla.

In 1990, he was the catalyst for the formation of the Community Foundation of Greater Tampa and served as its founding chairman. The Foundation develops financial resources with a long range view of community needs in education, health, cultural and welfare.
A permanent fund has been established in Learey's name.

His business associations include serving on the boards of several area banks and insurance firms. He was a director of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, the Florida State Fair Board, and was chairman of the Board of Civil Service in Tampa. He also served as chairman of the Board of St.
Joseph's Hospital and was active on the Foundation Board of WEDU-TV. More recently, Learey was active on the Boards of the American Shipbuilding Company and Orange-Co., Inc.

Honors awarded to Learey are numerous and include the prestigious Tampa Citizen Club's Outstanding Citizen in 1969; the Silver Medallion by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Liberty Bell awarded by the Hillsborough County Bar Association. He served as chairman of employee support for the Florida National Guard and Reserves and was honored by Florida's Governor for Distinguished Service in 1985. His hometown of Findlay, Ohio, honored him with its Fort Findlay Association Award given to a native son who brought honor and recognition to his birthplace.

Learey was a member of Palma Ceia Golf and Country Club, Tampa Yacht and Country Club, the University Club of Tampa and Ye Mystic Krews of Gasparilla. He was also a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests expressions of sympathy may take the form of donations to the Garrett Choral Society, c/o
Wm. B. Grant, 127 W.
Pennington Street, Oakland
21550.

A funeral service was held Monday, March 28, at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Tampa, with Father Michael
F. Kennelly officiating. Interment followed at the Garden of Memories-Myrtle Hill Cemetery, Tampa.

NHS AFTER-PROM PARTY PLANS UNDERWAY - In an effort to provide Northern High School students with safe and entertaining activities following the annual spring prom, a committee of volunteers is currently soliciting donations to fund the school's after-prom party. According to Bonnie Doerr, committee chairperson, it is not enough to tell students to "just say no." Adults must give them an alternative to which they can and will say "yes." Mrs. Doerr stated. Those persons authorized to collect donations for the event are pictured above. They will each be carrying identification cards signed by Mrs. Doerr and
Perodo, Mrs. Doerr, and Linda Swauger. Standing in the same order are Gene Sinas, Larry Glass, and Nancy Friend. Not

APRIL IS CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION MONTH—The Garrett County Commissioners this week proclaimed April as Child Abuse Prevention Month and urged all county citizens to display a blue ribbon the week of April 25 in support of the efforts to end child abuse in the county. The proclamation stated that the Garrett County Office of Children, Youth, and Family is assisting in stabilizing family relationships, pointing out that "increases in economic stress from poverty, unemployment, and work concerns, and increased substance abuse have caused greater child abuse and neglect." Shown in the above photo, seated, left to right, are Garrett County Commissioners, Brenda Butcher and Elwood Groves. Standing, same order, are Rev. Martin E. Field, community representative and member of the office's board; Larry Bruch, Child Welfare supervisor for the Garrett County Department of Social Services; Debbie Holler, Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center; and Bob Stephens, director of the Garrett County Office for Children, Youth, and Families, Inc.

First United Managers Named

community offices.

Lori J. Thomas

Cynthia L. Phillips

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board and president of First United National Bank & Trust, recently announced the appointment of Cynthia L. Phillips as community office manager for the bank's newest full-service office, located in Martin's, Valley Park Commons, Hagerstown. Lori J. Thomas serves as assistant community office manager at the office, which opened March 10, 1993.

"This new location represents a unique opportunity for First United and our customers," Stanton said. He further explained, "If customers have the opportunity to combine their grocery shopping and banking into one trip, they will save valuable time during their week. It's the ultimate in providing quality service."

Stanton continued, "When we entertained the idea of this innovative banking concept, we knew the success of the office would be dependent on having a strong management team. Cindy and Lori bring with them the strong level of enthusiasm needed for this venture. We're very excited about having them lead our team."

Mrs. Phillips holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration with a concentration in Marketing. She also holds a master's degree in business administration in management from Frostburg State University.

Mrs. Phillips and her husband, Brian, reside in the Yellow Springs, W. Va., area.

Lori J. Thomas began her career with First United National Bank & Trust in 1987 as a customer service representative. She later served as loan secretary. In 1992, she was promoted to Customer Service Officer of the bank's lake office at Melferry.

Miss Thomas has continued her education throughout her career. She has completed various bank courses, including Consumer Lending and Sales and Negotiation for Bankers. She has recently obtained her license to sell property and casualty insurance along with life and health products.

She has recently re-located and is now residing in the Hagerstown area.

The new Hagerstown office is First United's second supermarket office. The first one opened in November 1992 at Martin's in LaVale.

New Commander

1Lt. David M. Marple II recently took over command of Company B, 121st Engineer Battalion (Combat), Maryland Army National Guard, Cumberland.

Lt. Marple was assigned to Company B in October of 1991 as the executive officer. He came to Company B from headquarters of the 121st Engineer Battalion in Ellington City where he served as a staff officer. Prior to his duties at headquarters, he was assigned to Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion, Oakland, from 1985 to 1990 where he served as a platoon leader. He is a native of Garrett County and a 1981 graduate of Southern High School.

Lt. Marple attended Frostburg State University and graduated with a B.S. degree in earth science. He was commissioned in 1985 through Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) and assigned to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. He attended Engineer Officer Basic Course at Ft. Belvoir, Va. His most recent completed assignment was as project officer for the Jennings Randolph Lake Road Construction Project.

Marple currently resides in the Annapolis area where he is employed by the Maryland Natural Resources Police.

Airman Scottie H.E. Carr has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who completed basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Carr, who is the son of Carmie J. and Jeanie M. Carr, Mt. Storm, W. Va., is a 1992 graduate of Union High School, Mt. Storm.

U.S. Air Force Staff Sgt. William C. Frazee has arrived for duty at RAF Upper Heyford, Oxford, England.

Frazee, a first sergeant, is the son of William D. Frazee of Lake Lynn, Pa., and Renelda A. Frazee of Route 1, Friendsville.

He is a 1976 graduate of Northern High School.

U.S. Army Chief Warrant Officer Rodger L. Shuttleworth has arrived for duty at Fort George G. Meade, Laurel.

Shuttleworth, a military personnel technician, is the son of Earl H. Shuttleworth, Route 1, Oakland.

Big Band Jazz Concert Set At Frostburg State

A concert of big band jazz will be performed by the award-winning Baltimore City College High School Band at Frostburg State University on Tuesday, April 20, at 8 p.m. in the Lane Center multi-use room. The public is invited to this free performance.

Under the direction of FSU alumni Russell Perkins, the group has appeared at the Baltimore City Jazz Festival, the Arundel Jazz Festival, Hanover (Pennsylvania) Jazz Festival, the Dixie Classic Jazz Festival in Virginia Beach and the Maple Leaf Festival in Toronto, Canada.

Among other selections, the Ensemble will perform "In the Mood," "Things Ain't What They Used To Be," "Round Midnight," and "Here's That Rainy Day."

The Victor To Be Presented At Lakeside Assembly

The Victor, an Easter musical and dramatization program, will be presented this weekend at the Lakeside Assembly of God, located eight miles north of Oakland on Rt. 219. Program dates and times are Friday and Saturday, April 9 and 10, at 7 p.m., and Sunday, April 11, at 11 a.m.

The program was created and arranged by David T. Clydesdale, and follows the life of Jesus Christ from the raising of Lazarus to Christ's own resurrection.

Soloists in the presentation include William Fitzwater, Debbie Georg, Julie Hill, Brenda Kyle, Mark Kyle, Karen Tyree, Connie Meyers, and David Zimmerman. Paul Warnick will serve as narrator, and Shirley Fitzwater is the choir director.

The public is invited to attend the program.

Music will be provided by the Short Brothers, a Preston County group who featured their video on television recently. They have reportedly written much of their own music about the area.

Admission is $3 per person or $3 per couple.

TOPS WV #411 Welcomes Six New Members

Six new members were welcomed during the month of March to the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) WV #411 Bayard Chapter. A total net loss of 58 pounds was recorded for the month.

The "best losers" for the month were also honored.

The weekly "best losers" were: March 3, Juanita Skeweris; March 17, Debbie Chewning; March 24, mystery member; and March 31, Virginia Davis. The March monthly "best loser" was Debbie Chewning and a mystery member is the quarterly "best loser" for the first quarter of 1993. Members with six consecutive losses were Missy Cosner and Dolores Hutzel.

The chapter also awarded charms for pounds lost to the following: Amy Rotruck, Missy Cosner, Juanita Skeweris, Debbie Chewning, Dora Uphold, Dolores Hutzel, and mystery member, 10 pounds; mystery member, 20 pounds; Juanita Cosner, 30 pounds; Joanne Lambert, Dolores Hutzel, and mystery member, halfway to goal.

The Crying Towel Contest ended in March and the three winners who walked away with money attached to the crying towels were Missy Cosner, Amy Rotruck, and Juanita Cosner. Chapter members are still participating in other contests that will end in April. Contests are used to inspire weight loss among members.

Persons interested in TOPS may attend meetings held on Wednesdays at 6 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Bayard or may call the leader, Edana McDaniel, at 693-7366.

EASTER DRAMA PRESENTED IN AURORA - An Easter musical drama was presented April 4 and 5 at the Aurora School auditorium, titled "Some Kind of Happenin' Happenin' in Jerusalem." The cast consisted of one adult and 35 students from kindergarten through ninth grade. This was the tenth community Lantian Drama to be presented in the Union District area. All area churches in the district combine to form the cast of characters for these presentations. The director for this year's drama was Carolyn Wotring, with assistants Krista Hayes and Frances Roth.

Camp Horseshoe Earns Accreditation

The American Camping Association (ACA) has announced that YMCA Camp Horseshoe, St. George, has received ACA Accredited Camp status for 1993.

"An independent evaluation by camp experts is very important," emphasized Dr. Margery Scanlin, Director of ACA's Standards program. "By being ACA accredited, YMCA Camp Horseshoe demonstrates that they care about their campers and comply with the highest quality standards designed specifically for camps."

"Parents expect their children to attend accredited schools. They also deserve a camp experience that is reviewed and accredited by an expert, independent organization," stated Scanlin.

"ACA accreditation is very important to our camp," said David King, director of Horseshoe. "While the program is strictly voluntary, we owe it to our campers and parents to have the best operation that we possibly can. ACA accreditation demonstrates our commitment to quality camp programming."

YMCA Camp Horseshoe was opened in 1940 and is located in Tucker County. The camp is in operation year round and offers sessions lasting from six days to four weeks. In 1992, Horseshoe served boys and girls from more than 200 West Virginia communities in at least 50 counties. For more information, parents may contact the camp at 304-478-2481.

The American Camping Association is the only independent accrediting organization reviewing camp operations in the country. Their nationally-recognized standards program focuses primarily on the program quality and health and safety aspects of a camp's operation. The standards are continually reviewed, refined, and updated.

Currently, ACA accreditation is held by 25 percent of day and resident camps.

Mt. Storm Power Retirees Organize

At a meeting called by Station Manager Doug Ketterman, retirees of Mt. Storm Power Station voted recently to organize. Dolores Sites Alt was duly elected by the group as chairman and reporter. Plans were made to meet again on Tuesday, May 25, at noon at the Station.

In the interim, Manager Ketterman will be organizing a tour of the Clover Station for the retirees. Members are requested to be considering a name for the group, as well as direction and activities in which to be involved.

Miss Fireworks Pageant Slated

Miss Fireworks 1993 will be selected at the annual pageant sponsored by the Terra Alta Civic Club, April 13, at Alpine Lake Resort. She will reign as the 19th queen for the Town of Terra Alta in various functions throughout the summer and fall.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m., with Tom McConnell, county Extension agent, serving as master of ceremony.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by the quartet, "Four Fun," consisting of Wayne and Sue Williams, Karen Spiker, and Tom McConnell, under the direction of Vivian McConnell, all of Terra Alta.

Selected by judges from outside the area will be a queen, two maids of honor from grades 7, 8, and 9, and two princesses from grades 4, 5, and 6. First grade will provide the completion of the court with a crown bearer and flower girl. The civic club will again construct a new float for the group to enter into the area parades.

Katie Crum, chairperson for the event, along with the civic club members, welcome everyone to the pageant, free of charge. Refreshments will be served.

Preston County Food Distribution Set For April 20

The Preston County Office of North Central West Virginia Community Action will coordinate the distribution of surplus food commodities on April 20 at various locations in the county.

Participants are asked to bring their own bags or boxes to pick up food. Registration for new clients will also be conducted.

The distribution schedule is as follows: Arthur Dale Presbyterian Church, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Aurora Fire Hall, 9 a.m. to noon; Bruceton United Methodist Church, 9 a.m. to noon; Camp Dawson, Kingwood, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Newburg Senior Center, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Rowlesburg Fire Hall, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Evergreen Baptist Church, Terra Alta, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and Tunnelton United Methodist Church, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

National studies on prison populations indicate that 80-90% of the inmates have been abused as children. Source: Child Abuse Digest.

There were only 16 present for the Saturday, April 3, meeting of the Union District Senior Citizens Grace for the meal was asked by Sheridan Layman. Devotions of scripture, a reading, "Forget Success" and prayer were led by Wilda Stemple.

Three get well cards were signed to be sent. Frank Blamble was appointed to serve as a representative to the Preston County Senior Board with Clayton as his alternate.

PERSONAL MENTION

Recent visitors of Louella Fike at Aurora were L.H. Joan, and Robin Dugman of Cumberland. Her grandchildren, Kevin and Becky Fike of Terra Alta, were with Mrs. Fike this weekend.

Dorthea Forman returned to her home in Amboy last Monday where she continues recovery from recent surgery and wishes to thank all who remembered her in prayer, also those who visited or sent cards or flowers.

Pauline Wilhelm of Aurora was surprised last Monday when she answered the phone to find it was her son, Bill Wilhelm, calling from a plane "over Morgantown."

He and his wife, Pat, were en route to their home in Alderden, Md., from a western visit with relatives.

Eldon Wilson of Cleveland has moved to Aurora to make her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Deanna and Clifton Arnold.

The Young Adult Class of Maple Spring had an ice cream social Saturday evening at the church to share homemade ice cream.

George Roth was expected to return to his home at Horse Shoe Run on Monday after being a patient for a week at Garrett Memorial Hospital where he was treated for a heart condition.

Music will be provided by the Short Brothers, a Preston County group who featured their video on television recently. They have reportedly written much of their own music about the area.

Admission is $3 per person or $5 per couple.

TOPS WV #411 Welcomes Six New Members

Six new members were welcomed during the month of March to the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) WV #411 Bayard Chapter. A total net loss of 58 pounds was recorded for the month.

The "best losers" for the month were also honored. The weekly "best losers" were: March 3, Juanita Skeweris; March 17, Debbie Chewning; March 24, mystery member; and March 31, Virginia Davis. The March monthly "best loser" was Debbie Chewning and a mystery member is the quarterly "best loser" for the first quarter of 1993. Members with six consecutive losses were Missy Cosner and Dolores Hutzel.

The chapter also awarded charms for pounds lost to the following: Amy Rotruck, Missy Cosner, Juanita Skeweris, Debbie Chewning, Dora Uphold, Dolores Hutzel, and mystery member, 10 pounds; mystery member, 20 pounds; Juanita Cosner, 30 pounds; Joanne Lambert, Dolores Hutzel, and mystery member, halfway to goal.

The Crying Towel Contest ended in March and the three winners who walked away with money attached to the crying towels were Missy Cosner, Amy Rotruck, and Juanita Cosner. Chapter members are still participating in other contests that will end in April. Contests are used to inspire weight loss among members.

Persons interested in TOPS may attend meetings held on Wednesdays at 6 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Bayard or may call the leader, Edana McDaniel, at 693-7368.

EASTER DRAMA PRESENTED IN AURORA - An Easter musical drama was presented April 4 and 5 at the Aurora School auditorium, titled "Some Kind of Happenin's Happenin' In Jerusalem." The cast consisted of one adult and character and 35 students from kindergarten through ninth grade. This was the tenth community Lenten Drama to be presented in the Union District area. All area churches in the district combine to form the cast of characters for these presentations. The director for this year's drama was Carolyn Wotring, with assistants Krista Hayes and Frances Roth.

Camp Horseshoe Earns Accreditation

The American Camping Association (ACA) has announced that YMCA Camp Horseshoe, St. George, has received ACA Accredited Camp status for 1993.

"An independent evaluation by camp experts is very important," emphasized Dr. Margery Scanlin, Director of ACA's Standards program. "By being ACA accredited, YMCA Camp Horseshoe demonstrates that they care about their campers and comply with the highest quality standards designed specifically for camps."

"Parents expect their children to attend accredited schools. They also deserve a camp experience that is reviewed and accredited by an expert, independent organization," stated Scanlin.

"ACA accreditation is very important to our camp," said David King, director of Horseshoe. "While the program is strictly voluntary, we owe it to our campers and parents to have the best operation that we possibly can. ACA accreditation demonstrates our commitment to quality camp programming."

YMCA Camp Horseshoe was opened in 1940 and is located in Tucker County. The camp is in operation year round and offers sessions lasting from six days to four weeks. In 1992, Horseshoe served boys and girls from more than 200 West Virginia communities in at least 50 counties. For more information, parents may contact the camp at 304-478-2481.

The American Camping Association is the only independent accrediting organization reviewing camp operations in the country. Their nationally-recognized standards program focuses primarily on the program quality and health and safety aspects of a camp's operation. The standards are continually reviewed, refined, and updated.

Currently, ACA accreditation is held by 25 percent of day and resident camps.

Mt. Storm Power Retirees Organize

At a meeting called by Station Manager Doug Ketterman, retirees of Mt. Storm Power Station voted recently to organize. Delores Sites Alt was duly elected by the group as chairman and reporter. Plans were made to meet again on Tuesday, May 25, at noon at the Station.

In the interim, Manager Ketterman will be organizing a tour of the Clover Station for the retirees. Members are requested to be considering a name for the group, as well as direction and activities in which to be involved.

Miss Fireworks Pageant Slated

Miss Fireworks 1993 will be selected at the annual pageant sponsored by the Terra Alta Civic Club, April 13, at Alpine Lake Resort. She will reign as the 19th queen for the Town of Terra Alta in various functions throughout the summer and fall.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m., with Tom McConnell, county Extension agent, serving as master of ceremony. Entertainment for the evening will be provided by the quartet, "Four Fun," consisting of Wayne and Sue Williams, Karen Spiker, and Tom McConnell, under the direction of Vivian McConnell, all of Terra Alta.

Selected by judges from outside the area will be a queen, two maids of honor from grades 7, 8, and 9, and two princesses from grades 4, 5, and 6. First grade will provide the completion of the court with a crown bearer and flower girl. The civic club will again construct a new float for the group to enter into the area parades.

Katie Crum, chairperson for the event, along with the civic club members, welcome everyone to the pageant, free of charge. Refreshments will be served.

Preston County Food Distribution Set For April 20

The Preston County Office of North Central West Virginia Community Action will coordinate the distribution of surplus food commodities on April 20 at various locations in the county.

Participants are asked to bring their own bags or boxes to pick up food. Registration for new clients will also be conducted.

The distribution schedule is as follows: Arthurdale Presbyterian Church, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Aurora Fire Hall, 9 a.m. to noon; Bruceton United Methodist Church, 9 a.m. to noon; Camp Dawson, Kingwood, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Newburg Senior Center, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Rowlesburg Fire Hall, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Evergreen Baptist Church, Terra Alta, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and Tunnelton United Methodist Church, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Southern Opens With Win Over Mountaineers

After several postponements because of foul weather conditions, the Southern High varsity baseball team was finally able to open its 1993 campaign, and did so on a positive note yesterday afternoon by defeating host Beall, 4-2.

The Rams started slowly against the Mountaineers, who were also playing their season opener, as they rallied from a 2-0 deficit in the final three innings.

Josh Woods accounted for two of the Rams' total of five hits, as he rapped a pair of singles. The Mountaineers also finished with five hits, with Jeff Ashenfelter recording two singles and a double.

Gary Upole pitched into the sixth inning for the Rams to earn the win. Walker Chapman went the distance for Beall to take the loss.

Coach Jim Bosley's Rams are slated to play again this Friday at home against Petersburg Southern.

Northern Net Teams Fall To BW, Fort Hill

The first two matches of the season for the Northern High boys' and girls' tennis teams both ended in defeat for the Huskies, as the two teams lost by 6-1 scores to host Bishop Walsh Tuesday and then fell to Fort Hill yesterday, the boys losing 6-1 and the girls, 5-2.

The only Huskies to record points against Bishop Walsh were Mike Miller and Amy Giotfelly, as Miller topped Mike Wildand in singles and Giotfelly was awarded a forfeit victory.

Winning singles for the Spartan boys were B.J. Reuse, Tom Harshberger, Gus Stern, and Jason Helmstetter. The doubles teams of Nick Stern and Sydney Chang, and Andrew Wolfe and Alex Bosley were also victorious for BW.

Ritu Katurna, Emma Tan, Ana Reyes, and Catio Snider all won in singles for the Bishop Walsh girls. Katurna and Tan, and Karen Potanka and Julie Bolt won their doubles matches.

Miller was again the lone winner for the Northern boys Wednesday at Fort Hill, as he defeated Jason Collins in singles.

Mike Trozzo, Chapin Jewell, Brian Road, and Kerry Lucas all earned single wins for the Sentinels, while the teams of Trozzo and Jewell, and Kevin Stanton and Dave Funkhouser won their doubles matches.

Alison Buckel scored one point for the Northern girls by winning her singles

Randolph Lake Campground To Open April 30

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Jennings Randolph Lake has announced that the Robert W. Craig Campground will open on April 30 for the 1993 camping season. The campground is located five miles north of Elk Garden, W.Va., on Rt. 46.

The campground features an amphitheater, a playground, a basketball court, horseshoe pit, and a mile-long tree identification trail. Evening programs will be presented every Saturday evening in the amphitheater starting Memorial Day weekend.

The campground has 87 campsites, of which 25 have electrical service installed. The fee for campsites with electric will be $10 per night. A fee of $7 per night will be charged for sites without electric service.

The picnic area, which sports a volleyball court, horseshoe pits, children's playground, barbecue pit, and two covered pavilions.

will also open April 30.

For further information, persons may call (304) 355-2346 or (301) 359-3861.

Southern High Netters Edged By Keyser, 4-3

The Southern High boys' and girls' tennis teams opened their seasons Tuesday by being edged by host Keyser, 4-3 and 4-3.

Sean Gregory and Devin Pratt both recorded singles wins for the Southern boys, and then teamed up to add a doubles victory.

Pat Stanislawczyk and Eli Rhodes were singles winners for the Golden Tornado boys. The teams Todd Rosedale and Stanislawczyk, and Rhodes and John Wilson both won in doubles to give Keyser the one-point match victory.

Winning in singles for the Southern girls was Kathryn Ashby, while the teams of Ingrid Carlson and Hillary Garis, and Amanda Stoner and Tammy Eisentrout added doubles victories for the Rams.

Jami Woy, Jamie Bean, and Amy Kalbaugh were singles winners for Keyser. Bean and Kalbaugh also won as a doubles team to give the Keyser girls the winning edge.

The win against Allegany on Tuesday snapped an eight-game winning streak of the Trojans, who are now 10-4 on the season.

Paul Bowman and Neal Bailey scattered six hits to earn the Laker win, as Bowman held the mound through the first five frames to be awarded the win. Bailey's save included working out of a sixth-inning jam and striking out two batters in the seventh.

The Lakers took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Whittington singled, moved to third on a single by Crosby, and scored during a rundown of Crosby between first and second bases.

ACC's Scott Etsell tied the score in the bottom of the first by walking and then scoring on an infield error.

The Trojans took a 2-1 advantage with a single run in the bottom of the second when Damon Bond doubled and scored on a single by Jason Baker.

The Lakers won the game in the fourth inning when they scored five runs. Bishop got things rolling with a one-out single, followed by a walk by Mike Crosby and an RBI double by Godby.

Then after another walk and an infield error, Brian Clark sent home the fourth run with a fielder's choice grounder. Pecarro followed with an RBI single.

ACC managed single runs in the fifth and sixth on an RBI single by Mike Hanlon in the fifth and two errors and a walk in the sixth.

The second game belonged to the Trojans from the second inning on, when they jumped out to a 3-0 lead on four walks and bunt singles by Ted Campbell and Kevin Olson.

A squeeze hunt by Curt Dimmick in the fourth scored Bond to make it 4-0 and a grand slam by Campbell in the fifth gave the Trojans an 8-0 lead.

Tony Reda smacked a two-run shot in the sixth to conclude the scoring.

Campbell and Reda each had a double to go with their homers, while Tony Myers also hit two singles for ACC. Godby recorded a pair of singles for the Lakers, who were held to six hits by Greg Stouffer, who went the distance.

The Lakers are 3-1 in the Maryland JUCO standings.

New Area Soccer Organization Holds Registration

The newly formed Casseleman Valley American Youth Soccer Organization (CVAYSO) recently registered players, aged 4-18, for the spring season. Approximately 130 players comprising nine teams signed up the first year.

The teams will begin practice as soon as the snow melts and the weather permits. The home fields are located in Springs, Pa., next to the Mountain View School on Route 669. Players registered were from Salisbury, Grantville, Accident, Friendsville, Frostburg, and Cumberland.

While players are waiting for good weather, the committee is holding referee and coaching clinics. Approximately 25 volunteers attended a weekend referee clinic March 19 and 20 to become certified to officiate. The following Saturday, coaches for the nine teams met for a coach training course, conducted by the area head coach from Hollidaysburg.

The American Youth Soccer Organization is a national non-profit organization formed in 1964 with an emphasis on fun in playing. "It's not just about soccer balls and winning and losing," states the National President Burt Haimes. "It's about participating, team work, and having fun. In this era of treating players in youth sports like professionals, and the resulting pressure on our children to excel, AYSO stands as a beacon to a simpler yet richer experience - where the game, not the result, is what matters, and where the child is the center of our attention."

Area businesses and civic groups have rallied behind the cause with financial support. The following businesses have given their support through sponsorship: Beitzel Welding, Foodland, Apex Engineering & Surveying, Specht Photography, The Print Shoppe, Schrock's

Funds to buy equipment and uniforms were raised through selling candy in order to keep registration costs to a minimum ($15 per child which included the uniform). Each child at registration was given a case of 60 bars of candy to sell at $1 a bar. The top three sellers - Priscilla Beachy, Jacquetta Brennenman, and Andrew Maust - received gift certificates at the Country Club Mall.

Four committee members recently attended AYSO sectional meetings in Utica, N.Y., to find out better ways to run a soccer region. Hundreds of region representatives from the Northeast gathered to participate in workshops designed to help organizing committees function more efficiently and to develop creative strategies to help children have fun playing soccer.

"We wouldn't go to all this trouble if we weren't sure the kids would have fun," commented Esther Prosser, regional commissioner. "The question we must constantly ask ourselves as we plan for the upcoming season is, 'Will it be fun?'" "Everything else is secondary. For questions or interest in this new soccer region, persons may call 814-862-4380.

Results Of 1993 Bowl For Kids' Sake Announced

The fourth annual Bowl For Kids' Sake was held on Saturday, March 27, at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland. Bowlers, young and old, from the area pitched in and gave their best performance to help make the event the most successful ever, according to tournament officials.

Bowl For Kids' Sake is the major fund-raiser for the Garrett County Branch of Big Brothers/Big Sisters of the Alleghenies, as well as Big Brothers/Big Sisters of America.

Some 125 bowlers participated in knocking down pins for the local Branch of Big Brothers/Big Sisters. Kent Miller, Grantsville, was the bowler with the largest dollar amount of pledges (over $1,000).

The local branch had a goal of $14,000, and the goal was not reached, it was close enough to be considered a success. "A preliminary total of $13,906.86 has been pledged," said Anna Bishop, chairman of the event. This money will be used to continue and expand the services of Big Brothers/Big Sisters here in Garrett County.

Of the 32 corporate sponsors of the Bowl for Kids' Sake tourney, 15 entered teams in the Corporate Sponsor Tournament held the same day at Par-Matt. The team representing the Grantsville Lions Club captured first place again this year with a scratch score of 679. The Lion team was the 1992 winner also. The winning team consisted of Keith DeWitt, Joe McCrobie, Howard Finzel, and Kevin Johnson. These bowlers will receive a dinner at the local restaurant of their choice.

The team from the Deep Creek Ready Mix came in second with a score of 663. Pat Head donated an original oil painting and a hand made draft-stopper to the event, while Ms. Susan Athey-Oxford donated a very unique Easter bunny. These items were raffled, as Elizabeth McComas won the oil painting. Ruth Wilson won the draft-stopper, and the Easter bunny was won by Ms. Barbara Riley. The raffle contributed $93 to the total.

The local branch of Big Brothers/Big Sisters expressed its appreciation to all who helped make the tournament the "biggest and best" Bowl For Kids' Sake yet. "This event keeps getting bigger and better every year," said Larry Bruch, president of the agency's Board. The branch operates on funds that it raises itself, and receives no federal, state, or county funds.

For information on the services offered by the Garrett County Branch of Big Brothers/Big Sisters, persons may contact Dan Seib, coordinator, at 334-3591 or 1-800-400-0735. The local branch is seeking both children and volunteer adults who would like to participate in the program.

Lakers Split Doubleheaders With Anne Arundel, Allegany

The Garrett Community College Lakers played a pair of doubleheaders this past week, splitting one with host Anne Arundel Community College in Arnold Sunday afternoon, and then splitting the second one with arch rival Allegany Community College Tuesday in Cumberland.

The Lakers gave up a four-run lead in the final inning of the first game with Anne Arundel and lost, 7-6, before coming back with a three-run final inning rally of their own in the second game to win, 9-8. Against the ACC Trojans, Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt's squad won the opener, 6-4, before being whitewashed in the nightcap, 10-0. The results left the Lakers with a 5-2 mark overall, which they will put on the line this afternoon at Montgomery-Germantown.

In the opener against Anne Arundel, Garrett rallied from deficits of 1-0 and 3-2, and got a strong pitching performance from starter Bill Wilcox, who tossed into the seventh inning and gave up just five hits and two earned runs. But a double by Tony Scott, four walks, and an infield error, all in the bottom of the seventh inning, yielded four runs and the victory for the home team. The Lakers led 6-2 with just three outs to go.

The Lakers finished with nine hits, led by Bo Bishop with a double and a single. Deron Godby recorded two singles and Doug Bertolini and Chris Swaney each finished with two RBI.

The Lakers wasted no time grabbing the momentum in the second game, as they scored six runs in the top of the first inning; however, Anne Arundel responded with seven runs in the bottom of the second.

The Laker first was led off with a bang by Jermaine Shy, who smacked a solo homer. Then Swaney walked and Bishop, Godby, and Bertolini followed with singles to make it 3-0. Following a strikeout, Brian Clark rapped a two-run single and Joe Pecarro added a one-run double.

Anne Arundel's seven-run response was highlighted by a grand slam by Mark Murphy. A single run in the fifth inning gave the Pirates an 8-6 advantage, setting the stage for the Lakers' three-run rally in the seventh.

Bishop doubled to lead off the seventh and came home on a single by Godby. Bertolini then dropped a fly into left field for a single and Rob Whittington knotted the score at 8-8 by sending Godby home on a single. Clark followed with the game-winning single that scored Bertolini.

Brian Free, former standout at Hampshire High, earned the win by pitching the final five and two-thirds innings. He struck out five and retired the final eight batters.

The split placed the Pi-

Huskies Open With Victories Over Hancock And Oldtown

The Northern Huskies opened their varsity baseball season this past week with a pair of wins in about 24 hours, as they topped Hancock, 4-2, on Tuesday on the Panthers' diamond and then crushed host Oldtown Wednesday, 11-0.

Paul Edwards and Jeremy Brenneman led Northern's eight-hit effort against Hancock, as each finished with three hits. Edwards rapped a double and two singles, while Brenneman recorded three singles. Rob Speicher and Derek Mason handled the pitching chores and yielded six hits.

The Panthers scored two runs in the bottom of the second inning on a single by Bob Ross, and held a 2-0 lead until the top of the fourth when the Huskies tied it at 2-2. Northern added single runs in the fifth and sixth to record the win.

Brian McKenzie had a run-producing single for the Huskies, and Bob Fritz was credited with an RBI on a sacrifice fly.

Jim Swann added two singles for the Panthers. Speicher pitched the first five innings to record the win over Marty Adams, who went the distance for Hancock.

The Huskies erupted for six runs in the third inning yesterday against Oldtown, while Brenneman went the distance on the mound, giving up just three hits and striking out 15 batters.

Fritz smacked a two-run double for the Huskies. Robert Beachy hit a two-run single, Chris Wright singled home a run, and John Hamilton added a double.

Jason Robinette, the losing pitcher, doubled for the Indians, who dropped to 0-2.

Caught In The Middle

News From Southern Middle School

Where In The World? Matthew Paugh, eighth grade, was recently named Southern Middle School geography bee winner. Matthew took a written test to qualify for the statewide bee. There are three levels of competition: school, state, and national. To advance to the state competition, Matthew had to take a written test, Matthew received a board game, a certificate, and an inflatable globe as prizes.

Sailing, Sailing

During the week of March 29, Chad Lovett participated in the Flying Scot Mid-Winter Nationals. It took place in Panama City, Fla. He was third crew with Johnny Meredith of Pennsylvania and Graham Holland of California. The name of the boat was Flying Colors. His boat placed 13th out of 41 boats, Chad says. "It was a once in a lifetime experience." Congratulations, Chad!

Test Dates Announced

The eighth grade class will be taking the CTBS test next week on April 15 and 16. This test is a part of the Maryland School Performance Program. It is important for all eighth grade students to be in school for those days. Get lots of rest and a good breakfast!

Chad Lovett, grade 6, recently competed in the Flying Scot Mid-Winter Nationals in Panama City, Fla.

Arts Camp Needed

Hickory is an Environmental Learning Center for people interested in the environment. Each year students go there to learn about the environment through hands-on activities. Mr. Lovelace takes his eighth grade classes from Southern Middle School there so that they can get away from their parents and teachers and just have some fun. His students carve wood, make puppets, paint, and do many other creative things. While they are doing this, they also learn. Throughout the years, many of his students have said that the thing they like most about eighth grade was going to camp!

I think that we should have a Creative Arts Camp in Garrett County. If we did have this, it could be set up especially for creativity. People could go there to do paintings, writings, and anything creative. You could have special classes that teach writing, painting, sculpturing, and all sorts of stuff. I'm sure that there are people in Garrett County who would like to participate in this.

The eighth graders this year are not going to Hickory because there are too many students in Mr. Lovelace's classes. Hickory is booked for the remainder of the year, so we cannot squeeze in classes at different times. Maybe if we had a Creative Arts Camp, more students would get to do fun activities. The students learning about the environment could go to Hickory, and the students learning art and other creative things could go to the Creative Arts Camp. I think that it will be a wonderful thing to have in Garrett County. I'm sure that if we had a camp like this, many people would enjoy it!

DEEP CREEK UNIT

Girl Scouts in the Deep Creek Service unit are preparing for the World Friendship Celebration. It will be held at Flowery Vale Senior Center on April 25 at 2 p.m. Each troop has picked a country that has a G.S. World Center. The girls are studying that country and the Girl Guides who live there. India will be represented by Brownie Troop 5045 under the leadership of Marcie Beller, Mexico by Brownie Troop 5051 under the leadership of Linda Fazendaker, England by Cadette Troop 5025 under the leadership of Pat Williamson, Switzerland by Junior Troop 5052 under the leadership of Linda Sherwood, and United States by Daisy Troop 5030 under the leadership of Brenda Brent-hoover.

The celebration will include crafts, dance, and food of the countries. Each girl may bring one adult with her to share the fun. Every girl attending will receive a patch for participation. It is hoped the celebration will teach friendship, spread fellowship, and promote cooperation between the troops and other countries as well as spreading understanding between people of different backgrounds and cultures.

Cadette Troop of Northern Middle School helped with preparations for the Dance-a-Thon held last Saturday night at the Elks Lodge. Charlene Bittinger, Jane Williamson and Jill Speicher spent several hours helping the Garrett County Drug and Alcohol Council prepare for their Dance-a-Thon.

Hixon To Lead Revival Services

Revival services will be held at the Hiway Assembly of God Church in Vindex Tuesday through Friday, April 13-16, at 8:30 p.m. each evening. The guest evangelist will be Rev. Galen Hixon, of New York, son of Pastor and Mrs. Gail K. Hixon, Swallow Falls.

There will be special music presented at each service. The public is invited to attend.

Peking Acrobats Will Perform At Potomac State

The Peking Acrobats will perform Wednesday, April 21, at 8 p.m. at the Church-McKee Arts Center, Potomac State College, Keyser, W.Va.

Daring maneuvers atop a precarious pagoda of chairs, treacherous wire walking, a trick cycling kaleidoscope, powerful precision tumbling, somersaulting and gymnastics, displays of contortion, flexibility, and control, balancing feats, and extraordinary exhibits of agility and grace are among the acts presented by the highly acclaimed The Peking Acrobats from the People's Republic of China. This 24-member troupe is making its fifth North American tour following sold-out tours from 1986-1989. The company is current on a 100-city tour of the United States and Canada.

This program is being presented by Highland Arts Unlimited through memberships and with financial assistance from Potomac State College, the West Virginia Commission on the Arts, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Curtain time is at 8 p.m. on the campus of Potomac State College in the Church-McKee Arts Center, which is handicapped accessible. Anyone needing assistance should inquire at the box office.

Tickets will be sold the night of the performance at the box office. The doors will open at 7:30 p.m. The charge is $10 for adults and $5 for children.

Ms. Brown Joins Staff Of Local Counseling Firm

Garrett Counseling, Inc., announced this week the addition of a new counselor to its staff. She is Opal Brown, who holds a master's degree in social work.

Ms. Brown's specialties include additions counseling, divorce mediation, co-dependency and sexual abuse counseling, parent skills training, and stress management. According to a spokesman for the company, she will be providing private counseling to children, adolescents, and adults.

CIVIC CLUB HEARS MONETARY REQUESTS - The Civic Club of Oakland recently met with representatives from several area organizations who explained their missions and requested financial support offered by the Club. Monies from the Civic Club's annual Autumn Glory antique show and sale are distributed each year to several organizations. In the first row, left to right, are representatives from the various organizations: Sheila Hughes, acting director of Ruth Enlow Library; Carol Cox, Alliance for the Mentally Ill; Garrett Co., Willetta Russell, Mountain Laurel Garden Club; Jean Clark, American Association of University Women; Debbie Jo Adams-Norosi, Garrett Co. Lighthouse, Inc.; and Debra Barnard, Garrett Co. 4-H Program and American Lung Assoc. In the second row, same order, are Betty Eaton, Boy Scouts of America; Bonnie Doerr, Garrett Co. Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse; Dorothy Cathell, Garrett Co. Historical Society Museum; Lucy Burnett, Garrett Co. Chapter of American Red Cross; Louise Richards, Maryland Salem Children's Trust; Ida Maust, House of Hope and Hospice of Garrett Co.; and Gail Herman, Tapestry of Talent Student Storytelling Festival. In the back row, same order, are Dave Spirk, Mtn. Top Soccer Association; Dorothy Leuba, Garrett Co. Organization for the Handicapped; Dan Seib, Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Alleghenies; Fred Stemple, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival; Bob Rudy, Oakland Volunteer Fire Department; Bill Grant, Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital Foundation and Garrett Choral Society; and Steve Herman, Garrett Community College Foundation.

Civic Club Hears Needs Of Area Service Clubs

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland met with representatives of 23 Garrett County service groups or organizations on March 30 to hear the needs and missions of each group. The meeting was part of a process to release the Civic Club's net profits of the annual Autumn Glory Antique Show.

Financial support is considered for organizations that submit a written request to the Civic Club no later than December 31 each year. Those organizations that have made requests are then invited to attend the March meeting to present information about the services provided and plans for use of the cash awards. The membership votes its preference by ballot at the April meeting, and the funds are distributed based on the voting. A total of $6,585 was distributed last year to 20 organizations.

Martha Jachowski is president of the Civic Club of Oakland, and Betty Malloy serves as membership chairperson. Meetings are held at Will O' the Wisp the last Tuesday of the month, excluding December through February. Membership is open to all persons interested in promoting artistic, humanitarian, and education efforts of individuals and the community.

Among Soloists

Other soloists for the Elijah concert are now being recruited and will be announced over the next few weeks, according to Nancy Learey, Choral Society director. Accompanying Mosley and the Choral Society will be Dr. Geoffrey Simon, renowned organist from Washington, D.C., who will perform on a Rodgers organ installed at St. Peter's Church specially for this concert.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1993 A-15

Tickets for the performance are now on sale for $7 for adults and $3 for children ages 12 and under. The concert is funded in part by a grant from the Maryland Arts Council and Garrett County Arts Council.

Mrs. Learey announced that accommodations are being made for handicapped individuals who plan to attend the concert.

Body Found

Continued from Page A-1 to Roger Zbel and Phil Coleman of Precision Rafting, both of whom entered the full river in kayaks Sunday to aid in the search. Both Riley and Yoder noted their appreciation for all those who helped in the search.

Born February 26, 1958, Jacqueline Louella Jones was the daughter of Rev. John R. and Lola M. (Upperman) Jones, Danville, Va., formerly of Oakland.

She was a member of the Deer Park Church of God of Prophecy.

In addition to her parents, survivors include one sister, Linda K. Burdett, Berea, Ohio, and one brother, er, J. Brian Jones, Danville. The family will receive friends at the home of Mona Hebb on the Upperman Road after noon today and Friday.

A committal service will be conducted in the chapel at Garrett County Memorial Gardens on Friday, April 9, at 11 a.m. with Rev. Rufus Nunnery and Rev. Charles Turner officiating. Interment will follow.

Stewart Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

January Wedding Vows Exchanged By Michael S. Lewis And Linda M. Wells

Marriage vows were recited by Michael Scott Lewis and Linda Mae Wells on January 2, 1993, at 4 p.m. at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren with the Rev. Paul Stauffer officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Earl and Shirley Schrock, Oakland. The groom is the son of Edward and Bonnie Lewis, Deer Park.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in an ivory, tea-length formal with an elongated bodice of Chantilly lace over tulle. The gown featured a jeweled neckline, a v-back, and long, fitted sleeves. Shirred tulle wrapped the hips with a fabric rose accent and the swirling skirt had a high-low hem. She wore a small, brimmed hat of contrasting lace, accented with pearls, silk flowers, and full pouf with fingertip bridal illusion.

Serving as maid of honor was Heidi Ridder, friend of the bride, who wore a burgundy satin, tea-length gown with v-back and strings of pearls. She carried a cascading matching bouquet. Bridesmaids were Billy Jo Rigglesman, sister of the bride, and Connie Moats, sister of the bride. They wore matching pink, tea-length gowns in pink with matching bouquets. The flower girl was Hanna Smith. She wore a tea-length gown trimmed in lace and bows.

All bouquets, flowers, and arrangements were designed by Connie Moats, sister of the bride.

Best man was Roger Martin, Ohio, friend of the groom.

Social

Groom Groomsman were DeWayne Lewis, brother of the groom, and Bunk Baker, friend of the groom. Ring-bearer was Aaron Wells, son of the bride. The men wore white tuxedos with pink cummerbunds.

Jamie Lewis, brother of the groom, lighted the candles. The photographer was Rick Layton, cousin of the groom. The wedding was videotaped by Wayne Glatfelter.

Following the wedding, the bride and groom were escorted to the reception by the best man and maid of honor to the Deer Park VFW, where a live band announced and performed for the reception.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink and burgundy roses and was baked by Joyce Ridder.

Preparing the food and serving the cake were Pam Dixon, Hope Bowman, and Bonnie Lewis. The couple set up residence in Mtn. Lake Park.

Kendra Stemple Becomes Bride Of Christopher Todd In Dec. Ceremony

Kendra Dawn Stemple and Christopher Leslie Todd were united in marriage on December 19, 1992, in a 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. Rev. Dr. Allen Ridenour, former local pastor and friend of the couple, officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Don and Mary Lou Stemple, Oakland. The groom is the son of Keith Todd, Clendenin, W.Va., and Nancy Todd, Meadville, Pa.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a candlelight satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of Schiffler lace, front and back V-neck and leg-of-mutton sleeves. The front skirt featured a matching lace applique and extended to a full cathedral train decorated with cut-out beaded lace motifs. She carried the same Bible that her mother carried in her wedding, surrounded by pine and berries.

Serving as matron of honor was Patty Hinebaugh of Oakland, long-time friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Marci and Kristi Stemple, sisters of the bride, and Tara Cameron, Sarah Kish, and Marti Powles, all friends of the bride. They were dressed in tea-length dresses of burgundy velvet. They carried lanterns surrounded by pine. Serving as flower girls were Kendra McLaughlin, friend of the bride, and Kendra Morrow, niece of the groom.

Serving as groomsmen were Keith Todd, father of the groom, Mike Young, cousin of the groom, and Jim Lash, Brian DeHoff, and Jason Carter, friends of the groom. All were suited in black tuxedos with burgundy cummerbunds and bow ties. The groom wore tails, an ivory bow and tie, and vest.

Also participating in the wedding were Grant and Scott Todd, brothers of the groom, who served as acolytes. Katherine Todd and Eleanor Stemple, grandmothers of the couple, read scripture. Melissa Snarr and Vicki McCollum, sisters of the groom, were guest book attendants. Soloists were Pete Rogers and Kimberly Weimer, friends of the bride. Angie Biggs, friend of the bride's family, served as wedding coordinator.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the B.P.O. Elks Lodge in Oakland. Music was provided by Mr. Z. The wedding cake was made by Joyce Bishop of Hoyos Bakery and served by Eleanor Callis and Jackie Noe, relatives of the bride. Diane Butts, friend of the couple.

Out-of-town guests came from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, South Carolina, and Texas. The bride was the guest of honor at three bridal showers, one given by her bridesmaids, one by the groom's sister and mother, and one by her aunt, Mary Stemple.

Following a honeymoon to the Bavarian Inn in Shepherdstown, W.Va., and Coolfont in Berkeley Springs, W.Va., the couple established residence in Elkview, W.Va.

The Croup

Coughing Disorder Caused by Virus

Signs of the croup include a barking cough and noisy rapid breathing. Croup occurs most commonly in infants and children under the age of five. Although most cases of croup occur during the second year of life, the condition has been observed in children up to age ten. The cough and breathing problems are caused by inflammation and narrowing or obstruction of the airway passages. This condition results from an upper respiratory tract infection produced by one or more viruses. Bacterial infections may occur later. Infection may affect the throat, breathing passages, and lungs.

Attacks occur most often at night. The child may awaken with loud and raspy breathing which is most noticeable when the child inhales.

Severe croup with significant airway obstruction may require hospitalization. The majority of cases of croup can be managed at home on an outpatient basis. Most of the children who are hospitalized with croup recover quickly and are back at home in a few days.

PROFILE

"HUMBLE PIE"

Served On A Foam Core Panel

Builder drops stick-building ways for panel technology

Very often I think I have a grasp on this industry and I really know what's going on, I receive a healthy dose of humble pie," stated Jim Rust, president and owner of R&I Construction Inc., Wabash, NE. Rust was served a generous portion of that pie when he was introduced to the panelized building system.

A Family Tradition

Rust comes from a long line of carpenters and stick builders. His father is a retired carpenter and his uncles were all framers in business for themselves. Rust had been involved in the building industry for over 11 years when a business associate approached him to check out panelized building.

Rust shared his initial reactions. "I was building some homes for an individual about six years ago and he contacted me and said 'There's a system I think you should see.' I asked him what it was and he hesitated a little, probably anticipating my reaction, but finally told me about the foam core panels. Having been around the stick building business since I was a teenager, I was a little leery about anything new. You get in a rut and sometimes you can't see beyond that. I couldn't conceive of building homes any other way."

The Switch

His associate sponsored Rust a trip to the manufacturer and he became fascinated with the concept. But before buying into these panels immediately, he decided to approach it with the attitude that there must be something wrong with it or everybody would be using it. He made it his goal to find what that "something" was but within three months, he was putting up his first panelized home.

"It's kind of amazing," says Rust. "Once I got over the 'we've done it this way for 50 years' hang-up, it was as if I had become liberated from a tremendous burden. Now I delve into every new technology that comes along to see if it's something I can use or incorporate in my business. It's almost as if I've become consumed by the whole process of gathering information."

A New Niche

Rust now subscribes to industry magazines, goes to trade shows to view new products and researches any products he change. But actually, I find the whole aspect of change to be fun. I really enjoy researching new products and construction techniques. Many of our customers become an active part of the building process. I offer technologies that no one else in the area offers and my customers enjoy giving their input during the construction period."

Occasionally, some have even come up with innovations that the manufacturers have integrated into their products. Because his homes are on the leading edge of technology, he attracts clients who range from retired engineers to geophysicists and almost all his new business is generated from referrals.

The Enabling Factor

The most important part of Rust's customizing niche is the use of foam core panels. By using sealants in conjunction with locking foam core panels, Rust is able to make the homes nearly air-tight.

Lori Elliott And Michael Paugh Are Married In October Ceremony

Linda "Lori" Elliott and Michael Allen Paugh exchanged wedding vows on October 24, 1992, at Lakeside Assembly of God Church, Oakland, with Rev. Don Moses officiating, uncle of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott, Kitzmiller, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Arlene Paugh, Oakland, and the late Jerry Paugh.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Terry, the bride wore a gown of French satin Schiffler lace with a Victorian bodice which was embroidered with sequins and pearls. The traditionally high neckline with sheer yoke, featured multi-strands of pearls and extended swanlike to the jewel-encrusted Victorian sleeve. A sheer v-back dipped into a Basque waist. Appliques graced the front and back of the full skirt while garland of organza ruffles and inverted ruffles accentuated the semi-cathedral train edged in lace. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses accented with white pearls.

Karen Ray, Elk Garden, W.Va., friend of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Glenda Baker, Oakland, sister of the bride; Darlene Wiltson, Keyser, W.Va.; and Sara Roberson, Baltimore, friends of the bride.

The attendants wore matching full-skirted frost rose gowns with deep v-backs, puffed sleeves, and candy box bows at the waist. They carried candlelit arrangements with matching rose and burgundy flowers and matching streamers.

Joe Sines, Oakland, friend of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Eugene Harmon, Oakland, friend of the groom; Jim Owendoff, Fairfax, Va., and Bob Owendoff, Annapolis, cousins of the groom.

The groom was attired in a black tuxedo with tails. The groomsmen wore matching black tuxedos with burgundy boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a pink street-length dress and the mother of the groom wore a burgundy street-length dress. Both wore rose corsages.

Altar arrangements consisted of matching flowers with candles which were lighted during the ceremony. They were displayed in honor of the bride's father and in memory of the groom's father.

The flowers and arrangements were created by the bride's mother, Isabella.

Shirley Fitzwater, Oakland, was the pianist and Ruth Warnick, Oakland, accompanied with the organ. Vocal selections were provided by Connie Myers, Oakland, including "Unchained Melody" and "The Wedding Song."

The guest book was attended by Donna Paugh, sister of the groom. Programs were distributed by Becky Matthews, niece of the bride, and bird seed packets were given out by Teresa Muir, niece of the bride, and Jennifer Ray, friend of the bride. Marilyn Owendoff assisted as wedding director. Photography was provided by Jim Matthews, Oakland, and Cathy Shaffer, sister of the groom. The wedding was videotaped by Karen Matthews, niece of the bride, and Mark Arnold, friend of the bride.

The reception followed the ceremony at the Deer Park fire hall. A buffet dinner was served. The wedding reception was given by Barbara Whitacre, Kay Huwig, and Carol Matthews, sisters of the bride, Kathy Elliott, sister-in-law of the bride; Anita Baughman, Pam Scott, and Colin Whitacre, nieces of the bride. The three-tiered wedding cake, which was prepared and served by Barbara Whitacre, sister of the bride, featured a burgundy fountain with staircases extending to smaller cakes.

Gift attendants were Rita Lambka, friend of the bride, who was assisted by Scotty Elliott and Michael Huwig, nephews of the bride. Music was provided at the reception by Ken Whitacre, nephew of the bride.

Out-of-town guests were from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, South Carolina, Virginia, and New Mexico.

A rehearsal dinner was given on Friday at Uno's by the groom's mother, Arlene.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High School and is employed by Frank Arnold Contractors, Inc., Oakland. The groom is also a graduate of Southern High School and is employed by Larry Wagner Trucking, Oakland.

Following a honeymoon to Niagara Falls, Canada, the couple established residence in Oakland.

Sisler-Wagner Wedding Vows Exchanged

M. Elizabeth Sisler and Jody Walton Wagner were united in marriage August 22, 1992. The double-ring ceremony took place at the Laurel Run Church of God, Friendsville, with the Rev. Carole Pentz officiating. Pianist was Mrs. Sandi Guritz, sister of the bride, and vocalist was Mrs. Agnes Geoghan, friend of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Sisler, Friendsville. Mr. Wagner is the son of Ms. Nancy Wagner and Mr. Larry Wagner, both of Oakland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a satin mermaid gown with long satin sleeves, accented at the top with crystal organza ruffles. The sweetheart neckline was detailed in re-embroidered lace with sea pearls and iridescent sequins. The form fitting bodice dropped into a mermaid skirt of crystal organza ruffles with a candy box bow accenting the top of the semi-cathedral length train. Her headpiece was a band of silk flowers attached to a headband of iridescent pearls and beads that came to a point at the forehead. The back of the headpiece had a very large pouf and shoulder length veil of imported French illusion. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of fresh calla lilies accented with naphthytis foliage and liriopse leaves.

Serving as matron of honor was Cindy Cerroni, Pittsburgh, Pa. Bridesmaids were Lisa Sisler, sister-in-law of the bride; Stacy Sisler, cousin of the bride; and Sheila Hoover, friend of the bride. The niece of the bride, Holly Sisler, served as flower girl. The bridesmaids and pianist wore burgundy, iridescent dresses with large puffy shoulders and each carried a brass lantern with silk burgundy flowers. The mother of the bride wore a two-piece pink lace suit with matching shoes.

Serving as best man was Steve Glatfelter, Oakland, and groomsmen were Randy Paugh and Randy Marple, both of Oakland, and Bryan Watts, Aurora, W.Va., all friends of the groom. Preston Sisler, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer. The groomsmen wore black tuxedos with tails and matching burgundy ties and cummerbunds. The bride's father wore a black tuxedo with a black tie and cummerbund.

The three-tiered wedding cake was placed atop an arched tiered Grecian pillar with four two-tiered heart shaped side cakes joined by filigree stairways. The "Truly in Love" theme was used with lacy hearts, garland, and scrolls with Cornelli lace. Red and white carnations, baby's breath, and fern adorned the arched pillars and tier tops. The cake was cut by Norma Uphold, aunt of the bride, and Margie Wakefield, friend of the bride. Julie Eyer, sister of the groom, was guest book attendant and program attendant.

A reception was held at Brodak's Private Mountain Resort, Deep Creek Lake. The couple honeymooned in Hawaii, and they established residence in Oakland.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany Community College and is employed by Sisler Lumber Company, Inc. Mr. Wagner is a graduate of Southern High School and is employed by Larry Wagner Trucking.

Fikes Celebrate 35th Anniversary

James and Helen Fike were honored recently on the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary. The small celebration was given by their three children, Allen Fike, Accident; Gary Fike and Linda Meyers, both of Friendsville.

Assisting with the arrangements were son-in-law, Earl Meyers, and daughter-in-law, Candi Fike, both of Friendsville.

The event was held at the home of Darius and Ruth Fike, Accident. They also assisted with the dinner and party.

The Fikes were married on February 16, 1958, at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, with the Rev. Carl F. Dauphin officiating.

The color scheme for the party was jade green. A special double, heart cake was made by their daughter, Linda, who arranged the party.

Jobless Rates

the February 1992 level of 2,532,073.

A separate survey of Maryland establishments showed the number of jobs increased during February, exceeding year ago totals for the second consecutive month. The increase in jobs resulted primarily from recalls in education. Limited hiring was reported at local restaurants and in a number of service industries, including business, health and personal services.

Nationally, the jobless rate dropped from 7.9 percent in January to 7.7 percent in February, remaining considerably above the statewide estimate.

The Maryland economy continues to provide mixed signals about the strengths of the economic recovery. Initial and continuing claims for unemployment insurance, as well as benefit payments, continue to be about 25 percent below 1992 levels. New auto registrations and housing permits continue to improve from year ago levels.

Initial claims for unemployment insurance fell to 22,939 in February from 30,383 a year ago — a decline of 24.5 percent. Continuing claims fell 24.7 percent.

while the amount of benefits paid declined 26 percent.

The number of permits issued for housing units in Maryland totaled 1,967 in February, up 3.5 percent from February 1992. Nationally, housing permits rose 7.9 percent during this period.

The number of unemployed in the Western Maryland region rose by slightly more than 400 people in February, increasing the jobless rate from 10.5 percent to 10.8 percent. Washington County's rate, the lowest in the region, remained unchanged at 9.5 percent, while the jobless rates in both Allegany and Garrett counties increased to 12.1 percent and 13.3 percent, respectively. While recall activity in education increased the number of jobs in the public sector, seasonal reductions in trade and construction slowed industrial activity in the region.

Statewide unemployment rates in February ranged from a low of 3.6 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 17.8 percent in Worcester County.

Sheriff's Office Activities Noted

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged various arrests this week and are investigating two cases of property destruction.

An Oakland man has been charged by the Sheriff's Office with battery and trespassing. Gerald R. Wilson, 27, was arrested Sunday after police heard a statement from Shelly Mayfield, who told police that Wilson had battered her and had trespassed on her property. Wilson was released on his own recognizance, according to an office spokesperson.

Officers arrested a Tunnelton, W. Va., man Monday when the defendant, Robert L. Childers, 19, was apparently observed as he urinated on trees and bushes along Memorial Drive, Oakland. When deputies questioned him about his actions, they detected a strong odor of alcohol on his breath, according to the report, and learned from Childers that he had just been operating his vehicle.

The defendant was arrested, charged with indecent exposure, driving while intoxicated, and underage consumption of alcohol.

Garry E. Boyce, 37, Loch Lynn, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant issued from Garrett County District Court. He is accused of violating his probation.

Property Destruction

Bonnie J. Riggelman, Kitzmiller, contacted the Sheriff's Office recently to report property destruction at B&L Auto Sales, located on Rt. 38. The front window of the establishment was shattered with a beer bottle sometime between 6 p.m. on April 2 and 9 a.m. on April 3.

The cost of repairs for the window was set at $150.

In a separate case, Gloria Muscilli reported the theft of a lighted arrow sign, apparently stolen from her business sometime between 4 and 7 a.m. on March 30. The sign's worth has been estimated at $1200.

New Traffic Safety Records Set For Maryland Roadways In 1992

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced this week that safer streets and highways contributed to an all-time low fatality rate from traffic accidents for Maryland in 1992, approximately 1.5 per 100 million vehicle miles travelled. This marks the fifth consecutive year in which traffic fatalities were fewer than those in the previous year.

"Maryland has worked hard to increase safety for our motorists and visitors," said Governor Schaefer. "An excellent highway system, public education and safety campaigns and the hard work of our state and local law officers are all factors in Maryland's decreased fatality rate."

The fatality count for 1992 is 664, 46 fewer than in 1991 and the lowest death toll since 1984. The decrease in highway deaths parallels a continual increase in licensed drivers, registered vehicles, and highway travel. The 1992 fatality rate of 1.5 per 100 million vehicle miles travelled is significantly lower than the 1.9 national rate. Another all-time record, motor vehicle travel on streets and highways reached 42 billion miles in 1992, 29 billion on state maintained highways and 13 billion on local roads.

"The decrease in fatalities for 1992 is exceptional considering our highway system is highly urbanized and carries a large volume of interstate traffic," said Transportation Secretary O. James Lighthizer. "We'll take advantage of every opportunity to increase our safety efforts in hopes of saving as many lives as possible."

The partnership among our law enforcement officers, state and local agencies and the motoring public is exceptional," said Maryland State Police Colonel Larry W. Tolliver. "Marylanders are direct contributors to life saving results when they put traffic safety messages into practice on our highways."

Compared to 1991, the 1992 figures show:

* Of the 664 deaths, 99

were pedestrians, 32 fewer than in 1991. It was the first time since prior to the 70's that fewer than 100 pedestrians were killed.

* 493 occupants, drivers and passengers, of autos, trucks, buses and other vehicles were fatally injured -- 43 less than in 1991.

* Riders of two-wheeled vehicles (bicycles, mopeds and motorcycles) did not experience the same safety improvement. Bicyclist deaths rose from 5 to 16; motorcyclist deaths rose from 38 to 54, and the two moped rider deaths were the first since 1986. The mandatory motorcycle helmet law for riders of all ages became effective October 1992.

Maryland's fatality rate in 1992 was less than half the rate of 1972, 3.5 per 100 vehicle miles travelled. Had the rate remained the same as it was 20 years ago, nearly 1,500 persons would have lost their lives in traffic accidents last year. The improvement in the fatality rate represents more than 800 lives saved in 1992 alone.

Other contributing factors to the decreased rate include better designed roads, improved lighting and guidance signing, emergency response devices, public education and safety campaigns, more effective laws to deter impaired driving, particularly among young drivers, improved safety devices in automobiles, and state-of-the-art emergency medical services.

At 75 percent, Maryland has one of the highest safety belt usage rates in the country. Safety belt use is a significant factor in reduction of traffic fatalities. In addition, specialized enforcement by state and local police including speed and drunk driving patrols and the Commercial Vehicle Enforcement Division, which concentrates on truck laws and regulations, has increased safety on the roads.

ies — that God himself will change their minds, hearts, and souls and show them that abortion is murder! Where is the right of the innocent, unborn child to choose life?

The word "fetus" has been used too loosely — more than likely to cause the consciences of pro-choicers — rather than accepting the fact that abortion is killing a baby!

It is interesting to note that the closed-minded (closed to the gospel) liberals always invade the camp of the true born-again Christian (disguised as one of us) insisting that we are trying to push our narrow-minded ways upon them when, in fact, all we are doing is following the instructions and guidelines that God has set forth for us to follow in the Bible.

In closing, I too urge all open-minded people to write to their representatives in the U.S. Congress. But, in opposition of the Freedom of Choice Act.

The addresses are as follows: Representative Roscoe Bartlett, U.S. House, Washington, D.C. 20515; Senator Paul Sarbanes, Hart Senate Bldg. 309, Washington, D.C. 20510; and Senator Barbara Mikulski, Hart Senate Office Bldg. 709, Washington, D.C. 20510.

To the Editor:

A recent article in The Republican (1/19/93) reported that the Western Maryland Group of the Sierra Club-Potomac Chapter is opposed to a proposed land exchange involving state forest property in Garrett County, but that article did not set forth our reasons for opposing this deal.

The politically well-connected James J. Oberhaus is proposing to swap 200 acres adjoining Savage River State Forest which he controls for over 800 acres of land in the Potomac-Garrett State Forest. We have learned that the Oberhaus land which has been extensively logged was recently appraised for about $150,000, while the state forest land which includes valuable timber and coal reserves is appraised at $1.5 million.

Judging from the difference in the value of the two properties, the only way Mr. Oberhaus can pull this deal off is with the help of good friends like Delegates Casper Taylor and George Edwards who are actively supporting the deal.

While this proposed fleecing of the public is reason enough to kill this deal, we would like to point out that state law prohibits the strip mining of coal on state forest lands. This deal is intended to circumvent that law by transferring title to the 800 acres of state forest to Mr. Oberhaus who is in the coal mining business.

The land which Mr. Oberhaus covets is in the watershed of Laurel Run, a native trout stream draining into the North Branch of the Potomac River. Reopening the large sums of state and federal dollars being invested to develop recreational fishing in the North Branch, it is inconceivable that some of our local politicians are willing to put at risk the same waters we're spending millions to clean up.

This deal smacks of political cronyism, plain and simple. Why else would DNR officials be advised not to discuss the deal with interested citizens?

Yours truly,
Glen Besa, co-chair,
Conservation Committee

HUMANITARIAN AWARD - The 1993 Dr. Scott A. Giotfelly 4-H Humanitarian award was presented by Mrs. Ruth DiPasio to Jennifer Lee Weiler of the Blittinger 4-H Club during the annual 4-H Achievement Night and Dinner on April 3. This year Jennifer is completing her senior year at Garrett Community College in the early college acceptance program. She has been involved in the student council, band and chorus. She has worked on the yearbook, been in volleyball, track and field and girls varsity club. In her 4-H years, she has held numerous offices in the Blittinger Club. She is also a junior leader and has represented Garrett County at the Teen Focus. She serves on the County 4-H Council and Teen Council. Her 4-H projects have been baby-sitting, steer, breeding sheep and market lamb, clothing, public speaking and junior leadership. She has a flock of 39 sheep, has attended steer camp, district show, Maryland State Fair, food camp, Make It With Wool, hunter safety and was named in the 4-H family of the year. In her community she works with the women's auxiliary preparing and serving of dinners. She helps with the Easter breakfast, works with the Blittinger Food Pantry and the Adopt-a-Highway program. She is a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church and sings with the choir. Jennifer serves as a substitute organist for the two parishes of St. Johns and Zion at Jennings. She lives on a sheep farm with her grandparents Don and Jane Sealing where she cares for the feeding and flock management of her sheep. She has chosen a career in elementary education because she enjoys teaching and helping young people to make learning fun. Jennifer comes from a third generation 4-H family and All-Stars in the 4-H program. Jennifer's mother is Kathleen Sealing Weiler and resides in Columbia where she is clinical director of a hospital in Baltimore.

Mrs. Briggs New Member Of GCC Foundation Board

Barbara A. Briggs, Mtn. Lake Park, has recently joined the Garrett Community College Foundation Board of Directors, according to Dr. Steve Herman, college president. Ms. Briggs is currently serving as executive director of the Garrett County chapter of Habitat for Humanity.

She has done extensive work with United Way, having served for three years as executive director of the Athens, Ohio, branch, and participated in a number of managerial and marketing workshops with that organization. Her professional experience also includes sales and development coordinating in private industry. Most recently she was sales coordinator of the Ohio University Inn in Athens.

An active community volunteer, she has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Alcohol, Drug Addiction and Mental Health Board, the Public Affairs Committee of the Athens Area Chamber of Commerce, president of the Athens County Community Services Council, and a member of the Athens High School parents Advisory Council. In 1989 she received the Gus Shea Memorial Scholarship - one of two recipients in the United States for outstanding performance as an executive director in a small city United Way.

Since moving to Garrett County last September, Ms. Briggs has become a member of the Lighthouse Board, treasurer of the League of Women Voters, a member of the Women's Civic Club. She and her husband are the parents of two grown children.

Variety Of Addiction Services Available To The Community

Editor's Note: The following is the second in a series of articles prepared by Garrett County Health Department's Addiction Services personnel in observance of April's Alcohol Awareness month.

Residents of Garrett County can receive treatment for alcohol and drug problems through the Garrett County Health Department's Addiction Services program. Services are available at the program's offices in both Oakland and Grantsville.

Olive Corliss is the clinical coordinator for Addiction Services, and provides clinical supervision to the six direct service providers on staff. She is in charge of staffing and assignments, determining the need of all patients, and assigning them to the appropriate provider for service.

"I am also in charge of quality assurance, monitoring all charts and reports, and filing the volume of service report from our area to the state," stated Corliss. "As part of my position here, I monitor our local grant for the Substance Abuse Sexual Offenders Education (SASOE) program."

Corliss serves both locations of Addiction Services, providing supervision, as well as directly treating patients, and identifying and meeting staff training needs. She has worked with the Health Department's Addiction Services since March 1975.

Dorothee Bittinger is the secretary for Addiction Services, and is in charge of office and clerical work, including filing and updating charts, correspondence, scheduling appointments, and collecting all fees for services.

"Much of my time is spent placing the Addiction Services information into the main computer," stated Bittinger. "I think that my biggest contribution to our program is answering questions from the public as they visit our offices or when they call on the telephone concerning the services available at our two locations. I'm usually the first person they see or with whom they talk."

Bittinger has been employed by the Health Department for 20 years.

Pet Products Donated To GC Humane Society

The Garrett County Humane Society, Inc., announced this week that two more pet products companies have begun to make donations of their products to the local organization.

Dad's Pet Products Company, Meadville, Pa., has begun sending the Society cartons of dog and cat food every two months, while Heinz Pet Products Company, Newport, Ky., sends products whenever there is a production overrun.

Giant Eagle, Pittsburgh, has been donating canned and dry dog and cat food, plus cat litter and snacks, since November. Gary Granchi, supervisor of transportation, and Vickie Porter, who are both part-time residents of Garrett County, deliver a pick-up load of these goods to the organization every two months.

"We are very grateful for these donations," noted Bernadine Friend, executive director of the local Society. "We are presently supplying food for 70-plus dogs and dozens of cats that are in local foster homes."

Donations to the Society are tax-deductible because it is a non-profit organization that receives no public assistance.

Northern GOP Women Convene, Hear Braskey

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met at Hill Top Inn, Grantsville, Tuesday, Mar. 30. President Carolyn Ganoce introduced the guest speaker, attorney James Braskey, who spoke on various aspects of estate planning, including the living will, medical power of attorney, living trust, and Medicare. A question and answer session followed his presentation. During the business meeting that followed, it was decided to hold future meetings at 7:30 p.m. instead of 7 p.m. It was announced that Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Hafer will be speakers in April.

A donation of $50 to the Northern High School after-prom committee was approved. Get-well cards were sent to Mary Durst, Beverly Hunter, Clara Layman, and Sylvia Hunter.

Members present were Carolyn Ganoce, Zeola Roberson, Lulu Brown, Stella Edwards, Cleda Baker, Charlotte Sebold, Lois Rowe, Louise McKenzie, Twila Mae Fike, Cora Bowser, Orpha Miller, and Hazel Margraff.

STORYFox gives anthology a try in its 'Tribeca' series

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

David J. Burke has always been interested in doing an anthology series. "But there's a belief—an unshakeable faith, actually, on the part of a lot of network executives—that you cannot succeed with anthologies," he says.

David J. Burke

He is now in the process of putting that belief to the test. He is the creator of "Tribeca" (airing Tuesdays on Fox), a new anthology series that he is co-producing with Robert De Niro and Jane Rosenthal.

When pressed, Burke admits that network concerns about anthologies may be valid. "Viewers do expect a certain consistency, and we are completely inconsistent because it's the nature of an anthology to be different every week," he says. "But I think if you give the audience on a weekly basis your best effort—without being snide or catty or self-absorbed in it—they'll come back next week for another try. It's when guys who do what I do start talking to each other with our shows and everything becomes an inside joke that we lose the audience."

Burke is trying to give "Tribecca" some consistency by setting all the stories in the same New York City neighborhood and using two recurring characters, a mounted policeman (Joe Morton) and a restaurateur (Philip Bosco).

"I originally pitched a pure repertory idea to Fox," says Burke. "They thought the audience needed something to latch onto. Could I set it in a neighborhood? And it would be nice if you saw in the background the same people, as you do in any neighborhood I thought. 'You know what? That's a pretty good idea.'"

Before "Tribeca," Burke worked on two of TV's most original dramas, "Crime Story" and "Wiseguy." His involvement with De Niro came via "Wiseguy." De Niro watched a couple of episodes and contacted Burke.

"So I met with him and began working with him on the rewrite of a screenplay," Burke found that working with De Niro and getting something produced for De Niro were two different things.

"Bob's an actor of such import that he has nearly 20 projects at any one time in various stages of development," says Burke. "So if he's shooting one movie, you've got 19 more waiting. It dawned on me that if I took those 19 people who are annoyed and frustrated and said, 'Hey, guys, while you're waiting, do you want to do an hour of TV?' you'd probably get some pretty interesting stuff."

And Burke's own movie script? "I don't expect it'll ever get made," he says. "It's one of the 19 waiting. I got into this and I never got into doing any rewrites on it."

In "Tribeca," Philip Bosco (l.) and Joe Morton star as a restaurateur and a policeman, respectively, in a New York City neighborhood. The anthology series airs Tuesdays on Fox.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

"VALLEY" GUY - I recall Lee Majors playing a cowboy long before he starred in the series about stuntmen. He was in "The Big Valley" and another Western. What was the name of the other series, where is he from, and how old is he? - G.S., Washington, Pa.

Lee Majors in 'Big Valley'

Majors played Roy Tate from 1970-71 in the Western "The Men From Shiloh." His other series include "The Big Valley" (1985-69), "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law" (1971-74), "The Fall Guy" (1981-86) and, of course, "The Six Million Dollar Man" (1974-78), in which he played the bionically reconstructed Col. Steve Austin. He currently appears in the CBS series "Raven." Majors' birth date appears in various sources as Aug. 23 in 1939, 1940 or 1942, but all agree that he hails from Wyandotte, Mich.

BIRDY - Who was in the original movie of "The Canterville Ghost"? Was the ghost played by a Barrymore? - C.L., Ardsley, N.Y.

Charles Laughton played the 17th-century spirit in this 1944 classic, which also starred Robert Young, Margaret O'Brien, William Gargan and Reginald Owen.

TAKE MY VIOLIN - PLEASE - Did Henry Youngman ever play the violin seriously, or has it always been just one of his comedy props? - G.H., Cool Ridge, W. Va.

Youngman, who was born in Liverpool, England, but raised in Brooklyn, N.Y., was given a violin by his aunt when he was 8 years old. But he soon found the sound of laughter more gratifying than music from a wood instrument. He did, however, use his violin as a prop in his comedy routine.

ALONG CAME JONES - Was Carolyn Jones one of the villains in the old "Batman" series? If so, which one? Wasn't she also in movies? - I.N., Crestwood, Ill.

Jones, whose most famous role was that of Morticia in "The Addams Family" (1964-66), played the "Batman" villainess Marsha Queen of Diamonds. In addition to her television career, Jones enjoyed a fair amount of success in films, with supporting roles in movies such as "House of Wax" (1953), "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" (1956), "Marjorie Morningstar" (1958) and "A Hole in the Head" (1959). But she garnered her greatest acclaim for her memorable performance in 1957's "The Bachelor Party."

A strong cast of stars headlines 'Magnolias'

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

A gaggle of Southern eccentrics, belles, mamas and misfits share good and bad times in a small Louisiana town in the network debut of "Steel Magnolias" (CBS, April 11). With a cast of strong female stars—Sally Field, Dolly Parton, Shirley MacLaine, Daryl Hannah, Olympia Dukakis and Julia Roberts—"Magnolias" is the kind of sentiment-tal, self-indulgent, cutesy and manipulative tear-jerker that some love and others can't stand. But the story of the intertwined relationships of several friends is never boring.

Two young men from New York City (Ralph Macchio and Mitchell Whitfield) on a road trip to California via the deep South are wrongly accused of murder and experience the stern hand of Dixie justice in HBO's premiere of "My Cousin Vinny" (April 17). With their parents' hundreds of miles away, the boys decide to rely on a recently admitted-to-the-bar relative to get them out of a potentially electric-chair related jam. Onto the scene bursts the flamboyant, or just plain gauche, black-leathered Cousin Vinny Gambini (Joe Pesci) from Brooklyn and his gum-snapping girlfriend Lisa (Oscar nominee Marisa Tomei). Vinny has squeaked by on personal injury cases since finally passing the New York bar exam on his sixth try. That's not exactly the guy most murder suspects would want swinging in their court. Vinny's lack of anything resembling trial experience, a town dominated by a good-old-boy network and a hostile local judge (Fred Gwynne) may make Vinny's stay in the land of cotton a little prickly. Once the pat regional stereotypes have been established, however, "My Cousin Vinny" turns out to have a surprisingly funny take on the simple stranger-in-a-strange-land premise. This is largely due to Pesci's "whaddya want?" Brooklynese charm and Tomei's remarkable mastery of an outrageous—though largely Hollywood—big-city dame.

A TV movie with a premise not unlike "Dead Calm," "Adrift" (CBS, April 13) stars Kate Jackson and Kenneth Walsh as Kate and Guy Nast, a couple whose ocean voyage vacation across the Pacific for three months turns into a nightmare when they take aboard a pair of castaways, Nick (Bruce Greenwood) and Eliza (Kelly Rowland) discovered drifting at sea. Nick and Eliza tell the Nasts a disturbing story of murder on their abandoned ship and seek refuge on the Nasts' boat. But they may have a frightening end in store for the Nasts.

SPORTS CALENDAR

Couples, Kite soar into Augusta for the Masters

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

The first and last word on last year's PGA Tour was, in a name, Fred Couples. In addition to winning the Masters, which he is attempting to do again this weekend (the final round airs from Augusta National in Georgia Sunday, April 11, on CBS), Couples strolled to first-place finishes in the Nissan Los Angeles Open and the Nestle

Fred Couples

Invitational. Beyond those victories, the Seattle native also played his way to nine other top-10 finishes (in just 20 events!) on his way to being voted Player of the Year by his peers for the second straight time.

Couples amassed more than $1.3 million in winnings last year and finished the season miles ahead of the pack in the all-around standings.

But this year, things haven't progressed quite so smoothly for Couples, even though he was second in winnings and second in the all-around standings through last month's Honda Classic—his first victory this year. Chalk the tighter competition up to the superb year that's being put together by 20-year tour vet Tom Kite.

Kite started on the tour in 1972, when Couples was just 12 years old. And by the time Couples made his PGA debut in 1981, Kite was on the verge of topping $1 million in career winnings. This year, his career total will pass $8 million. Interestingly, Couples' debut year was also the year that Kite won his first all-around title. Since then, Kite won an other all-around title, in 1989, and finished the Tour season among the top 10 seven times.

Kite also had a phenomenal year on the tour last season. Couples' success notwithstanding, in terms of earnings, it was Kite's second-best year ever, with nearly $1 million in winnings. And he finished in the top 10 in nine of the 23 events he entered, winning the BellSouth Open and the I.S. Open.

Through last month's Honda Classic, Kite was the leading scorer and putter on the tour, and he had already nailed down two first-place finishes. He won this year's Nissan Los Angeles Open (his 19th career tour victory), and two weeks earlier, he won the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic with a 35-under-par performance that smashed the 90-hole record by four strokes.

Getting two accomplished pros like Couples and Kite to square off one-on-one for 90 holes would be about as good as it gets—unless, of course, you get to watch them vie for one of golf's major events, like the Masters.

SOAP SCOOP

Daytime loses Ford, who was a true original

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

Perhaps no entertainment genre needed to rush spring this year more than daytime soaps. A quick succession of deaths during late February and early March, especially the sudden passing of "As the World Turns" head writer Douglas Marland on March 6, left the industry reeling. Among them was the Feb. 26 passing of Constance Ford.

Constance Ford

who had played Ada Hobson on "Another World" since 1967. Ford was 69, the cause of death was cancer.

Ada was a truly indelible soap character. She came to the show as the seamstress mother of wrong-side-of-the-tracks bad girl Rachel (first played by Robin Strasser, then by Victoria Wyndham). Ada, the veritable salt of the earth, could stop Rachel or any other pesky character with a stern "no" or, even better, just an arch of the eyebrow. Ada wasn't just flinty—she was tempered steel.

Ada had been a widow for the past 10 years, so many of today's viewers didn't get to see the vulnerability she managed to show opposite a succession of husbands, each of whom would leave Ada an even flintier widow. In the '70s, a very late-fortysomething Ada bore Rachel's miracle little sister, Nancy (a character now written out of the soap), to then-husband Gil McGowan (played by the late Dolph Sweet). Somehow, Ford and Sweet made the situation believable.

It was in scenes with Rachel's much older husband, Mac Cory (played by the late Douglass Watson), that Ford did her most powerful work. Watson's Mac was always overwrought, and nothing worked better in a scene with him than a sobering dose of Ada's steeliness.

Ada was the same font of tough righteousness and wisdom whether she lived on the wrong side of the tracks or in the Cory mansion. Ford managed to keep her character, a real rock, consistent, despite close to a dozen different head writers being at the "AW" helm during her tenure.

Ford had had a long Hollywood and soap career before she came to "AW." In 1959's "A Summer Place," which today ranks as a camp favorite, she gave a wild screen performance as Sandra Dee's nasty, prudish mother ("Give up your virginity before you marry, and you might as well be dead"). Her first daytime role was in 1954, in a short-lived soap called "Woman With a Past." She also played Rose Peterson on "Search for Tomorrow" and Eve Morris on "The Edge of Night."

IN FOCUS

The 1961 animated favorite "101 Dalmations" airs Saturday, April 17, on The Disney Channel. Pongo (pictured) and his beloved wife, Perdita, are the proud parents of a litter of Dalmations, but when the evil Cruella De Vil steals them to make a puppy fur coat, Pongo and Perdita must enlist fellow animals to help them find and rescue their children. That becomes quite a chore when they learn that Cruella has dog-napped a total of 99 puppies!

IN FOCUS

On April 12, CBS' "Bob" in which Bob Newhart (c) stars as the creator of a comic-book superhero, and John Cygan (r) plays a co-worker assigned to give the hero, Mad Dog (l), a more modern image—moves to Monday the evening on which "Newhart" aired for eight years. Although "Bob" has languished in the bottom third of the ratings in its regular Friday slot, it came in 14th in December when CBS gave it a special Monday airing.

Older Workers/ Staff Honored At Luncheon

In observance of "Hire the Older Worker Week," March 14-20, Garrett County Area Agency on Aging (AAA) honored Community Action Committee's (CAC) older staff at a luncheon and awards ceremony on Friday, March 19. The event was held at Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident.

Each CAC department individually recognized its older (55+) staff. Those receiving awards were: CAC Administrative Staff

- Mary Jane Gnegy, director of administration and finance; Jean Tressler, Head Start director; Bob Rodeheaver, MEAP (Maryland Energy Assistance Program) director; Ruth Chisholm, receptionist; and Ruth Fike, clerical aide.

Head Start - Dodie Burrell, Social Service Parent Involvement coordinator.

MEAP - Jim McRobie, weatherization coordinator; Paul Friend, weatherization; Jim Casteel, George Foy, and Ethel Cassell, Green Thumb employees.

GTS (Garrett Transit System) - Hazel Broadwater, transportation secretary;

Dan Riley and Roy Teets, drivers; and Doria Sue Griffith, clerical assistant.

AAA Administrative Staff - Leona Beckman, Senior Care coordinator; Jane Sickler, Senior Information and Assistance coordinator.

AAA Truesdell Senior Home - Burlena Uphold, Roy Hinkle, Norma Hinkle, Mary B. Landon, and Sybil Merrill.

AAA Nutrition Program - Louise Beckman, Velva Blamble, Arlene George, Mona Hebb, Etta Jacks, Mabel Miller, Louise Pennington, Lonnie Rodeheaver, Marie Skipper, Eleanor Teets, Gladys Betley, Lula Brown, Mary Maxine Mills, and Merrill Sturtz.

AAA Senior Care - Sally Schwing and Alice Bell.

Special guests attending were Robert Lyons, chairman of CAC Board of Directors; Russell Bowser, chairman of AAA Commission on Aging; Jane Bowser, Holly Bartlett, Charles Ross, Maxine Ross, Ruth Lenhart, Helen Vitez, Eleanor Teets, Gerald Iman, and Ruth Calderwood, Commission on Aging members.

JWCC Hold April Meeting

The April meeting of the Junior Woman's Civic Club (JWCC) was held at the home of Beverly Barb on April 1.

During the business meeting, donation checks were written to the Garrett Community College Foundation and the American Cancer Society. The club also voted to make a donation for the purchase of food for workers of Habitat for Humanity.

The drawing for the winner of the Sweetheart Quilt was held, and the purchaser of the winning ticket was Larry Schenk, who was presented with the quilt by Beverly Haines, president of JWCC. Members of JWCC wish to thank all who purchased quilt tickets for their support.

The meeting concluded with the drawing for the door prize - a flower and bow wall hanging - which was won by Cindy Rosson.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 6, at 6 p.m., and will be the club's annual progressive dinner followed by the election of officers for the 1993-94 year. Anyone interested in attending the meeting should contact Pam Holloway at 387-5844 or Beverly Barb at 387-9112.

Good Friday Service Set At Springs Church

A community-wide Good Friday service is planned for the Salisbury, Grantsville, and Springs area for Friday, April 9, at the Springs Menonite Church on Route 669, beginning at 1 p.m.

This annual ecumenical service sponsored by the Casselman Valley Ministerial Association will have area pastors reading the passion story from the Gospel of Matthew with brief meditations and prayers. The congregation will be invited to join in song with special music groups presenting selections. All are invited.

Financial Mgmt. Classes Slated

As part of the Women's Fair, a series of financial management classes will be sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service at Garrett Community College. The classes, which are also open to men, will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in Continuing Education Room 314.

The schedule is as follows: April 20, Financial Management for Women I, which includes record keeping, developing a spending plan, and using credit to one's advantage; April 27, Financial Management for Women II, which includes learning how to plan one's financial future with savings, insurance, and retirement plans; May 4, Financial Management for Women III, which includes the financial impact of divorce; and May 11, Financial Management for Women IV, which includes the financial impact of a spouse's death and how to plan ahead to minimize financial losses.

The cost of all classes is $5. Registration is urged so handouts can be prepared and space reserved. The classes will be taught by Irmgard R. Koscielniak, Extension agent, home economics, who will utilize videos and speakers to help participants prepare personal financial management plans.

Persons who wish to register for the classes may contact the Extension Service at the Courthouse; telephone 334-1990.

Historical Trust To Hold Workshop

The Maryland Historical Trust, the state historic preservation office and an agency of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, with local co-sponsors will offer a one-day workshop for Marylanders who "know they want to do something" to preserve local culture, but don't know what. The program will be held Saturday, April 24, at the Washington County Free Library in Hagerstown.

The workshop, entitled "You should have been here yesterday . . ." will provide hands-on training for the novice as well as the expert in the process of documenting community traditions. Participants will learn the steps in project planning from developing an idea to executing a finished product including techniques and tools of oral and video history, and photographic, archival, and documentary research. They will also learn about current efforts to document the history and culture of the railroad industry in Hagerstown.

"The knowledge that is held in our memories is immeasurable," says Governor William Donald Schaefer, "and it is time that we tap it for future generations."

Co-sponsors are the Preservation Design District Commission of Hagerstown, the Washington County Historical Trust, and Washington County Historical Society.

A $25 registration fee will cover lunch, snacks, and all workshop materials. Deadline for registration is April 8. Pre-registration is required as space is limited. For further information, persons may contact Sue King or Elaine Eff at 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032, 410-514-7800.

Easter Dinner

SIMPLY DAZZLING

Braided Easter Bread

Makes 2 loaves

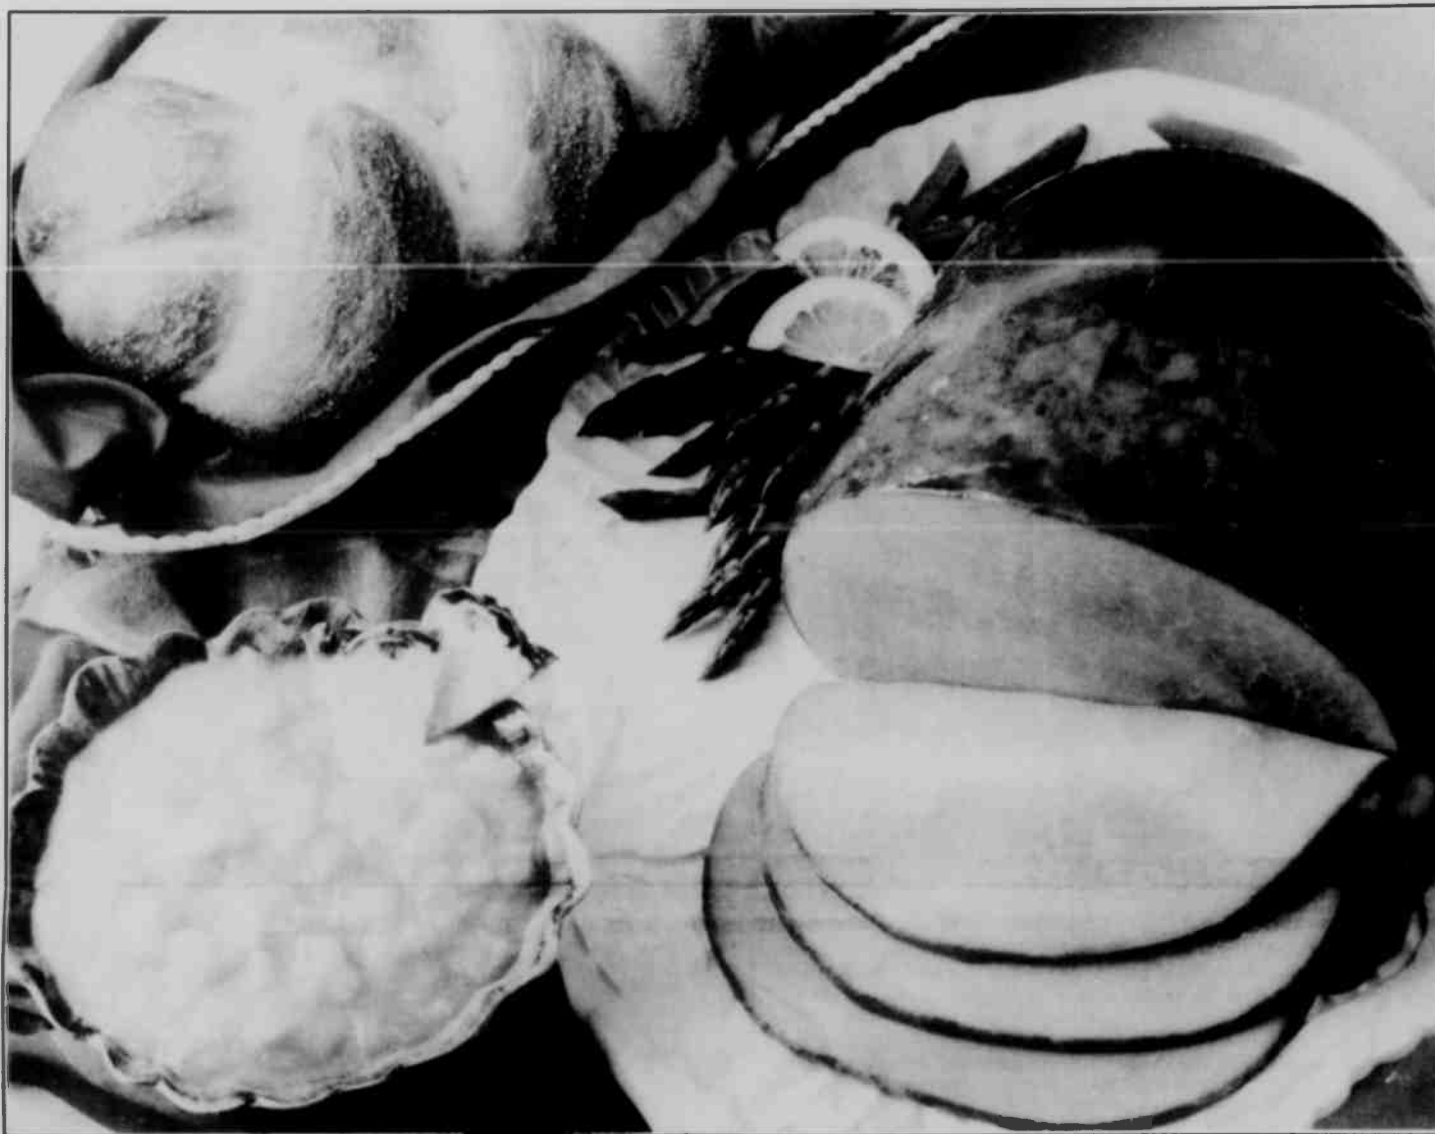

4-3/4 to 5-1/4 cups all-purpose flour, divided
3 tablespoons sugar, divided
2 packages Fleischmann's RapidRise Yeast
1-1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup very warm water (120° to 130° F)
1/3 cup butter or margarine, softened
4 eggs, divided

In large bowl, combine 1-1/2 cups flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, undissolved yeast and salt. Add very warm water and butter, blend well. Stir in 3 eggs, 1 egg yolk (reserve egg white) and enough remaining flour to make soft dough. Knead on lightly floured surface until smooth and elastic, about 6 to 8 minutes. Cover, let rest on floured surface 10 minutes.

Divide in half. Reserve one half. Divide remaining dough into three equal pieces, roll to 12-inch ropes. Place ropes on greased baking sheet, braid. Pinch ends to seal. On a separate baking sheet, repeat with remaining dough to make a second loaf. Cover, let rise in warm, draft-free place until doubled in size, about 30 to 45 minutes.

Lightly beat reserved egg white, brush on loaves. Sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon sugar. Bake at 400° F for 20 to 25 minutes or until done, switching positions of sheets in oven halfway through baking time. Cover with foil if needed to prevent excess browning during last 10 minutes of baking time. Remove from sheets, cool on wire racks.

Preparation Time: 45 minutes, excluding rising time
Cooking Time: 20 to 25 minutes

Perfect Easter Ham

Place the ham, straight from the refrigerator, in a shallow roasting pan. By using a meat thermometer, there's no guesswork. Simply insert the thermometer so the tip does not touch bone or fat. Add water or liquid as directed. Cover pan tightly with aluminum foil. Roast at 325°F oven. Do not peek at oven except for ham 2 pounds or under. Prepare Dijon Glaze and Pineapple Sauce for Ham or Apricot-Ginger Glaze and brush over ham during last 20 minutes of cooking time. Remove the ham from the oven when the thermometer registers 135°F; the temperature will continue to rise to 140°F as it stands. Allow the ham to stand 10 minutes for easier carving.

Dijon Glaze and Pineapple Sauce for Ham

Makes 1-4 cup glaze and 2-1/2 cups sauce

2/3 cup maple-flavored syrup
1/3 cup Grey Poupon Dijon or Country Dijon Mustard
1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 (20-ounce) can crushed pineapple in its own juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch

In small bowl, blend syrup, mustard and brown sugar, reserve 1/4 cup glaze to brush over ham during last 20 minutes of cooking time. Meanwhile, in medium saucepan, combine remaining glaze, pineapple and cornstarch. Over medium high heat, cook until mixture thickens and begins to boil, stirring frequently. Boil for 1 minute. Serve warm with ham.

Preparation Time: 10 minutes
Cooking Time: 3 to 4 minutes for sauce

Apricot-Ginger Glaze

Makes 2-3 cup

1/3 cup apricot preserves, melted
1/4 cup Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger

In small bowl, blend all ingredients. Brush over ham during last 20 minutes of cooking time. Recipe may be doubled.

Preparation Time: 10 minutes

It's Eastertime! And nothing celebrates the joyous season more than a delicious meal complete with all the traditional trimmings. This year, why not brighten your family's all-time Easter favorites with a dash of pizzazz? This updated holiday menu not only sparkles with new flavor and appeal, it's as easy to prepare as it is to serve!

Since early times, the crowning touch to any festive Easter meal has been succulent ham. Today is no exception—it simply wouldn't be Easter without the delicious taste of versatile ham. Always available in a wide range of sizes and varieties, a fully-cooked boneless ham is an excellent choice for the on-the-go Easter hostess. It's extra easy to carve and provides four to five 3-ounce servings per pound. A fully-cooked, bone-in or semi-boneless ham yields about two and one-half to three 3-ounce servings per pound. No matter which you choose, plan to purchase a larger size than needed—leftover ham provides a hassle-free start to quick and easy soups and casseroles, not to mention weekday sandwiches and snacks.

When it comes to preparing your holiday ham, the addition of a maple-Dijon glaze gives the whole meal an extra special touch. The versatile Dijon mustard not only jazzes up tried-and-true glazes, it also imparts an irresistible flavor to the ham as it roasts. To make a simple, spectacular pineapple sauce, add crushed pineapple to the reserved maple-Dijon mixture and heat through. Every bit as fruity, another snappy option for the Easter ham, Apricot-Ginger Glaze, also spotlights the unique goodness of Dijon mustard.

Don't stop at the glaze when you're rejuvenating your Easter favorites. Here, homebaked yeast bread takes a celebratory, easy twist for the better, and Braided Easter Bread is the mouthwatering result! A real baker's choice when it comes to convenience, you can make the eye-catching loaves on the day of the dinner. Or you can bake them ahead and store them in the freezer for easy reheating. Either way, when the bread's fresh-baked aroma reaches the table, you'll love knowing you have not one, but two, company-special loaves to show for your breadmaking efforts.

After you've spruced up your family's favorite Easter menu, why not parlay the leftovers into a quick, satisfying meal. Ham and Farfalle Salad with Dijon Vinaigrette is a delicious main dish example. Spotlighting the remaining savory ham and convenient on-hand ingredients like Dijon mustard, the hearty salad makes a complete meal when served with a quick-to-fix accompaniment such as Herbed Onion Focaccia. A super-easy rendition of the famed Italian flat bread, this tempting bread is easy to make, thanks to fast-rising yeast. The simple-to-use yeast streamlines the baking so that the focaccia is ready in less than an hour.

Talk about cherished traditions—two convenient and delicious, easy and fast springtime meals. That's one holiday tradition surely worth keeping. Happy Easter!

Ham and Farfalle Salad with Dijon Vinaigrette

Makes 6 servings

1/2 cup olive oil
1/4 cup Grey Poupon Country Dijon or Dijon mustard
3 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1 large clove garlic, crushed
12 ounces sliced fully-cooked ham, cut in 1-1/2-inch strips (approx. 2 cups)

12 ounces uncooked farfalle (bow tie) pasta, cooked and drained (6 cups cooked)

1 (7-ounce) jar roasted peppers, drained and sliced
1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts, toasted
1/4 cup coarsely chopped Italian parsley (optional)

In small bowl, whisk oil, mustard, vinegar and garlic until thoroughly blended. In large bowl, combine ham, pasta, roasted peppers and walnuts, add vinaigrette, tossing to coat well. Cover tightly and refrigerate at least 2 hours. Let stand at room temperature 1/2 hour before serving; stir in parsley if desired.

Preparation Time: 20 minutes

Herbed Onion Focaccia

Makes 12 (3-inch) squares

2-3/4 cups all-purpose flour, divided
1 package Fleischmann's RapidRise Yeast
2-1/2 teaspoons dried oregano leaves, crushed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup very warm water (120° to 130° F)

1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons olive oil, divided

1 egg
1-1/2 cups thinly sliced onion
1 teaspoon each dried rosemary leaves, crushed and coarse salt (optional)

In large bowl, combine 1-3/4 cups flour, undissolved yeast, oregano and salt. Stir water and 2 tablespoons oil into dry ingredients. Stir in egg and enough remaining flour to make a stiff batter. Cover, let rest 10 minutes. Meanwhile, in large skillet over medium heat, heat 1/4 cup oil until hot. Add onion, cook 3 to 4 minutes or until soft but not browned, stirring occasionally. Set aside to cool slightly.

With lightly oiled hands, spread batter into oiled 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Make small indentations in surface of batter with finger or end of wooden spoon. Spread reserved onion mixture evenly over batter. Sprinkle with rosemary and coarse salt, if desired. Cover loosely with plastic wrap, let rise in warm, draft-free place until almost doubled in size, about 15 to 30 minutes. Bake at 400° F for 25 minutes or until done. Cool in pan on wire rack. Cut into squares and serve warm or cool.

Preparation Time: 20 minutes, excluding rising time
Cooking Time: 25 minutes

Reptiles Are Coming To FSU

As a part of its Earth Day Folk Festival, Frostburg State University will host "Reptile World," a live educational presentation at the Lane Center April 17. Between the hours of 1-5 p.m. a number of live reptiles will be on display and the role of reptiles in the world environment will be discussed.

"Reptile World" owners brothers Bruce and Michael Shwedick say they have been fascinated by reptiles since their youth. A herpetologist, Michael started collecting reptiles as a teenager. He has worked with William Haast, a leading authority of venomous snakes and director of the Miami

REPTILES COMING TO FSU - Several "monsters" of the natural world will be on display at Frostburg State University's Second Annual Earth Day Folk Festival. "Reptile World" expert Bruce Shwedick will explain the importance of reptiles in the world's environment and will have several live specimens, including an alligator snapping turtle, tropical monitor lizard, Gila monster, an alligator, and snakes on display. At the end of the program, spectators will be permitted to touch a rock python snake. The Festival will be held Saturday, April 17, 1-5 p.m. in the Lane Center. Serpentarium. To study their natural habitat and further his knowledge and understanding of reptiles, Michael has traveled to Africa and the Caribbean. His collection includes not only snakes, but also crocodilians, turtles, and lizards.

Bruce Shwedick has been raising reptiles, especially crocodilians, since his youth. In 1987, 16 years after beginning his work, he successfully hatched five Nile crocodiles in captivity, and in 1988 he hatched offspring of the rare Siamese Crocodile. At a time when these animals may be facing extinction on a global basis, he hopes to prove that animals held in captivity over many years can still become a part of their species survival.

Bruce will introduce the audience to an array of animals from what they call the world's most exotic family, the reptiles. Featured live animals might include an alligator snapping turtle, tropical monitor lizard, Gila monster, an American alligator and tropical crocodile, boa constrictor, rock python, copperhead, rattlesnake and a cobra. At the end of the program, spectators will have the opportunity to touch the rock python.

Also on tap for FSU's Earth Day celebration are music and other workshops throughout the afternoon, and a concert of acoustical music at 7:30 p.m. in the Lane Center, featuring Washington-based Irish band Celtic Thunder, duo Whiskey Tango, and bluegrass group Short Line Junction.

The public is invited to all FSU Earth Day Folk Festival activities at no charge. For more information on Earth Day Folk Festival activities, persons may call the Lane Center, 689-4151.

Tim Hinebaugh Named Writing Contest Winner

Timothy Hinebaugh, a junior at Northern Garrett High School, was recently named as a county winner of the Maryland You Are Beautiful Writing Contest. His essay, which deals with methods of reducing drug and alcohol abuse, will be entered in the appropriate category at the state level.

Hinebaugh originally entered the contest through his English class under the guidance of Ms. Joanna Miller, English instructor, as the first place winner selected by a panel of teachers and administrators.

In addition to being an honors student, Hinebaugh participates in varsity football, basketball, and track, and is also involved in Northern's Peer Counseling Program. He is the son of Wilbur and Jane Hinebaugh, Friendsville.

BPW Offering Scholarship To Eligible Female

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club is offering a scholarship to an eligible female, 30 or older, who is living, working, or attending school in Garrett County.

The applicant must be a high school graduate or have a high school equivalency. The applicant must enroll or be enrolled in a vocational, technical, or academic program at an accredited institution which will lead to a certificate of completion or a degree.

The total available is $600 per year. The amount awarded will be determined by financial need. The scholarship may be renewed if a grade point average of 2.0 is met and a second application is submitted.

Applicants are chosen on the basis of the following: proof of acceptance, letters of recommendation, financial need, and other information contained in the application.

The winner must enter school or be continuing her education no later than the term following her scholarship acceptance.

Recipients are responsible for having their grade records forwarded to the chairperson of the committee. All applicants will be screened and reviewed by the scholarship committee according to the established criteria.

The deadline for applications is April 30. Inquiries may be directed to Barbara Flinn at 334-3228.

Faith Church Notes Services

Special Easter services will be held at Faith Evangelical Free Church, located along Route 135 in Mtn. Lake Park.

A Good Friday service will be held from noon to 1 p.m. The speaker will be Rev. Robert Bonser. There will be special musical presentations, and a nursery will be provided.

An Easter sunrise service will be held April 11 at 8:30 a.m., followed by Sunday School at 9:45 and the Easter Sunday service at 10:45.

Chrysler-Plymouth Recognizes Local Salesperson

Jan B. Snyder, new vehicle salesperson for Accident Garage Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge Dealer, Accident, received an award for individual performance in selling Chrysler-Plymouth vehicles.

A resident of Confluence, Pa., Snyder has reached the Silver level of recognition in Chrysler-Plymouth's Sales Professionals Club.

Specially designed incentives and awards are provided for outstanding product knowledge and sales achievement at three performance levels - bronze, silver, and gold. Membership in each level is determined by points earned for sales of new cars and trucks.

The program continues throughout the 1993 model sales year.

Secretaries' Day Slated At GCC

A Secretaries' Day has been scheduled at Garrett Community College for Wednesday, April 21, from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. in the Continuing Education Building.

This Communication at Work Seminar is designed for managers and secretaries. It will deal with the following: "It's not what you say, but what is heard; it's not what you mean but what is understood; it's not what you show, but what is seen; and perception is reality."

STUDENTS STUDY NUTRITION - Kelley Nestor, instructor for Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Wellness Together Program, recently conducted a nutrition awareness class for Barbara Ponceroff's third grade science class at Broad Ford Elementary School. Nestor discussed with the class the importance of nutrition and the United States Department of Agriculture's new food pyramid, which has taken the place of the four basic food groups. Nestor also showed the class a video about fast foods and the high fat content contained in them. Encouraging nutritional eating habits in young children is essential to their growth as healthy adults in addition to helping them to adopt and maintain healthy eating behaviors for a lifetime, Ms. Nestor said. Shown in the photo with Ponceroff's third grade class is Nestor, left and student teacher, Adrienne Ingram, right.

During the lunch hour, a buffet lunch will be served as a fashion show will be presented by Rebecca Knox, image consultant for Beauty control cosmetics. Fashions will be from Flinn's Family Store in Oakland. In the afternoon, small group discussions will focus on the morning presentation and personal concerns in the area of communication skills.

A nominal registration fee, which will include lunch will be charged for the day. Registration deadline is Friday, April 16. Interested persons should call Tammy Mantlos, director of Office Technology, at 387-3015, or Lynne Glatfelter or Ann

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

WELCOMING THOUSANDS OF VISITORS In the late 1800s and early 1900s was the B&O Railroad station in Mt. Lake Park, as most came to the Mountaintop each year to escape the summer heat of the Baltimore-Washington area and to enjoy the many Chataqua events and programs that were available in the Park during its heyday. Local livery stables would have coaches and personnel handy to transport the guests to one of the numerous hotels or boarding houses that were in the town at that time. It is believed this photo was taken in the 1880s. The photo, which is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican, is on loan by retired district court judge Lewis Jones. The Society also reminds persons who plan to attend its annual banquet that the date of the banquet is June 24 at the Bittinger fire hall, rather than June 25 as was announced in the most recent issue of the Society's quarterly publication, The Glades Star.

SWANTON

Lissa Fleming returned to Tampa, Fla., on Saturday, April 3, after spending a week with her parents, Linda and John Fleming. The Flemings hosted a family breakfast before Lissa left with all their immediate family present.

Darlene Reckley, Woodbine, and Mary and Harry Jones, Cresaptown, were Sunday visitors of John and Linda Lowery.

Ellis and Mary June Harvey returned home Friday after a six-week trip to Florida. On their trip to Sebring, Fla., they stopped in Smithfield, Va., to see Ron and Anne Harvey. They also visited Wilber and Helen Hoopengardner at Ocala, Fla. On their return trip they stopped over night in Charlottesville, Va., to visit their granddaughter, Cyndra, her husband, Alan VanClief, and their children, Thomas and Rachel.

A.J. Fleming spent Saturday night with Steve, Lucinda and Amber Davis. On Sunday, John, Linda and A.J. Fleming were dinner guests of the Davises.

Michael, Elisa, and Emily Woodrey, Clinton, were guests of Ellis and Mary June Harvey Friday and Saturday. On Sunday Richard, Elida and David Schofield, Bittinger, were dinner guests of the Harveys.

Marlu and Gordon Rowe returned to their home Wednesday after being away for the winter months. They left before Christmas, spent the holidays with their children and grandchildren in the Washington, D.C., area, then traveled to Arizona and California, visiting many friends and relatives along the way.

Mildred Shaffer's grandson, Ben Chloros, and his family, John and Dee Burns, are hosting a German exchange student, Hans-Christoph Jahn, who is one of 23 students visiting the area and learning American customs. He is from Ebnburg, Germany, and will be here three weeks.

James Rhodes Sr., Steve Davis, and Orval Teets were among those attending the Folly Run Sportsmen Club meeting at Chestnut Grove Sunday afternoon.

Sandra and Brian Schofield drove to Clinton on Sunday to attend the christening of their first grandchild, Emily Elise Woodrey.

OTTERBEIN U.M. CHURCH NEWS

An Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Sunday school will be held from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Friday at the Community Center. All children of the community are invited. The South Garrett Parish will hold a Good Friday service here at 7 p.m. Rev. Robert Johnson, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will be the speaker. Everyone is welcome.

At 6 a.m. an Easter sunrise service will be held. Pastor Monu will bring the message. A fellowship breakfast will be served by the young adult Sunday school class following the service.

Sunday school will be at 9:45 a.m. and at 11 a.m. a cantata "Up From the Grave, He Arose," will be presented by the choir and youth of the church.

The Brotherhood will meet Tuesday, April 13, at 7:30 p.m. at Paradise United Methodist Church.

The United Methodist Women will meet Tuesday, April 13, at 7 p.m. at the church.

The case of the week for Garrett County Crime Solvers concerns the destruction of a soda machine in Swallow Falls State Park.

Unknown persons entered the park on March 12 and apparently attempted to break into one of the Pepsi machines in the parking lot, but were unsuccessful.

Persons again entered the park on March 13 and successfully gained entry into another Pepsi machine. Money and cans of soda were removed, and a considerable amount of damage was done to the machine.

Any person with information about these or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Garrett County Extension Agent Receives Prestigious Service Award

Jim Simms, who has been the agricultural extension agent here in Garrett County for the past decade, was the winner of the 1993 "Director's Award for Extension Excellence" in Maryland. His experience as 4-H and agricultural science agent in this county goes back 20 years, however.

The award was announced on Wednesday, March 17, as Extension staffers and faculty members from across the state gathered for their annual conference at the Columbia Inn in Howard County. The annual award was presented by Dr. Craig Oliver, who directs the Maryland Extension Service for outstanding programming and performance.

The selection carries with it several forms of recognition—a personal plaque plus another which hangs in Oliver's office; a $1,500 cash award; a watch from the Maryland State Fair and a University of Maryland chair from The Dalmatian Farmer.

Simms, who holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of West Virginia, began his career as a science teacher in the Cecil County, Md., school system in January 1963.

He was appointed 4-H agent in Garrett County in July 1963, a position he held for 10 years before leaving Extension service to become the owner and operator of a retail home and garden center. He returned to Extension in January 1982, to become Garrett County agent, again.

In nominating him for the award, Simms' fellow workers cited his "tremendous impact on the county's ag community."

Among his major programs is one that became known as "Mountain Fresh," which benefits growers in Garrett County as well as in Tucker and Preston counties, W. Va.

The program, going into its sixth year of operation, has generated thousands of dollars for small farming operations, the nomination letter said.

He also has established educational programs in farm financial management, dairy sciences and field crops. Earlier in his Extension career as a 4-H agent, Simms was involved with the Western Maryland 4-H Camp near Bittinger. He has served since 1982 as the camp's general manager.

Simms says he greatly enjoys his work, and that the only thing that bothers him is "the declining number of young people entering farming as a profession. The high cost of the initial investment is staggering, and it's hard for young people to get into farming," he said. "Also, people seem not to be thankful for the high quality and low cost of the food they eat."

He says he enjoys seeing positive results from the input he has with farmers. He gets a lot of reward helping with farm management, crop yields, increasing milk production and helping farmers making money. "I like to get up and go to work in the morning. Farmers will listen to me, and most of the time I'm half way right."

Simms says he was also presented a fruit basket and a Holstein cow with a clock at the annual DHIA, Holstein banquet held last week.

The presentation to Simms highlighted a luncheon at which 37 other members of the state Extension staff were honored for years of service ranging from 10 to 40, including Garrett County Extension Home Economics Agent Irmgard Koscielniak, who was recognized for 10 years of service.

Endangered Species, Food Safety Legislation Introduced

Two important pieces of legislation—one reforming the Endangered Species Act and the other aimed at modernizing the nation's food safety laws—have been introduced in Congress. Both are supported by Farm Bureau.

The amendments to the Endangered Species Act (H.R. 1490) were introduced by Reps. Billy Tauzin (D-La.), Jack Fields (R-Texas) and 23 other co-sponsors. The amendments would improve the act, which is up for reauthorization, by putting an end to the "emergency room" application of species preservation.

Just before the close of the 102nd Congress, Tauzin introduced a bill to amend the Endangered Species Act. During the past six months, he discussed improvements to the legislation with individuals, representatives of various groups and government officials. H.R. 1490 is a product of those discussions.

The aim of the bill is twofold. One goal is to promote species and habitat protection and enhancement before listing becomes necessary.

"Once a species is at the brink of extinction and placed on the list we lose many conservation options," said Tauzin. "My bill takes a proactive approach by encouraging state and local governments, industry, conservation groups, private individuals and landowners to become active partners in species conservation."

The second goal of the legislation is to provide the most efficient and responsible management mechanism once a species is listed. Under the bill, the listing process remains based solely on biological factors.

"Whether a species is endangered or threatened is purely a scientific decision," said Tauzin. "Once a determination is made that a species should be listed, the Tauzin bill requires the secretary of interior or commerce to study different methods of species recovery and to attempt to implement a management plan that imposes the least socioeconomic impact."

Responding to criticism that his bill weakens the current Endangered Species Act, Tauzin said the current law is weak "and results in the types of 'train wrecks' we are seeing in the Gulf of Mexico, in our Southern forests, in San Antonio, in Southern California, in the Pacific Northwest and in other areas of our country."

The food safety legislation, introduced by Reps. Richard Lehman (D-Calif.), Thomas Bliley (R-Va.), and Roy Rowland (D-Ga.), would give the Environmental Protection Agency the discretion to apply a "negligible risk" standard to both raw and processed foods. The legislation is co-sponsored by 45 other lawmakers.

Currently, an antiquated provision of the 1938 Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act known as the Delaney Clause allows certain pesticides to be used on raw foods, but not on processed foods. Due to advancements in science, even the tiniest amount of a potentially cancer-causing residue can be detected in foods. A strict interpretation of the Delaney clause "zero-risk" standard would prohibit the use of many safe and effective pesticides, which would ensure a safe food supply.

Farm Bureau members are encouraged to ask their representatives to sign on as co-sponsors of these bills.

Sarbanes Praises Appointment Of Voss to ASCS

Senator Paul Sarbanes praised the recent appointment of James M. Voss of Denton as state executive director for Maryland operations of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Jim Voss has been an active and successful farmer all his life and has dedicated endless hours to improving the lives of his fellow farmers throughout Maryland and nationally," Senator Sarbanes said. "Jim did an outstanding job of directing and managing the ASCS's programs in all regions of Maryland's very diversified agricultural economy when he served from 1977 to 1981, and has been an outstanding area coordinator for the Maryland Department of Agriculture responsible for supervision of the Department's programs on the Eastern Shore since 1985.

"I am very pleased that Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy has appointed as distinguished a leader as Jim Voss to this very responsible position," Senator Sarbanes said.

The ASCS state executive director is responsible for statewide administration of price support, resource conservation, production adjustment, storage and dryer facility loans, agriculture conservation, cost sharing, emergency and natural disaster and other programs of the service. Each year nearly 10,000 Maryland farmers visit their county ASCS offices to report their planted acreage in order to qualify for federal farm program benefits.

Voss is a resident of Denton and a graduate of Western Maryland College where he majored in mathematics and biology. He has been active in a wide range of agriculture, community and church organizations. He and his wife Nancy are the parents of four grown children.

Wanted -- Poems & Recipes

by Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor
For the second year, The Republican will publish a special spring farm supplement. This year Forever Farming will be published on May 13, and will be full of farm features, advertising and photos.

In addition to farm features, original poetry and recipes will also be used. This is where you can help. If you have written an original poem about farm life, or have a favorite recipe that uses real, farm-grown ingredients, please send it to me. Unfortunately, not all submissions can be used, but I will use as many as possible along with the name of the person who submitted it, and the name of the town nearest to their home.

To submit a poem or recipe, mail it to The Republican, c/o Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor, Box 326, Oakland, Md. 21550, and watch for this spring's issue of Forever Farming.

Hold An Open House!

Planning to sell your house by owner? You may be tempted to do what real estate agents do — hold an "Open House."

An "Open House" seems like a simple enough technique to the "by owner." The owner spruces up the property inside and out, then runs and places a sign in the yard, then waits for prospective buyers to visit the home. Hopefully, one will buy it.

Real estate agents understand that there are other, underlying benefits to holding the "Open House." Actually, this event is only one aspect of a well-orchestrated marketing campaign to sell homes.

An open house is not held for the benefit of the general public, although total strangers do often drop by for a look around. Real estate professionals design their advertising to attract specific groups of buyers to their open house events.

They may also send invitations by mail to qualified purchase prospects previously identified through other advertising and personal contacts. They know that these qualified purchasers are essential to a sale.

Seasonal real estate specialists understand that two other benefits result from a well-planned open house. First, many prospects who visit an open house intend to make a purchase, but few purchase the one they visit. This creates a pool of potential buyers for other listed properties. Since qualified buyers are critical to making any sale, the agent is wisely building a steady supply of future buyers for all listed homes.

The second open house benefit is additional listings. Most buyers who visit an open house already own a home which they must sell before making another purchase. Through their contact with the agent, they list their home, creating a plentiful supply of new listings for sale. This renewed inventory of homes, in turn, attracts even more buyers.

If you plan to sell, contact an agent before holding your own open house. Cash in on the agent's knowledge and experience.

If you're planning to sell your home soon and would like information on its current value, give us a call at 387-5303 or come by our office located at McHenry Plaza.

Mountain Fresh Producers' Association Now Accepting New Members

The Garrett, Preston and Tucker Counties Chapter of the Mountain Fresh Producers' Association will be accepting new membership until June 30 for the 1993 season. This invitation is also extended to people who would like to sell crafts and homemade baked goods. Membership benefits include a reduced space fee at the Oakland Tailgate Market on Wednesdays and Saturdays, assistance from the market coordinator in selling produce on the wholesale market to local grocery stores and restaurants, and voting privileges in the Mountain Fresh organization. Membership fees are $10.00; after June 30 the fee will be $15.00.

People who are selling crafts are required to have a Maryland Sales Tax number and collect taxes on all items sold. People selling baked goods must have a permit approved by the Garrett County Health Department.

Applications for membership and additional information can be obtained from the Garrett County Extension Office, located in the Courthouse Annex on Third Street in Oakland (phone 301-334-1990). You may also obtain additional information from one of the following directors in your area: Doug Herbert, Swanton - 387-4899; Bob Enlow, Friendsville - 746-5956; Steve Comer, Red House - 334-2363; Cathy Sanders, Sunnyside - 334-4580; Jim Fearer, Oakland - 334-2185; Fred Petersheim, Pleasant Valley - 334-9721; or Dayton Bolyard, Eggon, W.Va. - (304) 735-5161.

Potential Garden Problems For This Spring!

If the weather continues cool and wet this spring, the potential for the following problems greatly increases:

ATTENTION FARMERS

Would you like your lagoons pumped and irrigated on your fields?
EASY as 1-2-3

- Drive system & gun on separate unit
- Eliminates compaction problems
- Less labor compared to hauling
- Requires smaller tractors vs. tankers
- Can be used on soft ground.

Call: 301-334-3069

Seed Maggots - The cool, wet spring weather can result in delayed germination which increases the chances of seed maggots attacking the seed. Newly plowed and fields that receive heavy applications of manure, and gardens that have a high crop residue have the greatest potential for harboring the seed maggot. My advice would be to purchase seed that has been treated with an insecticide or treat the rows with one of the following insecticides: Diazinon or Lorsban, or a combination of these chemicals found in such products as Agrox DL Plus, Kernal Guard, Lorsban 50-SL, isotox or Seed Mate. My main concern would be on corn and beans. Follow the label directions.

Root and Stem Rot - Root rot is caused by a couple soil-borne fungi. The primary fungi causing root rot in our area is Pythium and Rhizoctonia. The crop of greatest concern is beans. Growers in our area have had good success in controlling root rot with the product called Ridomil. Ridomil can be purchased as a liquid or granular. If you use Ridomil 2E, apply 1 1/2 qt. per acre placing a 7-inch band over the row at seeding. If you use Ridomil 11G, apply 12 oz. per 1,000 lin. ft. in the furrow at planting.

Slugs - Cool and damp conditions favor slugs. This creature is one of the most difficult problems to handle. Slugs feed at night and take cover during the day time; therefore check the infestation around midnight. A new product called Valent has been labeled for corn. Controlling slugs is difficult. If they show up in your vegetables, give me a call.

America Counts On Complete Ag Census Data

If all farmers and ranchers are not counted in the Census of Agriculture, decisions on farm programs, agriculture trade, extension programs, and others will suffer. In the long run every farmer and rancher will be affected.

The data from the Census of Agriculture are essential in allocating billions in agriculture funds every year.

The distribution of extension program funds depends on the census.

The number of acres of cropland that can be put into the conservation reserve program in your county is based on the census.

Funds for farm disaster relief are tied to data from the census.

Farm loan money available to states and counties depend on the numbers in the census.

These are but a few examples of why an undercount in the Census of Agriculture could be detrimental to every farmer and rancher in this country.

In addition, the government's negotiators on agriculture commodity trade rely heavily on the census data. If the information is understated, then American producers may not get the best benefits possible from current trade negotiations.

According to George Pierce, assistant chief of the Census Bureau's Agriculture Division, "More than 75 percent of America's farmers and ranchers have completed and returned their Census of Agriculture report. Others have requested time extensions until they complete their tax returns. But there are still quite a few whom we haven't heard from. Response in some states and counties is better than others." What does this mean? Those states and counties with the greatest undercount may not receive their share of the agriculture programs, funding, trade considerations, educational funds, and consideration in Congress.

Pierce said, "What we also think has happened is that a lot of people who are no longer actively farming pitched their forms in the trash. That's human nature. But we need to know who's not farming by sending the form back indicating their situation. Meanwhile, the slow returns from non-farmers combined with farmers and ranchers who haven't mailed back their forms keeps the returns below the level we need to publish complete and accurate data."

Those who need help on questions or need another form may call toll free at 1-800-233-6132. By completing and returning 1992 Census of Agriculture forms, farmers help "Make it Known. America Counts on Agriculture."

BST Moves Closer To FDA Approval

Use of bovine somatotropin (BST) in cows poses no health risk to humans, the Food and Drug Administration was told last week.

FDA's Veterinary Medicine Advisory Committee, following a day-long hearing, concluded that while BST-treated cows have a higher incidence of mastitis, this would not result in antibiotic residues in the milk and meat consumed by humans.

The hearing was held at the request of the General Accounting Office to review the issue of whether BST-treated cows are more susceptible to mastitis, and whether the treatment of mastitis with antibiotics might result in illegal drug residues in the milk and meat reaching consumers. Testimony was presented by 31 individuals, including representatives from Monsanto (which is seeking to market BST), the Center for Veterinary Medicine, consumer groups and dairy producers.

The advisory panel concluded that the incidence of mastitis in BST-treated cows would be slightly greater than in non-treated cows, and that mastitis in those cows can be effectively treated using current drug regimens and protocols. It found that the possibility of illegal drug residues will not be increased, and thus no additional risk to consumers will result.

Since January 1992, the dairy industry has been required to test each tank truck of milk for antibiotics. Since July, states have been required to monitor the testing. Grade A milk producers are required to have a permit to ship milk, and that permit can be suspended for violations such as illegal drug residues.

A review of the genetically engineered hormone has been underway for some time by FDA. The agency already has determined that milk and meat from BST-treated cows is safe. A review on the mastitis issue clears the way for final approval, but there have been no indications as to when that might happen.

Farm Bureau has encouraged government officials to aggressively defend the integrity of FDA's review process on BST to ensure that the product is safe.

In a letter to Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala and other policy-makers, American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner noted that both farmers and consumers must depend on the scientific analysis done by FDA and other agencies to evaluate product safety.

"Nothing substitutes for the credibility of the federal government's seal of approval," Kleckner wrote. "Most individuals who have reviewed the record agree that the FDA study of BST has been rigorous and thorough. Regardless of whether BST is approved or not, FDA and the Department of Health and Human Services should defend the scientific basis for the decision."

"Consumers must be made aware of the fact that FDA's lengthy evaluation of BST adequately elevated all human and animal health issues," he said.

Maryland Egg Production Down

Maryland laying flocks produced 188 million eggs during the December 1992 through February 1993 quarter, a decline of 15 percent from the same quarter a year earlier. The average number of layers on hand during the quarter was 3,291,000 for a decline of three percent from the corresponding quarter a year earlier.

Budget Plan Moves Through Congress

President Clinton's economic plan continued to move through Congress last week. The fiscal 1994 budget resolution (H.Con. Res. 64) was passed by the House, 240-184, and the Senate, 55-45.

House and Senate conferees had earlier worked out differences between the House- and Senate-passed plans. The budget resolutions spell out broad spending priorities.

The package contains about $2.6 billion in farm program spending cuts during fiscal 1994-96 - which is $2.3 billion less than Clinton originally called for. The House approved the $1.9 billion in farm cuts that Clinton has requested, but conferees agreed to accept $2.6 billion in cuts included in the Senate package.

The package includes $273 billion in tax hikes over the next five years, with $106 billion in defense cuts and $117 billion in domestic spending cuts.

The House and Senate Agriculture committees will have discretion in making the spending cuts, and must come up with a plan by mid-May.

Included in Clinton's package is a Farm Bureau-approved energy tax. The administration has said it will exempt ethanol from the tax, and last week announced other exemptions including natural gas used in production of heavy crude oil and coal for gasification.

At press time the Senate was still debating a fiscal 1993 supplemental spending bill with $16.3 billion in new spending.

First District Conservationist Remembers Challenges Of The Past

by Bernice Kepple
This year, the Garrett County Soil Conservation District is celebrating its 50th anniversary. Recently, District Conservationist Garry Morfoot, District Manager Shaun Sanders, and this reporter spent an afternoon with the local District's first District Conservationist, and later District Manager, Bill Nace to learn about the challenges faced by the program when it was brand new.

The idea of soil conservation itself was brand new in 1936 when Nace began working at the Hagerstown office of the Soil Conservation Service as part of a demonstration project. He said he had been working in his native state of Pennsylvania for the State Forest Service, and liked his job very much. But in those days, jobs depended upon political affiliation, and if the newly elected governor was a member of the opposite political party, your job was in jeopardy. About the same time, Nace decided to get married and wanted job security, so accepted the Hagerstown position.

After a couple of years, states began organizing conservation districts. Kent County was the first in Maryland, and Nace was its first district conservationist. In the early 40s, Nace moved to Cumberland and worked in Garrett County where the process of organizing a district was beginning. When the Garrett Soil Conservation District was established in 1943, Nace served as its first district conservationist, continuing in that position for 29 years until 1972. After retirement from the Soil Conservation Service, he held the position of district manager with the Garrett District another five years, until 1977.

According to Nace, the general public was beginning to become conservation conscious in those Depression Days of the 30s. "I think a lot of government services were expanded because of the Depression, and soil conservation was one," Nace said.

"It depended a lot on the farmer as to how long it took to convince them of the importance of conservation. They were independent, handled their own business and took care of their own affairs. But if you tried to make everything practical, farmers would listen. You had to pretty much put yourself in his place, not try to get him to do something he wasn't ready to do."

Sanders had found a copy of the original work plan for the District containing a statement by Nace: "Spectacular gully erosion is not common here, however, there is some erosion in the District. This is sheet erosion that takes soil away gradually. It is the most common form and the hardest to convince farmers to correct."

Discussion followed, and Nace added that farther east where gullies can be seen, conservation was a little easier to sell. "Where gullies have washed away soil, it's very much easier to show people the need for conservation," Nace said.

Nace continued, saying that contour strips are very basic, and one of the hardest conservation plans to implement in the early days. "Some farmers used strips already but were hard to convince to go to contour strips," Nace stated. "Farmers in general are inclined to be conservative. It was natural that they were hard to persuade that they needed to do something extra."

Some of the local farmers who were the first to get involved with the District and who worked with Nace were Emerson Bishoff, John Hafer and Foster Yost. George Bishoff, the descendant of one of those men (Emerson Bishoff) still works closely with the District as chairman of the board of supervisors, and the son of John Hafer, also named John, is a state senator from Garrett County who has been very supportive of soil conservation and the District.

"People in those days were a little skeptical of the government being involved," Nace said. "They thought maybe the government was getting ready to take over."

Nace says he can't remember exactly when the District got into drainage. He knows it wasn't recognized as part of the conservation plan the first year. "So much of it was needed that we got the state to recognize it as a conservation practice. We were among the earliest that did drainage as a conservation program. We did a terrific amount of drainage work, and could justify it of course as part of the farm plan. Drainage was very popular because farmers could see the difference right away."

Nace continued, "When I came here the bulk of the conservation problem was crop land erosion. Pasture management was not a problem then. There was very little overgrazing. As you know this climate here is suited to pasture management. You didn't have to promote very much to get good pasture management. I think it's easy for a farmer to see if he overgrazes. If he can't it's easy to show him that you have to have leaf surface to have growth."

One of the District's biggest accomplishments during Nace's time, he feels, was the Little Yough Flood Control Plan. "That came about at a time when the army was building bigger flood controls on rivers," Nace remembers. "Somebody said there ought to be a program to do the same thing on smaller streams, and they handed it to the Soil Conservation Service. You know we had bad flooding in town (Oakland). Water was waist deep on the streets several times in the 50s."

"The stream was ideally suited to that program. The District had no experience with flood control, but had built little ponds -- farm ponds -- in the program, and it sort of grew out of that. As it turned out, the Little Yough was an ideal place for one of these programs. At first, people were concerned because the last few floods had been very heavy. Many of the local people thought if they took care of the stream where it tunneled under the street through town, it would solve the problem. Then we found records where the water had receded on Second Street in many of those floods, then rose after it flowed through town. We were able to convince everyone concerned that it should be a matter of taking care of the whole Little Yough watershed. Of course this also had the possibility of creating recreational areas, too, and we worked very hard."

Six out of seven of the planned flood control structures were built, including Broad Ford Dam. The District is responsible for maintaining three of them and the town took over the maintenance of the others. "I think there is as much flood threat today, so these structures should be maintained. We don't have enough soil washing into these dams to fill them up so that they are beyond repair, so if they are properly maintained they will last and last," Nace said.

"The District also became involved in sediment control and strip mine reclamation. State laws were passed. One of the main things we changed in the strip mine business was that a going operation would separate the spoil," Nace said that with the topsoil separated off to one side, it could be spread on again after reclamation and before they vegetated. "I think a lot of people could see this need in the strip mine business. It had to be done. It was easy to sell state wide because there was very, very little -- almost no reclamation going on before 1972."

Nace also recalled a project undertaken with the county school system during the Second World War. Milkweed pods were collected by school children and used by the government to Calves, Good and choice, 300-500 lbs., $75.00 to 90.00.

Take Deworming Seriously
Turn-out time is almost here. Research shows that it is definitely a profitable situation to deworm yearling stocker cattle, whether they be steers or heifers for replacements. The early season's sequential system really is, by far, the best. It requires that cattle be dewormed as they go on pasture and then be dewormed three weeks later and six weeks later if you are using most of the conventional worming materials. An exception is if you are using Ivomec. If Ivomec is used, deworm at turn-out time and the five weeks later as Ivomec has a two-week longer residual period in the animal's body. Most of you can get your hands on those yearlings the day you turn them out to grass. It is a little more difficult to get them for the next one or two wormings, depending on the material used. If it is impossible to get them, I would suggest you use dewormer cubes or dewormer blocks. These are available and do work.

Don't Stop Feeding Beef Cattle Too Soon
Every year when the grass turns green in the spring and the cows begin to go crazy chasing that limited supply of green grass, there is a great temptation to say the heck with it and stop feeding hay or silage to cows. Let me remind you that most of these cows are working pretty hard. They have their calves and are nursing them. Many of them may be in some-what thin condition and not in the best shape for the coming up breeding season. I would suggest that you keep hauling the feed until the grass is enough to sustain the cow. This year, that needed growth may be as late as May. Remember, the better we treat cows facing the breeding season, the higher will be the percent that will breed the first time they come into heat.

When Is The Last Frost?
This time of the year I get plenty of telephone calls concerning my prediction when the last frost is likely to occur in our area. For many years the weather bureau has recorded temperatures for our area. The following is the percent probability of a 32 degree F temperature occurring on these dates in the spring: May 4, 90 percent; May 15, 67 percent; May 20, 50 percent; May 25, 33 percent; and June 5, 10 percent.

Remember: The Maryland State Holstein Sale will be held on April 15, at 11 a.m. at the Meyerdsdale Fairgrounds, Meyerdsdale, Pa.

pad flight vests. The students were given mesh onion bags to collect the pods and hang them up to dry, then it was baled and shipped. "It took a lot," Nace laughed.

That farmers consider conservation in everything they do is one thing Nace considers one of his biggest accomplishments.

Asked what advice he would have for the District during its 50th year, he said: "shy away from compulsion. Mandatory controls is a communist way of thinking," he stated. Promote practices on the basis of what the practice does and make it practical, because there's no point getting a farmer to do something that's not practical to do. There's no future in it."

Rules Governing Purchases For Resale Change

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says a new law that took effect April 1, 1993, changes the taxation of purchases made by merchants for resale. "These changes should mean fewer businesses will have to pay sales and use tax on purchases they intend to resell to retail customers who ultimately pay the tax," Goldstein said.

Emergency legislation (Senate Bill 10) enacted by the current session of the General Assembly and signed by Governor William Donald Schaefer April 1, 1993, immediately reduces the level at which resale certificates may be accepted in cash, check or credit card sales from $500 to $200. The bill also provides that resale certificates may be accepted in cash, check, or credit card sales of any amount when the seller or the seller's employees deliver the goods directly to the buyer's retail place of business.

Resale certificates, presented by merchants to make tax-free purchases of goods they intend to resell, are not to be accepted in cash, check or credit card sales of less than $200 under the new law, Goldstein said. "The new $200 limit is determined by combining all sales made at one location at the same time. Once a transaction reaches the $200 level, there is no obligation to collect the tax on any part of the purchase intended for resale."

There are three situations in which merchants are not required to pay the sales and use tax even if the purchase is for less than $200: 1) if the sales are made on the credit of the purchaser, 2) on sales of goods which are exempt from tax even if not sold for resale or 3) on sales of alcoholic beverages regulated by Article 2B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

"These provisions should make it easier for retailers and wholesalers to comply with the provisions of the sales and use tax law," the comptroller said. "We were happy to cooperate with the General Assembly and the governor's office to make this change."

Purchasers who pay sales and use tax on sales intended for resale may deduct the amount of tax paid on line six of their next sales and use tax return or obtain a refund directly from the State and Use Tax Division of the State Comptroller's Office. No documentation need to be sent with the return.

The new conditions do not require any additional records to be kept by the retailer.

The new requirement does not change the current tax exemption on sales to religious, charitable and educational organizations, federal agencies, the state of Maryland and Maryland's political subdivisions, credit unions and diplomats with exemption cards provided by the U.S. State Department.

Notices and question and answer materials are being distributed by the Comptroller.

Natural Resources Police Observing 125th Anniversary

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., and Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) Superintendent Col. Franklin I. Wood have announced that March 30 marked the 125th anniversary of the Maryland Natural Resources Police.

"As the oldest law enforcement agency in Maryland and one of the oldest conservation law enforcement organizations in the country, the NRP has a lot to celebrate," Dr. Brown said.

Colonel Wood also praised his agency's history.

"Our history is rich in tradition and we are proud to have served the citizens of Maryland so faithfully for so long," Colonel Wood said.

March 30 officially marked the 125th anniversary of the agency, but the NRP will be celebrating its history all year long. Created in 1868 as the State Oyster Police, the agency then went on to become the State Fishery Force, the state Game Warden's Office and the Marine Police, among other titles and divisions before becoming the Natural Resources Police in 1972.

"The agency has always protected the state's precious natural resources and has provided essential services to the citizens of Maryland," Colonel Wood said. "Whether it involves law enforcement, search and rescue, educational programs or other service-related responsibilities, the officers of the Natural Resources Police have always served proudly and professionally. And they will continue to do so for the next 125 years."

On March 9, Lieutenant Governor Melvin A. Steinberg presented a Presidential Proclamation and a Governor's Proclamation to Colonel Wood in celebration of the 1868 bill that created the agency.

The NRP's 125th Anniversary Committee Inc., which is a non-profit group of volunteers from within NRP that was created to raise money for activities through donations and fund raisers, has been working for several years to plan and implement events and activities for the coming year's celebration.

Movie Special Effects Expert To Be At FSU

The world of special effects in movie-making will be the focus of a program next week at Frostburg State University, as a recognized master of the special effects community will reveal some of his secrets.

Greg Nicotero, a member of the KNB EFX Group, will provide a glimpse into the world of movie and television special effects at FSU's Lane Center Wednesday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m.

The KNB partners, Robert Kurtzman, Nicotero, and Howard Berger, run one of the busiest and best make-up and special effects shops in Hollywood. Kevin Costner chose them to create an array of artificial buffalo for his "Dances With Wolves." Rob Reiner called upon them to help bring Stephen King's "Misery" to life and for the life-like duplicates in "Sibling Rivalry." In Ron Underwood's comedy, "City Slickers," KNB created the realistic birth of Billy Crystal's sidekick calf, Norman. And for the comedy "Pure Luck," they made Martin Short blow up from a bee sting.

The 90-minute lecture presentation is a behind-the-scenes look at movie magic, including slides, video footage, and actual movie props.

The public is welcome to this free event. For more information, persons may call the Lane Center, 689-4151.

Kitzmill Church Easter Service Set

Tree-Mendous Month Proclaimed By Gov. Schaefer

Governor William Donald Schaefer yesterday proclaimed April as Tree-Mendous Month in Maryland. Over the past three years, more than 150,000 Maryland citizens have worked with Tree-Mendous Maryland to plant more than three million trees and seedlings across the state, and their goal is to plant another million in 1993.

"Planting trees and seedlings is an investment in the future," Governor Schaefer said. "Not only do they beautify our communities, but they help prevent pollution of the bay and its tributaries and clean the air as well."

Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., offered his thanks to the volunteers who have already helped re-green their communities and challenged others to follow their example.

"Look around your communities and you will find places that need trees," Dr. Brown said. "Tree-Mendous Maryland is ready to work with your school, scouting organization, business, community or church group to plant trees in your community."

Over 800,000 trees and seedlings will be planted during Tree-Mendous April across the state. On April 3, seedlings will be given away to everyone who attends the Bullets game at the Capital Center.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1993 C-9

Once again, Winchester Homes is providing thousands of seedlings to Tree-Mendous Maryland which is also being aided this year by donations from the National Tree Trust and the Maryland Charterboat Association.

To find out how Tree-Mendous Maryland can help a community or organization, persons may call (410) 974-3776.

Native American Poet To Read At FSU April 19

Simon J. Ortiz, native American author and poet from New Mexico, will give a reading of his poetry on Monday, April 19, at 7 p.m. in Frostburg State University's Lane Center. Sponsored by the Quincentenary Committee, the event is free and open to the public.

A resident of Santa Fe, New Mexico, Ortiz was born in Albuquerque and raised in the Acoma Indian Pueblo community. He was schooled formally within the Bureau of Indian Affairs, public and Catholic education systems, but insists the experience of the Indian in America has been his real education. He attended several colleges and universities, including the University of New Mexico and the University of Iowa, where he was a Fellow in the International Writing Program. He has taught Native American Literature and creative writing at San Diego State University and Navajo Community College, among others.

Author of several books for poetry and fiction including Going for the Rain, A Good Journey and From Sand Creek, he currently has two manuscripts ready for publication: After and Before the Lightning and The Good Rainbow Road.

Benefit Dinner Set At EGCVC

There will be an "all you can eat" spaghetti dinner served by the Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire Company this Saturday, April 10, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the fire hall.

The menu will include spaghetti with meat sauce, tossed salad, bread, and a beverage. Admission is $4 for adults, $2 for children ages 7-12, and free for children 6 and under.

The fire hall is located off Interstate 68 at Exit 29, Finzel.

Alcohol, Drug Abuse Prevention Conference Set

Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, (DHMH) has announced that the Ninth Annual Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention Conference will be held Thursday, April 22, and Friday, April 23 at the Baltimore Convention Center. April 1993 has been designated as "Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention Month" in Maryland.

"In our efforts to combat the demand for alcohol and drugs -- especially among our young people, we continue to focus on the community -- helping citizens become activists in creating safe, drug-free communities," said Secretary Sabatini.

A highlight of the conference will be the presentation of the "Outstanding Youth in Maryland" awards. The awards will recognize one young person from each of Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City who is a positive influence on his or her peers and community. Garrett County's honoree is Timothy J. Hinebaugh, a student at Northern High School.

"Young people are not just our future -- many have already worked to make a difference in the lives of their friends, families and communities," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "Preventing substance abuse among our youth will go a long way toward eradicating substance abuse in our society."

More than 1,500 people are expected to attend the conference, with participants coming from Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Washington, D.C.

There will be keynote presentations from Edward L. Hearn, publisher of "Professional Counselor" and "Adolescence" magazines; and Richard P. Keeling, M.D., University of Virginia. Workshop and roundtable presenters will share resources and strategies for creating healthy and safe families and communities. A special forum on underage drinking will also be held.

Other substance abuse prevention conferences to be held in April include the Baltimore County Annual Youth Conference on April 26 and the Coppin State College Prevention Conference on April 29 and 30.

For registration information, persons may call the DHMH Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration Prevention Office at (410) 225-6543.

Local Jehovah's Witnesses Attend Pa. Assembly

"Accepting, Applying, and Benefitting from God's Word" Phil 4:9 was the main theme of the two-day assembly held in Pittsburgh, Pa. attended by 150 members of the Oakland congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

They were part of the over 1,000 Jehovah's Witnesses from North Central West Virginia and Western Maryland who attended the April 3 and 4 gathering. Local Elder Del Evans noted that two symposiums were presented. He said one gave counsel on discipline within the family circle in regard to entertainment and association. He continued, "The other dealt with ways to distinguish ourselves from the world by conforming to God's word."

Traveling Overseer Joseph D. Wengert delivered the public address, "What Marks the Bible as 'Authentic'?"

Evans said that nine persons were baptized in symbol of their dedication to Jehovah.

The Search Is On For State's Centenarians

The search is on for centenarians throughout the State of Maryland.

The Maryland Office on Aging, the Urban Gerontology Program of Morgan State University, WJZ-TV, the Baltimore City Commission on Aging and Retirement Education, the Social Security Administration, the Baltimore Gas & Electric Company, and the Sheraton Inner Harbor Hotel have launched a campaign to identify persons 100 years of age and older in Maryland.

On May 27, 1993, a special ceremony and luncheon will be held to recognize the lives and contributions of the more than 800 Marylanders who are 100 years of age or older. This special event, "Maryland Centenarians: Celebrating 100 Years of Life," is being held in observance of "Older Marylanders' Month" in May, as proclaimed by Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The recognition luncheon will take place from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Sheraton Inner Harbor Hotel in downtown Baltimore. Any person who will reach 100 years of age by December 31, 1993, is eligible to attend the luncheon free of charge. The cost of the luncheon for persons under the age of 100 is $10 ($100 per table of 10). Persons who wish to attend the luncheon may do so by calling the Maryland Office on Aging at (410) 225-1100 in Baltimore, or toll-free 1-800-AGE-DIAL for a luncheon registration form and further information on this event. The deadline date to register as one of Maryland's centenarians is Friday, April 30, 1993.

Citizens in their 80's and 90's are also invited to attend the luncheon to be recognized in observance of Older Marylanders' Month.

Centenarians unable to attend the luncheon should nevertheless call to register as they will be eligible to receive a special Certificate of Recognition.

Throughout the month of

WOW Lodge 11 Meets In Oakland

Woodmen of the World, Lodge 11, met March 30 at the lodge hall in Oakland. After a covered dish dinner, President John K. Sines conducted the business meeting. Deb Bittinger offered prayer to the 23 members and guests present.

State Manager Billy Groce attended the meeting along with Fraternal Coordinator Kate Jenkins and her husband, Coit.

It was noted that Doris and Laurence Groves were ill and that Orlean Rider was hospitalized in Cumberland. The death of Earl Glass was also announced.

Ellen Zimmerman reported that plans were underway for a summer youth camp that will be held from August 9-13.

Delegates were urged to make reservations at the Holiday Inn in Cumberland for the Maryland/Delaware/New Jersey/Washington, D.C. Jurisdictional Convention to be held May 14-16. Lodge 11 voted to pay for delegates who wished to take the scenic train ride.

Asa McCain gave the treasurer's report and indicated that all bills were paid to date, including the bill for new windows that will soon be installed at the lodge hall.

Donations were made to the American Red Cross, VICA, and the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, and the sponsorship of the WOW Boys Little League team.

The Western Maryland Association will meet Sunday, April 18, at Grantsville at 3 p.m.

Following the business meeting, Steve Hamilton, forest manager at Potomac Garrett State Forest, presented a video program on the TV-VCR combination that the lodge aided in acquiring for its use. It will be used as a teaching tool for such programs as the Jr. Ranger Program and Hunter Safety. The presentation also showed the progress being made on the Hutton Tract of Garrett State Forest in creating a permanent opening as a wildlife feeding area.

A Maryland flag and a United States flag were presented to Hamilton by Robert Rodeheaver to be flown over the Potomac.

THE BROTHERS GOSPEL GROUP from Front Royal, Va., will present a concert on April 17 at the Selbyport United Methodist Church. The program was scheduled earlier but was postponed because of adverse weather. The show will begin at 7 p.m. The church is located three miles north of Friendsville on Rt. 53 - Friendsville/Addison Road. The public is invited to attend.

Garrett State Forest office. Hamilton then presented a plaque to John Sines in appreciation of Lodge 11 for its contributions to the State Forest and Park Service over the past several years.

The next meeting will be held on April 27 at the lodge hall.

Natl. Security Expert To Speak At FSU Monday

Dr. Lawrence J. Korb, director of the Center for Public Policy Education and Senior Fellow in the Foreign Studies Program at the Brookings Institution, will be the keynote speaker at the meeting of the Frostburg State University International Studies Board of Advisors, Monday, April 12, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Center. The public is invited to this free event.

Korb, an Advisory Board member since 1991, will speak on "The National Security Issues Facing the Clinton Administration."

FSU President Catherine R. Gira will give opening remarks welcoming Dr. Korb.

Korb received his M.A. degree from St. John's University (1962) and Ph.D. from the State University of New York at Albany (1969). Prior to entering public service, he held several academic positions. He served four years in the U.S. Navy and retired from the Naval Reserve with the rank of captain.

Korb's 15 books and over 100 articles on national security issues include "The Joint Chiefs of Staff: The First Twenty-Five Years," "The Fall and Rise of the Pentagon" and "American National Security: Policy and Process." He has appeared as a guest on such television programs as the Today Show, Good Morning America, Face the Nation, This Week with David Brinkley, the McNeil-Lehrer News Hour, Nightline, 60 Minutes, Larry King Live and the Phil Donahue Show. His op-ed pieces have appeared in major newspapers, including the Washington Post, New York Times, Wall Street Journal, and the Christian Science Monitor.

According to Dr. John Bowman, program coordinator, the Board will hold meetings with selected students Tuesday, April 13, to discuss the direction and goals of the International Studies Program. The Board is charged with providing advice on curricular and faculty development, co-curricular programs, internships and graduate school and career opportunities.

GRANTSVILLE EASTER SERVICE

NO. 612 Adoptions
EX PARTE
IN THE MATTER OF THE COMPLAINT OF ROBERT WILLIAMSON

MICHAEL HURLEY
FOR THE ADOPTION OF
MICHAEL HURLEY

NOTICE OF FILING OF COMPLAINT OF ADOPTION
Edward Anthony Hurley and Anne Louise, natural parents of Patrick John Michael Hurley, are hereby put on notice that a Complaint for Adoption has been filed by Robert Williamson Perdue and Patrick John Michael Hurley, both adults, for adoption of Patrick John Michael Hurley by Robert Williamson
Perdue, as his son. The Complaint alleges that Patrick John Michael Hurley and his natural parents have had no relationship since 1978 and that Robert Williamson Perdue has accepted the position of father to Patrick John Michael Hurley, further that if an Order of Adoption is granted, all indicia of parent and child shall be severed between Patrick John Michael Hurley and his natural parents and Patrick John Michael Hurley shall be adopted by Robert Williamson Perdue. A Show Cause Order dated March 19, 1993 has been executed by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ordering the Defendants to show cause why the relief prayed should not be granted. Said Answer to Complaint and Show Cause Order must be made by May 19, 1993 in the Circuit Court for Garrett

County, Maryland, or a judgment by default may be entered or the relief sought may be granted.

Public Notices*NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING DEEP CREEK LAKE SANITARY DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing of the County Commissioners of Garrett County is scheduled for Tuesday, April 27, 1993 at 11:00 a.m. in the County Commissioners Meeting Room at the Court House in Oakland, Maryland to consider a change in the boundary of the Deep Creek Lake Sanitary District.

In a Resolution adopted on August 17, 1992, the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, pursuant to Title 9, Subtitle 6, Part V of the Environment Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1987 Volume), proposed to change the boundary of the Deep Creek Lake Sanitary District for the purpose of providing sewer facilities to serve the Red Brush Villas development located on Hayes Run Road. A copy of the Sanitary Commission's Resolution adopted on August 17, 1992 and the plat showing the change in the boundary of the service area are on file in the offices of the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland, and are available for public inspection during regular business hours except the holidays.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on April 27, 1993 to determine if the change in the boundary of the Deep Creek Lake Sanitary District is necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of the residents of the service area and if feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint. By Order of the County Commissioners of Garrett County, By Robert J. Fousek County Clerk

Masontown, W. Va. Pair Arrested On CDS Charges

A Masontown, W. Va., couple was arrested last Thursday and charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Dean E. Thorne, 31, and Amy M. Thorne, 24, were both charged with those offenses after a stop was made by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. Tfc. Paul R. Brown, Barrack W. McHenry, Maryland State Police was the arresting officer.

He also charged Mr. Thorne for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) in the 11:55 p.m. arrest.

The pair had been stopped for a traffic violation when an officer observed a smoking pipe in Mr. Thorne's shirt pocket. A further search of the vehicle revealed an additional 19 grams of suspected marijuana.

MORE DWI ARRESTS

State police arrested William E. Sines, 20, Friendsville, during the early morning hours Tuesday and charged him with DWI, disorderly conduct, and other traffic violations.

Tfc. S.H. Anderson said that he and Tfc. P.R. Brown were in Friendsville at 2:20 a.m. when they observed Sines and a juvenile on a four-wheeler on the roadway. They said that Sines was yelling and refused to keep quiet after being asked to do so on three occasions. He was subsequently arrested.

One additional motorist was arrested and charged with DWI this past week. David W. Frazier, 32, Pittsburgh, Pa., was stopped for that offense on Sunday by Tfc. S.H. Anderson.

THEFTS REPORTED

A truck driver for Hilltop Market, Grantsville, reported to state police Friday that a Cobra 29LTD CB radio and a Bearcat Informant II police scanner were stolen from his tractor-trailer that was parked at the market sometime between March 30 and April 9.

Ronald W. Ziegler told police that the CB is valued at $260 and the scanner valued at $155.

Cpl. R.J. Beard indicated that a possible suspect's vehicle was seen in the area and is described as a white and rust or maroon mini-van (Astro-type) with partial MD tag number 50923M. Persons with information about the crime or the van are asked to call Cpl. Beard at 387-5511.

Garrett Community College officials reported the theft of an Onkyo compact disc player from a college.

FINALLY, FINALLY, FINALLY! After patiently, and not so patiently, waiting for the snow to melt and the baseball diamonds to dry out, several local high school and college teams were finally able to hold their home openers this past week, and most of them did so with great success. The Garrett Community College Lakers, Southern Rams, and Northern Huskies were all victorious in every encounter this past week and are enjoying

County's Participation In Breast, Cervical Cancer Screening Program Deemed Success

Garrett County Health Officer Dr. Rex Archer recently reported to the Garrett County Commissioners that the county's breast and cervical cancer screening program has been "highly successful," noting a high participation rate and, as a result, more funding becoming available to the county from the federal Centers for Disease Control.

Until just recently, Garrett County has had the highest number of women in the state enrolled in the program, according to Garrett County Health Department Director of Personal Health, Jackie Snelson, R.N. She also reported that Garrett County was the first county in Maryland to participate in the grant program.

"Because we got off to a fast start and because the state was so proud of us for involving virtually every doctor in the program, funds from the grant were redistributed our way," said Snelson.

She continued, "We've had excellent results and the doctors have been fantastic to work with."

Snelson noted that the program especially targets those women who are over 50 years of age and who meet the income requirements in order to provide them with regular Pap tests and yearly mammograms. Certain follow-up treatment is also provided for in the grant. To qualify for the free services, women must be 40 years of age or older and meet certain income requirements.

More information about the program may be obtained by calling the Garrett County Health Department.

Statistics reveal that over 800 women in Maryland die of breast cancer each year, and that Maryland has the tenth highest breast cancer mortality rate in the nation.

Early detection using mammography and clinical breast examination can reduce breast cancer mortality by 30 percent and, if detected early, the five-year survival rate is 90 percent, according to statistics from the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Cervical cancer deaths can also be prevented through early detection using the Pap test, according to the department.

Snelson was pleased to report that Garrett County has been successful in meeting the needs of "100% of all those who have applied to the program, provided they qualify."

Snelson noted that some women from nearby areas in West Virginia have also inquired about the program, and she reported that, while the health departments in Maryland may only accommodate residents of the state, West Virginia does have a similar program. That program, however, does not employ private doctors (except for Dr. Coughlin at the Eglin Clinic). Instead, patients must go to the

A Clearville, Pa., woman remains listed in "serious" condition in the Intensive Care Unit of Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, after being transported there following a single-vehicle mishap last Thursday, according to a hospital spokesman.

NYC's Nancy Ortez To Be Featured Soloist In Elijah

Nancy Ortez, mezzo-soprano from New York City, is scheduled to perform as soloist with the Garrett Choral Society's upcoming performance of Felix Mendelssohn's Elijah. Ms. Ortez will sing the role of the Angel.

The oratorio will be performed on Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland.

Ms. Ortez has performed a variety of operatic roles with companies on the east and west coasts, including the New York Chamber Ensemble, the Brooklyn Lyric Opera Company, and at California State University, Los Angeles. With the Sarasota Opera Company, she appeared as Ulrica in Verdi's Un Ballo in Maschera, Nancy in Flotow's Martha, and Martinka in the American premiere of Smetana's The Kiss.

In addition to her operatic accomplishments, she has extensive experience in oratorio work, having appeared with the Handel Choral Society of Baltimore in its production of Bach's Passion According to St. John and the Verdi Requiem. Other works in Ms. Ortez's repertoire include Handel's Messiah and Brahms's Alto Rhapsody.

The singer has received several honors for her talent, including scholarships from the New York Voice Teachers Association and the American Music and Dramatic Academy.

Elijah will feature several other soloists, as well as the approximately 40 local singers of the Choral Society. The group is under the direction of Nancy Learey, Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets are on sale now for the performance, $7 for adults and $3 for children ages 12 and under. According to Ms. Learey, accommodations are being made for handicapped persons who wish to attend the performance.

The concert is funded in part by a grant from the Maryland and the Garrett County Arts Councils.

Fracas With Deputy Leads To Arrest Of Oakland Man

A routine response to a disturbance of the peace complaint resulted in a physical scuffle between a Garrett County Sheriff's Office deputy and an apparently drunken defendant, who was then arrested on several charges. James R. Miller, 29, incurred two counts of disorderly conduct, one count of assault, one of battery, and one resisting arrest charge.

Dep. J.L. Green responded to a disturbance complaint at an Oakland apartment complex, and discovered that the noise was coming from Miller's residence. When the officer asked the defendant to quiet down, Miller apparently began to loudly curse at the officer. Green told him to quiet down or he would be arrested, according to the report, and Miller attempted to shut the door. The officer had placed his foot in the door frame, however, and the door bounced back open.

At that point, according to Green's report, Miller approached him "aggressively" with his arm pulled back. A scuffle ensued between the two in which Miller reportedly resisted the officer's attempt to handcuff him, and allegedly hit Green in the head with a dog food dish. The fight ended when a bystander assisted Green in subduing the defendant, and Miller was transported to the Garrett County Jail. His blood contained an alcohol level of .275, according to the report.

The defendant was later released on his own recognizance, and required surgery for a broken nose sustained in the altercation, according to the report.

In other Sheriff's Office news, two persons were arrested for driving while intoxicated (DWI) after officers spotted them apparently operating their vehicles in a dangerous manner. A CDS (controlled dangerous substance) charge was later lodged against one defendant.

Kevin A. Lohr, 20, Oakland, and Benjamin J. Shaffer, 18, Deer Park, were apparently observed Saturday evening in their pickup trucks at the Mid-Towns Plaza parking lot with the bumpers of each vehicle touching. The two were reportedly attempting to push each other's truck when officers stopped the activity and searched the vehicles.

Upon inspection of Lohr's truck, the defendant was charged with possession of

YOUTH INJURED

A 5-year-old boy was injured Monday after falling from the cab of a tractor on Md. Rt. 560, according to state police reports.

Brandon Scott Manko, Oakland, reportedly sustained a broken leg in the mishap and was flown to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W. Va., where he was admitted, but was released Wednesday morning, according to a hospital spokesman.

Tfc. J.T. Bentlejewski investigated the mishap and stated that the accident occurred when Robert A. Mar REPRESENTS COUNTY AT STATE CEREMONY - Jared Fike, a fourth grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School, recently represented all Garrett County students at the annual Ceremony of Flags of the Counties of Maryland. The event was held in St. Mary's City on March 28 in conjunction with the Maryland Day celebration. Jared, who is the son of Carl and Susie Fike, Mtn. Lake Park, was selected because of his excellence in the area of social studies.

BOE Votes For Calendar Change; Ponders Sexual Harassment Policy

Garrett County students will be released from classes at 1 p.m. next October 15 during the annual Autumn Glory Festival, scheduled for October 14-17. While the Friday of the festival was at one time a holiday, the students have been in session the entire day for the past 15-20 years. The Garrett County Board of Education met Tuesday for the regular monthly meeting, and the issue of the half-day was decided at that time. Other topics covered Tuesday included the draft of a new sexual harassment policy and the acceptance of the Maryland State Police "Operation Night Ride" program.

Autumn Glory Diane Wolfe and Jerry Thayer of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council attended the board meeting and discussed their ideas concerning the Friday of the annual Autumn Glory Festival, and explained some difficulties experienced in the past in regard to the Northern-Southern football game, traditionally held in the evening of that day.

Mrs. Wolfe explained that the country music concert, always scheduled for Friday night, and the football game occurring at the same time causes problems for people who wish to attend both events. The Promotion Council's idea would be to dismiss students at 1 p.m., and play the traditional game on Friday afternoon.

We thought, too, that the Autumn Glory queen could be crowned at half-time - just to add a little more pageantry to the game," Mrs. Wolfe said. She explained that the queen is usually crowned at the kick-off dinner held on Wednesday before the festival. This is in conjunction with the honoring of the Golden Ambassador. The audience at the Ambassador event is generally adults, with few peers of the prospective queen.

We thought it would be more meaningful for her at the game with her peers," Mrs. Wolfe explained.

The country music concert cannot be changed from Friday night, as the banjo and fiddle contest is traditionally held on Saturday. Thursday night is traditionally claimed by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, which conducts the yearly parade and Oktoberfest Celebration, Mrs. Wolfe noted.

Board members discussed the issue at length, with concerns raised regarding the state's 180-day attendance requirement for students, as well as the disruption caused by half-days. They also discussed canceling the entire day, but in this case the game could not be played at all, according to policy.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent, advised Mrs. Wolfe that the football coaches and school principals would have to make the final decision regarding the game's starting time.

While the board nearly tabled the issue pending further information, Bryan Paugh moved to make Friday a half-day and let the Promotion Council work out the game time with the individual schools. The board voted three to one to accept the motion, with Charlotte Sebold voting against.

Sexual Harassment Policy Eleanor Sloan Miller, pupil personnel worker with the school system, spoke with the education board about a policy concerning sexual harassment. The Maryland State Board of Education has directed all county boards to formulate a policy to be included in next

Narcotics Task Force Charges Three Local Men

The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested three men and seized four grams of marijuana as the result of a search and seizure warrant being served at a residence in Mtn. Lake Park last week.

The warrant was served in the 400 block of Spruce Street where Brian Keith DeBerry, 28, and Gary Allen Beckman, 31, Mtn. Lake Park, and Terry Wayne Sharpless, 31, Frostburg, were arrested.

The three men arrested were charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, according to the report.

WINTER GUARD INVITATIONAL SET - The Southern Garrett High School Winter Guard will host a competition for winter guards from the surrounding area this Friday, April 16, at the school's gymnasium beginning at 7:30 p.m. At least five other guards from Maryland and West Virginia are scheduled to compete in the event. To open the show, members of Brenda's Body Shop & Mat Mats, Diehards, and a jazz dance team will present short programs. Also appearing will be solo and group ballet and jazz dancers from Jeanne Matras's Step By Step Dance Studio. Tickets for the event are $5 for adults and $3 for students. Pictured above are members of the Southern guard. Kneeling left to right are Tiffany Powers, Melanie Ellis, and Alison Winters. In the back row, same order are Jennifer Berkerlin, Avery Johnson, Shannon Phillips, Jennifer Park, Denise Compello, Holly Stoner, and Ainsley Powers. Instructors of the winter guard include Blair Glass, Mark and Teresa Weeks, and Jeanne Matras.

JACK IN THE BOX, a modern toy, questions the Velveteen Rabbit in a scene from the Appieuse Unlimited Puppet production of The Velveteen Rabbit, a Garrett Lakes Arts Festival presentation scheduled at Garrett Community College auditorium Friday, April 16, at 7 p.m., and Saturday, April 17, at 10:30 a.m. In this production, Christopher Hudert and his puppeteers manipulate marionettes in full view of the audience. The performance is being sponsored by First United National Bank. Tickets are available at Beachy's Pharmacy, Grantsville, Deep Creek Pharmacy, McHenry, and Englander's Pharmacy, Oakland. Admission is $5 for adults and $2 for children.

LIONS SUPPORT LEADER DOG PROGRAM - Over $3,000 in donations was recently given to the Leader Dog Program by the Region One Lions Clubs. This region includes Lions clubs in Allegany and Garrett counties. The Leader Dog Program is a project of Lions International, which donates money to purchase the dogs and to train sight-handicapped persons to utilize them. Pictured above, left to right, are James Baker, District 22 governor; Bill King, Leader Dog chairperson for District 22; Larry Colbert, Tempe, Arizona, field representative for the blind; Tanner, leader dog; and Van Evans, president of the Oakland-Min. Lake Park Lions Club.

The two defendants signed the citations and were released, according to the report.

Gary L. Hinze, 30, Oakland, was arrested last week, charged with one count of theft. Hinze is accused of stealing the Maryland sticker from a license plate owned by John Watkins, Oakland.

A bench warrant was issued for Donna Ridings, 31, Oakland. The defendant apparently failed to appear in court to face a bad check charge.

Gregory W. McMurray, 35, Grantsville, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failing to appear in court on April 6. He was apparently scheduled to face a harassment charge.

Theft Probed
The theft of a three-generation heirloom is being probed by the Sheriff's Office. Marlene White, Bloomington, contacted police when she discovered that her antique diamond ring apparently had been stolen from her kitchen.

MATH FOR ST. JUDE'S - Students at Crellin Elementary School recently raised nearly $500 for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital by way of a Math-a-Thon. The event is an educational activity that focuses public attention on the importance of mathematics while raising money to be used to support the research and treatment programs at the hospital. The hospital's mission is centered on research to eliminate diseases that threaten the lives of children. Pictured are students who were involved in the event. In the front row, left to right, are Guy Joseph, Katy Freeland, Jennifer Cogley, and Joanna Virts. In the second row, same order, are June Ours, Karl Shaffer, Dawn Powers, and Rachel Zimmerman. Not pictured is Kellie Gank.

Mrs. White explained that she had removed the ring with four others while she prepared dinner on April 5. She placed the rings on a table. On the morning of April 6, only four rings remained. The fifth $1,000 one gone. Several persons were in the home during the evening of April 5. An investigation is continuing.

fear keeps especially women from kicking the smoking habit. Serious thought should be given to the trade off: weight gain vs. lung cancer and heart disease. Reasons for weight gain may be changes in eating patterns and increase in food consumption. Types of food eaten - more snacks, candy, etc. may also change. There also is a change in metabolism. These reasons may successfully be counteracted by the serious quitter. Contact The American Cancer Society or Cooperative Extension Service for suggestions. Our programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, religion, age or national origin.

Smokers generally consume less dietary fiber, vitamins, and minerals than non-smokers. This difference is important when considering that smokers need up to twice as much Vitamin C as non-smokers. Adequate intakes of beta carotene, the precursor of Vitamin A, can protect against lung cancer. This knowledge is crucial for the increased risk smokers take. That does not mean adequate amounts of Vitamin A make smoking safe. However, because smokers expose themselves to a ten-fold chance to get lung cancer, any protective measures taken may help ward off or delay the start of cancer.

It is also known that just inhaling tobacco smoke is damaging. Pregnant women pass cancer-causing substances through the blood to their babies.

Smokeless tobacco products also affect the person's nutrition status. A licoric compound in chewing tobacco can be toxic in excess. Hypertension may be worsened, risk of mouth and throat cancer increase dramatically - all reasons to reach out for help to stop using tobacco products in any form.

The human body has few requests: Adequate nutrition, rest, exercise, and hygiene; give yours what it needs and feel better, and more energetic throughout a longer lifespan. Without a doubt nicotine is a strong addictive drug and successful cessation needs different approaches by different people. Some preliminaries are important to all through a reason to stop, support from families, groups and a clear understanding of addiction and situations leading to the reach for a smoke.

Ground Beef Top Priority

One of the most versatile products in the Food Lion meat department is ground beef. Every Food Lion store grinds fresh beef throughout each day.

Food Lion offers several varieties of ground beef - from regular to extra lean. When choosing and preparing ground beef, here are several tips to remember: 1) Look on the label for the percent of fat content. 2) Look for a bright red color. Food Lion packages its ground beef in clear plastic wrap so you can see the product. 3) Due to lack of oxygen reaching the center of the ground beef, the center is not a bright red color. However, once air reaches the center of the fresh ground beef, the product will regain its bright red color. 4) Make sure ground beef is thoroughly cooked. (160° internal temperature).

For those ground beef fans who are seeking an alternative to beef, try ground turkey and ground pork. Ground turkey and ground pork are excellent substitutes for ground beef.

"ELIJAH"

The Garrett Choral Society will present Elijah, an oratorio by Felix Mendelssohn, on April 24 and 25 at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. In order to add to concert goers' enjoyment of attending the concert, a history of the Biblical story of Elijah has been compiled by Choral Society member Lowell Leitzel and is as follows:

Place: Kingdom of Israel
Time: Between 410 and 390 B.C. during the reign of King Ahab of Israel.
Situation: The people of Israel experience a three-year drought, as foretold to King Ahab by Elijah, prophet of the Lord God, Yahweh.

God directed Elijah to hide himself by the brook of Cherith. There God provided for all of Elijah's needs - water, bread, and meat. As a result of the drought, the brook eventually dried up, so God directed Elijah to dwell with a heathen widow in Zarephath. To convince the widow to receive Elijah, God empowered Elijah to provide the woman and her son with sufficient supplies of food.

After Elijah had stayed with the widow for about two years, her only son died. She accused Elijah of having come to call her sins to remembrance before God, thereby resulting in her son's death. God again empowered Elijah, this time to lie upon the body of the dead son and to restore him to life.

After three and one-half years of drought, God commanded Elijah to present himself before King Ahab at Jezreel and to inform him of the return of rain. To do so, Elijah met with Obadiah, one of Ahab's chief governors, to tell him that he wished to see the king. Obadiah informed Elijah that Ahab had plotted to kill Elijah, and that if he failed to bring the prophet to the king, he (Obadiah) would be the one to die. Yet Obadiah had served the Lord by protecting a hundred of the Lord's prophets in a cave. Elijah assured Obadiah that he would be spared from the king's wrath, so Obadiah informed Ahab of Elijah's intent.

Upon hearing the news, King Ahab hastened to the place where Elijah was, and asked him, "Are you the troubler of Israel?" Elijah replied that it was not he, but rather Ahab himself and his family who, through their idolatry and wickedness, and brought the many plagues, including the drought, upon the kingdom of Israel.

Elijah further requested that a fair trial be granted to determine whether Baal or Yahweh was truly God.

An assembly of the people of Israel, along with 450 prophets, was convened on Mount Carmel. There Elijah boldly proposed a public trial of Yahweh in opposition to the 450 prophets of Baal, challenging the people to worship the one who proved to be the true Godhead. He required that each party should offer a bullock as a sacrifice, and whichever of the Gods, Baal or Yahweh, should burn up the sacrifice with fire from heaven, he should be worshipped as the one true God. The altars were erected and the sacrifices prepared. The prophets of Baal cried out for celestial fire to consume the sacrifice, but none came. They leaped upon the altar and stabbed their own bodies in hope of securing Baal's pity. Elijah even insulted them and urged them to cry louder. Half a day of pleading proved nothing.

Elijah then took his turn. He ordered the people to pour water on his sacrifice, to soak the bullock, the altar, and the wood beneath it. The prophet then made his request for fire known to the Lord. No sooner had he begun than a flash of fire from heaven consumed the sacrifice.

The people, awed by what they had seen, cried out, "The Lord, He is God!" Elijah ordered them to apprehend and to slay the prophets of Baal. King Ahab looked on as the prophets perished.

Elijah then informed Ahab that he might now look for abundant rain. Elijah returned to the Mount, prostrated himself in prayer, and directed his servant to observe the skies over the nearby sea. Yahweh answered with the sign of a small cloud, followed by plentiful rain.

Upon hearing of the slaughter of her prophets (for she had worshipped Baal), Queen Jezebel sent a message to Elijah, threatening him with death. Elijah escaped to Beersheba, about 100 miles from Jezreel. He continued his course into the Arabian desert. On the first night after his escape, Elijah requested that Yahweh take his life, for he had been left alone as the only one to oppose the idolatry of Ahab and to defend the power of God. An angel came and bade Elijah eat, drink, and rest.

The next day, Elijah began a 40-day journey, finally arriving at Mount Horeb, where he lodged in a cave. The Lord called to Elijah and asked what he was doing there. Elijah replied that he had been faithful to the Lord, and that he now sought protection from those who sought to kill him. Yahweh directed his prophet to go to the mouth of the cave. A strong wind, an earthquake, and a flaming fire succeeded one another, yet the Lord was not present in them.

Yahweh repeated his question to Elijah, but this time in a still, small voice. He assured Elijah that he would protect him so that he may proclaim the truth to the 7,000 inhabitants of Israel who had not yet bowed on their knees to Baal.

Led by God, Elijah returned home, and there God directed him to anoint Hazael to be king over Syria, Jehu to be king over Israel, and Elisha to be Elijah's own attendant and eventual successor.

Elijah continued to be faithful to the Lord, denouncing the continued idolatrous and wicked behavior of King Ahab and his family. God's final reward for his faithful prophet was to take him up to heaven. Elijah wished to keep this a secret, but his attendant Elisha and about 50 other prophets of God pledged to stay with him.

The Lord directed Elijah to go to Jericho. Upon arriving at the west bank of the Jordan River, Elijah divided the river's water by a stroke of his mantle. The prophet and his followers went through on dry ground. Elisha then asked his master to grant him a share of his power to make him his successor. Elijah promised that the request would be granted, only if Elisha witnessed Elijah's translation to heaven. As they walked together a short way, a company of angels appeared in the form of a chariot and horses of fire. Elijah entered the chariot and was carried away by a whirlwind into heaven, to enjoy his life of eternity with God.

office sometime between January and April 7. The player is valued at $529.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater is investigating for state police.

B&E'S PROBED

A number of reported breakings and enterings have been reported to state police this past week.

Cpl. Beard is looking into an attempted breaking and entering at Emmanuel United Methodist Church on Old U.S. Rt. 40. He stated that a cross-shaped window had been broken and that a dead-bolt lock was damaged on a side door to the church. The damage reportedly occurred sometime between April 6 and April 9.

A fisherman tipped off police that a summer residence belonging to Beverly Serpone, Bowie, had been broken into. That investigation is continuing.

Sherwood Solomon, 41, Oakland, told police that his home had been broken into sometime between April 9-11 while he and his family were visiting relatives over the Easter holiday.

He stated that the suspects had gained entry by breaking a window and a screen. Once inside, the suspect(s) reportedly drank what appeared to be a large quantity of alcohol and left the house in disarray. Tfc. S.H. Anderson recovered fingerprints from the scene and charges are pending following a complete investigation.

LOST PROPERTY

Julie A. Hess, Morgantown, W.Va., reported last Wednesday that she may have lost a gold and diamond bracelet in the Arrowhead Deli restaurant. The bracelet is valued at $2,000 and is believed to have been left in the restroom sometime between 10 and 11 a.m. Persons with information are asked to call the state police at 387-5511.

REHEARSALS CONTINUE at a heightened pace this week by the Garrett Choral Society members who are preparing for their April 24-25 presentation of Mendelssohn's Elijah. The program, which will feature a number of professional soloists, will be presented Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. Tickets, which are $7 for adults and $3 for children, are available at Englander's Pharmacy and from Choral Society members. The Society will be accompanied by renowned Washington, D.C., organist Geoffrey Simon. Nancy Learey is the director.

PSI Ordered For Deer Park Woman Found Guilty Of Felony Theft, Forgery

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Jack R. Turney for a Deer Park woman found guilty of two counts of forgery and four counts of felony theft scheme in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Vickie L. Smith, 38, pleaded guilty to those counts and the judge accepted her plea before ordering the pre-sentence investigation in the case.

Smith had been charged with a total of 76 counts of felony theft, petty theft, forgery, uttering false documents, credit card theft, and illegally obtaining goods from a credit card. The other 72 counts against her were not prosecuted in plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office.

Smith had been charged with those counts following an extensive investigation by the Maryland State Police. She had reportedly kept books for David D. Vitez and Menges Trucking and obtained cash and goods for herself by endorsing checks and depositing at least some of the money in her personal checking account. She also reportedly paid Dan Smith Trucking more for hauling goods than was approved by the Menges Trucking Company. She had been authorized to pay bills and act as an endorser for those companies during the time she was obtaining money and goods for her personal use. The unauthorized transactions reportedly began in March of 1992 and continued through October of that year.

In other District Court news, Dennis W. Rodeheaver Jr., 19, Oakland, was found guilty of fourth-degree sex offense. He was handed a six-month suspended jail

Grossly Out of Sync...

Preparation continue for the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Mendelssohn's Elijah, scheduled for April 24 and 25 at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. While the eating in this church may not be among the most comfortable in the area, the acoustics in this church are truly outstanding, which is the main reason it is often selected as the location for Choral Society concert.

Among those preparations will be the construction and installation of a 60-foot-long temporary ramp at the church in order to accommodate persons confined to wheelchairs.

In our opinion, accommodating persons in wheelchairs could be accomplished more easily and far less expensively, but the new laws designed to serve the disabled are quite specific. Even though a person confined to a wheelchair could be quickly, safely, and discreetly carried up some stairs by two or three able-bodied individuals, the powers that be have decided that such actions are demeaning to the handicapped individual.

The Choral Society must depend upon grants from the Garrett County Arts Council to subsidize its programs and musicals. However, the Arts Council is bound by federal law when it comes to providing those grants, and strict adherence to the Disabilities Act is mandatory. So unless the Society complies by installing this enormous ramp into the church, the Council would not be able to legally provide a grant.

Fortunately, one of the members of the Choral Society has the materials, equipment, and talents to construct and install this ramp, and is willing to donate his time, the use of his equipment, and much of the material. If the Society did not have this luxury, the cost of such a project would far exceed the amount of the grant being awarded by the Arts Council.

To add to the irony, we suspect that the ramp will not even be used, and if it is used, it will be by one or two people.

Now we know we are opening ourselves up here for some harsh criticism from agencies and individuals involved with assisting the handicapped. We don't want to give the impression that we are unfeeling or uncaring when it comes to the special needs of some of our citizens. But we ask our readers: does this whole scenario seem right? We feel something is grossly out of sync, and once again, big brother government is responsible.

Perhaps as a follow-up we will take some photos of the installation and removal of this ramp and publish them in two weeks along with information on how many concert goers really benefitted by its presence.

Letters to the Editor

CORRECTION NOTED

In last week's Letters to the Editor section, a letter concerning the shooting of two dogs was signed Jerry Beeman. The name should have been Jonny Beeman. The error is regretted.

To the Editor:

I came home to find my four-month-old kitten tangled in fishing line with a fishing hook through his paw and stuck in his mouth.

I rushed him to the vet only to find that they would not help me because I could not pay them cash money on the spot. I did not have the money right then and there, and asked if they would please help me and I would pay them on Friday. My kitten was exhausted from pain and his paw was almost ripped completely off because he was afraid, but they would not even take the hook out for me.

It is pretty bad that an innocent animal cannot even get help in an emergency just because a person does not have cash money to pay. I hope these people need help one day, lying half dead, and I hope that they don't receive medical emergency care. I thought an animal hospital was to help animals! All someone should do is call a vet.

To the Editor:

The annual Super Cities Walk for multiple sclerosis which was scheduled for March 27 has been rescheduled for this Saturday, April 17, at Canal Park in Cumberland.

You can still be one of the many people from Garrett County walking to find a cure for this crippling disease. If you're unable to walk, but would like to help, your donation would be greatly appreciated. Checks can be made to the Multiple Sclerosis Society and dropped off at Flinn's Family Store on Second Street in Oakland.

Your support means so much.

Thank you,
Bernice Kepple

To the Editor:

I'm writing this letter about Mr. "A" who lives in the Swanton area. Mr. "A" is enjoying life without a care in the world up there on the hill in his nice warm house with plenty of food and heat.

But he has forgotten one person in his life, his lonely aging aunt who lives next door. This same aunt kept him on the farm when he was a little boy, and when he got married and had children of his own she would watch them while he and his wife worked saving them the cost of a sitter.

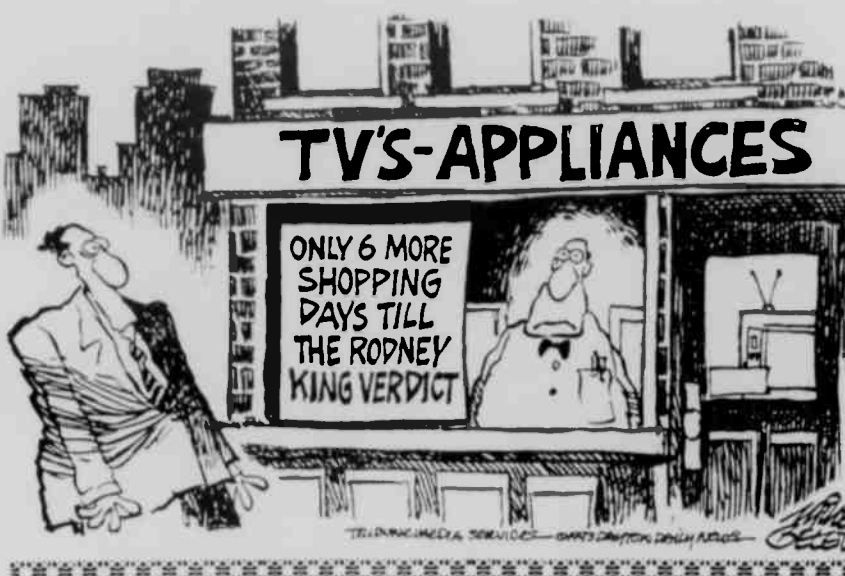

But now that she is in her later years and trying to get by without being a burden to anyone, do you think he would lend her a hand to help her?

During the last storm when we got all that snow, he didn't even check on her to see if she needed anything. If he had, he would have found that she was out of medicine and low on food. If it weren't for another neighbor boy bringing in her coal she might have frozen.

It just seems that all Mr. "A" wants is for his aging aunt to be out of the way so he can do what he pleases with the old home place.

Surely "Pap" has seen what Mr. "A" has done and turned over in his grave for sure.

I just hope that when Mr. "A" is in his later years and sitting up there on that hill

Cop & a Half

Universal Pictures, directed by Henry Winkler, starring Burt Reynolds, Norman D. Golden II, Ruby Dee, Ray Sharkey and Holland Taylor.

Move over, Macaulay Culkin. A new child star has definitely been born.

Precocious young Norman D. Golden II effortlessly steals Cop and a Half as eight-year-old Devon Butler, a TV police show addict who is always pretending to be a cop. Devon lives with his hardworking grandma (Ruby Dee). He spends much of his time memorizing legal lingo and acting out his fantasies with a squirt gun on the school playground.

Then, one day, the youngster witnesses a genuine gangland murder. His methodical detective instincts intact, Devon marks down the license plate and other key clues in his ever-ready notebook. He dutifully goes to the police. However, there duty stops.

Devon refuses to reveal his vital information unless the officers treat him as one of their own, allowing him to wear a badge, ride in a squad car and go out on patrol.

So next day, for a day, Devon joins the force — as partner to Nick McKenna (Burt Reynolds), the gruffest, hardest-boiled, kid-hating policeman at Tampa headquarters. Reynolds' frantic mugging and exasperated doubletakes have the right blend of irritability and long suffering for the inevitable heartwarming bonding between himself and his partner to stay humorous and charged. He good-naturedly plays energetic foil to a kid who gets all the great lines — and milks them marvelously.

Devon's great moment comes when he can stop his nasty school principal to give him a speeding ticket. In your worst nightmare, he relates to the incredulous violator. An eight-year-old with a badge.

The plot of Cop and a Half is your normal predictable fare. Bad guys range from schoolyard bullies who get a well-deserved compunction to dope-dealing mobsters with assorted sordid comic traits.

in his big house that it becomes his prison and that his own children treat him with the same disrespect that he have shown his aunt all these years.

Mr. Ronald W. Sincere, Editor
The Republican
Dear Mr. Sincere,

This letter is NOT written with any joke in mind, because no matter how cleverly I might write, my work would suffer in comparison to your clever April 1 issue.

Being a long time subscriber to your "other paper," as well as the Washington Post, I enjoy reading the columns that you write under what must be your pseudonyms Dave Barry and Art Buchwald. I can only tell you that I have seldom laughed so hard at anything I have read in a newspaper. That sheet was evidence of true but previously unnoticed comic genius.

The only thing that made me angry is that you put my Gurt County Cottage up for sale on your front page without permission from me. Please forward to me the proceeds from that sale as soon as you have found a victim.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of April 19-23 is as follows:

Day 1 - 1 cup tomato soup, chicken or tuna salad on lettuce bed, marinated broccoli & cauliflower, potatoes au gratin, roll, raspberry sherbet.

Day 2 - Cole slaw, open faced hot roast beef sandwich w/ gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, banana.

Milk, coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

STATE HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION PRESERVES ARCHAEOLOGICAL SITES IN MARYLAND

by Valerie Burnette, SHIA Public Affairs

The mention of archaeology brings to mind ancient civilizations in exotic places. Actually, archaeological studies are going on right now in Maryland by the State Highway Administration (SHIA). From pollen samples to building foundations, artifacts provide snapshots of the past that can provide valuable insight into the future.

SHIA performs archaeological reviews on almost every highway construction project across the state. In the last 25 years, SHIA has sponsored more than 350 archaeological studies to comply with the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 and the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

"We believe in preserving the past as we continue to make progress," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "The state of Maryland is dedicated to protecting the artifacts and other items of historical importance we uncover. A recent example of this commitment is the discovery of several Calvert family coffins by archaeologists in St. Mary's City."

Archaeological studies can often provide information about social and living conditions in a region. A recent study in Cumberland provided information on the health of residents in the late 1700's and early 1800's by examining parasites from privies. Domestic items like plates and bowls can indicate the economic situation of the area.

Before construction begins, each project location is reviewed by SHIA's Environmental Planning section to see if an archaeological evaluation is needed. The review utilizes an archeological site maps from the Maryland Historical Trust (MHT) and soils and historic maps.

"Historical maps also help identify standing historic structures," said Rita Suffness, SHIA architectural historian. "We evaluate structures that are close to planned highway projects."

Should an area require further archaeological investigation, SHIA performs a preliminary study where a small survey crew digs 1 to 2 feet deep test pits. Any recovered artifacts and soil samples are taken back to the lab for evaluation.

In addition to digging test pits, archaeologists interview residents about the local history. From interviews and personal mementos, the history of an area, or even a lost building, can often be traced.

However, uncovered artifacts need not be ancient scrolls or tombs to provide information. "We found a town trash deposit next to the remains of a tavern in the Harford County town of Dublin," said SHIA archaeologist Rick Ervin. "It provided an excellent sample of the local life in the 1800's and early 1900's."

Sometimes the smallest items discovered are the most revealing. SHIA archaeologist Carol Ebright conducted a study for the State Railroad Administration near BWI Airport several years ago. "Some of the most interesting things we found were quartz flakes left from toolmaking by Paleoindians who lived 11,500 years ago."

So why not dig, dig, dig?

"Digging more won't necessarily answer more questions," said Ervin. "More digging would just destroy the integrity of the area. Archaeologists want to preserve a national site and leave it undisturbed where possible."

However, some sites that might be significant do require more excavation. In this phase, crews try to determine the boundaries of the site and dig shallow 3 by 3 foot square holes. Again, the artifacts are evaluated for historical period and significance.

If a site is deemed historically significant, every effort is made by SHIA to modify the project design and minimize disturbance to the area. There are approximately 7,000 historic archaeological sites in Maryland identified by MHT with SHIA. Site significance is based on five criteria: contains important information to the local, state or national history; contains artifacts from important persons; represents events of a significant historic period; is part of larger collection of historical district; or is undisturbed — integrity of site is maintained.

Occasionally a site is considered significant and the project cannot be redesigned for its preservation. In such cases, a more in-depth study is performed by excavating larger, 15 by 30 foot blocks of dirt. Archaeologists are then able to minimize the effects of construction by preserving the important information provided by the site and turn discovered artifacts over to MHT.

During archaeological studies for the MD 32 project in Howard County, SHIA moved into a more extensive excavation effort. This location was actually a collection of sites in the historic town of Simpsonville. A mill village, with remains of a mill dating to 1768, was discovered near the Little Patuxent River.

"The design of the bridge carrying an approach roadway was modified, mainly lengthened and heightened, to allow a large portion of the mill structure to remain standing," said bridge designer Moj Izadi. "In addition, we are trying to design the bridge to match the aesthetics of the mill."

It doesn't necessarily take complex scientific instruments to do an excavation. The tools used in archaeological studies can range from shovels, picks and toothbrushes to sophisticated metal detectors and chemicals. In some cases, backhoes must be used during excavation to dig deep in the earth, often in flood plains that have been covered by dirt and silt.

"The information gathered from archaeological studies does not end up in a file. SHIA archaeologists often visit schools and community organizations to give presentations and answer questions about our research," said Ervin. "In addition, we publish scientific reports and contribute to informational videos and brochures."

My mother was stopped in Carroll County several years ago. She does not drink alcohol, but is elderly. He noticed she was driving a bit slow. Perhaps the trooper could have required an exam to see if she should still be privileged to retain her license. Very similar to the alleged "she did nothing" here in the county.

Now the rest of the story - a year or so later my mother (while driving) lost sight of here eye and sustained serious injuries because she didn't react to a vehicle parked close to the traffic lane.

Bartlett To Speak At Annual Voters' League Meeting

Sixth District Congressman Roscoe G. Bartlett will be the guest speaker at the 22nd annual meeting and dinner of the League of Women Voters of Garrett County, to be held Saturday, April 24, at Silver Tree Inn. The social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m., with dinner at 6 p.m. and Bartlett speaking at 7 p.m.

Bartlett was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in late 1992, becoming the first Republican to fill the seat in almost 13 years. He serves on the Armed Services Committee and the Science, Space, and Technology Committee. He is a retired scientist, teacher, farmer, and entrepreneur.

A descendant of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence -- Josiah Bartlett -- Dr. Bartlett was born on a dairy farm in Kentucky, and moved to Maryland when he was 17 years old. He holds bachelor's degrees in theology and chemistry, and master's degrees in physiology and biochemistry.

Bartlett and his wife, Ellen, live in Frederick County on the family's 140-acre farm.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the evening's events. Dinner choices include manicotti with meat or vegetarian sauce ($9.50) or Chicken Milanese ($13.50).

Reservations may be made by calling Mary Elliott at 334-2277. Checks, made payable to Silver Tree Inn, may be mailed to the League office at P.O. Box 155, Oakland, MD 21550.

To the Editor:
Jack Lucas from Arlington reminds me of the "hunter" who goes into the woods and hears something in the bush and shoots. We call that a bush shot and too often some innocent party is shot and killed.

Let's take an actual case of the trooper stopping the elderly person, who the trooper wonders, if he or she is drinking, or is something

Mr. Lucas likely obtained some of his info (about nothing to do) from the Beverage Journal wherein there were unsubstantiated incorrect allegations about our police force in Garrett County.

Our crime rate is lower here for several reasons -- first of which is no Sunday sales of alcohol, another is our police force (county, state or municipal) do a good job.

Thank you, Mr. Trooper, for stopping people when you see reason to, perhaps a test should be required for the elderly who do not actually break a law, but are stopped for various reasons. Perhaps Mom needs a test for her own safety. None of us want to stop driving just because we are older. Who else to observe, direct or suggest if not a helpful trooper?

I have worked personally with these Maryland State police and have found them to be not only helpful, but courteous, considerate and honest. Your mom may never know why she was stopped, but the officer had a reason and I assure you it was not for harassment.

Thanks troopers, keep up the good work!

Grossly Out of Sync...

Preparations continue for the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Mendelssohn's Elijah, scheduled for April 21 and 22 at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. While the seating in this church may not be among the most comfortable in the area, the acoustics in this church are truly outstanding, which is the main reason it is often selected as the location for Choral Society concerts.

Among those preparations will be the construction and installation of a 60-foot-long temporary ramp at the church in order to accommodate persons confined to wheelchairs.

In our opinion, accommodating persons in wheelchairs could be accomplished more easily and far less expensively, but the new laws designed to serve the disabled are quite specific. Even though a person confined to a wheelchair could be quickly, safely, and discreetly carried up two or three able-bodied individuals, the powers that be have decided that such actions are demeaning to the handicapped individual.

The Choral Society must depend upon grants from the Garrett County Arts Council to subsidize its programs and musicals. However, the Arts Council is bound by federal law when it comes to providing those grants, and strict adherence to the Disabilities Act is mandatory. So unless the Society complies by installing this enormous ramp into the church, the Council would not be able to legally provide a grant.

Fortunately, one of the members of the Choral Society has the materials, equipment, and talents to construct and install this ramp, and is willing to donate his time, the use of his equipment, and much of the material. If the Society did not have this help, the cost of such a project would far exceed the amount of the grant being awarded by the Arts Council!

To add to the irony, we suspect that the ramp will not even be used, and if it is used, it will be by one or two people.

Now we know we are opening ourselves up here for some harsh criticism from agencies and individuals involved with assisting the handicapped. We don't want to give the impression that we are unfeeling or uncaring when it comes to the special needs of some of our citizens. But we ask our readers: does this whole scenario seem right? We feel something is grossly out of sync, and once again, big brother government is responsible.

Perhaps as a follow-up we will take some photos of the installation and removal of this ramp and publish them in two weeks along with information on how many concert goers really benefited by its presence.

Letters to the Editor

CORRECTION NOTED

In last week's Letters to the Editor section, a letter concerning the shooting of two dogs was signed Jerry Beaman. The name should have been Jenny Beaman. The error is regretted.

To the Editor:

I came home to find my four-month-old cat tangled in fishing line with a fishing hook through his paw and stuck in his mouth. I rushed him to the vet only to find that they would not help me because I could not pay them cash money on the spot. I did not have the money right then and there, and asked if they would please help me and I would pay them on Friday. My kitten was exhausted from pain and his paw was almost ripped completely off because he was afraid, but they would not even take the hook out for me.

It is pretty bad that an innocent animal cannot even get help in an emergency just because a person does not have cash money to pay. I hope those people need help one day, living half dead, and I hope that they don't receive medical emergency care. I thought an animal hospital was to help animals! All someone about are dollar signs. Tammy Tinsley

To the Editor:

I'm writing this letter about Mr. "A" who lives in the Swanton area. Mr. "A" is a very nice man, but he is not very bright. He has a very nice house with plenty of food and heat.

But he has forgotten one person in his life, his lovely aging aunt who lives next door. This same aunt kept him on the farm when he was a little boy, and when he got married and had children of his own she would watch them while he and his wife worked saving them the cost of a sitter.

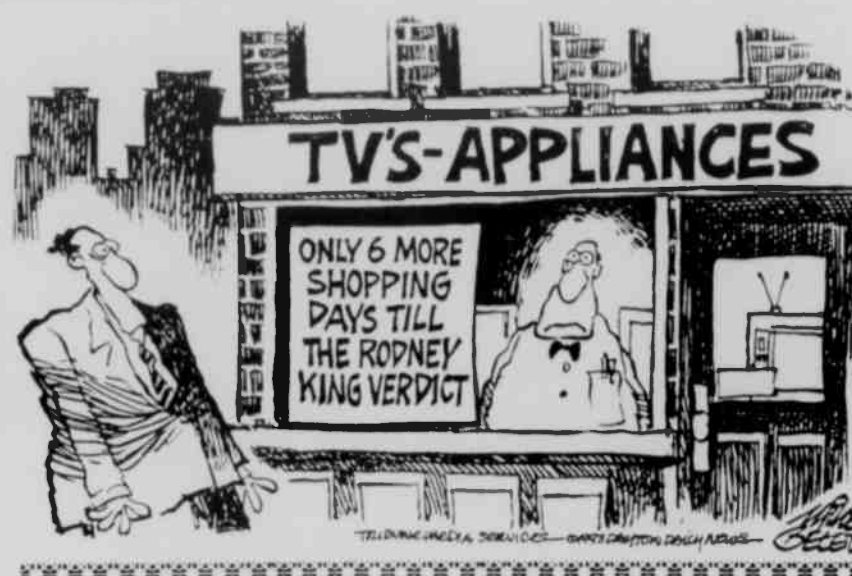

But now that she is in her later years and trying to get by without being a burden to anyone, do you think he would lend her a hand to help her?

During the last storm while he got all that snow, he didn't even check on her to see if she needed anything. If he had, he would have found that she was out of money and low on food. If it weren't for another neighbor boy bringing in her coal, she might have frozen.

It just seems that all Mr. "A" wants is for his aging aunt to be out of the way so he can do what he pleases with the old home place.

Surely "Tap" has seen what Mr. "A" has done and turned over in his grace for sure.

I just hope that when Mr. "A" is in his later years and setting up there on that hill Universal Pictures, directed by Henry Winkler, starring Butch Reynolds, Norman D. Golden II, Robby De, Ray Sharkey and Holladay Taylor.

Move over, Macaulay Culkin. A new child star has definitely been born.

Previous hits include Norman D. Golden II's effortless steals Cop and a Half is eight year old Devon's first movie. He plays a boy who is always pretending to be a cop. Devon lives with his hunky-dunk grandma (Butch Reynolds). He speaks much of his time memorizing legal lingo and acting out his fantasies with a squirt gun on the school playground.

Then, one day, the youngest witness, a genuine gangster, instincts intact, Devon marks down the license plate and other key clues in his ever-ready notebook. He dutifully goes to the police. However, there days pass. Devon refuses to reveal his vital information unless the officers treat him as one of their own, allowing him to wear a badge, ride in a squad car and go out on patrol.

So, next day, for a day, Devon joins the force — as partner to Nick McKenna (Butch Reynolds), the gruffest, hardest-boiled, kick-butt policeman at Lampa headquarters. Reynolds' frantic mugging and exasperated doubletakes have the right blend of humor and long suffering for the inevitable heartwarming bonding between himself and his partner.

Devon's great moment comes when he can stop his nasty school principal to give him a "schooling" ticket. In our worst nightmare, he relates to the incredulous violator. An eight year old with a badge.

The plot of Cop and a Half is your normal predictable fare. Bad guys range from schoolyard bullies who get a well-deserved comeuppance to dope-dealing mobsters with assorted serenade traits.

But now that she is in her later years and trying to get by without being a burden to anyone, do you think he would lend her a hand to help her?

The Road Ahead

by Valerie Hurnette, SHA Public Affairs

The mention of archaeology brings to mind ancient civilizations exotic places. Actually, archaeological studies are going on right now in Maryland by the State Highway Administration (SHA). From pollen samples to building foundations, artifacts provide snapshots of the past that can provide valuable insight into the future.

SHA performs archaeological review on almost every highway construction project across the state. In the last 25 years, SHA has sponsored more than 350 archaeological studies to comply with the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 and the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

"We believe in preserving the past as we continue to make progress," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "The State of Maryland is dedicated to protecting the artifacts and other items of historical importance we uncover. A recent example of this commitment is the discovery of several Calvert family coffins by archaeologists in St. Mary's City."

Archaeological studies can often provide information about social and living conditions in a region. In Cumberland provided information on the late 1700's and early 1800's. Parasites from privies. Domestic items can indicate the economic situation of a region. Before construction begins, each reviewed by SHA's Environmental Planning and Design Division. If an archaeological evaluation is needed, SHA will hire a professional archaeologist to conduct the study. (MHP) and soils and historic m.

"Historical maps also help identify structures," said Rita Suffness, SHA's rian. "We evaluate structures that a highway projects."

Should an area require further archtition, SHA performs a preliminary survey crew digs 1 to 2 feet deep test artifacts and soil samples are taken evaluation.

In addition to digging test pits, arch residents about the local history. Fi personal mementos, the history of an building, can often be traced.

However, uncovered artifacts need or tumba to provide information. "We deposit next to the remains of a tax County town of Dublin," said SHA Ervin. "It provided an excellent sample 1800's and early 1800's."

Sometimes the smallest items dis revealing. SHA archaeologist Carol I study for the State Railroad Admin Airport several years ago. "Some of things we found were artifacts of flaked Paleolithic tools lived 11,500 years.

So why not dig, dig, dig?" "Digging more won't necessarily tions," said Ervin. "More digging wo integrities of the area. Archaeologists national site and leave it undisturbed."

However, some sites that might be a more excavation. In this phase, crews boundaries of the site and dig shallow holes. Again, the artifacts are evaluated and significance.

If a site is deemed historically signif made by SHA to modify the project disturbance to the area. There are a historical archaeological sites in Maryland with SHA. Site significance is based o tains important information to the loc history; contains artifacts from import sense events of significant historical per collection of historical district, or is und of site is maintained.

Occasionally a site is considered a project cannot be redesigned for its pr cases, a more in-depth study is conducted. Larger, 15 by 30 foot blocks of dirt, arch able to minimize the effects of constructs important information provided by the ered artifacts over to MHT.

During archaeological studies for t Howard County, SHA moved into a mor tion effort. This location was actually a the historic town of Simpsonville. A remains of a mill dating to 1768, was d Little Patuxent River.

"The design of the bridge carrying an was modified, mainly lengthened and b large portion of the mill structure to m bridge designer, Roy Lead. "In addition design the bridge to match the aestheti and it.

It doesn't necessarily take complex ments to do an excavation. The tools used in archaeological studies can range from shovels, picks and toothbrushes to sophisticated metal detectors and chemicals. In some cases, backhoes must be used during excavation to dig deep in the earth, often in flood plains that have been covered by dirt and silt.

"The information gathered from archaeological studies does not end up in a file. SHA archaeologists often visit schools and community organizations to give presentations and answer questions about our research," said Ervin. "In addition, we publish scientific reports and contribute to informational videos and brochures."

Building Members should bring a covered dish and was an Easter bonnet. The Garrett County Poetry Society will meet this Saturday, April 17, at 2 p.m. in the film room of the Ruth Endow Library, Oakland. Persons are asked to bring a poem to share. To the Editor:

I would like to bring to your attention and that of the rest of Garrett County, an issue that is scheduled to be voted on by Congress. It is PCCA (Freedom of Choice Act). This vote will take place near the end of April, according to the information I have.

I'm not sure that everyone understands what this is not a helpful trooper!

Grossly Out of Sync...

Preparation continue for the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Mendelssohn's Elijah, scheduled for April 24 and 25 at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. While the seating in this church may not be among the most comfortable in the area, the acoustics in this church are truly outstanding, which is the main reason it is often selected as the location for Choral Society concerts.

Among those preparations will be the construction and installation of a 60-foot-long temporary ramp at the church in order to accommodate persons confined to wheelchairs.

In our opinion, accommodating persons in wheelchairs could be accomplished more easily and far less expensively, but the new laws designed to serve the disabled are quite specific. Even though a person confined to a wheelchair could be quickly, safely, and discreetly carried up some stairs by two or three able-bodied individuals, the powers that be have decided that such actions are demeaning to the handicapped individual.

The Choral Society must depend upon grants from the Garrett County Arts Council to subsidize its programs and musicals. However, the Arts Council is bound by federal law when it comes to providing those grants, and strict adherence to the Disabilities Act is mandatory. So unless the Society complies by installing this enormous ramp into the church, the Council would not be able to legally provide a grant.

Fortunately, one of the members of the Choral Society has the materials, equipment, and talents to construct and install this ramp, and is willing to donate his time, the use of his equipment, and much of the material. If the Society did not have this luxury, the cost of such a project would far exceed the amount of the grant being awarded by the Arts Council.

To add to the irony, we suspect that the ramp will not even be used, and if it is used, it will be by one or two people.

Now we know we are opening ourselves up here for some harsh criticism from agencies and individuals involved with assisting the handicapped. We don't want to give the impression that we are unfeeling or uncaring when it comes to the special needs of some of our citizens. But we ask our readers: does this whole scenario seem right? We feel something is grossly out of sync, and once again, big brother government is responsible.

Perhaps as a follow-up we will take some photos of the installation and removal of this ramp and publish them in two weeks along with information on how many concert goers really benefitted by its presence.

Letters to the Editor

CORRECTION NOTED

In last week's Letters to the Editor section, a letter concerning the showing of two dogs was signed Jerry Beeman. The name should have been Jenny Beeman. The error is regretted.

To the Editor:

I came home to find my four-month-old kitten tangled in fishing line with a fishing hook through his paw and stuck in his mouth.

I rushed him to the vet only to find that they would not help me because I could not pay them cash money on the spot. I did not have the money right then and there, and asked if they would please help me and I would pay them on Friday. My kitten was exhausted from pain and his paw was almost ripped completely off because he was afraid, but they would not even take the hook out for me.

It is pretty bad that an innocent animal cannot even get help in an emergency just because a person does not have cash money to pay. I hope these people need help one day, lying half dead, and I hope that they don't receive medical, emergency care. I thought an animal hospital was to help animals! All some care about are dollar signs.

The annual Super Cities Walk for multiple sclerosis which was scheduled for March 27 has been rescheduled for this Saturday, April 17, at Canal Park in Cumberland.

You can still be one of the many people from Garrett County walking to raise money for research to find a cure for this crippling disease. If you're unable to walk, but would like to help your donation would be greatly appreciated. Checks can be made to the Multiple Sclerosis Society and dropped off at Flinn's Family Store on Second Street in Oakland.

To the Editor:

I'm writing this letter about Mr. "A" who lives in the Swanton area. Mr. "A" is enjoying life without a care in the world up there on the hill in his nice warm house with plenty of food and heat.

But he has forgotten one person in his life, his lonely aging aunt who lives next door. This same aunt kept him on the farm when he was a little boy, and when he got married and had children of his own she would watch them while he and his wife worked saving them the cost of a sitter.

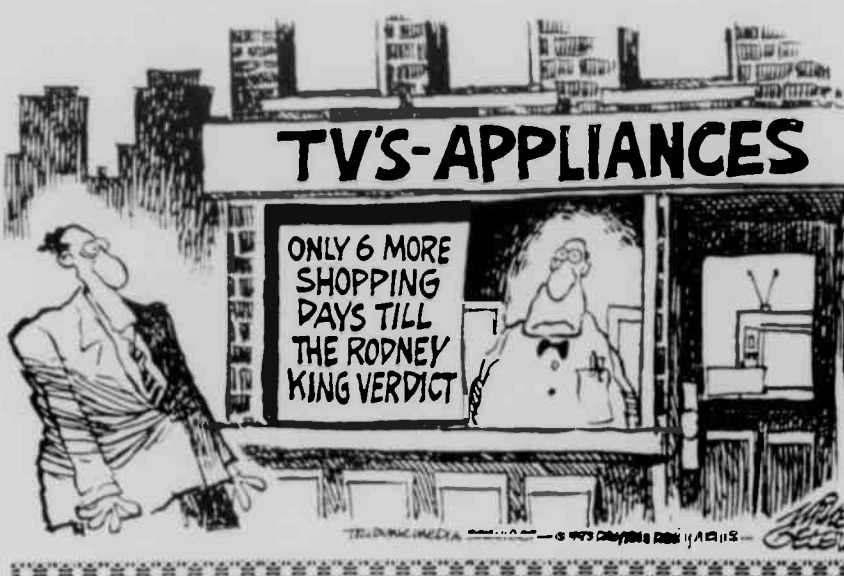

But now that she is in her later years and trying to get by without being a burden to anyone, do you think he would lend her a hand to help her? No!

During the last storm when we got all that snow, he didn't even check on her twice (she needed anything if he had, he would have found that she was out of medicine and low on food. If it weren't for another neighbor boy bringing in her coal she might have frozen.

It just seems that all Mr. "A" wants is to be out of the way so he can do what he pleases with the old home place.

Surely "Pap" has seen what Mr. "A" has done and turned over in his grave for sure.

I just hope that when Mr. "A" is in his later years and sitting up there on that hill

Cop & a Half

Universal Pictures, directed by Henry Winkler, starring Burt Reynolds, Norman D. Golden II, Ruby Dee, Ray Sharkey and Holland Taylor.

Move over, Macaulay Culkin. A new child star has definitely been born.

Precocious young Norman D. Golden II effortlessly steals Cop and a Half as eight-year-old Devon Butler, a TV police show addict who is always pretending to be a cop. Devon lives with his hardworking grandma (Ruby Dee). He spends much of his time memorizing legal lines and acting out his fantasies with a squirt gun on the school playground.

Then, one day, the youngster witnesses a genuine gangland murder. His methodical detective instincts intact, Devon marks down the license plate and other key clues in his ever-ready notebook. He dutifully goes to the police. However, there duty stops.

Devon refuses to reveal his vital information unless the officers treat him as one of their own, allowing him to wear a badge, ride in a squad car and go out on patrol.

So next day, for a day, Devon joins the force — as partner to Nick McKenna (Burt Reynolds), the gruffest, hardest-boiled, kid-hating policeman at Tampa headquarters. Reynolds' frantic mugging and exasperated doubletakes have the right blend of irritability and long suffering for the inevitable heartwarming bonding between himself and his "partner" to stay humorous and charged. He good-naturedly plays energetic foil to a kid who gets all the great lines — and milks them marvelously.

Devon's great moment comes when he can stop his nasty school principal to give him a speeding ticket. In my worst nightmare, he relates to the incredulous violator. An eight-year-old with a badge.

The plot of Cop and a Half is your normal predictable fare. Bad guys range from schoolyard bullies who get a well-deserved concussion to dope-dealing mobsters with assorted serio-comic traits.

in his big house that it becomes his prison and that his own children treat him with the same disrespect that he has shown his aunt all these years.

To the Editor:

We always enjoy your paper, but the April 1 edition was a pleasant surprise. "April Fool Part II" It's been a long time since we as a family laughed that much!

Thank you,
Rosalie Piper

One (Ray Sharkey) is a rock star wannabe, but not much is done with that.

None of the evil-doers have the cartoon villainy of Joe Pesci and Daniel Stern in the Home Alone series. But then Cop and a Half has a decidedly lighter touch (albeit with a bit too much bathroom humor). Director Henry Winkler keeps things moving briskly enough, with plenty of action chases, on both land and sea.

The movie though is all Golden. Whether playing an old Briar Patch trick on the big kids or smartmouthing villains, this pint-sized dynamo breathes youth and vigor into the aging crime spoof, action buddy movie.

Rated PG for violence. 1-10 Rating 7.1.2. A cop-crazy kid gets his wish to join the force in return for revealing vital information he holds as witness to a gangland slaying.

PRIOR WEEKS RATINGS

Born Yesterday — PG, 5.1. A gangster, trying to get his mistress smothered up, gets more than he bargained for.

Point of No Return — R, 7.1.2. A ferocious, murderous young dope addict is recruited by an underground government agency to become a slick assassin.

Mad Dog & Glory — R, 6.1. A mobster gives a present to the cop who saved his life, a sexy young girl as his "companion" for a week.

Indochine — PG-13, 7.1. A French mother and her adopted Vietnamese daughter fight for the attentions of a naval officer in 1940's Indochina.

Falling Down — R, 7.1. A divorced, unemployed defense industry worker in L.A. goes berserk in a traffic jam and proceeds across the city in a violent rampage.

Groundhog Day — PG, 7.1.2. A man covering Groundhog Day ceremonies seems condemned to repeat the experience every day forever.

Dear Mr. Sincere,

This letter is NOT written with any joke in mind, because no matter how cleverly I might write, my work would suffer in comparison to your clever April 1 issue.

Being a long time subscriber to your "other paper," as well as the Washington Post, I enjoy reading the columns that you write under what must be your pseudonyms Dave Barry and Art Buchwald. I can only tell you that I have seldom laughed so hard at anything I have read in a newspaper. That sheet was evidence of true but previously unnoticed comic genius.

The only thing that made me angry is that you put my Gurt County Cottage up for sale on your front page without permission from me. Please forward to me the proceeds from that sale as soon as you have found a victim.

The Road Ahead

STATE HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION PRESERVES ARCHAEOLOGICAL SITES IN MARYLAND

by Valerie Burnette, SHIA Public Affairs

The mention of archaeology brings to mind ancient civilizations in exotic places. Actually, archaeological studies are going on right now in Maryland by the State Highway Administration (SHIA). From pollen samples to building foundations, artifacts provide snapshots of the past that can provide valuable insight into the future.

SHIA performs archaeological reviews on almost every highway construction project across the state. In the last 25 years, SHIA has sponsored more than 350 archaeological studies to comply with the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 and the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

"We believe in preserving the past as we continue to make progress," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "The state of Maryland is dedicated to protecting the artifacts and other items of historical importance we uncover. A recent example of this commitment is the discovery of several Calvert family coffins by archaeologists in St. Mary's City."

Archaeological studies can often provide information about social and living conditions in a region. A recent study in Cumberland provided information on the health of residents in the late 1700's and early 1800's by examining parasites from privies. Domestic items like plates and bowls can indicate the economic situation of the area.

Before construction begins, each project location is reviewed by SHIA's Environmental Planning section to see if an archaeological evaluation is needed. The review utilizes archaeological site maps from the Maryland Historical Trust (MHT) and soils and historic maps.

"Historical maps also help identify standing historic structures," said Rita Suffness, SHIA's architectural historian. "We evaluate structures that are close to planned highway projects."

Should an area require further archaeological investigation, SHIA performs a preliminary study where a small survey crew digs 1 to 2 foot deep test pits. Any recovered artifacts and soil samples are taken back to the lab for evaluation.

In addition to digging test pits, archaeologists interview residents about the local history. From interviews and personal mementos, the history of an area, or even a lost building, can often be traced.

However, uncovered artifacts need not be ancient scrolls or tombs to provide information. "We found a town trash deposit next to the remains of a tavern in the Harford County town of Dublin," said SHIA archaeologist Rick Ervin. "It provided an excellent sample of the local life in the 1800's and early 1900's."

Sometimes the smallest items discovered are the most revealing. SHIA archaeologist Carol Ebricht conducted a study for the State Railroad Administration near BWI Airport several years ago. "Some of the most interesting things we found were quart flasks left from toolmaking by Paleoindians who lived 11,500 years ago."

So why not dig, dig, dig?

"Digging more won't necessarily answer more questions," said Ervin. "More digging would just destroy the integrity of the area. Archaeologists want to preserve a national site and leave it undisturbed where possible."

However, some sites that might be significant do require more excavation. In this phase, crews try to determine the boundaries of the site and dig shallow 3 by 3 foot square holes. Again, the artifacts are evaluated for historical period and significance.

If a site is deemed historically significant, every effort is made by SHIA to modify the project design and minimize disturbance to the area. There are approximately 7,000 historic archaeological sites in Maryland identified by MHT with SHIA. Site significance is based on five criteria: contains important information to the local, state or national history; contains artifacts from important persons; represents events of a significant historic period; is part of a larger collection of historical district; or is undisturbed — integrity of site is maintained.

Occasionally a site is considered significant and the project cannot be redesigned for its preservation. In such cases, a more in-depth study is performed by excavating larger, 15 by 30 foot blocks of dirt. Archaeologists are then able to minimize the effects of construction by preserving the important information provided by the site and turn discovered artifacts over to MHT.

During archaeological studies for the MD 32 project in Howard County, SHIA moved into a more extensive excavation effort. This location was actually a collection of sites in the historic town of Simpsonville. A mill village, with remains of a mill dating to 1768, was discovered near the Little Patuxent River.

"The design of the bridge carrying an approach roadway was modified, mainly lengthened and heightened, to allow a large portion of the mill structure to remain standing," said bridge designer Moj Izadi. "In addition, we are trying to design the bridge to match the aesthetics of the mill."

It doesn't necessarily take complex scientific instruments to do an excavation. The tools used in archaeological studies can range from shovels, picks and toothbrushes to sophisticated metal detectors and chemicals. In some cases, backhoes must be used during excavation to dig deep in the earth, often in flood plains that have been covered by dirt and silt.

Juried High School Art Exhibition On Display At GCC

The Sixth Annual Juried High School Exhibition is currently on display at the Bausch and Lomb Art Gallery of Garrett Community College, according to Ron Skidmore, associate professor of art and coordinator of the gallery. The exhibit will be on display from April 5-29.

A total of 60 artworks, including paintings, drawings, sculpture, prints, and mixed-media pieces were entered in the exhibition from four area high schools - Northern, Southern, Preston, and Turkeyfoot Valley Area.

Artworks were pre-juried by the high school teachers and entries were judged for awards on April 8 by members of the GCC Thursday Night Art Group and included Ken Bauer, Elee Bookout, Karen Frankhouser, Doug Roberson, Dick Wasicks, Carolina Haley, Clint Englander, Dolly Hames, Brandon Seifert, and Ron Skidmore.

Awards will be presented at a reception for the participants on Friday, April 16, from 8-10 p.m.

The "Best of Show" award ($30) will be given to Kimber Lee of Preston High School for her graphite drawing titled "Tolls of the Wild."

First place awards ($20) will be presented to Misty Spahr for painting, Shonda Smith for drawing, Gary Sybolt for sculpture, and Shonda Smith for prints category, all from Preston High School.

Second place awards ($20) will be awarded to Chris Hart, Preston High School for painting, John Mitchell, Turkeyfoot Valley, drawing; Heather Prince, Southern, sculpture; and Shannon Dabney, Southern mixed media.

Twenty honorable mention awards ($5) will be given to Amy Rosenberger, Turkeyfoot Valley; Byron Payne, Southern; Scott Friend, Susannah Matthews, and Brad Williams, all of

My mother was stopped in Carroll County several years ago. She does not drink alcohol, but is elderly. He noticed she was driving a bit slow. Perhaps the trooper could have required an exam to see if she should still be privileged to retain her license. Very similar to the alleged "she did nothing" here in the county.

Now the rest of the story - a year or so later my mother (while driving) lost sight of her eye and sustained serious injuries because she didn't react to a vehicle parked close to the traffic lane.

Sixth District Congressman Roscoe G. Bartlett will be the guest speaker at the 22nd annual meeting and dinner of the League of Women Voters of Garrett County, to be held Saturday, April 24, at Silver Tree Inn. The social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m., with dinner at 6 p.m. and Bartlett speaking at 7 p.m.

Bartlett was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in late 1992, becoming the first Republican to fill the seat in almost 13 years. He serves on the Armed Services Committee and the Science, Space, and Technology Committee. He is a retired scientist, teacher, farmer, and entrepreneur.

A descendant of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence -- Josiah Bartlett -- Dr. Bartlett was born on a dairy farm in Kentucky, and moved to Maryland when he was 17 years old. He holds bachelor's degrees in theology and chemistry, and master's degrees in physiology and biochemistry.

Bartlett and his wife, Ellen, live in Frederick County on the family's 140-acre farm.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the evening's events. Dinner choices include manicotti with meat or vegetarian sauce ($9.50) or Chicken Milanese ($13.50).

Reservations may be made by calling Mary Elliott at 334-2277. Checks, made payable to Silver Tree Inn, may be mailed to the League office at P.O. Box 155, Oakland, MD 21550.

Mr. Lucas likely obtained some of his info (about nothing to do) from the Beverage Journal wherein there were unsubstantiated incorrect allegations about our police force in Garrett County.

Our crime rate is lower here for several reasons -- first of which is no Sunday sales of alcohol, another is our police force (county, state or municipal) do a good job.

Thank you, Mr. Trooper, for stopping people when you see reason to, perhaps a test should be required for the elderly who do not actually break a law, but are stopped for various reasons. Perhaps Mom needs a test for her own safety. None of us want to stop driving just because we are older. Who else to observe, direct or suggest if not a helpful trooper?

I have worked personally with these Maryland State police and have found them to be not only helpful, but courteous, considerate and honest. Your mom may never know why she was stopped, but the officer had a reason and I assure you it was not for harassment.

Thanks troopers, keep up the good work!

would like to express sincere thanks and appreciation to our family and friends following the sudden death of our son and brother. We would like to say so many things but we don't know where to start. Special thanks to: Fred, Sharon & Aaron, Pastor Karsten, Northern Rescue Squad, all firemen involved, Newmans Funeral Home, John & Juanita Goehring, Jason, Chad, Dean, Dwayne, Paul, Bill, to all those who sent food, beautiful flowers, cards, letters, memorials, to those who gave comforting words and those who helped with barn chores. Once again thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

May God bless each one of you.

Dance-A-Thon Winners, Proceeds Are Announced

The Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse sponsored its first dance-a-thon on Saturday, April 3, at the Oakland Elks Club from noon until midnight. Proceeds from the event will support the Southern and Northern high school after-prom parties.

Twenty-two couples competed in the event with five of the couples remaining on the dance floor for the entire 12 hours. Winners names were chosen in a drawing at the conclusion of the event. The first place prize of two portable CD players went to Derek Sprik and Jennifer Pariseau. Second place winners of $30 in various gift certificates were Kelly Ryan and Wendy Craver.

All dancers received free gifts and free refreshments. Door prizes were handed out at the end of each hour to those in attendance. Music was provided by Jack DeBose and Tom Kierstead, while live remotes were provided by Cathy Clocker of WKHJ Radio.

Adults who danced to support the event are asked to drop off their pledge money at Garrett Community College on April 17 between 1 and 5 p.m. in Room 312 of the Continuing Education Building. Students from Northern High School who danced at the event should turn in their money during their lunch period at school on April 21. A member of the Council will be collecting all pledge money on that day in the school cafeteria. Southern High School students who danced for the fundraiser should turn in their pledge money to a member of the Council in their school cafeteria during lunch period on April 20.

All dancers who collected $25 in pledges will receive their dance-a-thon t-shirt when they turn in their money.

Approximately $2,800 in proceeds raised at the dance-a-thon will benefit the after-prom parties. After all of the pledge money has been collected, a $200 cash prize will be awarded to the dancer who collected the most money.

Questions concerning money or t-shirts can be answered by contacting Kerrie Margroff at 334-1996.

DANCIN' UP A STORM for 12 straight hours, were a number of local persons who participated in the first Dance-a-Thon held by the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse for the benefit of the after-prom parties of Northern and Southern high schools. Five couples danced the entire 12 hours, from noon to midnight, at the Oakland Elks Lodge, and a drawing was held to determine the winners of the grand prizes. First place winners were Jennifer Pariseau and Derek Sprik, pictured above right, who were each awarded a portable CD player. Second place winners of $30 in various gift certificates were Kelly Ryan and Wendy Craver, pictured below with Kerrie Margroff, of the Council.

Continuing Ed. Courses Being Offered By GCC

A variety of non-credit courses are being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College at the Oakland Center of the college.

Persons wishing to register for a course, or obtain more information, may contact Patricia Bior, program coordinator, at 334-8304 or 387-3069.

CAKE DECORATING

A basic cake decorating course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division. This course will begin May 5 and will be held each Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. for a total of four sessions at the Oakland Center of the College.

Donna Wordobaugh will be the instructor of this course, which will introduce the student to cakes, frostings, and basic decorating techniques.

The cost of the course will be $16 tuition plus a $4 registration fee. Students will be responsible for their own materials.

NEW TESTAMENT PARABLES

A course entitled New Testament Parables is being offered by the Continuing Education Division. This course is scheduled to be held each Tuesday from 6 to 8 p.m. beginning April 27, and meet for six sessions at the Oakland Center of the college.

Rev. John Grant, retired Episcopal pastor, will be the instructor for this course that will use the King James version of the Bible for its text.

Tuition for this course will be $11 plus a $4 registration fee.

DANCING

Two courses entitled Line Dancing and The Texas Two-Step are being offered by the Continuing Education Division. The courses, with instructor Maudine Simms, are scheduled to be held at the Oakland Center of the College for a total of six sessions each. Both courses will be held each Tuesday beginning April 20 in Room 601, with course number one meeting from 1 to 3 p.m. and course number two meeting from 4 to 6 p.m.

Tuition for each of these courses will be $16 plus a $4 registration fee.

PAINTING FOR SENIORS

A Painting for Seniors course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division. This course will be held at the Oakland Center and will focus on portrait painting, with classes beginning May 7. Sessions are scheduled to be held each Friday from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. for five weeks.

Maryland Senior citizens, persons 60 years of age or older, may attend this course tuition free, but will be charged a $12 fee. They must also supply their own materials, which includes a canvas panel about 18"x24", oil paints, brushes and pencil. A fee of $15 plus materials will be charged for others wishing to enroll.

GRANTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Mars Hill Homemakers met Tuesday, April 13, at the Jennings United Methodist Church. Betty Jo read the scripture.

The roll call question was "What are the four most important health concerns related to diet?" The demonstration by Janice Stockslager was: "Food Guide Pyramid."

The group will have a tea party at the Goodwill Menomone Home June 28 at 2 p.m.

Each member signed a birthday card for Ruth Kunsinger.

Attending were Robyn Brennan, Norma Bowser, Laurie Stanton Walker, Ruth Stanton, Karen Durst, Dorothy Wilburn, Esther Stanton, Betty Jo Wiley, Linda Upole, Janice Stockslager, and Mary Kamp.

Laurie gave a demonstration on candles. Ruth Stanton, president, presided over the business.

The next meeting will be May 11 at 10 a.m. Each member is to wear a corsage. Betty Jo will bring homemade soup, Robyn will have the games, and Linda will bring the prizes. The demonstration will be "Water Quality and Conservation." The roll call question will be "Do you think we have an ample supply of fresh water?"

The births of seven infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesman.

A son was born April 9 to Eric Michael and Lori Ellen Taylor Malcolm, Swanton.

A daughter was born April 10 to Loye Ira III and Bobbie Ann Sweitzer Burns, Thomas, W.Va.

A daughter was born April 11 to Kenneth Peter and Mary Robertson Gorrell Hotopp, Frostburg.

A son was born April 12 to Joseph Ray and Dana Denise Shroat Kisselovich, Mtn. Lake Park.

A daughter was born April 12 to Charles Edward and Rebecca Ann Evans Graham, Oakland.

A son was born April 13 to Todd Alan and Kelli Dawn Grove Doerr, Friendsville.

A son was born April 14 to Joseph Eugene and Sherry Kay King Helbig, Oakland.

Admissions were listed at 79 with 84 discharges. This morning's census shows 52 patients.

Mr. and Mrs. John Souk-sea, Martua, N.J., announce the birth of a daughter, Allison Leigh, on March 31 at Lady of Lourdes Hospital, Camden, N.J. The mother is the former Lori Noe. Maternal grandparents are Don and Eleanor Callis, Oakland.

In correcting a birth announcement last week, we inadvertently left out the father's last name. We apologize for the error. The announcement should read:

A daughter was born March 31 to Thomas Scott and Pamela Sue Staubaugh Simpson.

AAL Program To Be Presented At St. John's

"Too Good To Be True: How to Avoid Rip-Offs" is a new program from Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) designed to help people learn to be wiser and more informed consumers in the American marketplace where "buyer beware" is often the norm.

AAL Branch 588 of Accident will present this 90-minute program Sunday, April 25, beginning at 6 p.m. with a sloppy joe supper. The program will be held at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Cove Road, Accident.

William Ferry, an investigator for the State's Attorney's Office of Garrett County will be the guest speaker and will share some information that he has become aware of through his work in Garrett County.

"The program helps alert people to the types of scams and rip-offs that exist, things that average consumers might be aware of," stated an AAL spokesman.

For more information on the program, persons may contact Kevin Margroff at 746-5279.

AAL provides more than 1.6 million Lutherans in 7,900 branches across the nation with fraternal benefits. AAL and affiliated companies offer members other financial services.

DAV Van To Visit Oakland

The Disabled American Veterans field service van will be at the Oakland fire hall on Monday, April 26, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Free assistance is available to all veterans and their families concerning benefits and programs. Persons need not be members of the DAV organization to obtain assistance.

Persons wishing to visit the van, but needing transportation may contact the DAV service officer at 301-416-7533.

Christian Women's Club To Host "Olde English Tea"

The Christian Women's Club of Oakland will host a luncheon with the theme "An Olde English Tea," on April 21, 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m., at the Will O' the Wisp Restaurant. The club invites all area women to attend.

The guest speaker will be Peggy Gainey from Berkeley

Second Grader Is Winner Of County Writing Contest

Cassie Gregory, second grade student at Red House Elementary School, was recently notified that she has been named winner of the Maryland You Are Beautiful Student Literacy Writing Competition for Garrett County. She competed in the kindergarten through second grade category.

The student's winning essay, which focused on how an individual overcame a difficulty to become a success, will now be judged in the state competition. Winners will be announced at a later date.

Spring, W.Va. She is a consulting coordinator for Friendship Bible Coffees. Mrs. Gainey will present special music.

Also scheduled to attend is Lisa Bonar from Pampered Chef. She will present "Tea-Time Ideas" for the Special Feature.

For registration, persons should call Beverly Barb at 387-9112 no later than April 19. A free nursery will be provided. The cost of the luncheon is $6.50 per person. All reservations must be honored.

In Appreciation

During and after my recent hospitalizations at Garrett Memorial Hospital, I wish to thank Dr. Kaiser, Nurses and all support personnel for their excellent care. Also Rev. Hamel for his calls and prayers both at the hospital and at home. Thanks, also to the Amboy, Bethel, Brookside, Maple Spring, St. John's (Red House) for their get well cards, prayers and concern. Also the various clubs for their get well cards. The Union Ambulance Service and all family and friends for their cards, help and prayers. Thanks so much and God bless you all.

Edith Bell To Celebrate 100th Birthday On Tuesday, April 20

Mrs. Edith Bell, who resides at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland, will be celebrating her 100th birthday on Tuesday, April 20.

Edith was born in 1893 to Sheriff Zachariah Taylor and Susan Tabitha Shell. She was one of seven children of the Shells and they were all brought into the world with the assistance of Dr. Healsburg. The Shells had been married on September 1, 1881, at a Methodist Church.

The Shells and their seven children in 1890 traveled by horse and buggy with all their belongings and the homesteaders settled between Loch Lynn and Gorman. They later moved to Mtn. Lake Park to Cozy Row Street. Edith's father helped build the boardwalk in Mtn. Lake Park.

Edith met "Colonel" James Bell and they married on November 25, 1914, at the Methodist Church in Oakland with the Rev. Archibald Moore officiating. They had two children, Mary Susan Bell Dusic and James Bernard Bell Jr., seven grandchildren (one deceased), and four great-grandchildren.

Teaching Sunday school, leading the church junior choir, and being a scout leader were among the many activities that kept Edith busy for a number of years. She was also a past chief of the Pythian Sisters and was a member of the Green Meadow Glade Homemakers Club. She and her husband started a photography studio and gift shop in 1923 and many historical photos can be attributed to the Bells.

During World Wars I and II, Edith helped with the American Red Cross effort.

There will be a prayer circle Sunday from 2-4 at the Cuppett-Weeks nursing home for Edith and everyone is welcome, according to a family member.

Camp Applications Being Taken By Arthritis Group

The Arthritis Foundation, Maryland Chapter, is now accepting applications for scholarships for children with arthritis to attend either Camp Holiday Trails in Charlottesville, Va., or Camp Fairlee Manor in Chestertown. Several campships will be available to those children in Maryland who otherwise might not be able to afford a camp experience.

Scholarship money is also available to send a family or families to the MAO (American Juvenile Arthritis Organization) conference in Denver, Col., in July.

Scholarships are awarded, by need, on a first-come, first-served basis. For an application or for more information on the campships, scholarships, or other services available to families of children with arthritis, interested persons may call Lauren Grap of the Maryland Chapter at 1-800-365-3411.

or contact the Western Maryland Branch at P.O. Box 1187, Cumberland, MD 21502 or call 301-769-9411.

Oakland Police Log DWI Arrest; Probe Vandalism

The Oakland City Police arrested an Elk Garden man early Sunday morning on Third Street in Oakland and charged him with DWI driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs and with driving without a license.

Esau M. Birchler Jr., 22, was arrested by P.O. Shawn Cross at 12:20 a.m. on VANDALISM.

City police are currently investigating the report of vandalism at the Auto Outlet on Oak Street in Oakland.

Chief John K. Sines said that Shawn Hershman reported that someone threw a beer bottle at a 1991 Ford pickup parked at the lot sometime on April 13 or 14. The vandalism caused $270 in damages.

Persons with information about the crime may call city police.

In Loving Memory of Our Father SAMUEL W. FRIEND

on his birthday, April 17th
We look around the house we listen for the phone
But without you dad a house is not a home
We have memories that will surely last Until life upon earth is in our past
We can't say enough about a dad like ours
He gave us love instead of shiny cars

Glimpse Of The Past ...

TIOGA TANNING COMPANY, which was located in Hutton, was established in 1893 and operated for 32 years, employing as many as 50 men at its peak of operation. Rawhides were obtained from Chicago meat packing plants and the finished sole leather was shipped to New England shoe manufacturers. Fire destroyed the tanning building around 1925 and the enterprise

term, fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

In plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office, charges of second-degree rape, third-degree rape, battery, and perverted sex practice were not prosecuted.

He had been charged with those offenses by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office after an investigation revealed he was engaging in sexual activity with a minor at least four years younger than he.

At a sentencing hearing last week, Merrill T. Bittinger, 21, Grantsville, was sentenced to one year to the Maryland Department of Corrections on a battery charge. That sentence is to run concurrently with other charges against him in Garrett County Circuit Court.

In plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office, charges of breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property were not prosecuted.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Timothy A. Schrock, 38, Oakland, who was found guilty of felony theft on an Alford plea.

Schrock had been charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on July 14 after an investigation revealed that he was involved in stealing 30 radiators valued at $700 from Dale Broadwater, Deer Park. Both Schrock and his vehicle matched descriptions given to deputies.

John F. Culp, 30, Oakland, was found guilty of violation of probation stemming from an earlier felony theft charge in an Alford plea.

Culp had been found guilty of felony theft last year and the conditions of his probation stated that he must attend Gambler's Anonymous at least twice a month and pay his supervision fee each month.

His probation officer recommended a violation of probation charge when he RECEIVES AWARD - Diehl's Ford Sales, Inc., Grantsville, has won the 1992 Ford Distinguished Achievement Award of Quality. The award recognizes Diehl's Ford as one of the most outstanding dealerships in the nation, according to a Ford spokesperson. "Diehl's Ford Sales has consistently met and exceeded the needs and expectations of its customers, and the Distinguished Achievement Award is one of the most prestigious and coveted awards offered by Ford Motor Company," said the spokesperson. The award is based on sound merchandising practices, progressive management, high-quality standards, and a continuing interest in rendering superior service to all customers. Robert F. Diehl, Grantsville, above, has been a Ford dealer since 1958. "Customer satisfaction has always been my top priority," said Diehl.

At a sentence revision hearing last week, Howard A. Alvey, 23, Brentwood was granted probation before judgment on a felony theft charge and malicious destruction of property charge. He had initially been found guilty of those counts.

He had been charged with those offenses by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office involving an attempted stolen vehicle report where the ignition was damaged to a 1984 Fiero.

Charles T. Baker, 51, Mtn. Lake Park, was granted probation before judgment for a harassment charge at a sentence revision hearing. He had initially been found guilty of that charge, while three additional charges of harassment and one count of telephone abuse were placed on the stet docket.

He had been charged with those offenses after reportedly continuing to harass Marietta R. Baker last year.

RECEIVE BOARD CERTIFICATION- Fourteen nurses from Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently received board certification in the medical-surgical nursing field by the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC). Before receiving certification, the nurses were required to have a minimum of two years of medical-surgical experience, complete a medical-surgical nursing course of study and apply for and be accepted to sit for the certification exam. "I congratulate our nurses on their successful completion of course requirements and testing for certification. The endeavor took tremendous time and effort," said Joyce Andrews, R.N., director of nursing at GCMH. "These nurses have always shown clinical excellence in a direct care delivery role. Obtaining this certification will have an even more positive and beneficial effect on patient care at Garrett Memorial." Shown in the photo first row, left to right, are Ruth Jones, R.N., Norma Gnevy, R.N., nurse manager medical-surgical pediatrics, and Martha Sanders, R.N., nurse manager medical-surgical telemetry; second row, Norma Rodeheaver, R.N., Shirley Maynard, R.N., Jarlath Fitzwater-Hight, R.N., clinical nurse supervisor, and Sharon Lohr, R.N. Not present for the photo were Ruth Beckman, R.N.; Beth Spencer, R.N.; Tammy Hull, R.N.; Reba Rush, R.N.; Kay Perry, R.N.; and Wanda Blamble, R.N.

Southern Girls Win Three Net Matches, Boys Win One Of Three

After dropping its opening season match, the Southern High School girls' team won three straight matches this week, topping host Fort Hill last Thursday, 5-2, defeating Hampshire, 5-2, Monday in Romney, and then edging Allegany on Tuesday, 4-3, in Cresaptown.

Meanwhile, the Southern boys were nipped by Fort Hill, 4-3, blanked Hampshire, 7-0, and fell to Allegany, 6-1, to see their record even at 2-2.

Leading Coach Deb Gorsalski's squad against the Sentinels last Thursday were Ingrid Carlson, Hillary Garris, and Kathryn Ashby, who all won singles matches. The teams of Jessica Teets and Ashby, and Amanda Stoner and Julie Caruso captured doubles victories.

The 4-2 Fort Hill girls were led by Erin Lyons and Becca Comfort, who won their singles matches.

Pacing the Southern boys were Sean Gregory and Jason Barr with singles victories, while Gregory and Devin Pratt added a doubles win.

Chapin Jewell, Brian Read, and Kerry Lucas were scheduled to play at Beall this Friday, host Fort Hill on Monday, and entertain Petersburg next Wednesday.

The Southern girls' win over Hampshire on Monday was highlighted by outstanding comebacks by Teets and Ashby in singles play. Teets was behind Cynda Staley, 2-7, and came back to win, 9-7, while Ashby trailed Sarah Whitacre, 0-4, and rallied for eight straight games to win, 8-4.

Carlson also won her singles match and teamed with Garis to win in doubles, as did Teets and Ashby.

Heather Abramski won her singles match for the 1-5 Hampshire girls.

Gregory, Pratt, Terence O'Hare, and Aaron Chorpennig all won their singles matches for the Southern boys over Hampshire, before the teams of Gregory and Pratt, O'Hare and Chorpennig, and Barr and Derrick Spirk all won their doubles matches to blank the Hampshire boys. The loss dropped the Trojans to 1-5.

Kathryn Ashby maintained her undefeated streak (4-0) Tuesday by defeating Allegany's Kirstin Wallinger in singles. Garis and

Maryland's Wildlife Division

A look at the agency responsible for the conservation and management of Maryland's treasured wildlife resources.

by Tom Mathews

What is the Department of Natural Resources Maryland Wildlife Division? The answer to that question is most likely dependent upon whom you ask, what part of the state they reside in, or what time of the year it is. Most people's perception of the Wildlife Division is shaped by the contact they have had with the agency as a hunter, farmer, landowner, housewife, school teacher, student or other state or federal agency employee.

DNR's Wildlife Division is probably best known by the hunter. Wildlife personnel set regulations regarding the harvest of game and conduct research to monitor populations. Over 200,000 persons aged 16 and older -- most of them residents -- hunted in Maryland in 1985. They spent nearly five million "man days" afield and pumped $35 million into the state's economy for food, lodging, travel, and fees alone. Hunting license sales are responsible for 91 percent of the total funding for Maryland's wildlife management program.

To the environmental education teacher or student, the Wildlife Division is the administrator and coordinator of a nationally recognized environmental education curriculum known as "Project WILD." Project WILD is a quality education program that emphasizes wildlife as a way to understand our responsibilities to all living things. Project WILD takes young people "from awareness to action." It is based on the premise that young people and their teachers have a vital interest in learning about the earth as home for people and wildlife. The Wildlife Society recently honored Maryland's wildlife program with a "Certificate of Excellence" for its efforts in promoting environmental awareness through "Project WILD."

Thousands of people who visit one of Maryland's 37 wildlife management areas (WMAs), see the division as the caretaker and steward of approximately 100,000 acres of some of Maryland's best wildlife habitats. According to a 1985 federal survey, over 32,000 hunters spend in excess of $225,000 daily afield on wildlife management areas annually. Additionally, thousands of people visit WMAs annually for non-consumptive wildlife recreational activities such as birdwatching, hiking and wildlife photography. One example is the Gwynnbrook WMA located in Baltimore County where approximately 3,000 persons visit annually to experience the 1.5-mile urban nature trail.

Homeowners faced with a nuisance wildlife problem hope a call to the Wildlife Division will solve their wildlife problem, e.g. a raccoon in their trash or a squirrel in the attic. Maryland has experienced tremendous population growth in recent years. The influx of people into the more rural sections of the state has and will continue to result in more human/wildlife contacts. Because of the increasing public demand, the DNR recently entered into a service contract with the United States Department of Agriculture Animal Damage Control Unit. Through this arrangement, the public can call toll-free, 1-800-442-0708, for nuisance wildlife assistance.

To the landowner who is interested in improving his property to benefit wildlife, wildlife personnel can offer professional land management recommendations and planning. Numerous cost-share programs currently exist as an economic incentive for landowners to improve habitat conditions for wildlife.

To the farmer, DNR's Wildlife Division is the agency he telephones for assistance in dealing with wildlife damage to agricultural crops. In Maryland, white-tailed deer are the primary species of concern. Typically, wildlife personnel investigate the extent of the problem and usually recommend public hunting as a long-term solution to controlling the deer population. As an immediate solution, deer management permits may be issued to address the problem.

To other state and/or federal agencies, DNR's Wildlife Division is the clearinghouse for technical information relative to environmental impact statements and wildlife biology and management recommendations. Wildlife works with the other DNR units, State Highway Administration, Cooperative Extension Service, USDA, Soil Conservation Service and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, to integrate wildlife habitat management into their programs.

DNR's Wildlife Division is the permitting agency responsible for the issuance of wildlife control cooperator permits, scientific collecting permits, wildlife rehabilitation permits, taxidermy permits and disabled hunter permits, just to name a few.

Huskies Sweep Mapletown To Increase Unbeaten Streak To 4-0

The Northern Huskies upped their season mark to 4-0 Monday with a double-header sweep of visiting Mapletown, Pa., 16-5 and 5-2.

The first game was halted after six innings because of the 10-run rule, as the Huskies rallied from a 5-0 deficit and recorded runs in all five innings.

Mapletown scored all of its runs off of Northern pitcher Rob Speicher in the top of the first inning, two of which were recorded on a single by Bate. Speicher then held the visitors scoreless the rest of the way, walking just one and striking out eight before getting some relief help in the final inning from Jeremy Brenneman.

The Huskies rallied to score two runs in the bottom of the first, five in the second, and five in the third to put the game away.

Derek Mason and Alan Sebold led the Huskies' offense, as Mason smacked a double and two singles for three RBI and Sebold singled home two runs and rapped a two-run homer in the sixth. Brian McKenzie added a two-run single and Chris Wright contributed a double.

Bate led Mapletown with three singles.

The Huskies managed just five hits in the second game, compared to seven for Mapletown, but converted two runs in the fourth and insurance runs in the fifth and sixth to secure the win.

Paul Edwards recorded a double to account for the two runs in the fourth, while Mason doubled and singled and Ryan Folk added two singles. Mason finished with five hits in seven at-bats on the afternoon.

Husky Harriers Open Season At Two Tri-Meets

The Northern track teams opened their seasons in a triangular meet with host Frankfort and Franklin last Wednesday afternoon.

Coach Charlie Himmler's girls' team finished in second place with 54 points, while the boys placed third with 45 points.

Frankfort won both the boys' and girls' meets with 82 and 98 points, respectively. The Franklin boys were second with 56 points and the girls placed third with 20 points.

Chris Wachter led the Husky boys by winning the long and high jump events, while John Fazzenbaker won both the shot put and discus. Dan Seaman won the 3,200 run, while the 4 X 800 relay team of Seaman, Andy Kahl, Tim Hinebaugh, and Rich Bowser captured first place. Seaman also placed second in the 1,600 run, while Hinebaugh was second in the 400 run and Bowser was runner-up in the 3,200.

The Northern 400, 800, and 1,600 relay teams all placed second.

In the girls' events, Northern's Bobbi Dolan won the 3,200, placed second in the 1,600, and third in the 800. Jen Rephann won the high jump, with Kamp finishing second. Rider placed second in the triple jump, and took thirds in the 110 high hurdles and 300 hurdles, while Galica was third in the shot put and Swartzwelder finished third in the 200 dash. The Northern 1,600 relay team placed second.

Southern Girls Whip Salisbury

The Southern High School girls' softball team opened its season on a positive note last night by rolling over host Salisbury, 12-5, in nine innings. The game was supposed to be played at Salisbury, but was moved because of field conditions.

The Rams led 5-3 going into the bottom of the seventh inning, when Salisbury knotted the score at 5-5 to send the contest into extra innings.

Carolyn Tasker led Southern's ninth inning effort by smacking two triples. She went three-for-four on the afternoon, recording four RBI and three stolen bases.

Kristen Glatfelter finished with three hits, three steals, and scored three times for the Rams.

Rich Ann Murphy earned the win on the mound, giving up four singles, walking eight, and striking out nine. The Rams, coached by Steve Liller, will play again this Friday in a 4:30 double-header at Hyndman, Pa.

DNR Stresses Safety During Turkey Season

With Maryland's spring turkey season fast approaching (April 17 - May 15), the Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP), the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Division, and the National Wild Turkey Federation offer the following safety tips for a successful hunt:

* Keep in mind that the most common cause of hunting accidents is hunter judgment," said NRP Superintendent Col. Franklin I. Wood.

DNR Wildlife Division Director Josh Sandt agreed.

"Good judgment is the key to a safe and successful hunt," Sandt said. "Remember at all times that other turkey hunters may be nearby."

The NRP's Outdoor Education Section, the DNR Wildlife Division and the National Wild Turkey Federation offer the following safety tips for a successful hunt:

* Never wear the colors, red, white or blue, which are the colors that appear on the head of turkey.

* Although hunter orange is not required during turkey season, it's still a good idea to wear it to and from your hunting area. It's also a good idea to tie an orange cloth around the tree you're hunting from.

* If you see another hunter approaching, remain still. Never wave, stand or sound a turkey call. Use your voice or a whistle.

* Respect landowners and always obtain permission before hunting on their property.

* Know the capabilities and limitations of your gun or bow and use it safely.

* When walking in the woods or in the dark, always use a flashlight. This not only identifies you as a person to other hunters, but helps you avoid falls or other accidents.

* Learn your hunting area. Know what is beyond your shooting area and where other hunters are. If you are on land where you have sole permission to hunt, do not assume there are no other hunters in the area.

* Always positively identify your target prior to shooting. This is vital in all hunting, and especially in turkey hunting because of other hunters calling on birds.

* Control the direction of your firearm's muzzle at all times. Keep the safety on until ready to shoot.

* Avoid interfering with other hunters and respect the right of others to lawfully share the outdoors.

* Value the hunting experience and appreciate the beauty of the wild turkey.

For more information on safety tips or hunter education classes, persons may contact the National Resources Police Outdoor Education Office at (410) 974-3188.

Maryland's Wildlife Division

From a government perspective, we are a small unit within the Maryland Department of Natural Resources with the large task of overseeing the conservation and management of over 500 species of wildlife. The 89 employees of the division account for only five percent of a total 1,760 DNR employees. Field personnel maintain four regional and 10 district offices located throughout the state. Program managers who have statewide research and management responsibility for individual wildlife species groups, i.e. non-game and endangered species, waterfowl, furbearers, forest and upland wildlife, work out of the Wye Mills office located at Wye Mills, Maryland. Headquarters for the Wildlife Division is located at the Tawes State Office Building in Annapolis. Overall, Wildlife Division direction and supervision is provided by Josh Sandt, acting director.

Unlike most state agencies, the Wildlife Division is not funded by general tax revenues. The majority of its operating income from the sale of hunting licenses and from an 11 percent federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition. In addition to these primary funding sources, additional revenue (9 percent of the total budget) is collected through the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Income Tax Checkoff program and used primarily to support non-game and endangered species research and management. The Wildlife Division has an operating budget of approximately $6.8 million annually (see Table I).

Even if you have never heard of DNR's wildlife division, this article should make you somewhat familiar with its many wildlife conservation and management programs. If you are an advocate or benefactor of our programs, thank you for your continued interest and support.

DNR welcomes your interest in Maryland's prized wildlife resources and encourages you to voice your concerns regarding the future management of Maryland's wildlife resources as we enter the 21st century.

Tom Mathews, DNR Wildlife Division western regional wildlife manager, has been employed by the State of Maryland since 1974. He has a BS in wildlife management from West Virginia University. He resides in Cumberland and enjoys gardening, beekeeping, hunting and fishing in his spare time.

DISCUSS ART COMPETITION - The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with Garrett County Area Agency on Aging (AAA) and Garrett County Arts Council representatives to discuss the Sixth Annual "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Senior Citizens Arts Competition. Seniors have until April 30 to submit oil paintings, watercolors, or wood carvings (not furniture) for the contest. The "Best of Show" winner will be announced by the commissioners on May 21 at a reception where all participants will be honored. Pictured seated left to right are Commissioners Brenda J. Butcher, Elwood Groves II, and John Braskey. Standing, same order, are Adina Brode, director of the Area Agency on Aging, Barbara Hornyak, coordinator of the Senior Citizens Arts Competition, and Ron Skidmore, president of the Garrett County Arts Council.

morial Hospital in Cumberland on Friday following a single-vehicle mishap on Interstate 68, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Treated were Christopher Smoot, 9; Alexander Smoot, 7; and Anna Smoot, 4; following the 9:45 p.m. mishap.

The children were passengers in a 1986 Chevrolet Celebrity operated by their mother, Donna K. Smoot, Aberdeen.

Cpl. R.J. Beard said the accident occurred when the vehicle's left wheels dropped off the shoulder of the roadway on I-68 near the Allegany County line. When Smoot attempted to bring the vehicle back on the highway, she lost control of the vehicle and it skidded into a guardrail in the median.

and procedures prepared by Mrs. Miller and a selected committee will inform students and employees of what avenues they may take if they feel they have been harassed. In general, the student victims will be advised to report the misconduct to an adult (teacher, counselor, principal) with whom they feel comfortable, and employees are to report to their respective supervisors. Complaints may also be made directly to the superintendent, according to the draft policy.

Further discussion about and possible changes to the policy and procedures will occur at next month's meeting. The board will be asked to take action on the issue at that time.

Operation Night Ride

The board moved to initiate a program in conjunction with Maryland State Police in an effort to prevent students from various dangerous activities, such as operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. "Operation Night Ride" is currently in motion in several other Maryland counties, and soon will begin in this county.

The goal of the program is to reduce the incidence of underage drinking, illicit drug use, and drunk and drugged driving in Maryland. Students, two at a time, will ride along with troopers in four-hour shifts on Friday and Saturday evenings between 7 p.m. until 3 a.m. The ride-alongs may occur during DWI driving while intoxicated selective enforcement patrols and sobriety checkpoints.

The State Police objective is to educate youth by providing a role model and an accurate source of information concerning Maryland's alcohol and drug laws and penalties. The students will be provided an opportunity to witness the consequences of drug and alcohol abuse at the scene of DWI arrests and traffic accidents, according to a police spokesperson.

Participating students will be selected by school counselors, teachers, or principals, based on various criteria. Those students considered to have potential problems involving alcohol or drugs may be selected, as well as those students who express an interest in the ride-along operation. Rescue indicated that several students have already communicated their wishes to participate.

The safety of the students would be the responsibility of the officer, and students' parents or guardians will be required to fill out a waiver of claim and release from liability.

Board members approved the program implementation.

Act concerns. It is a threat to unborn, human life.

Congress is considering legislation that would guarantee the death of millions of unborn babies. Abortion advocates call it "Freedom of Choice Act" (FOCA), but it is really a "Freedom to Kill Bill."

FOCA means abortion for any reason, even in the late stages of pregnancy, even as a means of birth control, and as a means of sex selection, for repeat abortions the third, fourth, and fifth times.

FOCA will also end parental consent laws before minor daughters have abortions, informed consent laws for women thinking about abortion, "conscience clauses" for hospitals, doctors and nurses to refuse to participate in abortions (which means that if FOCA is passed, a doctor or nurse would lose their job if they refuse to participate in an abortion), laws preventing tax funding of abortion.

Can we as American citizens, Christians, mothers, fathers, grandparents, aunts, and uncles stand by and let this extreme legislation be accepted? We can defeat it, but only if we all act together to conquer it. Act now to protect all babies.

Please write to the president (who allegedly supports this Act), senators, and congressmen.

Maryland Senator Barbara Mikulski is supposedly a co-sponsor of FOCA. Senators Paul Sarbanes and Jay Rockefeller support it. Congressman Roscoe Bartlett and Allan Mollahan both oppose it. Below are phone numbers and addresses. Please let your voice be heard. One alone cannot do it. But we can together.

Several Honored At Red House Elem. Assembly

Red House Elementary School recently held a school-wide assembly to recognize students, staff members, and parents who assisted in the observance of National Nutrition Month and Breakfast Week.

Principal Award certificates and a variety of breakfast items were presented to each teacher and assistant after a representative from each grade level explained how their class studied nutrition throughout the month. Reported projects included construction, study, and discussion of the Food Guide Pyramid and healthy eating habits; class scrapbooks depicting healthy food choices, menu planning, and the preparation of healthy snack food.

Breakfast Week coloring contest winners were announced at the assembly. They were: Beth Liller, pre-kindergarten; Candace Hamble, kindergarten; Phillip Berry, first grade; Heather Liller, second; Andrea Coughlin, third; no entries for fourth grade; and Carrie Butcher, fifth. Each winner was given a breakfast box containing a variety of breakfast fruits, cereals, and juices.

Other students winning breakfast boxes included Ricky Wotring, pre-kindergarten; Christina Wolfe, kindergarten; Holly Blamble, first grade; Jason Johnson, second; Stephanie Wolf, third; John Butcher, fourth; and Jessica Upde, fifth.

Cassie Gregory, second grade, won the Bring a Body to Breakfast Contest, receiving a prize free breakfast for a week.

Connie Meyers was presented a mug and a breakfast box for her daily assistance with the morning breakfast program, and Janet Judy, person in charge of the Red House Cafeteria Program, was commended by Linda Buckel, school principal, for her outstanding work performance. Ms. Judy was also given a mug and a breakfast box.

Danita Rhodes, parent participant, was given a $10 breakfast certificate, donated by Public's Griddle.

Found Guilty

Donna J. Easton, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was granted probation before judgment at a sentence revision hearing. She had initially been found guilty of making a false statement to a state official.

She had claimed she had been raped by a Mtn. Lake Park man, but later stated that the sexual activity was consensual. That claim was not substantiated.

DWI CASES

Several DWI driving while intoxicated and DUI driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs cases were also heard in court proceedings last week.

Deborah A. Countryman, 25, Md., was found guilty of DUI. She was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. She had been arrested on December 20, 1992, by the Maryland State Police.

Robert E. Lipscomb, 28, Md., was found guilty of DWI. He was sentenced to HABITAT EXPRESSES THANKS - Volunteers for Habitat for Humanity of Garrett County recently expressed their gratitude to various area businesses and individuals for assistance provided during a March Habitat project. Several students from Loyola College came to Crellin during their spring break to repair a water-damaged ceiling in a home there. The students were housed at St. Peter's Catholic Church. Dinners were provided by Ida Maust, the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, and the Habitat board of directors. Food for the students' breakfasts and lunches was provided by Tom Browning's Hometown Market, Short Stop, Farmer's Market, and Clarence and Shirley Stern. The board of directors expressed thanks to these persons and businesses. "We couldn't do it without them," a spokesperson said. "We will have several workcamps this summer. We hope our visitors will continue to get the usual Garrett County welcome." motor vehicle with alcohol in his blood which is a violation of a previous court order. He was fined $100 for that offense.

He had been charged with those offenses by the state police on January 30.

David L. Cross, 32, W.Va., was granted probation before judgment on a DUI charge. He was also fined $500. He had been stopped by the state police on December 19, 1992.

Donald E. Shaffer, 23, Md., had his DWI case placed on the set docket. He had been charged on November 7, 1992, by the state police.

April 25, a Sunday, has been set for the ramp dinner to be held at the Aurora fire hall from noon until 4 p.m. Sponsored by the AVFD, adult dinners will be $5 and children, $3. All of the usual accompaniments will be served along with ramps prepared in different ways.

FLEA MARKET
Persons who find items which they believe someone else might find valuable are asked to save them for a flea market sale on May 29 to benefit Union Ambulance building fund. Persons are also invited to make craft items to donate to the cause.

TO OBSERVE 50TH
Friends and relatives of Arthur (Junior) and Alta Staubaugh of Horse Shoe Run are invited to join them in celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on April 24 at the Mtn. Grove Memorial Building at 2 p.m.

DEATH NOTED
Relatives here received word of the sudden death of Richard Hendrix, 42, of Durham, N.C. on April 7, 1993, at Durham.

Mr. Hendrix was born May 27, 1950, at Clarksburg, a son of Harold and Betty Winters Hendrix of Vienna, W. Va., and is a grandson of Mary S. "Susie" Winters of Parkersburg and the late Herbert Winters, former Horse Shoe Run residents.

Also surviving is his wife, Sharon Hendrix, of Durham; two daughters, Kim and Carrie, both at home; two sisters, Sue Eaton of Monroeville, N.C., Janet Broadwater of Vienna; one brother, Ron Hendrix of Vienna; nieces and nephews.

Services were held in Durham on Saturday, April 10, and interment was at Parkersburg on April 12.

TOPS NEWS
TOPS #329, Horse Shoe Run, recently had a guest speaker, Mrs. Pat Pinnell who is Preston County Extension Agent for Home Demonstration. Her subject was nutrition. Informing eating practices lead to a more healthy lifestyle and can aid in weight control, according to Mrs. Pinnell.

Newly elected officers of TOPS are: Dorothy Spaid, leader; Marie Mullenax, co-leader; Hazel Durst, secretary; Norma Mayle, treasurer; Opal Myers and Resse Conrad, weight recorders; and Elaine Wotring, reporter.

Noted as best weight loser for the quarter was Elaine Wotring, who has achieved and maintained a weight loss for the past year.

SENIOR CITIZENS' NOTES

Senior Citizens in Union District may go to the Fairlee Restaurant each month on the second Tuesday to meet there with a county senior nurse and a representative from the county organization for business or health related information or blood pressure check. Any senior citizen in the area interested in receiving such services is invited. Senior citizens need not be a regular of the senior lunch program at the restaurant. Time of the meeting will be 12:30 p.m.

HOMEMAKERS LEARN ABOUT FOOD

"What Happened to the Basic Four Food Groups?" was the topic of study at the April 6 meeting of the Eglon Extension Homemakers held in the Eglon Memorial Building. Nina Layman was the leader. Each member received a diagram of a food pyramid to place at easy access in the kitchen as a reminder.

Deviations were on the Easter theme with hostess Sandra Hauser reading "Gethsemane" and "First Love" and Mary Rembold closing with prayer.

Linda Lewis, president, read a letter from Ronald McDonald House and also encouraged the saving of Scott product points for that project. She also read a communication from the West Virginia Health Science Center which enclosed a list of available speakers on a variety of number of health subjects. It was mentioned that Children's Hospital collects Heinz baby food labels, if anyone is aware of someone who could save them.

A donation of $25 was made to the Aurora PTO Spring Fling effort. The IFYE event is May 3 in Preston County. A pre-school reading program is in the process of being established at Aurora School and is in need of volunteers.

Nina Layman attended Preston County Extension Homemakers Achievement at Fellowship and brought a certificate of recognition to Rebecca Teets for securing a new member to the club for

Mary Rembold displayed an Easter basket and a carved wooden duck made by her brother-in-law, Bruce Rembold, from one of the storm-damaged trees that was in their yard and by using a power saw. She served refreshments pertaining to the Easter theme to the following: Avenell Parsons, Lettie Bonner, Nina Layman, Ruth Teets, Rebecca Teets, Lillian Knotts, Jean Winters, Linda Lewis, and two children, Sara Lee and Caitlin Norrish.

DEATH NOTED

Word was received of the Easter Sunday, April 11, 1993, death of Mrs. Nettie Texiere of Bridgewater, Va. She is the mother of former Eglon resident, Mrs. Lorraine Fike, of Bridge-water.

Arthurdale Heritage Awarded $100,000 Grant

The Board of Trustees of the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation has awarded Arthurdale Heritage, Inc., a grant of $100,000. According to Beverly Walter, grants program director, this grant is to be used over a two-year period "to provide staff support to oversee preservation of community buildings, interpret the history, and develop income-producing properties to help provide revenue to support future projects of Arthurdale."

Dr. Walter Rockenstein, president of Arthurdale Heritage (AH), noted that the Benedum Foundation was the first foundation to give large financial support (over $35,000) when AH was in its infancy. Through the generosity of the Benedum Board of Trustees, the right wing of the Arthurdale Center Building was salvaged. According to Rockenstein, this new funding from the Benedum Foundation and the $500,000 federal grant that was recently secured with the help of Congressman Alan B. Mollohan will enable AH to continue its goal of "restoring yesterday for tomorrow."

As stated in the Benedum grant proposal, AH sought funding so that they could proceed with the "speed necessary to ensure the best use of the federal funds and to ensure that, when the restoration work is completed, ed, the community with be ready to receive visitors and be ready for the national spotlight that it so richly deserves."

The Arthurdale Board of Directors will use the Benedum funding to hire a part-time executive director to oversee Board responsibilities and be a liaison for the up-coming building restoration as outlined in the federal grant. A full-time historian will also be employed to prepare the many items needed for the New Deal museum. Also, part of the money will be used to host a national conference on the 1930's that would put Arthurdale into the historical context of its time by discussing topics as the back-to-the-land movement, the national "new town" program, Eleanor Roosevelt, etc. This conference will be held next year as part of the 60th celebration of the home-coming of Arthurdale.

"Thanks to homesteaders, the community, friends, and groups such as the Benedum Foundation, the national significance of Arthurdale is being told," added Rockenstein.

Arthurdale is the first New Deal homestead in the nation. Recognizing this fact, AH was formed in 1985 to preserve selected buildings in the community to interpret the history of Arthurdale for residents and visitors and to carry on the business and craft traditions original to Arthurdale's mission. The entire community is listed on the National register of Historic Places and AH has requested that Arthurdale be reviewed for National Historic Landmark status, the highest designation possible for historic sites. Also, Arthurdale will be featured in American Restored, a book to be published by the National Trust for Historic Preservation in December 1993. Arthurdale is one of only two sites in West Virginia that will receive this national publicity.

The Greatest Star Of All To Be Presented

The national touring company of The Greatest Star Of All will perform at the East Preston Junior High gymnasium, Terra Alta, W. Va., on Friday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. The performance is sponsored by Terra Alta Church of the Nazarene.

A musical written by Greg Gulley and Lenny LeBlanc, The Greatest Star Of All appeals to children of all ages, according to a spokesperson. It is the first of several musicals, including a follow-up production, Never Be The Same, and a Christmas production, The Greatest Gift Of All, all released on Raintrac Records.

Garlic May Effectively Lower Cholesterol
According to a 1992 article in a German medical journal, garlic may be as effective as benzafibrate, a medicine used to lower blood cholesterol levels. The German study consisted of 98 persons, all with a history of high levels of blood cholesterol. Either garlic or benzafibrate was given to test subjects for a 12-week period. Average cholesterol readings were reduced 26% in the drug group. Persons in the garlic treated group experienced an average 28% drop in cholesterol. Levels of "good cholesterol" or HDL increased in both groups. No patients withdrew from the study due to the odor of garlic.

Local Woman Recounts Years Of Abuse And Subsequent Process Of Recovery

by Sherry Frantz

Note: April has been designated as Domestic Violence Prevention Month and the following is one woman's story about her years of abuse and how she is finally learning to overcome the suffering she endured. While the accounting of her experience is true, her name has been changed for the purpose of this article. Victims of domestic violence or sexual abuse are urged to contact the Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center at 334-9000. The 24-hour hotline service is available by calling 911.

Linda is a 46-year-old divorced mother of three who was raised in Garrett County where she continues to live by a gentle mother and father who abhorred even the thought of spanking a child, and whose occasional marital spat amounted to no more than just not talking to each other for awhile," said Linda.

Nevertheless, some force in Linda - life prevailed that allowed her to suffer abuse from her ex-husband from the time she was 15 years old to just a few years ago - abuse that took all forms imaginable," beginning even before the couple was actually married and lasting well after they were divorced, restraining orders notwithstanding.

A fairly common reaction to this kind of situation seems to be the question, "Why didn't she leave him?" or "Why did she put up with the abuse for so long?"

Indeed, there must be something wrong with a person who puts up with abuse, day after day, month after month, year after year, most people would think. It actually seems easier to deal with the offenders, since a crime is being committed and the law addresses their actions.

But it's not quite as easy to "deal with" or to categorize the victims since the law is more vague and social programs are often lacking funds and resources for identifying victims. Furthermore, the victims, as well as the offenders, cannot be categorized by way of socioeconomic and educational boundaries.

As Linda says, "This is what's happening all the time. It's not just the low-income or chemically-addictive personalities. It's everywhere in the community, everywhere in the world. I want people who are not aware of the prevalence of it to get so angry about the fact that this is real - it's not a TV story, and not a rag mag story."

She continued, stressing that domestic violence, in varying forms, takes place "right under our noses" - to our friends, to our neighbors, to our families."

The Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Information Center in Garrett County serves as a valuable resource to victims who would otherwise have no place to turn, and is essential to some victims who are actually in danger of being physically harmed if they try to change their situations.

The center provides crisis intervention for all victims and their children, short-term counseling, public education programs, a 24-hour hotline service, support groups, as well as accompaniment to the hospital's emergency room, police station, court, and other social service agencies.

The center also provides in-service training to any individual or groups interested in volunteering their services or wishing to set up a prevention program.

"We need this professional service," said Linda. "When women need to get out of a bad situation, they need a place to go and they need to know that they are able to go, even though they've been told by their abusers they can't."

"In my case, I was brain-washed and, for 21 years, I was very passive, submissive, and had a very low self-esteem," she said. "Unfortunately, there is still a prevailing feeling that if women are mistreated, it's their fault. We even have mothers telling their daughters to stick with their husbands even when they're being abused because of the boys-will-be-boys attitude."

Linda continued, "Now that I'm out, I feel like an elephant has been lifted off my chest. I can breathe now. I've made a good decision and the sun is shining. Yes, this is hard, but I can do it." Linda explained that she is still plagued with emotional, as well as physical scars, from her years as an abused spouse. "I have physical problems, including scar tissue and cracked bones, that are causing me tremendous pain and medical costs." She stated that she lost her job as a physical therapist because of the debilitating back pain that resulted from her abuse.

Linda is now back in school, however, and attempting to receive a degree in psychology, but she reports that even sitting through the classes has been a struggle and, at times, impossible.

She also explained that she still has nightmares about a time when she was "left for dead" by her ex-husband. "I haven't put all the parts together yet."

"When I was actually going through the abuse, I ignored a lot of it. I got through it, and it wasn't until the last few years that I realized I had repressed the majority of the abuse. The abuse I remembered while I was actually going through it was, by itself, bad enough. What I am now remembering is horrendous stuff. I am just now starting to remember, and realize, that it took place even before the marriage. I'm finding it hard to believe that could have happened."

Linda clearly shows the determination to succeed at whatever she does, and speculates that society (not her family upbringing, even though she described her mother as having a passive nature) had a lot to do with why she felt she had to stay in a marriage that was destructive, why she felt she had to hold the family together at all costs, and why she felt she was not even attractive enough to ever hope for another relationship nor capable enough to make it on her own.

Whatever forces were at work in making Linda the kind of woman who accepted the abuse for so long and her ex-husband the kind of man compelled to administer it are worth examination. Speculations abound, but until society accepts and deals with whatever conclusions are drawn, there remains the reassuring fact that abuse victims continue to find ways out of the mire, and grassroots organizations are there to help victims learn the art of maintaining a healthy self-esteem and sound relationships.

As Linda said, it was only when she started taking care of herself, that she found the way to a healthy mental state. She had to learn what millions of victims have had to learn: that taking care of oneself is not selfish. It is a necessary first step in creating a person who is valued and capable of being treated humanely.

The staff at the local center is eager to provide victims of domestic violence and sexual assault with the appropriate counseling, support, and advocacy in an effort to help them receive the services they need from the immediate crisis at hand through the process of recovery.

The staff also takes on the task of providing prevention information to the community in an effort "to lessen the possibility of each person's becoming a victim," according to a spokesperson for the office. They are also concerned with educating the public about the realities and statistics of domestic violence and sexual assault cases in the county, in the hopes of effecting a change in attitudes of the community concerning these issues and their victims.

It should also be noted that, even though women represent the highest percentage of victims, men are also counseled - either as victims of abuse or as the perpetrators.

Linda is not sure what she'll pursue after she receives her degree in psychology but she is interested in a counseling position for either the elderly or the victims of domestic abuse, or perhaps both. She feels she has more progress to make in exorcising the demons that have plagued her before she would be fully qualified to objectively assist another victim of abuse, but she seems to be making giant strides every day of her life.

LOCAL STUDENTS SEE KING LEAR - Students from Northern Middle School, Southern High School, and Garrett Community College were given the opportunity last week to see a production of William Shakespeare's King Lear. Performed by third-year MFA (master of fine arts) acting students, the presentation was produced by the University of Pittsburgh Shakespeare in the Schools' program and was funded by the Garrett County Arts Council.

Freeman Choir To Perform At Springs Church

The Freeman Academy Choir from Freeman, S.D., will present a concert of sacred music at the Springs Mennonite Church, Route 689, Springs, Pa., on Tuesday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The 38-voice high school concert choir is directed by Julie Krehbiel. The 16-voice Chamber Choir and the Girls Ensemble will also ring at the concert. The choir will be participating at the Mennonite Secondary Education Council Festival hosted this year by Eastern Mennonite High School of Harrisonburg, Va. While there, the Freeman Academy choir will be hosted by Mt. Clinton Mennonite Church in Harrisonburg, and will sing in their church on Sunday morning. The festival concerts will be presented at the Robert E. Lee High School in Staunton, Va., on Sunday, April 18, at 3 p.m., and again at 7 p.m.

While en route, the choir will present concerts at the Calvary Mennonite Church, Washington, Ill.; Bluffton College, Bluffton, Ohio; Mt. Zion Mennonite Church, Hagerstown; Springs Mennonite Church, Springs; Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville; and First Mennonite Church, Berne, Inc.

Freeman Academy is a Mennonite middle school and high school, grades 5-12.

Freeman is a rural Mennonite community in Southeastern South Dakota with 10 Mennonite churches within a 20-mile radius.

More Volunteers Being Sought From CAC Office

Garrett County Community Action, in partnership with Volunteer Maryland, is seeking volunteers to increase its ability to serve the needs of the county.

William A. "Bill" Durt, Grantsville, is a volunteer Maryland coordinator working out of the Oakland office of Garrett County Community Action to coordinate these efforts. "We are looking for people with a few hours to spare and who are concerned with improving the quality of life for people in the county," he said. "These people could be delivering meals to senior citizens, helping with surplus food distributions throughout the county, working with the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity in various capacities, being foster grandparents to Head Start children, or working with the local Heifer Project group. The list is endless, the need is great, whatever your skills or time limits, we can find a place for you."

Durt can be contacted during the day at 301-334-9431.

Volunteer Maryland has been created by the Governor's Advisory Board on Service and Citizenship to help Marylanders to participate in and value service as a way of life to enrich and empower community, society, and self. Volunteer Maryland is one of seven demonstration projects funded by the Commission on National and Community Service. There are 35 full-time volunteer coordinators and numerous part-time associates throughout the state.

"Hope For A Tree"

A tree is reassuring. A tree is a survivor... withstanding tempestuous winds... towering over time, branches spiraling in space.

Though assaulted by the elements, the tree will survive, providing the roots remain strong, forging through fertile soil, bringing life to the entire length of its structure. God made provisions for the tree.

Likewise, God made provisions for our survival. If our roots are founded in His Word, we too shall tower over life's tempests. Romans 11:16 assures us, "...if the root is holy, so are the branches."

Root your life in God as you worship each Sabbath. There is hope for a tree. There is hope for you.

"For there is hope for a tree, it it be cut down, that it will sprout again, though its roots grow old in the earth, at the scent of water it will bud and put forth branches like a young plant."

Garman Methodist Parish,

it, I won't let you down as I did before. And Christ's response, although using slightly different words each time, makes it clear how to prove their love: "Feed my lambs. Tend my sheep. Feed my sheep." If you love me, you can prove it by helping those whom I would myself help: the sick, blind, lame, dumb, and distressed. Remember, back in John 13 Peter had made a ringing declaration of loyalty: "I will lay down my life for you" (13:37). It was then that Jesus predicted, "Will you lay down your life for me?" Truly, truly, I say to you, the cock will not crow, till you have denied me three times." It was a prediction that was all too true. So, now that Peter is proclaiming his love and loyalty again, "Yes, Lord, you know that I love you," what assurance do we have that Peter will not forsake the Lord again? None.

FOLLOW ME!

But this time, instead of predicting Peter's denial, Jesus predicts what Peter's declaration is going to cost him: "...when you are old you will stretch out your hands, and another will gird you and carry you where you do not wish to go" (21:18). And John adds parenthetically, "(This he said to show by what death he was to glorify God.)" If we love the Lord we can prove it only by giving ourselves in service to others, even to the point of death if need be. As the cross was the measure of Christ's love for us, so it is the measure of our love for him.

John says, "And after this he said to him, 'Follow me.'" With that command, Peter is restored to his role as a disciple. It is the third time Jesus has invited him to "follow me"--when he was first called to discipleship, at his confession of Christ at Caesarea Philippi, and now once again after his terrible lapse of loyalty.

Luke Peter, all of us fail Christ at times in our lives. We need to remember this incident in John 21 and realize that our failure of loyalty is not the last word. The last word is "Follow me" and the opportunity to once again prove our love for him.

COVER STORY

'Empty Nest' role has aged Rieffel five years

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

All her life, Lisa Rieffel has been playing characters younger than herself. But this season, when Kristy McNichol took a medical leave from "Empty Nest" (airing Saturdays on NBC), Rieffel, 18, was tapped to play Emily, the previously unseen 23-year-old daughter of Dr. Harry Weston (Richard Mulligan).

Lisa Rieffel

"All through my life, I always hear, 'They loved you, but they went with someone 18 years old to play younger,' she says. 'I was so sick of hearing that - you cannot imagine. But when I went up for 'Empty Nest,' they never asked me how old I was, and I never told them."

But she's still, she admits, more comfortable playing 14 than 23. "Everyone tells me it's all in an attitude when you play older, and they say I do it convincingly," she says. "But playing younger is so much easier, because there's a really young side to me as well."

Although Rieffel started acting professionally at age 4, she claims that she pushed her mother into it, not vice versa. "I always knew I wanted to do this somehow," she says.

"Even at 4 years old I knew. I was always the one at family gatherings to get up and want to sing a song - even when nobody would ask me. I got my mom to set me up and put me with a manager. She wasn't sure. I mean a 4-year-old child saying, 'Mom, this is what I want to do for a career.' But finally she gave it a shot. It took six months of auditioning until I got my first commercial. Then I did a hundred commercials."

The commercials, she says, were hard work.

"One commercial I did was for Apple Jacks," she recalls. "I had to continually eat this cereal all day. Now, they offer you a bucket to spit in if you don't want to finish whatever you're eating. But I felt so bad for the person who had to clean it. I wouldn't spit in it. By the end of the day, the advertiser who was sitting behind the monitor leaned over and said to the director, 'Can we do something about that girl? When she eats the cereal, her eyes look like they're popping out of her head.'"

Rieffel laughs. "I used to love Apple Jacks, but after that commercial, I have not eaten one Apple Jack since."

Her first acting job that wasn't a commercial was appearing in a "Saturday Night Live" skit. Since then, she has had prominent roles in "The Ann Jillian Show" and "The Trials of Rosie O'Neill." And now there's "Empty Nest."

"I thought it was a great show before I was even considered for any kind of role," she says. "Even today when I watch the beginning credits, it just gives me chills. It's such a weird feeling, you know?"

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

N.D., Worcester, Mass.

FORD'S FIRST - Was "Raiders of the Lost Ark" Harrison Ford's first movie? I can't remember him in anything before that. - J.P. Clovis, N.M.

Harrison Ford in 'Star Wars'

Actually, Ford had a healthy film career long before his memorable performance as swashbuckling archaeologist Indiana Jones in 1981's "Raiders of the Lost Ark." He made his big-screen debut with a bit part in the 1966 film "Dead Heat on a Merry-Go-Round." Several other movie parts followed, but he first achieved wide critical attention with his performance as an exasperated "cruiser" to whom the very young Mackenzie Phillips is attached in 1973's "America Graffiti." He became a star with his turn as Han Solo in 1977's "Star Wars," a role he reprised in "The Empire Strikes Back" (1980) and "Return of the Jedi" (1983).

THE ACQUIRER - I recall that Edward Woodward is a collector - but of what? Also, did he appear on American TV before "The Equalizer"? -

DEF DANGERFIELD - Didn't Rodney Dangerfield record a rap album? - G.F., Bridgeport, Conn.

Comedian Dangerfield received a Grammy Award for his 1983 comedy album "Rappin' Rodney."

GRACE AND OSCAR - Were either of Grace Kelly's parents actors? Did she ever win an Academy Award? - C.C., Portland, Ore.

Neither of Kelly's parents were performers, but her uncle Walter C. Kelly was an actor, and another uncle, George Kelly, was a playwright. She was nominated for an Academy Award as Best Supporting Actress for her performance in 1953's "Mogambo" and took home the Best Actress statuette for her work in 1954's "The Country Girl."

Roseanne plays single mother who loves Elvis

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

A nice balance of eccentric comedy and straight drama, "The Woman Who Loved Elvis" (ABC, April 18) concerns an Iowa single mother and welfare recipient with a hankering for men who aren't around. Along with an all-consuming obsession with Elvis Presley, Joyce (Roseanne Arnold) carries a torch for her husband, who has left her and two young daughters for another woman. Joyce is eking out a pretty fair - if lonely - living until a privileged college girl is assigned as her welfare caseworker. Allegations that Joyce may be cheating the welfare system put Emily (Cynthia Gibb) in an awkward position as she is torn between her growing friendship with Joyce and her commitment to her work. As Joyce, Roseanne Arnold is more vulnerable than usual, but she is as feisty as ever as a woman periodically in and out of control of her complicated life.

• A father discovers his long-lost son while both are in a Los Angeles penitentiary and wages an uphill battle to work his way back into the street-hardened youth's heart. In "Father & Son: Dangerous Relations" (NBC, April 19), The two men must suddenly contend with the lure of crime and the handicap of a prison record upon their release from the big house. Prison officials, forced to parole the son, decide to release his father with him to guard against the son's violent tendencies. While the premise may seem trite - an at-odds family situation exacerbated by proximity - the material is handled well by Louis Gossett Jr. as the father and Blair Underwood as his son, who is filled with resentment over his father's abandonment years before. The social implications of the need for better father-child relationships help the movie overcome minor story faults, like an over-reliance on action and violent confrontations. Rae Dawn Chong is intriguing as an upwardly mobile woman who falls in love with Gossett.

• The CBS miniseries "The Fire Next Time" (April 18 and 20) prophesies a bleak future of global warming resulting in disrupted weather conditions and dramatizes how they affect one family. The Morgans, displaced by a hurricane in their Louisiana home, trek across the United States where they encounter cults, renegade terrorists, eco-cops and eco-survivalists, all trying to contend with the destruction previous generations have wrought on the planet. Craig T. Nelson, Bonnie Bedelia and Richard Farnsworth star.

TNT's 'The Sea Wolf' at the head of the pack

BY KIRK NICEWONGER

On the scale of pressing human needs, a remake of "The Sea Wolf" would not seem to rank up there with, say, a cholesterol-free prime rib. After all, Michael Curtiz's 1941 version of the Jack London briny morality play, which starred Edward G. Robinson, remains a classic.

But Jack London is the director's best friend. His plot-rich tales can easily be made into good movies again and again. You just can't ding the darned things. For example, there have been at least three perfectly fine film or TV versions of "The Call of the Wild," with yet another debuting next week on CBS.

Besides, TNT's new version of "The Sea Wolf" (premiering Sunday, April 18) offers its own special pleasures, starting with the casting of Charles Bronson as the half-genius, half-devil sea captain Wolf Larsen and Christopher Reeve as his confident and nemesis, the top turned moral force Humphrey Van Weyden.

As Nob Hill swell and sometime theater critic Van Weyden ferries back to San Francisco from a Sausalito party, he is distracted by the lovely Flaxen Brewster (Catherine Mary Stewart) - which gives her dad the chance to pick his pocket. Just as Van Weyden discovers the ruse, the ferry collides with another ship. Both go down, and only Van Weyden and Flaxen survive to be picked up by the Larsen-captained Ghost, a sealer bound for the Sea of Japan.

Van Weyden, quickly calculating the havoc this will wreak on his social calendar, begs Larsen to return to San Francisco, but the captain - no Gavin MacLeod - sneeringly refuses and instead puts him to work as a slop-toting assistant to the vile ship's cook.

We don't have room to detail the subsequent, highly satisfying plot, but suffice it to say that what follows is various brutalities, self-discovery by Van Weyden, a number of Philosophy 101 discussions between Van Weyden and the surprisingly charming Larsen mutiny, and a to-the-grave confrontation between Wolf and his hated brother, Death (Symbol Alert! Symbol Alert!).

If anything, Bronson does too good a job with Larsen, he makes the guy so sympathetic that Van Weyden's hatred for him at the end seems almost a snit. Reeve is also excellent. But poor Stewart has been given a character who is more plot device than person - she has little more to do than to wide-eyedly clutch her pillow in her cabin.

Even so, this is a solid production of a solid story.

Stanley Cup playoffs debut on ABC, ESPN

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

When we were still in grade school, we read a book of strange-but-true hockey stories. Securely wrapped in our Montreal Canadiens road jersey, we lost ourselves in its pages and were sad to arrive at the back cover.

Before we did, we learned about Lester Patrick, the 44-year-old coach of the New York Rangers who strapped on the pads and replaced injured goalie Lorne Chabot in a 1928 playoff game. And about Bill Mastencko, the Chicago Black Hawks (it was two words back then) player who scored three goals in the improbable span of 21 seconds in the last game of the 1951 season.

It was inspirational stuff. And it still conjures a feeling of nostalgia for a great game with North American roots as old as baseball's. This year, the NHL is bearing witness to what could be its most unlikely story yet: the inspirational saga of Pittsburgh Penguins star Mario Lemieux.

Super Mario, whose career has been strewn with a variety of injuries, was having what baseball analysts would call a "career year" at the midpoint of this season. After 40 games, Lemieux had 104 points, nearly 30 more than Buffalo's Pat LaFontaine, his nearest competitor for the scoring title. Then came the neck pain and the diagnosis that he was suffering from Hodgkin's disease, a lymphatic cancer.

That was back in January. Lemieux missed seven weeks - 19 games, including the All-Star Game - while he underwent chemotherapy to bring the cancer under control. During that time, the scoring lead slipped away, and, more importantly, his team floundered. At the beginning of March, he returned, scoring a goal and an assist, and since then the Pens have been on a tear, reclaiming the top spot in the league. Strange, but true.

On Sunday, April 18, real NHL hockey returns to network television in the United States when ABC airs a first-round playoff game. Of course, NBC has aired the annual NHL All-Star Game for the past few years, but that hands-off contest - fun though it may be - bears little resemblance to the intense, tight-checking game that's played come playoff time. ABC will air Sunday-afternoon games for the next four weeks.

The prime outlet for the 1993 NHL playoffs, however, is ABC's cable-TV relative, ESPN, which will air 37 Stanley Cup playoff games, including the entire final series. Coverage begins Tuesday, April 20. Playoff matchups were not yet finalized at deadline.

Lando to revisit soaps; New life for 'DOOL'

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

"Guiding Light" has pulled off a coup by signing Joe Lando for a short-term role on the show this summer, while he's on hiatus from playing Sully on prime time's "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" (Both are CBS shows).

Lando is a familiar face to daytime viewers, having played Jake, the husband of Megan (formerly played by Jessica Tuck), on "One Life to Live." Although Lando was always a dream to look at on "O.L.T.L.," it was not until "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" executive producer Beth Sullivan created the role of Sully that Lando became a hunk a hunk-o'-burnin'-love object for the general female public.

Joe Lando

If struggling Old West career woman Dr. Quinn (played by Jane Seymour) is a parable for today's working woman, then Sully is today's fantasy idol. Sully doesn't say much (so the viewer is not distracted from looking at him) and doesn't do much but direct chaste love interest at Michaela Quinn. He's completely hassle-free. And he always shows up when she needs him, whether it's to find her runaway foster son or to keep a tree from falling on her.

On "O.L.T.L.," Lando was overshadowed by Tuck's strong personality. But American women are onto him now, and we're sure the savvy "GL" production team will make the most of Lando's talents.

• What's the soap of the future? It looks to be "Days of Our Lives," which over the past few months has improved tremendously.

Head writer James E. Reilly says his goal is to make "DOOL" as touching and deep as it was back in the '60s and '70s, when "DOOL" was No. 1. Reilly says the first thing he did to change the show "was to move plot into every scene."

Story-line balance is another goal of Reilly's. "Everyone should have story," he says. During the past decade, "DOOL" favored the supercouple formula, which had put emphasis on one front-burner story. Reilly seems particularly proud to have revived the character of Mariena (played by Deirdre Hall), who is currently in a hot love triangle with Roman Brady (played by Wayne Northrop) and John Black (played by Drake Hogestyn). "Before, she was only peripheral in other people's stories," Reilly says. "But this is a fascinating story. Which will she choose?"

Reilly's goal is to give his characters and plots dimension. "I want everyone to pop up." And like one of those 3-D storybooks, "DOOL" seems to be coming very much to life.

Maryland Students Near U.S. Average In Math Skills

State School Superintendent Nancy Grasmick last week released results of a 1992 national assessment of mathematics achievement that shows Maryland's fourth and eighth grade students performing "about the same" as students nationally.

The 1992 assessment of mathematics was the second state-by-state release of scores by the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), which conducts continuing assessments of what American students know and can do in various subject areas.

The 1992 NAEP report shows that fewer than six in 10 Maryland eighth grade students (59 percent) demonstrate at least a basic proficiency in mathematics. Nationally, 61 percent of eighth graders reached the basic level or higher. Students at the basic level have partially mastered the knowledge and skills necessary for proficient work in mathematics.

Slightly more Maryland students than U.S. students scored at the higher proficiency levels, and Maryland's top 10 percent of students in both the fourth and eighth grades consistently, though marginally, outscored the top 10 percent of students in the nation.

"The NAEP assessments provide some evidence that Maryland's best students may be marginally ahead of the best students in other states," the Superintendent said. "But the important finding we must take away from this report is that most of our students are not gaining the kind of knowledge and skills in mathematics they will need in the world outside of school."

The NAEP mathematics assessment consisted of five content areas: numbers and operations; measurement; geometry; data analysis, statistics, and probability; algebra and functions.

The average proficiency scores of Maryland's eighth grade students in the five content areas rose three points between 1990 and 1992, from 261 to 264. Average scores in the U.S. rose by four points, from 262 to 266.

The 1992 NAEP state assessments included fourth graders for the first time, and their average proficiency score was 216 in Maryland and 217 in the nation. The NAEP report calls Maryland's scores at both grades "about the same as that of students across the nation."

Compared to the performance of Maryland's eighth grade students in 1992, 13 states scored higher, eight states scored lower, and the scores of 22 participating states were not significantly different. At the fourth grade, 12 states had higher scores, seven states had lower scores, and 23 states had scores not significantly different than the scores of Maryland students.

NAEP data show direct correlations between students' scores and "conditions beyond school that facilitate mathematics learning and teaching." Similar to several other studies, the 1992 NAEP state assessments found that higher performance in mathematics is often associated with more time spent on homework, less time spent watching television and the availability of a variety of reading materials in the home.

A scarcity of resources available to mathematics teachers - also associated with lower student scores - appears to be a growing problem. The percentage of eighth grade teachers who reported that they have few of the needed resources available to them rose from 21 percent in 1990 to 34 percent in 1992. In the nation as a whole, the number of teachers with inadequate resources increased from 31 percent to 33 percent.

Other highlights from the 1992 NAEP report indicate that:

- Among states, only California and New York had a wider range of eighth grade proficiency levels.

- Maryland's students participating in the 1992 NAEP mathematics assessment include nearly two times as many African American students as the U.S. sample.

- Maryland's students are more likely to reside in urban areas than U.S. students generally.

The Superintendent expressed confidence in the state's current efforts to improve instruction in mathematics. She said the state's comprehensive plan for mathematics education focuses on challenging learning outcomes, high expectations, and upgraded teacher knowledge and skills. New graduation requirements adopted by the State Board of Education last year and effective with ninth grade students entering high school next fall require all students to take higher level courses in mathematics and science.

The Superintendent also said that "the Maryland School Performance Program is creating in each school a strong sense of responsibility for every student's learning of challenging subject matter."

"Our reforms are making a difference -- a difference that will be evident in such assessments as NAEP over the next few years," Dr. Grasmick said.

In the Kitchen

To keep at-home dining interesting for both the cook and diners, a little menu makeover with exciting new ingredients may be all that is needed to add pizzazz to classic recipe favorites.

Menu Makeovers— Updating Classic Favorites

Today's fast-paced lifestyles are often reflected in at-home culinary efforts. Cooks with little time find that they are making the same dishes over and over again. Here's an easy solution to get you out of the "recipe rut." Make slight changes to traditional recipes by adding flavorful ingredients to create new, quick-to-fix family favorites.

Sonoma dried tomatoes are a robust ingredient that add concentrated Roma tomato taste to salads, pizza, pasta and sandwiches. Available as dried tomato halves, bits or marinated in olive oil, Sonoma dried tomatoes are an easy way to jazz up simple, everyday menus.

California ripe olives offer rich flavor that makes them wonderful as a snack and an interesting ingredient for recipe classics such as pizzas, omelets or salads. Available year-round, California ripe olives come whole, chopped or sliced for quick additions in the kitchen and great taste on the plate.

All natural Danish cheese is a great way to perk up the flavor of traditional recipes. World champion Danish Blue Cheese, creamy Blue Castello, aromatic Fontina and luscious Havarti cheeses have long been popular on the cheese tray. Add your favorite Danish cheese to classic recipes for an interesting, updated twist.

Forget pepperoni or sausage and enhance meatless, Primavera Pizza with the distinctive flavors and satisfying textures of dried tomatoes, Danish cheeses and olives. These toppings add a burst of delicious taste to every bite — creating a supreme pizza makeover!

PRIMAVERA PIZZA

Prepared bread products can be used as crusts to make fresh-baked pizza an impromptu affair. Dried tomatoes, two cheeses and ripe olives paired with colorful bell peppers make a zesty meatless topping for these mini pizzas.

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 1 cup (1½ ounces) Sonoma dried tomato halves      | 4 (6- to 7-inch) pita breads*                         |
| 1 clove garlic                                    | ½ cup sliced California ripe olives                   |
| 1 medium tomato, cut into ½-inch chunks           | ½ cup sliced red, green and/or yellow bell peppers    |
| ¾ cup each fresh basil and Italian parsley leaves | 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Danish Fontina cheese       |
| 3 tablespoons olive oil                           | 2 tablespoons crumbled Danish Blue cheese, (optional) |
| Salt and pepper, to taste                         |   |

Preheat oven and baking sheet to 450 degrees. In small bowl cover dried tomatoes with boiling water, set aside 10 minutes. Thoroughly drain tomatoes, reserving 6 tablespoons of the water. To make tomato sauce, place garlic in blender or food processor, puree. Add ¼ cup of the reconstituted dried tomatoes, the reserved water and the fresh tomato, basil, parsley and oil, puree, scraping mixture down as necessary. Season with salt and pepper. Spread sauce on pitas, dividing equally. Top with reserved whole reconstituted tomato halves, the olives, bell peppers, and cheeses, dividing equally. Place on baking sheet, bake in center of oven about 5 minutes until hot and cheese is melted.

Makes 4 servings

*Four (7-inch) Italian bread shells can be substituted for the pita breads.

Note: For crisper crusts lightly brush pitas on both sides with olive oil before baking.

SUNRISE OMELET

This south-of-the-border omelet comes alive with a filling of potatoes, dried tomatoes, ripe olives and spicy salsa. Try this satisfying dish any time of the day — from early morning breakfast to late night supper.

- |  |                                     |
|--|-------------------------------------|
| ¾ cup (1½ ounces) Sonoma dried tomato halves | ¾ cup prepared chunky mild salsa    |
| 4 small potatoes (¾ pound)                   | Salt and pepper, to taste           |
| ¾ cup butter or margarine, divided           | 8 large eggs                        |
| 3 green onions, sliced                       | ¼ cup water                         |
| ½ cup sliced California ripe olives          | 1 tablespoon chopped fresh cilantro |

In small bowl cover tomatoes with boiling water, set aside 10 minutes. Thoroughly drain tomatoes, set aside. Meanwhile, pierce potatoes with fork, micro-bake on HIGH 5 minutes. Cool slightly, cut into ¼-inch slices. To make filling, melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high heat, add potatoes and cook about 6 minutes, turning occasionally, until crisp and golden. Add tomatoes, onions, olives and salsa. Heat through, season with salt and pepper. Keep hot. In bowl beat eggs with water and cilantro. For each omelet, melt ½ tablespoon of the butter in 8-inch nonstick skillet over medium-low heat, add ½ cup egg mixture. Tilt pan and with spatula gently lift edge of omelet as it cooks, allowing uncooked portion to flow underneath. Cook until set but still moist. Spoon ¼ of the filling over half of omelet, carefully fold other half over filling. Loosen omelet and slide onto warmed plate. Repeat with remaining ingredients.

Makes 4 omelets

Note: Micro-baking time is based on a 700-watt oven.

BISTRO HERO SANDWICH

Build a submarine sandwich bistro-style by filling a split loaf of lightly seasoned crusty bread with an assortment of Mediterranean ingredients.

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 1 loaf (1 pound) French bread                                | 3 or 4 lettuce leaves  |
| ½ cup Sonoma marinated dried tomatoes, drained (reserve oil) | 8 ounces assorted sliced deli meats (your choice of turkey, roast beef, salami, ham) |
| 2 tablespoons oil from tomatoes                              | 3 or 4 red onion slices, separated into rings  |
| 1 teaspoon dried oregano                                     | 4 ounces Danish Havarti cheese, sliced   |
| 1 clove garlic, pressed                                      |  |
| 2 tablespoons mayonnaise                                     |  |
| 1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard                             |  |

Heat broiler. Halve bread horizontally. Hollow out halves to make bread shells ½ to ¾ inch thick. (Reserve crumbs for another use.) Blot tomatoes with paper towel; set aside. In small bowl mix oil, oregano and garlic, brush lightly onto cut sides of bread. Place on baking sheet. Place 4 inches under broiler, broil just until slightly crisp and golden, 3 to 5 minutes. Meanwhile, mix mayonnaise and mustard in small bowl. On bottom half of bread, layer lettuce, meats, mayonnaise mixture, tomatoes, onion rings and cheese. Cover with bread top. Cut into 4 sections to serve.

Makes 4 servings

"BLUE" FETTUCCINE

The unique flavor of blue cheese makes this an elegant pasta dish that's grand enough for company, yet only takes minutes to make.

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| 4 ounces Danish Blue cheese or 8 ounces Danish Blue Castello cheese, chilled | 2 tablespoons dry white wine  |
| ½ cup marinated dried tomatoes, drained (reserve oil)                        | 1½ teaspoons finely chopped fresh basil or ½ teaspoon dried basil     |
| 1 tablespoon oil from tomatoes   | 1 package (8 ounces) uncooked green fettuccine or spinach egg noodles |
| 2 tablespoons minced shallots  | ¾ cup chopped fresh parsley   |
| 1 clove garlic, minced   |   |

On waxed paper divide cheese into 10 to 12 pieces, set aside. Cut tomatoes into thin strips, set aside. Heat water for fettuccine. Heat oil in small skillet over medium heat; add shallots and garlic. Sauté until limp but not brown. Add wine, basil and tomatoes. Heat through and keep hot. Meanwhile, cook fettuccine in salted boiling water as package directs, until al dente (firm to the bite); drain thoroughly and return to pot. Add tomato mixture, toss. Add cheese and parsley, toss again to melt cheese. Serve immediately on heated plates.

CHICKEN, ORANGE AND OLIVE SALAD

An uncommon ginger-spiked orange vinaigrette adds a fresh twist to this healthful salad. A fan of lean poached chicken breasts with orange and avocado slices and an accent of sliced ripe olives makes this dish picture perfect and delicious.

- |   |                                     |
|---|-------------------------------------|
| 4 skinned and boned chicken breast halves (about 1½ pounds) | 2 tablespoons white wine vinegar    |
| ½ teaspoon salt, divided                                    | ½ small orange, peeled              |
| 1 tablespoon chopped onion                                  | ¼ teaspoon white pepper             |
| 2 to 3 teaspoons chopped, peeled ginger root                | 1 lettuce leaves                    |
| ½ cup vegetable oil   | 2 small oranges, peeled and sliced  |
|   | 1 ripe avocado, peeled and sliced   |
|   | ½ cup sliced California ripe olives |

Place chicken in saucepan, cover with water and add ½ teaspoon of the salt. Bring just to boil, reduce heat, cover and barely simmer until chicken juices run clear, about 10 minutes. Meanwhile, make dressing. Place onion and ginger in container of electric blender or food processor, whirl until finely chopped. Add oil, vinegar, ½ orange, the remaining ½ teaspoon salt, and the pepper. Whirl until opaque and slightly thick, about 30 seconds. Drain chicken and slice each breast across the grain into ¼-inch slices. Line individual plates with lettuce. Place a breast on each plate, fanning out slices. Arrange orange, avocado and olive slices on plates, dressing equally. Drizzle dressing over salads.

Oakland Man Is Located After Fleeing Mishap

An Oakland man was located Wednesday morning by Tfc. J.T. Bentlejowski and charged after he allegedly fled the scene of a single-vehicle mishap Tuesday morning, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

Napoleon J. Swyter, 19, Oakland, was charged with leaving the scene of a personal injury accident and with unsafe lane changing. He was reportedly not injured in the mishap.

A passenger in the vehicle, Amondo R. Polce, 21, Deer Park, reportedly received minor injuries in the mishap.

Police said the 9:50 a.m. mishap occurred when Swyter, operating a 1983 Chevrolet Camaro on Md. Rt. 39, near the Old Crellin Road, ran off the right roadside and then struck a guardrail and a Potomac Edison utility pole. Swyter then allegedly fled the scene on foot and an extensive search began with local law enforcement officials participating as well as Medevac Trooper 5 helicopter.

DRIVER TREATED
Lillian M. Callicott, 55, Oakland, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Friday after being injured in a single-vehicle accident, according to a hospital spokesman.

Tfc. W.E. Dixon investigated the 9 a.m. mishap and stated that Callicott was operating a 1978 Buick Sentra on U.S. Rt. 50, just east of the Table Rock Road, when she reportedly fell asleep at the wheel, crossed the center line and traveled off the roadway before striking a utility pole.

No charges were filed and Callicott was transported to the local hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

FALLS ASLEEP
In a separate mishap, Jacqueline C. Harrison, 58, Buckhannon, W.Va., reportedly fell asleep at the wheel of her 1990 Plymouth Voyager on Interstate 68, west of the New Germany Road, and struck a sign pole.

She was reportedly injured and taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, where she was treated and later released.

Tfc. G.S. Becker filed

SURPRISE, SURPRISE! Such was the feeling this morning when local residents awoke to yet another blanket of snow, despite the fact that spring has officially been underway for just over a month. The owner of the clothing above either did not hear a weather forecast or decided to freeze dry her laundry. The forecasters promise the pretty crystals will not be with us long, however, as temperatures are to rise into the 60s tomorrow and still higher on Saturday. Photo by Craig Phillips.

Several Thefts Being Probed By Sheriff's Office

Several incidents of theft and vandalism have been reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in the past week, and investigations into the crimes are ongoing by officers and detectives. Various arrests have been made in unrelated incidents.

Anita M. Teter contacted police last week after an apparent theft at her business. Ms. Teter told officers that someone had stolen an antique Marx brand wind-up train and a collection of approximately 25 1950's baseball cards from Grandma's Attic, located on Rt. 50 west of Red House.

The card collection included a 1955 Willie Mays, which is valued at $400, and the train consisted of a locomotive, two box cars, and a caboose. The theft occurred sometime between April 11-16, according to the report. Officers did discover that a basement window had been broken, but apparently there was no evidence of entry at that point.

In a separate case, Larry L. Holler, owner manager of Mid-Towns Cinema, contacted police after persons apparently vandalized the establishment. Two marquee posters

Fifth Case Of Rabies Confirmed By Health Dept.

The Garrett County Health Department has announced confirmation of the fifth positive case of rabies this year. The infected raccoon was submitted for testing by Joe Howe on April 19, and subsequently confirmed positive for the disease by the Maryland Laboratories Administration.

According to Mr. Howe, the raccoon came onto his property, located in the Pea Patch area off of New Germany Road. The raccoon fought with and was killed by Howe's two dogs. Howe was careful not to handle the dogs for at least two hours after the incident, according to a spokesperson. Pet-owners are reminded that if they need to handle their pets they should do so with gloves and minimize contact for two hours. Both of Howe's dogs are currently vaccinated for rabies and will be given a booster shot and observed closely for three months.

Steve Sherrard, environmental health sanitarian with the Garrett County Health Department noted that this is the first positive rabies case in the northern end of the county this year. County residents should be aware that rabid animals can be encountered anywhere in

County To Receive Slight Increase In State Funding For FY 1994

While Garrett County will benefit from a $12.5 billion budget recently approved by the Maryland General Assembly for Fiscal Year 1994 - especially in the capital projects portion of the budget - Garrett County Clerk Robert Fousek explained that some of the increases in funding from the state to the county have really only restored funding to a level that existed before cuts in various areas took place over the past two years.

"We are appreciative of the fact that we were not cut again, however," he said. Information from the Maryland Department of Legislative Reference reveals that the amount of total direct aid to the county for FY '94 will amount to $2,022,000 but Fousek explained that the actual gain to general county government amounts to a figure closer to $400,000 to $500,000.

The release of figures from the state indicates a substantial increase in certain areas of direct aid and shared revenue from the current year's level of funding.

Grantsville To Hold Election

The Town of Grantsville will hold a general election on May 11, from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Town office at 171 Hill Street.

Absentee ballots are available upon request at the Town office. All absentee ballots must be returned no later than May 10 by 2 p.m.

The slate of candidates running for office is composed entirely of incumbents. Running for mayor for his third term is Fred A. Holliday.

Mayor Holliday was elected councilman in 1981. He was appointed to complete the term as Mayor in 1983 when Mayor Edwards resigned. In 1985 and 1989, he was elected mayor.

Running for Council are Gerald Beachy, Ronald Gillum, Joe McKibbin, Richard Towers, and James Wilburn.

Armed Robber Being Sought By St. Police

An armed robber is being sought by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, who allegedly held up Fox's Pizza near McHenry late Friday night.

The suspect is described as six feet tall, weighing approximately 170 pounds, black hair, and a black and grey mustache. He was reportedly wearing a toboggan and a nylon stocking over his face and was wearing plastic sunglasses, camouflage pants and shirt and a tan-colored T-shirt, a black belt, and brown jersey gloves.

He was also reportedly carrying a bolt-action rifle with a sling. It was unknown in which direction the alleged robber fled the scene.

Tfc. R.M. Hershberger is continuing the investigation.

TIRES STOLEN

Gordon L. Hanson, Swanton, told police that someone entered his property and removed two tires from a trailer parked on his land sometime between April 12-19.

Tfc. S.H. Anderson is investigating.

Board Of Ed. Plans Special Public Events

The Garrett County Board of Education will sponsor two special evening programs for the public, both of which are being held in observance of Maryland Science Week, April 26-May 1.

Joseph Winters, director of the Hickory Environmental Education Center near Accident, has announced that the Center will be open to the public from 4 to 7 p.m. on Monday, April 26. Activities will include a general overview of what the Hickory Center is all about and its programs for

Additional Soloists Announced For Choral Society's Elijah Production

Melvin Jordan

Scheduled to perform with the Garrett Choral Society's production of Mendelssohn's Elijah are Leavata Johnson and Melvin Jordan, husband and wife classical artists from Manhattan's Upper Westside. Also performing as soloist is Andrew Harvey, a local resident. The performance is slated for Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m., at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland. These three soloists will be joined by New York City's Robert Mosley, baritone, and Nancy Ortez, mezzo soprano.

Ms. Johnson, who will sing the role of the widow in Elijah, was born in Mobile, Alabama, and studied at the Mannes College of Music and the Juilliard School. She has toured Europe, Canada, Australia, and the United States. Her numerous operatic roles include Margherita in Mefistofele, Fiordiligi in Così fan tutte, Mimi in La Bohème, Tosca and Liu in Turandot, Dido in Dido and Aeneas, and Bess and Serena in Porgy and Bess.

The soloist's oratorio repertoire includes Beethoven's Missa Solemnis, Brahms's Requiem, Dvorak's Stabat Mater, Handel's Messiah, Israel in Egypt, and Samsa, Mozart's Requiem, Schubert's Stabat Mater, Verdi's Requiem, and several

GCC President Announces National Award To Be Bestowed On College

Garrett Community College President Dr. Stephen Herman announced Tuesday to the Board of Trustees that the college will be receiving a national award from the American Association of Community Colleges.

The president will travel to Portland, Ore., this weekend to receive the award.

"This hotly sought after award is given each year," said Herman, "so it's quite a prestigious honor for us."

GCC was granted the award for "having the best economic development program of a rural community college." The award was based on the role GCC played in the 1992 U.S. Whitewater Olympic Canoe and Kayak Trials held on the Savage River and for the founding of the Adventure Sports Institute.

Board Chairman Charles Bender and board members commended the college in receiving such a "coveted award."

PLANS APPROVED
Comprehensive strategic financial plans to be bound into one document were unanimously approved by the GCC trustees Tuesday night.

The plan which will coincide with the Periodic Review Report for the Middle States Accreditation Audit, was compiled by Herman.

Don Stork, director of planning and institutional research, and Ted Along, dean of administration, with the assistance of other administration and staff.

Board Member Marjorie Fratz lauded the efforts of those who completed the plans and termed it "one of the most easily understood documents ever presented to the board." Those sentiments were echoed by the entire board.

The plans were adopted for fiscal years 1994-1998. The planning schedule allows GCC to reference its new strategic plan in its Periodic Review Reports and its Self Study Reports. It also allows GCC to assess accreditation team findings and make appropriate amendments before a new strategic plan is implemented.

The framework purposes of the strategic plan include the following goals:

1. Consolidation of institutional gains.

2. Elimination of major weaknesses.

3. Taking a decisive first step toward excellence.

Strategic goals include:

1. Learner-centered supports and enrichments.

2. Compensation scale (increase salaries).

Local Man Injured In Hunting Mishap; Another Is Cited

A Kitzmiller hunter was treated for shotgun wounds Saturday after he was accidentally shot by a Seabrook man, who was cited for negligent hunting by the Maryland Natural Resources rangers. Melvin Secrist, 42, sustained flesh wounds in his head, back, neck, and shoulder when Michael J. Harden, 24, shot at what he thought was a wild turkey in the Lost Land Run area of Potomac State Forest. Saturday was the first day of the turkey hunting season.

Harden reportedly helped Secrist to a nearby hunting camp after the accidental shooting and left his name and address with persons there, then traveled back to his home in Seabrook. He was located there Monday and was charged, according to reports.

Secrist was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital shortly after the accident where he was treated and later released.

FRENCH EDUCATORS VISIT COUNTY - Garrett County schools are being visited this week by a group of accomplished and specialized educators from France. The group of approximately 16 professionals as well as some family members were greeted at the Garrett County Board of Education office yesterday and were introduced to several personnel members. The main interest of the visitors is in the area of special education, as most of them are directors of special schools for socially, mentally, or physically disabled children and young adults. Jeannie Whitehair, an educator at Dennett Road School, is hosting the visit, having met several of the foreign educators while visiting their country in past years. Mrs. Whitehair reported this morning that the sojourn is progressing well, and that the rapport between the French-speaking visitors and the students is "tremendous." Within the group is a translator, and at the reception yesterday she and Lowell Lettzel, Southern High School French teacher, were able to break down the language barrier. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage welcomed the group, saying that although a barrier exists in language, the goals of both the visitors and the local educators are the same - serving students and lending to their individual needs. Several of the French instructors are pictured above as they visit the class of Les McDaniel at Dennett Road School. The group traveled to Cumberland today to visit the Brandenburg Center, Cash Valley Elementary School, and Friends Aware. Their 10-day itinerary is full, with planned excursions to most of the local elementary schools, Head Start, nearby West Virginia schools, and various state parks and sight-seeing areas.

RANGERS HONORED BY COMPANY C - Company C of the 121st Engineers recently presented awards to rangers of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest and Parks Rescue Team for their meritorious service and exceptional cooperation while working with the members of Company C in supporting the citizens of Garrett County during the March 13

Hubcaps To Be In Concert At NHS Monday

The Northern High School Band and Northern High School will sponsor the "Fabulous Hubcaps" in concert this Monday, April 26, at the Northern High School Gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Billed as "High-Energy Performance Group," the Hubcaps have performed live in many U.S. cities and their popularity has spread throughout the Mid-Atlantic region. The group performs selections from the 1950's, 60's, 70's, and 80's. Their added choreography and ever changing costumes provide an evening of entertainment that fans and concert goers will talk about long after the performance," one critic said.

The concert will consist of two one-hour sessions with an intermission of one-half hour. Concessions provided by the Northern Band will be available.

Advance tickets are available for $10 until Friday at the following locations: Goehring's Restaurant, Accident, Beachy's Pharmacy, Grantsville, Friendsville Pharmacy, Friendsville, Deep Creek Pharmacy, Deep Creek Arrowhead Business Service Center, Deep Creek Lake, and Marvin's Men's Wear, Oakland. Advance tickets will be available at Northern High School until Monday afternoon. Tickets will be available at the door at a cost of $12.

Proceeds will benefit the Northern High School Band.

Mosley To Sing At St. Paul's

Featured soloist, who has performed with many of the world's major opera companies, including the Metropolitan Opera, will sing at the 10:15 a.m. worship service at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland this Sunday, April 25.

Mosley will be a featured soloist with the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Mendelssohn's Elijah on Sunday, April 25, at St. Peter's Catholic Church.

The public is invited to worship at St. Paul's on Sunday.

Stewart Callis Named Exemplary Psychiatrist

A member of the Garrett County Medical community has been nominated by the local Alliance for the Mentally Ill and honored by the National AMI in its latest quest for exceptional caregivers to persons with biologically-based brain disorders.

Stewart J. Callis, M.D., has been selected as a recipient of the 1993 Exemplary Psychiatrist Awards presented annually by the NAMI.

Dr. Callis was nominated because of his excellent record of leadership and support for better community mental health services, his response to crisis situations, and his personal interest in his patients' care and their family members' understanding of that care.

"This coveted award is even more meaningful because of Dr. Callis' extensive case load and his reputation for offering reality-based supportive counseling, which focuses on teaching the patients and their family members how to learn to live with the chronic neurobiological disorders," stated Carol Cox, president of the Garrett County AMI.

Each psychiatrist selected will receive a certificate and will be invited to attend a breakfast reception at the American Psychiatric Association's Annual Meeting in San Francisco in May.

Ms. Cox said Callis will also be honored locally at a Garrett County AMI dinner later this year.

Community College Week Proclaimed By Gov. Schaefer

Community College Week April 18-24 was proclaimed recently by Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The bountiful heritage of higher education in Maryland is nurtured as a direct result of the contributions rendered by community colleges in this state, which proudly combine to act as an active and productive force for intellectual and occupational growth, cultural enhancement, and economic development," said Gov. Schaefer.

He continued, "In addition to boasting an outstanding track record as an important first step for students who are eventually seeking a bachelor's degree, Maryland community colleges are particularly committed to stimulating economic development by offering valuable service to the local business community that include industrial training and related instruction for apprenticeship programs."

The Maryland Association of Community Colleges (MACC) was formed in 1992 to enhance the relationship of the state's community colleges with state government.

Maryland is pleased to join with MACC in celebrating the numerous educational benefits of community colleges, as these distinguished institutions have greatly enriched the lives and educational experiences of many people," the governor concluded.

Local Man Found Guilty Of Theft, Bad Check Counts

An Oakland man was found guilty of one count of petty theft and two counts of bad check charges in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week and handed a one-year jail sentence.

Stephen F. Durst, 39, Oakland, was found guilty of those counts after he failed to appear in court to face those charges earlier resulting in a bench warrant being issued for his arrest. He was handed a one-year jail term (eight months was suspended and credit was given for time already served) for each count, to run concurrently.

He was also placed on one year of supervised probation. The fine was waived and he was ordered to pay restitution to Trackside and The Board Room.

In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, an additional count of petty theft and an additional count of passing a bad check were not prosecuted.

Durst was charged with those offenses when he passed two worthless checks to the Trackside Restaurant November 30 and December 2 of last year after obtaining food, drink, and cash for the checks. He also reportedly ordered over $38 worth of food and drink at the Board Room on November 4 and left without paying his bill. He allegedly told his server that he did not have any money to pay for his meal before leaving the restaurant.

He was to have appeared in court on March 3 to face those charges but failed to appear. At that time, a bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

In other District Court news, a Deer Park man was found guilty of resisting arrest.

Kevin L. DeBerry, 30, Deer Park, was found guilty of that charge and handed a six-month jail term (all was suspended but 30 days), fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation. In plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office, one count of assault and one count of battery were not prosecuted. An additional count of battery filed by his wife was also not prosecuted because she declined to testify.

DeBerry had been arrested on December 21, 1992, by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office following a domestic dispute. When police attempted to arrest him he struck a deputy in the chest.

He had allegedly beaten his wife and reportedly threatened to kill her before police arrived at the scene.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital Adds Hysteroscopy to Surgical Services

In its continuing efforts to provide comprehensive medical care to the community, Garrett County Memorial Hospital has recently added hysteroscopy to its surgical services.

Hysteroscopy, performed by Dr. John Green of the surgical practice of Drs. Fedde, Porcaro and Surgical Associates, P.A., is a diagnostic and therapeutic procedure that allows the surgeon to look inside the uterus. This procedure should not be confused with hysterectomy, the surgical removal of whole or part of the womb.

According to Dr. Green, hysteroscopy is used to primarily treat dysfunctional uterine bleeding, usually caused by hormonal disorders as well as irregular uterine bleeding, caused by organic problems such as polyps or uterine fibroids.

"In addition to determining the causes of abnormal uterine bleeding, hysteroscopy allows you to see, by way of a television monitor, exactly where you want to perform a biopsy," said Green. "Up until now the only way to take a sample of the uterus was through dilation and curettage, commonly known as a D & C, which does not have the advantage of letting the surgeon see inside the uterus."

The purchase of new hysteroscopy equipment was made possible through the support of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation. This equipment, which includes a hysteroscope connected to a video camera and micro-instruments, is currently allowing hysteroscopies to be performed at Garrett Memorial.

"Because health care technology is constantly changing, the Foundation is pleased to have the opportunity to play a part in assisting Garrett Memorial in maintaining and upgrading its level of quality care, which of course would not be possible without the generous support of the community," said William B. Grant, chairman of the Foundation.

With the tremendous emphasis now being placed on preventive medicine in order to help reduce rising health care costs, hysteroscopy will allow us to treat women with the most modern technology to perhaps intervene before a more radical surgical procedure is required," stated Green.

Dr. Green, who is a general surgeon, is a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. He then completed his internship at Memorial Hospital in York, Pa., and a four-year surgical residency program at the Shering Valley Medical Center in Farrell, Pa., where he received specialized training in gynecologic surgery. He has also received additional training in cancer surgery at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City.

For more information about hysteroscopy, Green can be contacted at the surgical practice of Drs. Fedde, Porcaro and Surgical Associates, P.A. at (301) 334-8282.

Food For Thought

by Chef Francesco Pisano
McClives Restaurant

Slice a long French or Italian bread in half and pinch out 1/4 inch of bread to make room for grated cheese (Fontina is nice) mixed with a little olive oil and wine, minced garlic and your favorite herbs. Close bread, wrap in foil and bake about 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

It's not enough that salad tastes good; it has to look good, too. That's why we added onion rings, yellow bell pepper, tomatoes and black olives to a big mess of salad greens--or even green beans.

Baking a whole fish? According to superchef Julia Child, you can tell it's done when it starts to smell wonderful.

Zip up a light tomato sauce with a jar of marinated artichoke hearts--liquid and all. Serve over linguine with plenty of grated parmesan cheese.

Yes, you can have tasty tortilla chips that are fat-free. Cut flour tortillas into 8 wedges, place on a paper towel and microwave uncovered on high for 3 1/2 minutes, or until crisp. Super with salsa.

Bauer Artwork Garners Honors

A local artist has enjoyed success recently in both national and state art competitions.

Ken Bauer's pencil and watercolor rendering of Canada geese titled "Fidelity," pictured above, was recently judged among the top 120 entries in the 1992 Federal Duck Stamp Contest and was recently on display at the San Bernardino Museum in San Bernardino, Calif. There were over 630 entries in the competition from artists in all 50 states.

The same piece also placed seventh in the recent Maryland Duck Stamp Contest, while his pencil and watercolor drawing of tundra swans, pictured below, placed 10th. There were some 70 entries in the state contest.

Because both artworks placed among the top 20 in the state contest, they will be on exhibit at the annual Waterfowl Festival in Easton, to be held in November.

Bauer, who is the owner of Lake Ford Studio near Cranesville, W.Va., resides along the Cranesville Road (Garrett County). A native of Anne Arundel County, he

WM Bancorp Stockholders Meet; Cash And Stock Dividends Declared

The annual meeting of stockholders of WM Bancorp was held April 19 at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville with J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Board, presiding.

WM Bancorp is a registered multi-bank holding company headquartered in Cumberland with American Trust Bank and American Trust Bank of West Virginia, N.A. as the subsidiary banks.

Also at the annual meeting Donald E. Stone, chief executive officer, and David W. Cathell, chief financial officer, provided financial reports for 1992, along with 1993 first quarter operating results.

A total of 832,893 shares or 73.45 percent of the stock of the Corporation was represented in person or by proxy at the meeting. WM Bancorp has 1,270,090 shares of outstanding common stock owned by 2,122 stockholders, most of whom are local and area residents.

During the meeting, Chairman Beall announced that a recent meeting of the WM Bancorp Board of Directors, it was unanimously voted to resume the payment of dividends on the common stock of the Company.

The Board voted to pay a cash dividend of 15 cents per share to stockholders of record May 28, 1993, payable June 14, 1993. Additionally, the Board approved a 10 percent stock dividend to shareholders of record May 29, 1993, also payable June 14, 1993.

In December 1991, the Board temporarily omitted common stock dividend payments as a result of necessary increases in reserves to cover possible loan losses and to satisfy regulatory requirements. Since that time, WM Bancorp has returned to profitability by substantially increasing reserves for loan losses, improving its capital position, and enhancing its overall efficiency through the consolidation of Maryland banking operations.

"The management and employees of WM Bancorp and its subsidiaries deserve our congratulations for their diligence and perseverance in implementing the changes necessary to achieve the profitable results," stated Beall.

Also during the annual meeting, the following Class I directors were elected to serve three years terms: James C. Bauer, president of Bauer Lumber Company, Inc.; Wendell R. Beitzel, administrator of Garrett County Sanitary District; Carl O. Belt Jr., president of Carl Belt, Inc.; David D. Buchanan, president of Buchanan Building Supply Center, R. Donald Cussins, president of Buffalo Coal Company, Inc.; Richard S. Devlin, president of Devlin, Inc.; Thomas B. Finan Jr., business consultant and private investor; and Mark Folk, president of Keystone Lime Company, Inc.

One Class II director, Harry W. Boggs, optometrist, was elected to serve a one-year term. Class II directors whose terms of office did not expire at the annual meeting are: J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of the BGS & G Companies, Carl R. Fike, manager of Fred E. Beachy Lumber Company, Inc.; Thomas D. Jones, executive director of the Garrett County Economic Development Corporation; John J. McMullen Jr., attorney; Geppert, McMullen, Payne & Getty; Samuel C. Schwab, president and chief executive officer of S. Schwab Company, Inc.

Class III directors whose terms did not expire include:

Earl J. Clark Sr. Named To GCC Board Of Trustees

Earl J. Clark Sr., Red House, was recently appointed to the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees by Gov. William Donald Schaefer. He will complete the term left vacant by Wayne Hamilton, who resigned several months ago because of ill health.

Clark has been employed by the First United National Bank & Trust, Oakland, since January 1, 1963, in the lending department. He was a recipient of the Year Award from the Maryland Bankers Association in 1970.

He was a graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg; and a graduate of the School of Bank Management, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va. He also served six months active duty in the Maryland National Guard at Fort Knox, Ky., then returned to Unit at Frostburg to complete his six-year

Bonnie Doerr Honored In April For Celebration Of Garrett Co. Women

A grandmother who works in her family business and devotes most of her free time to the well-being of her community, especially in projects involving young adults, is the woman to be honored this month for the Celebration of Garrett County Women. Bonnie Doerr, Accident, wife of Ron Doerr and mother of three grown sons, received the unusual heroine recognition for the month of April.

Ms. Doerr, a native of Garrett County and graduate of Northern High School, worked for two years as an information operator with C & P Telephone Company and has been office manager for Doerr Construction Company since 1971. She has been active in the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren as a member of the choir, member of the Ministerial Board, assistant teacher of the teen class, and Bible School director.

During the years her sons were high school athletes, she was involved with many school activities - the Northern High School Athletic Boosters, the ball games, the PTA, the Halloween socials, and after-prom party.

Her interest in helping young people is evident through her active participation in the Garrett County Council of Alcohol and Drug Abuse, of which she is treasurer, and the Drug-Free School Advisory Board of which she is a member. "One of the most rewarding things I do is help youth stay free of drugs and alcohol," she stated.

She has been instrumental in promoting the Designated Drivers Program in Garrett County, in sponsoring the Under 21 Club dances, and in holding fund raisers for after-prom activities. She points with pride to the recent Dance-A-Thon which raised about $3,000 for that purpose. "It was a lot of work for four or five people," she said, "but as tired as you are when it's over, you know it have been worthwhile, and you think, 'Boy, this is great!' Now we'll be able to give about $1,500 to each school."

Setting an example for other parents whose families have grown, she reflected,

"Even though my sons are out of high school and college, I feel a strong need to help make our schools drug-free for our grandchildren. When people ask for advice, I tell them to believe in God, spend all the time you can with your husband and children, be involved with those things that interest your children, and listen to your children."

Something Was Missing...

Now that the standoff in Waco, Texas, has come to a tragic end we will no doubt be deluged with analysis, accusations, investigative reports, allegations, and opinions concerning the incident for weeks to come. In addition, there are surely scores of movie producers scrambling to begin production on a number of cinematic versions of the story. After all, it possesses all of the unwholesome elements that, unfortunately, make a film a box office smash - sex, child abuse, infidelity, bigamy, and plenty of violence. And, to top it off, it really happened.

We thought we might as well get our two cents worth of comment about the incident expressed and then, hopefully, put the tragedy behind us for good.

When a person like an Adolph Hitler or a James Jones or a David Koresh rises to power, it makes us wonder how in the world these individuals, who are probably all certifiably insane, are able to gather followers, followers who are so loyal they are willing to die for their leader. What is that magnetism that convinces people, many of whom have well above average intelligence, to believe in them and do things that are so counter to most of society's norms?

Of course, the number of those who bowed down to Koresh was minuscule compared to the number of Hitler followers, and considerably smaller than the number of those who worshipped Jones. But most of those who believed Koresh was divine were intelligent, highly educated individuals who, we quickly assume, should have known better. However, something in their lives was missing, and it would be interesting to know just how many of them came from broken homes and/or dysfunctional families. We suspect they all did.

No matter how intelligent, talented, wealthy, and educated one may be, he can be led astray, particularly if qualities like self-esteem, confidence, and solid values are lacking. This is precisely why we believe, and have stated many times before, that our nation's biggest problem right now is the deterioration of the family unit. Nearly every other crisis, whether it be drug abuse, crime, suicide, and even joblessness, can be directly or indirectly linked to this one problem in American society.

The problem cannot be fixed by governmental agencies. It can be fixed only inside each and every American household.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Americans with Disabilities Act gives civil rights protections to individuals with disabilities similar to those provided to individuals on the basis of race, sex, national origin, age, and religion.

In your editorial of last week, you stated that you did not want to give the impression of being unfeeling or uncaring when it comes to the special needs of some of our citizens. While I believe you to be a caring person, you clearly demonstrated yourself to be unenlightened concerning issues of civil rights and people with disabilities.

The Americans with Disabilities Act mandated providing a ramp to make the Garrett County Family Day Care Association's presentation of Elyah accessible to people who use wheelchairs. You complained of brother government being grossly out of synchronization with our community, and you used 20/20 hindsight to suggest a seemingly common sense alternative. I would have to suggest that the issues of making the presentation truly open to all were never thought about or considered until the Americans with Disabilities Act requirements were presented to those planning the event.

The wording of the editorial demonstrated a lack of sensitivity to the fact that people with disabilities are people first. Wording such as "the handicapped individual" gives priority to the disability instead of the person. You referred to the legislation as the Disabilities Act - it is in fact, the Americans with Disabilities Act.

To suggest that a lack of use of the ramp during the

CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION MONTH

Day Care Providers Help Reduce Family Stress
by Debbie Workman,
Garrett County Day Care Association president

Note: The following is the third in a series of articles prepared in observance of Child Abuse Prevention Month. This week, a representative of the Garrett County Family Day Care Association is commenting on the importance of a good day care provider.

Child abuse has been known to be the result of stress. Stress can result from work, financial, marital, or personal problems. Child care workers strive to gain good communication with working parents in hopes of reducing stress. When a parent and child feel comfortable with day care arrangement, everyone benefits. Day care workers are given extra responsibility such as helping to potty train, teaching discipline, monitoring progress at school, and helping with homework in hopes of helping stressed-out parents. Day care providers are asked to go out of their way and do a lot more than just "babysit."

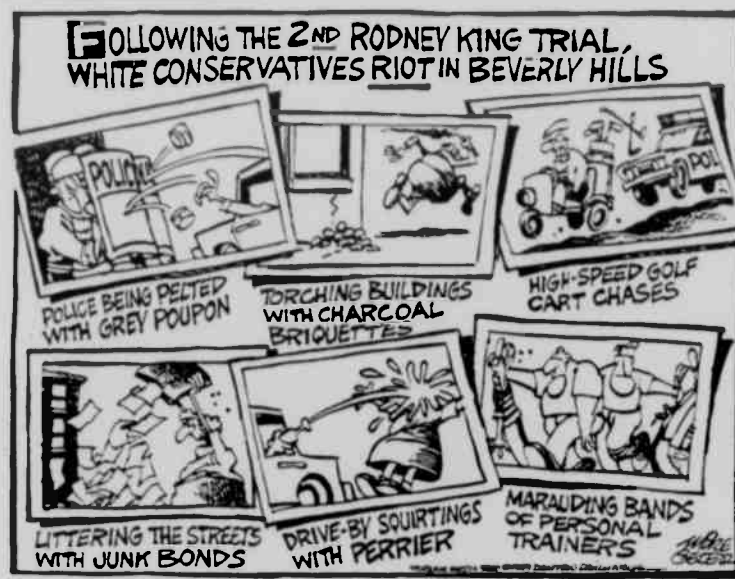

With the added regulations, parents can now rest assured that they are placing their child in a safe and caring environment. Licensed child providers must obtain criminal background checks, be fingerprinted, and have their homes inspected by the state fire marshal and the child care licensing specialist. Providers must have their water checked by the local health department. Child care providers are now required to have 12 hours of health care and child care training. Training sessions are held throughout the year. These informative trainings are open to parents also, enabling not only child care workers, but also parents to further educate themselves on several important topics.

On April 6, the Garrett County Day Care Association hosted a training workshop titled "Coping with Stress." The educator for this workshop was Donna Bloomer with the Maryland Child Care Resource and Referral Service. This workshop was very informative to providers, providing them with important ways to relieve stress and to learn how to identify stress in order to help other providers and day care parents.

Following are excerpts from letters received from parents who have felt relieved and less stressful by having their child enrolled in day care.

"When you're a working woman trying to juggle family and work, having a licensed day care provider you can trust to provide a warm, supportive, and safe environment is critical. Knowing that my day care provider has taken infant and child CPR and receives refresher courses every year is terribly important to me," wrote one local day care mother.

Another mother wrote: "When I read in newspapers and magazines about the problems parents in the city and suburbs face finding qualified, safe day care providers for their children, I am extremely grateful that I can place my children in a home where they are safe, well fed, well cared for, played with, treated as individuals, and especially loved."

presentation would validate your position is short-sighted thinking. With true access and opportunity, use will come over time, not necessarily immediately.

Perhaps it is possible that sometimes big brother knows best, and little brother can't see the big picture.

Sincerely,
William Aspinall
Executive Director
Appalachian Crossroads

To the Editor:

Bravo to the writer of that fine editorial in last week's paper addressing the increasing problem with "Big Government" intervention into private business. I wish to congratulate you on your obvious sensitivity to the handicapped and how effectively you separated the issue about mandates from the government that, in some situations places an uncomfortable focus on the handicapped, rather than benefiting them.

It was the impression of this reader (who, incidentally has a handicapped son) that the church group had already made plans to accommodate those individuals needing assistance into the church. Isn't it unfortunate that this could not have been quietly implemented and effectively carried out without "Big Government" intervention?

In no way do we feel that you were being "unfair" to the handicapped in your article.

We write this to you because we are certain there will be those individuals who wish to fight for a cause, and blame you for an insensitivity that we feel absolutely is not a fair evaluation of your editorial.

My family and I wish to thank you for tastefully speaking out about a problem that seems to be escalating. That problem - Government Intervention. If you don't believe this statement, just check what is happening to the public school systems (only one of many examples).

Carry on with your beliefs, you're on track with the sentiments of many of Americans.

Very truly yours,
The Paul Briggles Family
Silver Spring

To the Editor:

Your editorial last week was disappointing, short-sighted, and self-serving. You were indeed correct when you stated that you leave yourself open for harsh criticism.

The Americans With Disabilities Act was made necessary by the laissez-faire attitude of mainstream America toward people with disabilities. Notice that my emphasis is on people. For far too long exclusion of people with disabilities and clumsy accommodations were accepted. It's too bad that it takes federal legislation to bring an end to this degradation.

Private Property Rights . . . Yours To Protect

"No person shall be . . . deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law." These words from the Bill of Rights guarantee the security of homeownership and the basic right to own, transfer and use real property.

In honor of American Home Week, April 18-24, the Garrett County Board of REALTORS offers a brief look at the history of private property rights and encourages the citizens of Garrett County to join in the celebration of these rights and acknowledge the need to protect them.

Our nation's concept of private property rights evolved from English Common Law, which, to a large extent, was patterned after ancient Roman law. Such laws have stood the test of time and courts, and were strongly supported by the American colonists.

Property rights were well established by the time George Washington became our first president. Washington remarked that "lands are of permanent value; there is scarcely a possibility of their falling in price, but almost a moral certainty of their rising exceedingly in value."

However, we don't have the absolute right to exercise these rights as freely as we may wish. "Just as most property is subject to some limitations, so are property rights controlled by some necessary restrictions," explained Robert G. Custer, president of the Garrett County Board of REALTORS. "These restrictions may be thought of as protections that enhance property and safeguard its value."

American property rights and privileges are limited or restricted by certain powers of government. The first, power of taxation, is the government's rights to tax property based on assessed value and the prevailing tax rate.

The power of eminent domain is taking private property in the public interest. "Just compensation" is required when property is appropriated. Affected property owners participate in the legal processes to ensure that compensation is just.

Police power is the right of the government to regulate property for the protection of the public's safety, health, morals and general welfare. Zoning laws, housing restrictions, building codes and subdivision controls are examples of regulations based upon the police power of the government.

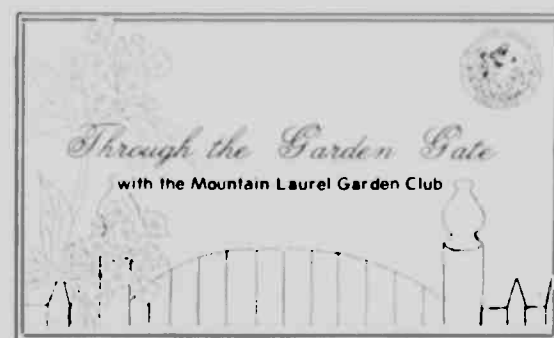

"Because we, as Americans, enjoy more political and economic freedom than any other people on earth, this nation must guard against taking for granted the rights inherent in homeownership," reminds Custer. "All citizens should be aware of local government regulations affecting private property. I encourage you to attend city council meetings. Know your local property issues, such as zoning and taxation."

Franklin Delano Roosevelt once said, "Real estate cannot be lost or stolen, nor can it be carried away. Purchased with common sense and managed with reasonable care, it is about the safest investment in the world."

While this remains true today, the dream of homeownership can be fulfilled only if we continue to protect our private property rights.

Join us in celebrating American Home Week, April 18-24, the national observance of our right to own, use and transfer real property.

The Garrett County Board of REALTORS is one of more than 1,800 local boards and association of Realtors nationwide that comprise the National Association of Realtors. As the nation's largest trade association, NAR is "The Voice for Real Estate," representing more than 750,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.

Garden Maintenance by Ruta Savage

There are many ways to take the hard work out of vegetable gardening. The use of mulch helps control weeds, regulates soil temperature, and keeps vegetables clean. Some of the most common materials used for mulches are straw, leaves, grass clippings, peat moss, sawdust, and black plastic. Do not add organic mulching materials until the soil has warmed up, usually about mid-June and after clean cultivation. Spread mulching material uniformly around plants and between rows, and add a complete fertilizer to it. Organic mulching materials require nitrogen for decomposition, and will compete with the crop for available nitrogen. Straw, leaves, and hay are usually placed three to four inches deep, but sawdust, peat moss, and wood chips should be no more than two inches thick.

As soon as soil can be properly worked after each rain or irrigation, it should be hoed or cultivated to kill weeds that have sprouted, and to leave the surface in a loose friable condition to absorb later rainfall. Weeds compete with crops for light, moisture, and plant nutrients. Cultivation should be shallow to avoid injury to vegetable plant roots near the surface. A sharp garden hoe is one of the best weed killers.

Black plastic can save lots of cultivation and weeding. Place the plastic sheet down flat and fasten edges with soil or stones. Make slits in the plastic and sow seeds directly into the row under it, or punch holes and set in transplants. The use of black plastic gives excellent results with several vegetable crops including cantaloupe, cucumbers, tomatoes, summer squash, and eggplant. Most gardeners prefer plastic that is one and a half millimeters thick and three to four feet wide. It is important that the plastic be laid over moist soil that has been properly prepared. Black plastic conserves moisture and with early crops planted during cool weather, it increases soil temperature and so results in more rapid growth and earlier plant maturity. Using the plastic on midsummer plantings is not recommended, however, since intense sunlight can result in excessively high temperatures which could injure young plants.

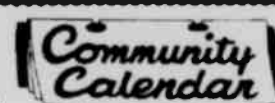

Many disease problems can be prevented. Plant parasites often winter over in refuse from last year's crops. If plants are diseased, don't put them in your compost. Rotate crops, or try the new disease resistant seeds that are developed each year. Only about 10 percent of all bugs are bad for the garden. If they are not killed by sprays, our natural predators, including insects, birds, frogs, and toads eliminate most pests. Scattering crops may confuse bugs and cut down on their activity; for example, instead of planting rows of beans side-by-side, mix them among rows of lettuce, radishes, beets, etc., making them harder to move among. Interspersing flowers such as marigolds, nasturtiums, calendulas, and zinnias in the garden may also help.

If slugs are a problem, dig a hole large enough to hold a

King To Be Honorary Chair Of GOH Event

The Garrett Organization for the Handicapped announces that Terry King will be the honorary chairperson for the 17th Annual Hike and Bike.

King is a local radio personality (WKHJ) who has donated many hours of his time to local charities. "We are very happy to have Terry working with us on our largest fund-raiser," said Dorothy Leuba, president of the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped.

Hike and Bike, sponsored by the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped (GOH), will be held May 15 and 16. The southern route begins at Dennett Road School, Oakland, at 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 15. The Northern route begins at Grantsville Community Park, Grantsville, at 1 p.m. on Sunday, May 16. One hour before the start of each event, VFW Post 10077 of Deer Park will hold an on-site safety inspection of all bicycles. All bicycles must be inspected at the event.

Any individual 11 years old or older may participate. No one under the age of 11 will be allowed to participate. Participants must obtain sponsor sheets, which are available by contacting Dorothy Leuba at 387-5810. Participants may walk, jog, or ride a bike, and are responsible for obtaining sponsors who are willing to pay pledged amounts of money for each mile traveled.

Each participant will receive a gift. Cash prizes will be awarded to the groups, schools, and individuals turning in the most money. A prize of $200 will go to the winning school and a winning organization. Seventy-five dollars will go to the winning individual youth (under 18) and adult (18 and over). Also, a cash prize of $10 will be awarded in a random drawing.

Police will patrol each route, and GOH members will be available to lend any needed assistance to participants on the five-mile route. Rain dates for the events will be May 22 and in Oakland, and May 23 in Grantsville. For further information, persons may contact Ms. Leuba at 387-5810.

arship student of the opera department, where he met and married Ms. Johnson in 1971. He will perform the roles of Ahab and Obadiiah in the local production.

Jordan has performed oratorios, operas, and concerts; singing in Europe, South America, and Canada. He has also toured the United States. Opera companies with which he has performed include the Pittsburgh Opera, St. Louis Opera, Bel Canto Opera, Opera Ebony, Teatro del Liceo, and the Opera de Lyon. He has sung under the batons of conductors Felix Popper, Clara B. Roesch, Warren Wilson, Paul Ross, Gunther Schuller, and Michael Morgan.

Andrew H. Harvey, son of William and Brenda Harvey, Pleasant Valley, will sing the role of the Youth. The young singer is a four-year vocal student of Carolyn Lambert-Wilt, local teacher and former professional opera singer. Andrew is 13 years old, a seventh grader at Southern Middle School, and a member of the Pleasant View Baptist Church.

Tickets for the event ($7 adults, $3 for children 12 and under) are currently on sale from any Society member or at Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland.

The Garrett Choral Society is under the direction of Nancy Learey, who has indicated that accommodations are being made for disabled persons who wish to attend the production. The event is funded in part by grants from the Maryland and Garrett County arts councils.

3. Capital projects (new and renovated buildings)

4. Funding (increase operating budget).

The most significant companion piece to the strategic plan is the financial plan. It reveals, in specific detail, the estimated cost of meeting GCC's strategic goals. Additionally, it reviews revenue streams and establishes funding targets by source.

The financial plan draws a distinction between operating and discretionary funds. Herman said it was important to note that "all revenue projections are conservative" in the plan.

Herman added that GCC is "at a point where the college can focus on goals one and two - academic enhancement and compensation."

Major capital needs outlined in the plan include a residence hall, roof replacements, parking, technical center modifications, student center renovations, academic building, gymnasium/wellness center (open to the public), and a blackbox theatre.

COMMUNITY ASSESSMENT STUDY REPORT

Don Storck reported Tuesday on the findings of the recently completed Community Assessment Result Summary for the college.

"With a 43% response rate, we feel this is indicative of the community interest in the college," said Storck. "We also had a good cross-sectional representation of respondents."

Those more familiar with the college and females responding tended to give more favorable ratings in the survey. Males aged 20 or under tended to give less favorable ratings.

Storck said 77% of those responding said GCC is "important" while 32% said it is "essential."

NOTE: The complete summary results will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.

OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTOR

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the board unanimously approved the 1993 individual award for Outstanding Contribution to GCC. The honoree will be Wayne Hamilton, Red House, former board member and one of the first proponents of a Garrett County community college.

The award will be presented to Mr. Hamilton at the May 13 commencement exercises of the college.

OTHER BUSINESS

The trustees approved the list of graduates handed to them by Dean of Academic Affairs Dr. Lillian Mitchell, pending successful completion of courses by prospective graduates.

Ted Along reported that the college is in "good" financial standing and said he did not project any additional short-term borrowing this fiscal

DNR Suggests Ways For Marylanders To Get Involved In Earth Day

Today, April 22, is Earth Day 1993, and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has suggested 15 ways citizens can get involved in helping and enhancing the environment today and every day.

"Maryland's abundant and spectacular natural resources are everyone's to enjoy, improve and protect," Governor William Donald Schaefer said. "Everyone should take some time on Thursday to remember the meaning of Earth Day, and make a commitment to be more aware of how we can all take better care of our environment all year long."

Dr. Torrey C. Brown, DNR secretary, suggested 15 activities or programs for persons to get involved to help Maryland's environment, using many of the resources and programs of the DNR.

"You can make a difference and DNR is ready to help you," Brown said. "Even if you just choose one activity, you will be greatly improving and enhancing our state's natural resources. Most of the ideas are low-cost and the personal reward is priceless."

The following list of 14 activities or programs persons can do on Earth Day and every day:

1. Plant A Tree: Plant a tree or seedling using the Tree-mendous Maryland gift program. For $15, persons can have a tree planted in recognition of someone and those persons will receive a certificate suitable for framing. Citizens can also volunteer to plant trees or seedlings at one of Tree-mendous Maryland's many statewide tree plantings. For info., persons may call (410) 974-3778.
2. Join A Junior Ranger Program: Encourage children (ages 7-14) to participate in a Junior Ranger Program at Maryland's state forests and parks. Information: (410) 974-3771.

3. Conserve Water: Water-saving devices in showers, toilet tanks, and faucets are recommended to create a Xeriscape, which is a low-water or no-water use garden, by contacting the statewide Cooperative Extension Services' Home and Garden Information at 1-800-342-2507, or DNR at (410) 974-3987.

4. Support The Trash-Free Parks Program: "Trash - If you make it, please take it!" This program, already successful in 21 other states, is a way to encourage an outdoor ethic, eliminate unsightly litter and trash from state parks, and encourage recycling. Trash cans have been removed from all state park day-use areas and recyclable garbage bags have been made available to all park visitors. The visitors are being asked to take their garbage home with them and recycle it.

5. Volunteer At A State Forest Or Park: Volunteers can help with a variety of programs and projects to improve the state's forests and parks. Call (410) 974-3771 or any local state park.

6. Recycle: For a listing of places to take recyclables, persons may call 1-800-473-2925.

7. Find Out About Tributary Strategies: Maryland's effort to restore the Chesapeake Bay is moving upstream, according to a DNR spokesperson, with other agencies, has developed a strategy to reduce nutrient pollution for each major tributary. There will be two public meetings in each watershed to explain the condition and to ask for public involvement for reducing pollution in Maryland rivers. Residents' concerns, opinions and ideas are needed to make these strategies work while being cost-effective and fair. For more information, persons may call DNR at (410) 974-2784, or the Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay at (410) 377-6270.

8. Attend Outdoor Adventure Programs: Residents are urged to attend one of these programs offered at state forests and parks to gain increased awareness and appreciation of the outdoors. Information: (410) 974-3771.

Top Children's Authors To Be At FSU Event

The Spring Festival of Children's Literature is set for April 30 and May 1 at Frostburg State University, where 350 librarians, educators, parents, and students who advocate and want to learn more about the sharing of children's literature will convene.

The Festival offers to them a chance to experience first-hand interaction with the authors and illustrators through informative small group sessions and large group presentations. Topics range from practical applications, such as using literature in the school curriculum to teach basic concepts, to the more intangible, like broadening the creative minds of the children in their charge.

The Festival is the brainchild of Dr. William Bingman, professor of educational professions, as he looked for a way to honor two colleagues, both of whom held children's literature as a primary interest. Now in its 11th year, what began as a small gathering has become a major event, and Dr. Bingman identifies several factors that account for that success.

One would be our size. With a self-imposed cap of 350 we are large enough to attract top-quality favorites in the field, yet still small enough to provide personalized attention and a 'home-town' touch. Our program itself offers diversity, with a large and small group presentations and many opportunities for one-to-one interaction with colleagues and featured authors. We offer an extensive book selection for purchase, as well as autographing opportunities. And you can't discount our location -- the beauty of the Western Maryland mountains in the spring is certainly an attraction.

HOSPICE RECOGNIZES VOLUNTEERS - The Garrett County Commissioners this week joined with Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. in recognizing and congratulating its volunteers during National Volunteer Week, April 18-24. Hospice of Garrett County is a local organization serving the terminally ill citizens of Garrett County and their families. It is a form of care for the terminally ill, enabling them to live fully and as pain free as possible. "The organization enables patients to spend their last days in dignity," said a spokesperson. Services rendered by Hospice include providing emotional support, as well as tangible services, such as shopping, help with patient care, respite care, and transportation for the patient and the family. "Just being there is very important," said the spokesperson. In addition to caregivers, Hospice volunteers include bereavement support and auxiliary volunteers, and board members. Approximately 3,000 hours are donated to the organization every year. Shown above, seated, left to right, are the Garrett County Commissioners, Brenda J. Butcher (who is also the executive director of Hospice), Elwood L. Groves, and John G. Braskey. Standing, same order, are Mark Dursi, board member, Eleanor Plachta, auxiliary volunteer, Sharon King, director of volunteers, Ida Maus, volunteer caregiver and board member, and Ellen Friend, R.N., director of nursing for Hospice.

This year, featured presentations will be offered by Rafe Martin, Mary Downing Hahn, Crescent Dragonwagon, and Lynne Cherry.

Internationally known Rafe Martin is an award-winning author and storyteller, who focuses on both traditional and original tales. Described as a powerful and masterful storyteller who "nourishes his listeners with images," Martin is in demand at many prestigious events and institutions, including the National Storytelling Festival and the American Library Association Annual Conference. He won the Pannel Award from the Woman's National Book Association as the author most creative and effective in bringing children and books together.

Publications include the award winning Foolish Rabbit's Big Mistake, Will's Mammoth, and The Rough Faced Girl.

Award winning author/illustrator Mary Downing Hahn draws upon many of her real-life experiences as the basis for her works of juvenile fiction. Her characters are a mixture of strengths and weaknesses; they suffer trials and share joys that are reflective of the lives of their readers," one critic said. Combining writing time with her work as a librarian in Prince Georges County, Han's books include Daphne's Book, Stepping on the Cracks, The Time of the Witch. She is currently working on her first fantasy novel, The Wizard and Me, and is finalizing ideas for a non-fiction book on puppet making.

Like Hahn, Crescent Dragonwagon's works are inspired by events in her life, both the everyday and the unusual. "She writes from her heart, and describes her talent as a deep impulse to put occurrences into words," a critic said. To Dragonwagon, writing has always been an inseparable part of her being. Her first book, Rainy Day Together, was published at age 16, and has been followed by a long list of popular titles. Her works include poetry, novels, and picture books, each equally well received.

Love and respect for the global environment are recurrent themes in the works of Lynne Cherry. Through her writing and illustration in books like The Great Kapok Tree and A River Ran Wild, she captures the beau-

GCC Students To Attend Md. Student Legislature Session

Seven student delegates from Garrett Community College will attend the annual session of the Maryland Student Legislature at the State House in Annapolis April 29 - May 2.

The students and their advisor, Anna Marie Williamson, will meet with delegations from 12 other Maryland colleges and universities to discuss resolutions and to vote on bills that will then be sent to the General Assembly.

The GCC delegation will be led by Nathan Blatchley, chairman, and will include Senators Dean Bursa and Sheila Butt, and Delegates Nathan Robinson, Shawn Groves, Mary Shoemaker, and Jennifer Greathouse.

Resolutions to be presented by the GCC delegation deal with timely issues of government. They include resolutions supporting the reauthorization of the Clean Water Act of 1991, supporting the ratification and implementation of the protocol on environmental protection to the Antarctic Treaty, concerning the accountability of pregnant addict mothers, concerning the distribution of foreign aid to Israel, and an act providing for the right of the terminally ill to die.

Family Groups Will Hold Blue Ribbon Campaign

The Garrett County Children and Family Council, along with the Garrett County Office for Children, Youth and Families, Inc., are planning a Blue Ribbon Campaign to help prevent and draw awareness to child abuse the week of April 25 to May 1, 1993. The campaign will mark the conclusion of National Child Abuse Prevention Month.

"Not only is child abuse and neglect a National problem, but it is also a community problem," stated a Council spokesman. Typically the Garrett County Department of Social Services receives between 50 and 60 child abuse reports per year and over 100 reports of child neglect. "These reports are just the tip of the iceberg since only the more serious incidents of abuse and neglect are typically reported. By drawing awareness to this problem, it is hoped that more people will seek help if they find themselves abusing or about to abuse a child," the spokesman said.

The Office For Child, Youth, and Families is distributing blue ribbons and book markers supplied by People Against Child Abuse

PACA to various organizations in the community during the week of the 25th. In an attempt to raise community awareness, they are encouraging everyone to wear a blue ribbon or attach one to their car. The book markers are being dispersed throughout the community.

Any person or agency wishing to contribute to or participate in this effort is encouraged to contact the Garrett County Office for Children, Youth and Families, Inc., at 334-5030.

Shrine Memorial Service To Be Held This Sunday

Ali Ghan Shrine Temple, Cumberland, will hold a memorial service this Sunday, April 25, at 2:30 p.m. according to Andrew Sweitzer, co-chairman. The service will honor those Nobles who have died during the period from January 1991 through March 1993.

The program will be conducted by the director's staff of Ali Ghan Temple, assisted by representatives of the various units of the Temple. Nobles Andrew Sweitzer and Theodore Robinette are co-chairing the program. "It is our hope that all deceased Nobles will be represented by a family member at the service. In the event that no family member can be present, the deceased Noble will be acknowledged by his unit or the director's staff. This is a renewal of the memorial service, and it is our plan to make it an annual event," stated Sweitzer.

The program will consist of musical selections from the Frostburg Methodist Church, introductory remarks, and the recognition of the deceased Nobles. Unit representatives, widows, and/or other family members are asked to contact the Recorder's office (301-722-5970) to assure that the deceased Nobles will be represented and recognized. Following the memorial service, the director's staff will provide refreshments.

Legislation effective for 1993 makes an important change for employees taking lump-sum distribution from retirement plans, whether they retire, quit or are laid off. In the past, people taking such distributions had 60 days to roll the sums into an IRA or other approved plan without facing taxes or penalties. The new rule subjects such lump-sum distributions to a 20-percent withholding tax if an employee collects a distribution, even if intending to roll it into an IRA. To avoid the withholding tax, tell the retirement plan administrator to transfer the sum directly to an IRA or other plan.

And Board Of Directors Are Pleased to Share With The Public The Following Letter Mailed To The Stockholders Today:

WM Bancorp

April 22, 1993

Dear Stockholder:

At its recent meeting on April 15, 1993, the Board of Directors of WM Bancorp, after reviewing the favorable results for the first quarter of 1993 and the budget projections for the remainder of this year, unanimously voted to resume the payment of dividends on the common stock of our company.

As you know, in December of 1991, because of increases in reserves necessary to cover possible loan losses and to satisfy regulatory requirements, there was a serious deterioration of earnings that led to a suspension of the dividend. Since that time, reserves for loan losses have been substantially increased, our capital position has been enhanced, and as a result of strong leadership from management in consolidating our Maryland banks and improving the overall efficiency of Bancorp operations, we have had a return to profitability.

Accordingly, the Board of Directors have voted to pay a cash dividend of 15 cents per share to stockholders of record May 28, 1993, payable June 14, 1993. The Board also voted approval of a 10% stock dividend to shareholders of record May 28, 1993, also payable June 14, 1993.

We want to thank you for your patience and support during this time of transition. The management and employees of WM Bancorp and its subsidiaries deserve our congratulations for their diligence and perseverance in implementing the changes necessary in achieving these profitable results.

The security of your investment has been considerably enhanced and our banks are now positioned to aggressively take advantage of growth opportunities.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

J. Glenn Seall, Jr.

Born December 23, 1917, in Aurora, W.Va., he was the son of the late H. Clinton and Beatie (Selders) Wotring. He was also preceded in death by two brothers and one granddaughter.

He was a retired West Virginia Department of Highways employee and was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Ruby G. (Lowers) Wotring; one daughter, Patsy Slaubaugh, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va.; one son, Gary Wotring, Terra Alta, W.Va.; one foster daughter, Betty Hook, Aurora, W.Va.; one sister, Irene Mayes, Stephens City, Va.; six grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Aurora United Methodist Church Memorial Building where a service was conducted Wednesday at 4 p.m. with the Rev. Wayne Frankhouser officiating.

Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, was in charge of arrangements.

Interment was in the Aurora Cemetery where military honors were accorded graveside by members of the various veterans' organizations in southern Garrett County.

WILDA E. MINICK
Wilda Estella Minick, 70, Frostburg, died Thursday, April 15, 1993, at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Born April 25, 1922, in Avilton, she was the daughter of the late Ernest Q. and Maggie (Llewellyn) Michael.

Mrs. Minick was the co-owner and operator of Bud and Wilda's Green Lantern and attended Mt. Zion Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband, John "Bud" Minick, one son, Harry Minick, Star Route, Frostburg; one brother, David Michael, Tacoma Park; one granddaughter, Lori Lynn Minick, Star Route, Frostburg.

Friends were received in the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville.

A service was conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. in Mt. Zion United Methodist Church with the Rev. David Lancaster officiating.

Interment was in the church cemetery.

The family requests that memorials be directed to the Mt. Zion Methodist Church.

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING - Garrett County Habitat for Humanity held its annual meeting recently. The organization provides affordable, attractive housing for families who do not qualify for conventional financing. Selection of home owners is based on actual need as determined by the condition of their current shelter, ability to pay, and the character of the applicant's household. Garrett County Habitat for Humanity is funded and supported by the generosity of local churches, businesses, and the individuals in the community. The chapter has built 24 homes and improved 65 others since 1983. Shown in the above photo at the annual meeting, seated, left to right, are Sandy Flanigan, vice president; Clarence Stem, president; Rich Tepper, outgoing president; and Beth James Rigg, treasurer. Standing, same order, are board members Cathy DiPaola, Connie Margison, Paul Shogren, Brenda Marucci, Ruth Beltzel, Ida Mauat, Don Little, Duane Yoder, and Ginny Groves. Board members Jane Fox and Rick McManis were not available at the time the photo was taken.

WILLIAM RICHARD CARR

William Richard Carr, 36, Rockville, formerly of Sang Run, died Thursday, April 15, 1993, at his home.

Born February 11, 1957, in Oakland, he was a son of Myrtle (Tasker) Carr, Rockville, and the late Donald William Carr.

Prior to his illness, he was employed as a construction worker.

Surviving in addition to his mother, he is survived by one brother, Martin Carr, Monrovia; two sisters, Robin Hoffacker, Gaithersburg; Barbara Aleshire, Comus; one half-sister, Vicki Carr, Michigan; and several nieces and nephews.

A service was conducted at the Durr Funeral Home, Oakland, Saturday at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Ralph Jacks officiating.

Interment was in the Sang Run Cemetery.

JUANITA F. KNOTTS

Juanita F. Knotts, 50, Oakland, died Friday, April 16, 1993, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born January 28, 1943, in Deer Park, she was the daughter of the late Russell and Wilda (Cooper) Tasker. She was also preceded in death by three brothers.

Mrs. Knotts was a former cook at the Oak-Mar Restaurant, Oakland, and attended the Kurtz Chapel United Methodist Church.

Surviving are her husband, Jackie H. Knotts, one daughter, Genevieve Schreck, Oakland; one son, David H. Knotts, Oakland; two sisters, Betty Sweitzer and Barbara Sweitzer, both of Oakland; six brothers, Richard Tasker, Charles Tasker, Roger Tasker, Cecil Tasker, Donald Tasker, and Allen Tasker, all of Oakland; and two grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. James F. Remley officiating.

Interment was in the Tasker Cemetery.

DOROTHY C. JANNEY

Dorothy C. Janney, 85, Westminster, died Sunday evening, April 18, 1993, at her son's home following an extended illness.

Born in New Bedford, Mass., she was the daughter of the late Edgar Clifford and Winnie (Laney) Crosby. She was the wife of the late Richard W. Janney Sr.

Mrs. Janney was a retired school teacher in Montgomery County and was a graduate of the University of Maryland, where she received her master's degree. She was a member of the Montgomery County Retired Teachers Association and was also a member of the Sandy Spring Museum.

Survivors include two sons, Richard W. Janney Jr., Westminster, and Noel T. Janney, Piketon, Ohio; two daughters, Margaret Darcey Janney, Friendsville; and Mary Janney Conlon, Beulah, Colo.; nine grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

A memorial service was held on Wednesday at 11 a.m. at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Brighton with the Rev. James Shields officiating.

Interment was in the Woodside Cemetery.

Arrangements were made by the Pitts Funeral Home and Chapel, Westminster.

AAUW Sponsoring Career Fair At Morgantown Mall

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) of Maryland and West Virginia is sponsoring a Computer, Math, and Science Career Fair on Saturday, May 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. according to an AAUW spokesman, at the Morgantown Mall (Westover Exit, I-79).

This one-day event will introduce students to careers in computer, mathematics and the sciences, ranging from aviation to zoology. Career Fair role models, who are professional women who have been successful in their work utilizing computer, math, and science skills, will demonstrate with career exhibits and discuss, one-on-one, how to become involved in the world of 21st century technology. Over 50 exhibitors will be participating.

AAUW has targeted seventh grade girls for the Career Fair hoping to encourage them to take computer, math, and science courses and expose them to career possibilities including non-traditional ones for women requiring computer, math, and science skills. The Garrett County Branch of the American Association of Women is sponsoring buses from both Northern and Southern middle schools for seventh grade girls. Girls must be pre-registered at their schools in order to ride the bus.

This is the second year that the Garrett Branch has provided funds for bus transportation for seventh grade girls from the middle schools. Last year, the Career Fair was held at the Annapolis Mall.

Although the focus is on seventh grade female students, the Career Fair is free and open to the public. The Garrett Branch of AAUW hopes that parents of middle school students (particularly girls) will decide to take them to the fair. Last year's response to the fair was "very favorable," the spokesman said. Persons who desire more information may call Jean Clark (387-5027), Sheila Edwards (334-9344), or contact either local middle school.

Oakland Seabee With Operation Restore Hope

Bale Dogle, Somalia -- The Seabees of Naval Mobile Construction Battalion One (NMCB-1) have responded in short order to provide their special skills for Operation Restore Hope. Navy construction workers, builders and mechanics are putting the muscle behind the U.S. and coalition forces' efforts to tame and rebuild war-torn Somalia.

Petty Officer 1st Class James Neary, 27-year-old son of Zelma Neary, Oakland, is a Navy builder with NMCB-1 and taking part in this effort. Neary is a 1983 graduate of Southern High School.

NMCB-1 established a base camp for its 400 sailors in the desert town of Bale Dogle just at the end of December in what once was a Soviet airbase. From there, detachments of from 20 to 50 Seabees have moved across the country, improving living conditions for multi-national soldiers and Somali alike. The Seabees have workshops in the villages of Baidoa, Bardera and Beledweyne.

Their most visible contribution in Bale Dogle is the work done to rebuild two schools and an orphanage. At one of the schools, adjacent to an Irish Concern feeding center, the Seabees have put up a finished wood fence around the yard, erected basketball goals fashioned from old light posts, built a swing set and soccer goals, and poured concrete floors in the school's six rooms. Similar projects are underway in other areas of the town.

A Seabee water well drilling team is bringing needed water to Bale Dogle. For the first two months of the operation, water has been trucked into the town over land from Mogadishu, more than 100 miles away. But once established, two viable wells near the Seabee's camp should provide enough water for the town.

The Seabees have also been providing camp construction support to adjacent U.S. and international forces, including the Moroccan military which provides security in the Bale Dogle area. They've also been repairing the main supply route between Baidoa and Bale Dogle to help military and food relief convoys travel faster and safer.

The mission of the unit is a traditional one for Navy Marine Corps forces, as outlined in the defense white paper "From The Sea." The plan shifts the sea service's focus from a global threat to regional challenges and concentrates on near-land warfare and maneuvers from the sea.

Before Restore Hope, the battalion was preparing to depart its home port of Gulfport, Miss., in December and deploy to Camp Mitchell in Rota, Spain, for their regularly scheduled seven-month deployment.

NMCB-1's plans changed Dec. 6 when the battalion was directed to redeploy to Somalia and join the U.S. and coalition forces headed there. The battalion arrived in the capital of Mogadishu Dec. 27 and moved inland from there.

Upon completion of its involvement in Restore Hope, NMCB-1 will resume deployment in Rota, Spain, and return to Gulfport in July.

Local Student Among Dancers

Tracy Murray, 19, daughter of Charles and Sandra Murray, Grantsville, is appearing in the Salisbury State University Dance Company's "Spring Concert 1993."

Murray is a sophomore at SSU majoring in biology. She is a 1991 graduate of Northern High School.

Performances for the Spring Concert are scheduled for Wednesday, April 28, at 7 p.m.; Friday, April 30, at 8 p.m.; and Saturday, May 1, at 2 p.m. in the Holloway Hall Auditorium on the SSU campus.

Lakers Fall To Charles, Then Split With Rockville And Potomac State

The Garrett Community College Lakers met some of the toughest competition on their schedule this past week and came away with two wins and three defeats, leaving them with a record of 12-6 overall and 9-2 in the JUCO standings.

The Lakers hosted Charles CC on Friday in what was supposed to be a doubleheader, but the second game had to be halted in the fourth inning because of rain. Garrett lost the first game, 9-7, and the score was tied 7-7 in the nightcap when it was called.

GCC then hosted a previously undefeated Rockville team on Sunday and whipped the visitors in the first game of the twinbill, 12-7, but dropped the second game, 7-5.

The Lakers entertained Potomac State College Tuesday afternoon and, after dropping the first game, 16-4, brought an end to the Catamounts' 12-game winning streak by edging them in the second contest, 10-9.

Charles CC recorded three unearned runs early against the Lakers and never trailed in Friday's game. Kevin Young paced the visitors' hitting performance with a two-run homer in the fourth inning and a single. He also scored three runs. Bill Adams had an RBI double and a single and also scored three times, while Curt Russell contributed three singles and Bill Nelson recorded two RBI with two hits.

Bo Bishop smacked his fifth home run of the season.

FOR THE SPORT OF IT - What is a native of Chicago and graduate of the University of Iowa with a B.A. in business doing at Garrett Community College? Tony DeCianni, right, is a full-time student in the Adventure Sports program at the college, and planning on owning his own outfitting company when he graduates. He plans on locating somewhere in the west - Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, or possibly Alaska. When he first read about the CCC's Adventure Sports program in an issue of Backpacker magazine, DeCianni called Mike Logsdon, left, director of the program, for information about applying. "There isn't much opportunity for adventure sports in Chicago," he said. So he enrolled in the program in January and has now nearly completed his first semester, taking 13 credits that include biology, first aid, and three activity courses yet to come - orienteering, rock climbing and rafting and river guiding. In addition to his course work, DeCianni is obtaining practical experience in adventure sports. He was one of three persons who worked with Logsdon on a snowy weekend in March to map the area for the orienteering course now scheduled for May. During the spring break, he spent four days on the Cheat River - snow and all - training in whitewater paddling techniques at Appalachian Whitewater. This summer he hopes to work as a rafting guide somewhere in the area. He said that he is impressed with the college and its instructors. "They give students all the needed attention," he added. Beyond that, he enjoys Garrett County and the mountains. "Nothing in Chicago compares with the peacefulness you find here," he said. "I love this area."

A VERY HIGH PITCH? While this photo by Mike Hetrick might lead one to believe that this Garrett Community College batter took a swing at a terrible pitch, it is actually a foul tip that occurred during a game played Sunday afternoon against Rockville. The Lakers defeated the previously unbeaten visitors in the first game of the doubleheader, 12-7, but were edged in the nightcap, 7-5.

a two-run shot in the third inning, and also doubled and singled, while Brian Clark added a solo homer and a double and Deron Godby contributed an RBI double.

In the first game against Rockville on Sunday, Laker pitcher Paul Bowman was tagged for five runs in the first inning, but calmed down and allowed only two more runs through the next four frames until Bill Wilcox took over and allowed only one hit in the final two innings to earn a save.

Rockville was up 7-1 going into the bottom of the fourth inning, with the Lakers' lone run coming on Bishop's sixth homer, recorded in the first inning. But Garrett rallied for five runs in the bottom of the fourth, and three each in the fifth and sixth frames to bring Rockville's undefeated campaign to an end.

Doug Bertolini ripped a two-run triple and Clark and Joe Pecarro both had doubles to account for the runs in the fourth. A two-run homer by Bertolini highlighted the fifth inning when the Lakers took the lead for good. Then Godby added a three-run shot in the sixth to seal the victory.

Bishop finished with two singles to go with his home run and also scored four runs. Godby homered and singled for three RBI. Bertolini had a triple and single to go with his home run and Pecarro finished with a double and single.

The Lakers led 4-2 in the second game after six innings, but were suddenly down 5-4 when two Rockville players walked and Pat Dobson rapped a three-run homer.

The Lakers sent the contest into extra innings with a walk, two errors, and a sacrifice fly by Bishop, but Rockville put the game away with two runs in the ninth, neither of which was scored on a hit.

Bertolini finished with two doubles, Don Lowdermilk had a double and a single, and Rob Whittington hit a home run for the Lakers.

The Potomac State bats were hot in the first game against the Lakers Tuesday, as the Catamounts recorded 15 hits, including six home runs, to up their win streak.

the bottom of the seventh with two runs scored on wild pitches.

Jermaine Shy singled and advanced to third on two wild pitches. Then Pecarro walked and stole second. Shy scored the tying run on a wild pitch. Crosby drew a walk, and Pecarro came home with the winning run on the fourth wild pitch of the inning.

Bishop and Shy each recorded two singles. Pecarro added an RBI double, and Whittington singled home two runs. The Lakers were out-hit, 15-10.

Griffith, who took the mound in the seventh, was credited with the win over Brian Carmichael.

Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt's Lakers were slated to play at Prince George's CC yesterday, but the doubleheader was rained out. They are scheduled to play a make-up doubleheader this Friday, host Chesapeake CC in a twinbill on Saturday, and entertain Allegany CC for two games Sunday.

SHS Net Teams Whip Fort Hill

The Southern High School girls' tennis team upped its season mark to 4-1 Monday afternoon by topping visiting Fort Hill, 6-1, while the Southern boys' team improved to 2-3 with a 6-0 win over the Sentinels.

Ingrid Carlson, Hillary Garris, Jessica Teels, Kathryn Ashby, and Tammy Eisentrout were all winners in singles matches for the Rams. The team's sixth point was awarded for a forfeit in a doubles match.

The Sentinels' only point was recorded by the doubles team of Allyson Barth and Beth Soloski. The loss dropped Fort Hill's record to 5-5.

In the boys' match, Shawn Gregory and Devin Pratt were winners in singles and together won a doubles match. Other singles victors were Terrance O'Hare, Aaron Chropenning, and Jason Barr.

The final doubles match was suspended because of darkness, with Fort Hill's Paul Luse and J.J. Gluck leading, 4-0.

Northern Girls Roll Fort Hill, Boys Defeated

The Northern High School tennis teams were in action Friday at Fort Hill, as the Northern girls rolled over the Sentinels, while the Northern boys were defeated.

The Northern girls gave up only one match to Fort Hill on Friday, as Lisa Stephens, Alison Buckel, Amy Glatfely, and Jenny Theriot all recorded singles victories and the teams of Candy Buckel and Glatfely, and Carrie Sisler and Roxy Niner were doubles winners.

Only Dani Lipaki won for

the Sentinels.

The Northern boys were defeated 5-2, as Shawn Wachter was the only singles winner for the Huskies and Shawn Beachy and John Bray recorded a doubles win.

Mike Trozzo, Chapin Jewell, Brian Read, and Kerry Lucas were all singles winners for Fort Hill, while Brandon Buser and Kevin Stanton were victorious in doubles. The win upped the Sentinels record to 5-4.

In the Northern girls' 5-2 win Tuesday against visiting Beall, Stephens, Buckel, Sara Younk, and Theriot were all winners in singles. Candy Buckel and Carrie Sisler won their doubles match.

The only singles win for the Beall girls (0-3) was by Christina Coleman. Lisa Barry and Jaime McFarland won in doubles.

The Husky boys were blanked 7-0, as Rob Pusey, Brian Fike, Shane Jones, Brian Muir, and Jim Oh all won their singles matches to record their first team win in three starts.

Sierra Club Weekend Outings

The Western Maryland Group of the Sierra Club has announced two outings for the weekend of April 24-25. The first is a hike for families with children on Saturday, April 24, through Cathedral State Park in West Virginia.

Cathedral State Park, located west of the intersection of national Routes 50 and 219, is the only state of ancient forest in this area.

The hike will be followed by a picnic at the Park's play area. Families must register by calling Karen Krogh at 301-889-5975.

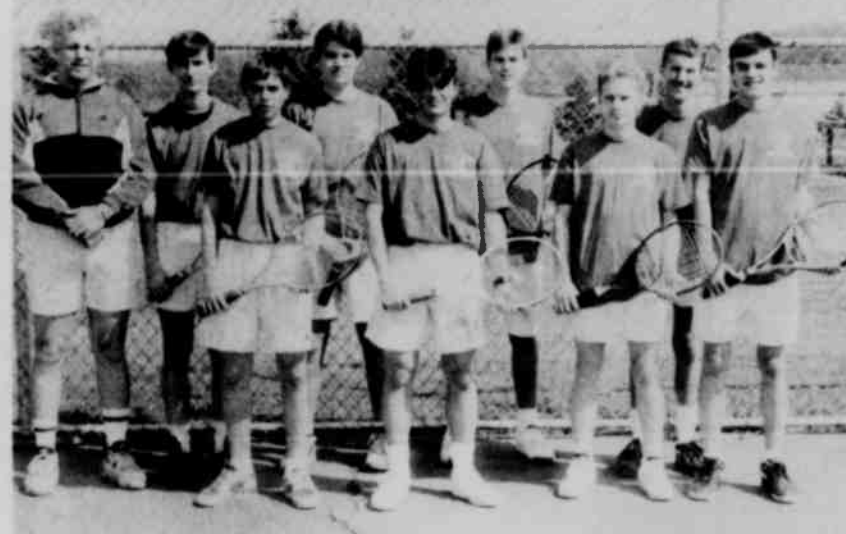

Louis Bernstein of the Club will lead bikers on a tour of the C&O Canal tow-path from North Branch to Oldtown on Sunday, April 25. This easy bike ride is suitable for all levels of bikers. Participants will assemble at the locks at North Branch, just off Route 51 south of Cumberland. For information, persons may call Bernstein at 301-777-3212.

The Club will sponsor a wildflower hike in Garrett County on May 2. Led by the Club's John Dunkle, participants will drive from spot to spot in northern Garrett County, stopping and taking brief hikes through areas of dense wildflowers. Participants are to meet at Roy Rogers parking lot, Frostburg, at 1:30 p.m. For further information, persons may call Dunkle at 301-689-5830.

RAM NET SEASON UNDERWAY - The Southern High School tennis teams were finally able to get their seasons underway the past two weeks, as wet and winter weather postponed a number of early matches. The Southern girls, coached by Deb Goralaki, are currently enjoying a 4-1 mark, while the Southern boys' team, coached by Fred Pratt, hold a record of 2-3. Team members pictured above are, front row, left to right: Tiffany Nicholson, Hillary Garris, Jessica Teets, Julie Caruso, and Katie Hudson; and back row, same order: Coach Goralaki, Julie Eiswert, Kathryn Aahby, Ingrid Carlson, Tammy Eisentrout, and Amanda Stoner. Boys' team members pictured below are, front row: Coby Bolden, Terence O'Hare, Sean Gregory, and Brad Boal; and back row, Coach Pratt, Derek Sprick, Devin Pratt, Jason Barr, and Aaron Chorpennig.

Rams Remain Undefeated With Sweep Of Berkeley Springs

The Southern High Rams kept their unbeaten streak rolling Monday by sweeping Berkeley Springs in a doubleheader, 13-9 and 7-4. The pair of victories upped Coach Jim Bosley's record to 5-0.

The Rams erupted for 21 hits in their Potomac Valley Conference Sweep of Berkeley Springs, led by Josh Woods, who went six-for-eight with three RBI and scored five times.

Woods tripled, doubled, and singled twice during the Rams' 12-hit effort in the first game. Matt Newcomb added a double and a single and Jeremy Bosley rapped a triple for two RBI.

The Rams took control of the game early and led 9-3 after four innings, but the Indians rallied for six runs in the sixth to knot the score at 9-9. Southern took the lead for good with two runs in the bottom of the sixth and added a pair of insurance scores in the seventh.

Jim Stotler doubled and singled twice to pace the Indians' 10-hit performance, while Shawn Martin singled twice.

Gary Upole, who pitched into the seventh inning, was credited with the win over Brian Day.

The Rams were down 4-3 going into the bottom of the fifth inning of the second game, but scored a pair of runs in that frame when Woods singled, Bosley followed with a double, and Upole sent them both home with a single to make it 5-4.

The Rams iced the win with a pair of two-out runs in the sixth inning, the first off a double by Mark Dawson and the second on a single by Woods.

Woods finished with two singles, Upole stroked a double and a single for two RBI, and sophomore Jeremy Fitzwater smacked a two-run homer in the third inning.

Bosley, who went the distance, earned the win on the mound to up his personal record to 3-0. He struck out five batters and did not allow a walk.

T. Smith and Shawn Martin led the Indians' ninth-inning effort as each recorded a double.

The Rams were scheduled to play at Westmar Wednesday, but the game was postponed because of wet conditions.

Area Speedway Review

Somerset County Speedway

The Somerset County Speedway, located at the Somerset County Fairgrounds in Meyersdale, Pa., will begin its fourth racing season on Friday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. Trial runs, however, will be held on Sunday, April 25. Gates open at noon, trial runs begin at 2 p.m. The cost for each driver and each pitman will be $10 for the trial runs. Grandstand cost will be $2.

Racing at the speedway began in the 1940s under the Somerset County Fairgrounds Raceway name. In the early 50s, a tragic accident caused the raceway to close.

In 1989, the Somerset County Fair Association dismantled the old grandstand because of the unsafe condition of the wooden structure. In its place a $208,000 steel and aluminum grandstand was erected.

By February of 1990, a new racing program was on the way to becoming a reality under the direction of Jack Fullerton from Meyersdale, a man instrumental in getting funding and equipment to finish the new grandstands. When racing started in May of that year, 80 drivers were waiting for the green flag to drop at the Somerset County Speedway.

Racing at the 1/2 mile clay oval is considered stock with a few added twists. It is considered "non-stop" racing since the race is stopped only if the track is blocked or someone's safety is in question. Each race night at least four heats and three features are run. The 1993 season may even add more heats or features because there are 115 cars registered to race. A car must be registered prior to racing at the speedway due to the number of cars and the strict car specifications. The speedway is proud to have the Meyersdale Volunteer Fire Department, The Meyersdale Area Ambulance Association, and the Salisbury Ambulance Service providing coverage of the weekly events.

Drivers come from the tri-state area and run the gamut from "rookies" to "seasoned veterans." The amount of money spent on the cars vary from driver to driver. It is hoped that the car specifications keep this type of racing affordable to all.

If during the summer there is a threat of rain, a decision about cancelling will not be made until 4 p.m. After that time, a message will be put on the answering machine (814-634-0916) only if it is cancelled. See you at the races!

Interstate 79 Speedway
Interstate 79 Speedway in Shinnston, W. Va., will open for the 1993 racing season Friday night, April 23. 1-79 runs each Friday evening with gates opening at 6 p.m. and racing at 8 p.m. Many special events are planned throughout the season with a few on Sunday evenings.

Promoters, Mark Richards and Steve Baker have announced a full schedule of events which includes a five-race West Virginia State championship Series for late models, three of which are sanctioned by STARS (Short Track Auto Racing STARS). Other events include the return of the All Star Sprint with the 2nd annual sprint car wheelie contest, four Skool Series races for the UMP Modifieds and an N.T.P.A. Tractor Pull.

Approximately 100 cars race weekly at the 1/4 mile clay oval which is located off Interstate 79 at Exit 125 just south of Fairmont, W. Va.

For more information, those interested may call 304-592-3200 or on race day 304-592-0916

Cumberland Raceway

Racing will begin at the Cumberland Raceway, at the Allegany County Fairgrounds on Rt. 220 south of Cumberland, on Saturday, April 24, at 7 p.m. with points beginning and a Hamilton Country Roads Plymouth/Chrysler/Dodge Night season opener.

The 5/8 mile oval, clay track opened in 1991 with racing on Saturday nights under lights for the first time in the history of the track. Currently entering the third season, promoters Ben and Nancy Evans of Lonaconing, hosts three classes of racing each week: Late Models, Semi-Lates and Pure Stocks. Entry level is Pure Stocks as the driver's racing expertise develops, he proceeds into Semi-Late and possibly into Late Model racing.

The gates open at 4:30 p.m. with hot laps at 6:30 and racing at 7 p.m. Heat races take place after the hot laps which qualify drivers for the feature races of the night. As many as 24 cars may enter the feature race in each class.

The Cumberland Raceway has been well received in the area. Local businesses have purchased wall and fence advertisements, have sponsored weekly races adding additional bonus money to the week pay-off, and offer many free give-aways during intermission time. Fans contribute additional money to the driver finishing in various positions and to drivers who can break another driver's winning streak. Crowds have been tremendous filling up the entire original grandstand, creating a need for additional grandstands. Good advice: Come early to get a good seat.

Huskies Split With Clear Spring Before Defeating Mountaineers

The unbeaten streak of the Northern High varsity baseball team came to an end Friday afternoon at Clear Spring, as the Huskies lost to the host team in the nightcap of a doubleheader, 10-0. However, the Huskies won the opening game, 4-1, and then topped host Beall on Monday afternoon, 5-2. Coach Phil Carr's Huskies will put their 6-1 mark against arch rival Southern this Friday in Accident.

Rob Speicher led the Huskies on the pitcher's mound and at the plate in the first game against Clear Spring, as he went the distance to get the complete-game win and also rapped a pair of singles. However, it was Paul Edwards's seventh-inning, three-run homer that broke a 1-1 tie and gave the Huskies the win.

The Huskies took a 1-0 lead in the third and Clear Spring tied it with a run in the sixth. Bobby Fritz led off Northern's seventh with a walk and Robert Beachy followed with a single to set up the winning blast by Edwards.

Clear Spring pitcher Davis controlled the second contest from the opening toss, as he fired a one-hitter. The home team bats came

In Memory of my Husband DOYLE MOATS

on his birthday April 25th

Every night as I lay my head down there are no smiles only a frown I look over to the side of the bed next to me. To see only a pillow where your head used to be. I close my eyes and try to sleep. But there is pain in my heart and I begin to weep. I remember all the good times we shared. Now I lay here in total despair. Is there any way we can bring back the past. It all went so quickly, it all went so fast. As I drift off, I begin to dream. I see you there. So real it seems. I reach out my hands to feel you there. And awake to find its only the air. I turn on the radio and listen to song and face the sad truth! You really are gone. Sadly missed by your wife Jenny & Children Daughter-in-Law & Son-in-Law

SOFTBALL SEASON IS UNDERWAY at Southern and Northern high schools. Above: Southern pitcher Carolyn Tasker sends a ball toward a Preston County batter during the first game of a doubleheader played Monday afternoon. The Rams lost the first game, 9-5, and the second contest ended in a 15-15 tie. At right, Northern pitcher April Hutchinson also tosses against Preston County in a recent contest. The Huskies, who are still looking for the first win, dropped a 13-1 decision to Bishop Walsh Monday.

Boating Safety Urged By NRP

Maryland National Resources Police (NRP) Superintendent Col. Franklin L. Wood, noting that the boating season is just around the corner, has urged boaters to observe safe boating practices and warned of the dangers of combining alcohol and boating.

"Although a great deal of attention has been paid to the recent tragic boating accident in Florida," Colonel Wood said, "we have had two confirmed boating fatalities in Maryland already this year and both have involved alcohol." Last year, more than half the boating deaths in Maryland involved alcohol.

"Safe boating practices help everyone enjoy the recreational opportunities of the bay and our rivers," Governor William Donald Schaefer said. "I urge parents to make sure that their children wear personal flotation devices at all times."

Over the last 10 years, between 85-90 percent of the people who died in boating accidents died of drowning. Almost all of those people would have survived if they had been wearing PFDs (personal flotation devices).

The apprehension and prosecution of intoxicated boaters will be a NRP priority again this year. In addition to normal patrols, Operation SWAMP (Safe Waterways through Alcohol Monitoring Patrols) will utilize specially trained NRP officers to enforce alcohol and safety laws in problem areas. Last year NRP officers charged 110 individuals with operating a vessel while intoxicated or under the influence of alcohol or drugs. Of those arrested, 24 percent had previously been charged with alcohol-related offenses.

Noting that being in a boat on the water can amplify the effects of alcohol, Colonel Wood said, "A blood-alcohol level as low as .035 can significantly impair a person's ability to operate a vessel. It encourages a false sense of security and makes people take risks they might normally not take."

The combination of boating and alcohol puts passengers at risk as well. More than 20 percent of the people who died in boating accidents last year were passengers who had been drinking.

"People who normally could save themselves are not able to," Colonel Wood said. "The combination of alcohol and sudden immersion is disorienting and intoxication sometimes swim toward the bottom and away from the surface."

Operating a boat in a careless or negligent manner is a danger not only to those on board, but to other boaters as well. Boaters are urged to report careless or negligently operated vessels to the NRP by using channel 16 on the VHF-FM marine band, or calling toll-free, 1-800-828-9944.

Along with enforcement efforts, the NRP coordinates boater-safety classes and provides two education programs for children.

* The "PFD Panda" program has educated more than 6,000 children about the importance of PFDs when involved in water-related activities and encourages their use.

* The "Drowning Is No Accident" program is a water safety education program which takes specially trained NRP officers into classrooms across the state to educate children about water safety.

These programs are part of Governor Schaefer's "Partners in Prevention" initiative which encompasses all state government programs being launched or expanded in 1993. The governor believes that investing in prevention will help avoid problems that cost money, and in some cases, lives.

If you're planning a project that requires digging, you can save yourself a lot of trouble and maybe even your life by calling Miss Utility before you start.

State law requires you to contact utility companies before excavation begins. It makes certain you won't hit any electrical, telephone, gas or water lines. Miss Utility will handle the details for you free of charge. Just call the toll-free number at 1-800-257-7777.

Five days before you begin your project, and they'll notify member utilities to mark any lines in the excavation. No surprises.

DNR Suggests

9. Become A Stewardship Cooperator: Property owners may manage woodlots (1+ acres) under the Stewardship program for multiple resource benefits, including fish and wildlife, water, recreation, forest products, and air quality. Information: (410) 974-3778.

10. Join Wild Acres: Persons may learn how to help songbirds and other wildlife by offering food, shelter, and water for their survival. Sign up window boxes, backyards, neighborhood parks, or any place to make space for wildlife. Participants receive a certificate and outdoor sign for their efforts and become part of the network information of things to do to help wildlife. Information: call (410) 974-3195 for an application.

11. Find Out About ComPRO and LeafGro: Residents are encouraged to ask local retailers of garden or nursery supplies about these recycled natural products for lawns or gardens. They are inexpensive and produced in Maryland. To find a local retailer, persons may call (410) 974-7268 or (301) 261-8596.

12. Maryland's Aquatic Resources Education Grants Programs: Persons are urged to apply for funds that are provided to schools and school systems for programs to promote and establish environmental awareness and ethics that will lead to responsible behavior toward natural resources. Local schools are encouraged to sign up. Information: (410) 974-3385.

13. Assist With Shore Erosion Projects: Persons may assist DNR or local communities with the planting of vegetation to stabilize eroding shorelines throughout the state. Information: (410) 974-3727.

14. Catch-A-Poacher: Residents may help protect natural resources by reporting poaching and other related natural resources violations by calling the Maryland Natural Resources Police's 24-hour, toll-free Catch-A-Poacher hotline at 1-800-835-8124. Cash rewards are given for arrests and convictions.

All of these environmental programs and activities, which aim to enhance, protect and preserve Maryland's natural resources, are part of Governor Schaefer's "Partners in Prevention" initiative, which encompasses all state government prevention programs being launched or expanded in 1993. The governor believes that investing in prevention will help avoid problems that cost money, and in some cases, lives, a spokesperson said.

For more information on other DNR programs or activities on Earth Day or any day, persons may call (410) 974-3987.

Washington Field Trip Now Open To The Public

The field trip to the Smithsonian Institution and national museums in Washington, D.C., being sponsored by the Student Government Association of Garrett Community College on Friday, April 30, has been opened to the public, according to Ron Skidmore, coordinator.

The tour coach will leave the GCC parking area at 6:30 a.m., make a brief stop near Frederick for breakfast, and arrive in Washington at approximately 10:30 a.m. Participants will unload from the bus in front of the National Gallery of Art and will have the day free to visit museums or monuments of their choice until 5 p.m., when most of the buildings close. The return trip will include a stop for dinner in Frederick, and return to DANCE-A-THON SUCCESS Planners of the recent Dance-A-Thon have deemed the event a success. The dancers participating were the young and the young-at-heart. Although the crowd was not as large as anticipated, Anna Bishop, co-chairperson, stated, "It has to be considered a big success for our first attempt. Everyone said they had a good time and if all pledges are collected, we could raise nearly $1,400 for each school to use for their after-prom parties. The Dance-A-Thon was sponsored by the Garrett County Council on Alcohol & Drug Abuse. Kerrie Margroff, a member of the planning committee spoke for the group and stated, "I'm so happy it turned out well. We can't wait until next year to do it bigger and better." Tom Bratten, president of the Council, who is convalescing from a recent illness was contacted by telephone and stated, "I am proud to be a part of this organization and would be remiss if I did not mention the good people who planned the event, donated their time, and made pledges to the dancers. A special thanks goes to the Oakland Elks Lodge for donating the premises. Cathy Cocker of WKHJ who did a live remote, and all the people who donated food, money, and door prizes to make this Dance-A-Thon a success. Pictured above left to right are council members planners, co-chairperson Kerrie Margroff, Bonnie Doerr, Bobby Andersen, Joelle Plauger, Floyd Baker, Dana Friend, and Jay Cross. The other co-chairperson Anna Bishop was not available for the photo. Below, the two disc jockeys, Jack DuBose, left, and Tom Kierstead, lasted the entire 12 hours and looked no worse for the wear.

GCC at approximately 10:30 p.m.

Among the many special exhibits featured at this time are the "troughs" of paintings of Will Harnett at the East Building of the National Gallery, and Helen Frankenthaler print at the West Building of the National Gallery. The highly acclaimed "Seeds of Change" exhibit, which commemorates the changes and exchanges between America and Europe during the past 500 years, continues at the National Museum of Natural History. Numerous other exhibits will also be available.

Advance reservations and payment are required and may be made by calling the GCC Library at 387-3009. The cost of the bus trip is $5 per person and admission to most museums is free.

Join Company C

Michael Witt has joined Company C, 1st Engineer Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, Oakland, under the split option program.

The split option program allows high school students to join the guard during their junior year of school. They take basic training during the summer, go back to school for their senior year, then take advanced individual training after graduation from high school.

Michael Witt is a junior at Southern high school. He will leave June 15 for basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C., and next year after graduating from high school, will complete advanced individual training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Private Witt resides in Loch Lynn with his parents, Robert and Robin Witt.

Any person interested in joining Company C may call 334-3209 for more information.

U.S. Navy Fireman Apprentice Jason E. Schroyer, son of Robert R. and Vickie S. Schroyer, Route 1, Friendsville, recently returned aboard the combat store ship USS Niagara Falls, homeported in Guam from a four and a half-month deployment to the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean.

The ship, nicknamed the "Fighting Falls," provided logistic support for Operation Southern Watch and director combat support to British, Belgian, French and U.S. forces in Somalia as part of Operation Restore Hope. Niagara Falls also provided diplomatic support to two embassies and to six countries, including the United Arab Emirates and Oman. In all, the ship supported two aircraft carrier battle groups and two amphibious readiness groups, as well as other U.S. and foreign ships and shore units, including a Russian destroyer and French frigate.

The "Fighting Falls" delivered 7,300 pallets of goods and one hundred tons of freight that were transferred using helicopters via 71 vertical replenishments, 12 connected alongside replenishments, four small boat replenishments and 80 in-port replenishments. The ship steamed over 30,000 nautical miles, including five trips to Somalia.

Schroyer joined the Navy in July, 1991.

NMS "Winningest" Middle School In Science Expo

The fifth annual Western Maryland Science Expo was held last Friday at Garrett Community College. The winning projects from area individual school competitions were eligible to compete in this event. Northern Middle School students won a total of 19 awards at the Expo, making it the "winningest" middle school in the region.

The NMS winners are as follows: Laura Scholsnagle, first, and Cyndi Thomas, third, in behavioral and social sciences; Stephanie Gosnell, second, and Josh Robinson, third, in botany (Stephanie also received the U.S. Army Achievement Award); Glenda DeWitt, third, in chemistry; Juanita Bittinger, first and a U.S. Army Achievement Award, and Aaron Miller, second, in earth and space sciences.

Kim Bittinger, third and a U.S. Army Achievement Award in engineering; Chad Montgomery, first, and Michelle Geis, third, in environmental sciences; Derek Berger, first, in mathematics; E.J. Schofield, second, in microbiology; Mike Zimmerman, third and an army achievement award in physics, and Heidi Martin, second, in zoology.

Other middle schools participating in the Expo were Beall, Braddock, Flutstone, Bishop Walsh, and Washington.

The students' sponsor, Harold Mosser, expressed his thanks to participating students and their parents, as well as to Dr. Jerome Ryancavage, superintendent of schools, and Luther Parrack, director of secondary education, for their support of the students at the regional and county fairs.

TRAVELING SCIENCE PROGRAM IN LOCAL SCHOOLS - In observance of Maryland Science Week, Garrett County fourth and fifth grade students were audience to the Maryland Science Center's Traveling Science Program recently. The students learned first-hand facts about static electricity, as shown above at Grantsville Elementary, and discovered the intriguing power of static electricity, pictured below. The traveling group presented four shows for the county's students, as well as an evening public production for the general public at Garrett Community College. This event was made possible through the support of county PTA's. Additional funding was provided by Micro-Integration, Phenix Technology, and Harbison-Walker. Railey Realty provided accommodations for the presenters. Terry Nixon and Pat Baker, pictured above with their snaky companion.

A son was born April 21 to Rodney Henry Sr. and Constance Yvonne Weeks Bird, Oakland.

Admissions were listed at 60 with 69 dischargers. This morning's census shows 30 patients.

Among Who's Who

Shawna Lynn Campbell, daughter of Allen and Janet Campbell, Friendsville, has been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students for the 1992-93 academic year. This is the second time she has been so honored.

Shawna, a junior at Northern High School, is active in peer counseling, and is a member of the girl's tennis team. She plans to attend college in the future.

Only five percent of the nation's high school students are selected to appear in the 92-93 edition of Who's Who. The objective of Who's Who is to recognize the achievements of the nation's outstanding students who have made contributions to their schools and communities.

Honorees are also eligible in scholarships awarded by Who's Who.

MOUNTAINEERS

EASTER MEETING
Devotions combined with signs, Easter and gardening, for the April 12 meeting of the Egdon Mountaineer 4-H Club. The Safety Committee, Kevin Corbin, Chris Mullenax, Regina Shaffer, Matthew Bachtel, and Matthew Roberson, participated. The pledges were led by Tom Teets.

Craig Durst, an employee of Cecil Jackson Equipment, was present to discuss lawn care and safety as pertaining particularly to the use of machinery.

First-year members must turn their completed This Is 4-H project books to Elaine Roth. Matt Roberson reported on the county roller skating party, held February 27 at Kingwood. Grant Harsh reported attending the March 4 livestock meeting in Kingwood. Linda Lewis told about county poster and photo contest winners. Rebecca Wotring reported that she, Elizabeth Wotring and Katie Utterback attended Dance Camp at Jackson's Mill. When Teen Leader-Charting weekend was canceled due to the blizzard, that money was refunded. Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth reported on their Tri-County Leader Training experience at Parsons. Elaine asked for those members who have not joined the Preston County 4-H Foundation to do so by April 26, the end of the competition time.

April 24 is set for Preston County 4-H Day at Valley Elementary School. Registration is due by April 20. On April 24, members are asked to meet at 2:30 p.m. at the Memorial Building to pick up trash. Following trash pickup, they will meet at the Farmers' Wildlife Park to clean there. April 30 concludes the highway safety calendar contest.

May 3 is the date for the IFYE program at the Preston County 4-H Camp at 7 p.m. which is open to all members, families and friends. Persons should call Linda Lewis or Elaine Roth if transportation is needed. The club will be serving the Mt. Lions Club May 6. Sarah Snyder reported that the menu had been planned April 8. Registration for Older Members Conference is due by June 1.

Demonstrations were by Tom Teets, Tim Harsh, Malinda Mayne, and Matt Roberson.

ANNUAL DHII BANQUET

North Central DHIA (Dairy Herd Improvement Association) held its annual awards dinner on Wednesday evening, April 14, at the Aurora fire hall.

The group was welcomed by the president, John Fint, prior to the dinner. Following the serving of the dinner, Mid-East DHII representative Bob Hope awarded the Milford Gibson family of Terra Alta plaques and certificates recognizing their outstanding performance both in the North Central and the West Virginia associations. They were first place in both milk production, fat and protein, plus the largest percentage increase over the past five years. The herd of Mark and LaDeana Teets, Egdon, was recognized for being second both locally and in the state in production per cow, second in North Central for both fat and protein. They also placed fourth at state level in fat. A plaque for having the lowest somatic cell numbers was awarded them by Casselman Veterinary Service.

The Thomas Mason herd was recognized for third place in production per cow and protein, fourth in fat. They were also second in percentage of increase over the past five years.

Other herds receiving certificates of recognition were those of John and Connie Fint, Kenneth and Dorothy Bachtel in milk, fat and protein productions; Sybolt Brothers, Carl Bachtel, W.J. Bradley, Randall Snyder and C. Herbert Hunter Jr., for a one year increase in milk production; Hunter, Carl and K. Bachtel, Stanley and Melvin Harsh for percentage increase in three years; T. Mason, K. Bachtel, Hunters and Vernon Howdershelt herds for five year production increases.

At the state level, the Fint and M. Teets herds each were recognized for having high producing cows, Teets having the second highest 3-year-old, Fint the third and Tom Mason having second highest producing 2-year-old and top producing 4-year-old.

Jerry Hauser of Egdon was recognized for percent of increase on owner-sampler program.

Bonnie Shroul and Betty Bolyard were presented bonus checks for the job well done as supervisors, Mrs. Bolyard being involved in the training of new persons also.

Other guests present were Darwin Bender, the North Central representative to Mid-East DHII; Cad Tyler of Milk Marketing, Inc., who stated that multiple component pricing will probably arrive this summer, and Bill and Linda Lantz, owners of Lantz Feed Store.

Election of officers resulted in Milford Gibson and Terry Hauser being named as new directors.

Entertainment was provided in the form of a style show "Spring Fling" by Betty Bolyard, Connie Fint, LaDeana Teets and Rose Ina Harsh. The show featured such items of clothing as a pin (clothes) strip jacket, cotton (ball) pants, bell-top, hatching jacket, a two-bee hat, pill-box shorts and tie-on or flour-sack shoes.

The distributing of door prizes completed the evening's activities which allowed everyone to go home a winner. There were items from commercial businesses in the surrounding area and from some of the members themselves.

COUNTY WINNERS

Three local students were recognized recently by the County Social Studies Fair as first place winners and will be displaying their projects at the May 20-22 State Social Studies Fair in Huntington. Kimberly Fike and Adrian Stemple of Aurora Junior High, Brian Corbin of Preston High will be representing their respective schools at that time.

TEXIERE DEATH

Mattie Alice Miller Texiere, 99, of Bridgewater, died April 11, 1993 at the Bridgewater Home where she had lived since 1984. She was born January 24, 1894, a daughter of the late

Rev. H.G. Miller and Julia Wright Miller.

She was a former resident of Harrisonburg where she was the eldest member of the Harrisonburg First Church of the Brethren and the Ed Shull Bible Class, served as teacher and superintendent of the Junior Department in the Sunday School. She was also a former member of the Harrisonburg WCTU, Home Demonstration Club, the Salvation Army Auxiliary and the AARP. She was a 1916 graduate of Bridgewater College and taught piano for a number of years.

On December 23, 1919, she married Jacob William Texiere, who died in 1957.

Surviving are four children, Lorraine Fike and Lowell Texiere, both of Bridgewater, Rosemary Seese of Keezletown and Hobart G. Texiere of Harrisonburg; nine grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted by Drs. J.D. Glick and Robert Sherfy on April 15 at 7 p.m. in First Church of the Brethren, Harrisonburg. Interment was held privately at Oaklawn Cemetery, Bridgewater. Memorial contributions may be made to the Bridgewater Home, 302 N. Second St., Bridgewater, VA 22812.

BRIDAL SHOWER

Bride-elect Tammy Cassidy was honored Sunday, April 18, with a shower at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. Her marriage to Leonard Parsons is scheduled for May 8 at the same location. Hostesses for the affair were Shirley Parsons, mother of the groom-to-be, and Teresa Bittinger, the bride's sister. There were 55 in attendance where games were played with prizes awarded for those and also door prizes, gifts were opened and displayed and refreshments served.

STRASBURG TOUR

Two Central Cab buses transported 94 persons from Horse Shoe Run, Egdon, and surrounding communities to Strasburg, Pa., on Saturday. Members of the Horse Shoe Run Farm Women's Circle and their guests visited the water, light, and screen show at the Living Waters Auditorium and attended a performance of "The Splendor of Easter" at the Sight and Sound Entertainment Center. The latter is a live production depicting both secular and religious themes, this particular production beginning with a Victorian Easter, dramatization of the story of the prodigal son, and concluding with the last supper, the crucifixion and the resurrection.

PERSONAL MENTION

Bob and Eileen Rembold of Pittsburgh, were weekend guests of their son, Bruce, Mary, Shawn and Craig Rembold, Egdon, and her sister and brother-in-law, David and Wilma Mae Teets, Horse Shoe Run.

Grace Kight of Morgantown and Harry Strawser of Arthurdale were Sunday visitors with Mrs. Bessie Heckert and Barbara in Egdon.

Ruth Parks, her granddaughter, Cynthia Parks, both of Egdon, daughter, Janet "Susie" Parks Warner of Salem, recently went to Burke, Va., where they joined another daughter, Doris Crawford, for a trip to Largo, Fla., to visit with the latter's daughter, Sherry, and Michael Floss and their son, Zachary.

Several people from this area attended a birthday celebration held Sunday at the Nellie Nursing Home in Crystal Springs (Elkins) to honor Norah Strawser, a former Egdon resident.

George and Rhonda White of Abingdon, Md., were Thursday-Saturday visitors last week with her grandfather, Ron and Avenell Parsons, Egdon.

Toni Lane Lewis of Atlanta, Ga., spent a two-week Easter vacation with her father and step-mother, Tony and Lisa Lewis, Aurora.

Attending a new church development seminar held last week at New Windsor, Md., was Arvin Harsh of Egdon. His brother, Norman Harsh of Lorida, Fla., was also in attendance there.

Ross and Kathryn Harvey of Clarksburg were Sunday afternoon visitors with Frank and Wilda Stemple and Paul Stemple at Aurora.

Pauline Wilhelm was able to return from Garrett Memorial Hospital to her home at Aurora last week.

Charles "Boss" Wotring of Aurora died Sunday afternoon, April 18, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient for the past week or more.

Also returning to his home in Aurora last Friday was Delmar Wotring. Here to visit him from Easter Saturday to Wednesday were his children, Alice Stuart of San Andreas, Calif., Jane DeRock, Carol Burchfield, Milton Wotring, all Maryville, Tenn., and his local daughter, Beverly Knotts. A son, Bill Wotring of Marietta, Ga., was unable to be here because of his illness.

A group of youth and their advisors from the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren attended a youth rally held Saturday and Sunday at the Petersburg High School.

Recycling Days Set In Kingwood

Saturday, May 1, will be another recycling day at the Kingwood transfer station from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Volunteers will be on hand to help answer questions and take care of materials to be recycled. Volunteers will man the station for a six-months educational period. This recycling will continue at the Kingwood transfer station on the first Saturday of each month from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Recycling will be available on Saturday, May 8, at the Fibair Parking Lot in Reedsville along Route 92 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. This station will be available the second saucer or shallow can to be rinsed with beer at night time. The next morning the beer should be filled with slugs. A tablespoon of flour and 1/8 teaspoon of yeast in a cup of water may be used instead of beer. To get rid of ants, grind up cucumber peels and scatter where ants congregate. Plant larkspur in your garden if Japanese beetles are a problem; the beetles will be attracted to the larkspur and leave the vegetables alone.

Soil should be kept moist for a good yield. Also be aware that vegetables such as onions and radishes will get unbearably hot tasting if allowed to grow dry. One thorough watering per week to the depth of six inches is usually sufficient unless evaporation is very high. Frequent light watering will do more damage than good because it encourages shallow roots, disease, and may reduce yields. Never water plants in hot sunshine; the little drops act like a magnifying glass and the sun burns holes in the leaves.

Learn the phone number of your county extension agent. He can be a great help when information is needed about diseases, disease resistant varieties, sprays, and soil testing. He also has information about new seed varieties, and when to plant to avoid killing frosts.

pensively and more easily accommodated by carrying them up the stairs? Shall we carry people up stairs every where that they are denied access by stairs? Would you want for yourself, for your lifetime, every time you wanted to go somewhere? You may think I am being extreme, but where is the line? If it's okay to carry someone up the stairs to one of the Choral Society's concerts, is it okay to carry them up the stairs to the drugstore, the restaurant, the Republican newspaper office?

And what do most people know about carrying someone with a physical disability? Transferring someone in or from a wheelchair is not like moving boxes around, often there is a specific way to move someone to avoid injury to the person being transferred as well as to the person doing the transfer. Are you willing to accept the liability for transferring someone with physical frailties?

It is unfortunate that compliance with the ADA is inconvenient and costly for some. However, it may well prevent future errors in construction by non-disabled people who don't give much thought to what getting around is like for someone who doesn't walk effortlessly.

The ADA calls for "reasonable accommodations" and there are qualified individuals ready to assist ADA disabled businesses and organizations in the community. If you feel crippled by the burden of ADA, imagine what it's been like for years for people burdened by the barriers of an "able-bodied world" (no curbs cuts in downtown Oakland, for example).

You suspect that the ramp will not be used, or used by only one or two people. Your insensitivity is showing. Robert Mosley and Kathryn Sincell are just two people. How much difference will they make to your performance? Perhaps being able to attend your performance (with a degree of dignity) will make that much difference to the just one or two people who use your ramp.

I'd like for you to consider the additional handicapping conditions a ramp may accommodate: respiratory diseases, heart conditions, arthritis, hip and knee disorders, and cerebral palsy, just to name a few. Not everyone can climb stairs with ease, and not all of those people use wheelchairs.

I am disappointed by your choice of language in your editorial. Twice, I have provided you with information covering the preferred and acceptable language to use

SHS VICA CLUB RECEIVES MEDALS - The VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) students of Southern High School attended the annual Maryland State Skills Olympics on March 27 at Catonsville Community College, Howard School of Technology, and the Culinary Arts Institute in Baltimore. The 39 local students competed in 14 various areas of skill and leadership against students attending technical centers and high schools throughout the state. Pictured above, left to right, are members of the opening-closing team who placed second: Melissa Beckman, Trish Marple, Ty Miller, Lara Harvey, Terry Friend, Leslie Sharpless, and Valerie Helbig. Not present for the photo was Julie Severe. Pictured below is the Quiz Bowl team which placed second. The members of the team are shown left to right: Chris Herbert, Pat Browning, John Wright, Larry Hardesty, and Mike Purdy. Other local medalists are identified at the right.

when talking about people with disabilities. Where was that information when you wrote your editorial "Saying that someone is confined to a wheelchair is analogous to saying that you are confined to your eyeglasses. Is a person with diabetes confined to their insulin? People using wheelchairs are confined only by the insensitivity of "able-bodied" people that don't think beyond their own able body. In fact, some people with disabilities call people like you and me "temporarily able-bodied." Something to think about.

I applaud the dedication of the Choral Society to present quality musical events to the community. I have no quarrel with the Society. But if the Society accepts federal dollars, it must also accept federal strings attached to the dollars.

I will quarrel with you over your treatment of people with disabilities in your editorials and in your newspaper. Your attitudes are counter-productive. Your objections cannot reverse the ADA's mandates, and they serve no useful purpose that I can see. You have the power to form public opinion. It seems to me that it would be worth your while to develop a sensitivity to the growing segment of our community that deals with disabilities, including the people who have the disabilities. You can better serve this community as a whole from an educated vantage.

Sincerely,
Lyz Biser

Dear Ms. Biser,
Just as a point of correction, Kathryn Sincell is not among the performers in this concert.

Editor

To the Editor:
I'm shocked by your editorial of April 15th, in regard to the state's regulations on servicing the disabled and handicapped.

Look around. How many churches have provided access to all of their buildings? Look at area businesses, have they independently made their locations wheelchair/handicap accessible?

Yes, it is an inconvenience for us able-bodied people to take the time to accommodate the small numbers of people who don't have the freedom that we, so casually, take for granted. There but for the Grace of God, go you or I.

God's Peace,

To the Editor:
This week the League of Women Voters S.W.A.T. (Stop Waste and Trash) team participated in an Adopt-A-Highway clean-up of Rt. 219 north of Oakland. We collected nine bags of trash, two of which were filled with recyclable aluminum and steel cans and glass-clear, brown, and green. We should be recycling these, properly sorted, in our waste recycling bins located throughout the county. Better still, we need a deposit incentive. Read on.

Since this is Earth Day, we are voicing our support for the National Bottle Bill that is supposed to be introduced in Congress today. This bill was explained in the March 18 letter to the editor of The Republican by Christina Mastroianni of MaryPIRG.

The National Bottle Bill is an idea whose time has come. The beverage industry and retailers must bear their share of the burden to reduce solid waste by bringing back the deposit system on a broader basis. We used returnable containers a few decades ago—we can do it again.

We urge the citizens of Garrett County to contact Senators Sarbanes and Mikulski and Congressman Bartlett, and tell them to support this bill. A simple postcard will do. The address for Senator Barbara Mikulski is 3201 Hart Senate Office Bldg., Washington, DC 20510, and Senator Paul Sarbanes is 3321 Dirksen Senate Office Bldg., Washington, DC 20510.

The address for Congressman Roscoe Bartlett is 2130 Rayburn House Office Bldg., Washington, DC 20515.

Let them hear from you, especially if you are part of an Adopt-A-Highway team and are tired of seeing beverage containers become litter instead of being reused or recycled.

Happy Earth Day, Garrett County!

On Friday, April 16, at about 2:30 p.m. I was northbound on Second Street. I was about to use the curb side mailbox in front of the Post Office.

In the southbound lane was a dark blue local government van Lic. #35715.

Just as I was about to pull into the mailbox, the van crossed the northbound lane to use the boxes. He almost hit my car head on and, due to his long wheelbase, blocked at least half the northbound lane. This caused a second traffic haz-

This practice happens quite often at these boxes, and there have been many near accidents. So far I haven't heard of anyone being hurt.

I believe it is time the City Police did something about this problem. I think maybe there are at least two or three traffic violations every time this happens.

The situation is getting quite serious and I hope it is

Art Competition Judges Named

Mike Hoffman

Ken Bauer

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging and Garrett Arts Council announces the panel of judges for the Senior Citizens Art Competition. The panel includes area professional artists Mike Hoffman, Ken Bauer, and Jim McNeil.

Mike Hoffman, originally from Morgantown, now resides in Terra Alta, W.Va. His large paintings are somewhat impressionistic, emphasizing the use of light and shadow to "bring out" the human figures. Besides oil painting, he also operates a home design business named Four Star Design. He holds a B.F.A. degree in design from West Virginia University. He also likes to collect and restore antique bumper cars, and to originate designs in woodwork.

Ken Bauer is a professional artist who has received recognition for his drawing of canvasback ducks which he had entered in the Maryland Duck Stamp Contest, and more recently had artwork collected by the Ward Foundation, which is a national wildfowl organization. As a wildlife artist, Bauer focuses mainly on images of birds, which he draws in exact detail and delicate tonal gradations. Currently a resident of Cranesville area, he is originally from the Baltimore area, and holds art degrees from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Jim McNeil began his art training nearly 20 years ago at Howard Community College in Columbia and studied water color painting intensively with nationally known painters from Maryland to Maine. Formerly a professor of English at the University of Alabama, he now devotes his time to painting, exhibiting his artworks and teaching water color classes and workshops. His primary focus in water color is the "wet-on-wet" techniques and the expressive and fluid qualities of the medium, with imagery inspired by the farmland and landscape forms in Garrett County.

The deadline for submissions in one of the three contest categories (oil painting, water color, and wood-carving) is April 30. For additional information, persons may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 334-5858.

To the Editor:

Recently the Garrett County Humane Society, Inc., held a bingo fund raiser at the K of C Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kurilla helped us with this endeavor. The fund-raiser was successful and proceeds will be used for our spay/neuter program.

Many other people showed up to help us. At this time we want to thank them publicly: Mr. and Mrs. John Kurilla, Mrs. Peggy DiSimone, Lena Dever, and Jean Fofrah, who helped with the Bingo.

We also thank: NuWay Dry Cleaners, Marvin's Men's Wear, Grand Central Station, Oakview Motors, Crafty Critters, Gonder Insurance, and Karla Riley, for door prizes; Midway Discount Beverage, McHenry Beverage, Lohr Distributors, Eberly Wood, and McDonald's Restaurant for beverage donations; Mrs. Nancy Helbig (in charge of the fund-raiser), Sherry Friend, Polly and Walter Ramsey, Jill and David Fuller, Joanna and Carleton Sisler, Bud and Bernadine Friend, Bill and Arlene Wilson, Roger and Carol Craver, Shellie Rodeheaver, and Bobby and Andy Andersen, for donations of food.

Betsy Gergoff became a new member of the organization at this time. We have over 100 supporting members in the Humane Society. Approximately 21 members live out of Garrett County and the state of Maryland. We are grateful to all these caring people. We could not support our spay/neuter program without them.

Garrett County Humane Society, Inc.

To the Editor:

April 18-24 is National Volunteer Week, and I want to take this occasion to publicly thank the people I believe are among the most dedicated volunteers in our community, the volunteers of Hospice of Garrett County.

Most people know that hospice provides a very special kind of care for terminally ill persons and their families. But it's less known that if it were not for volunteers, our hospice could barely function.

Hospice uses a team approach to care for dying persons. A team typically includes a physician, a nurse, a counselor, a member of the clergy, and an aide. While our hospice employs paid personnel, we also rely on volunteers to provide assistance at all levels of skill. Most of our volunteers work on these teams directly assisting patients, but others help out in our office and do such things as provide transportation for patients.

Nationally, almost 70,000 of the total of about 90,000 hospice workers are volunteers, and last year, they gave well over five million hours of their precious spare time to serve the dying and their families. That's five million points of light!

Locally, over 100 persons donated their service to our community hospice during the last year. Volunteers are required to undergo a two-day training session on various skills and are required to attend in-services throughout the year.

Often the most important thing our volunteers can do is just "be there" for patients, to reassure them they are not alone, to hold a hand, to offer a smile, or to share a "good cry." It is not easy work, but the personal rewards are enormous. The strength and courage of patients provide a constant source of inspiration, and volunteers usually feel they gain more than they have been able to give.

Our hospice is growing as more and more persons

Swanton, was found guilty of malicious destruction of property. He was handed a six-month suspended jail term, fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation. He was also ordered to pay restitution to C&P Telephone Company.

Hovatter had been arrested by the Oakland City Police when he was discovered damaging a phone booth at Joe and Joyce's Rooming House on Oak Street in Oakland. The officer said Hovatter admitted to breaking the glass and denting the booth. He reportedly cut his arm on the glass, but refused treatment.

Raymond A. Miller, 21, Gorman, W. Va., was found guilty of malicious destruction of property and was handed a 60-day jail term (30 days were suspended), fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation. His jail term is to run concurrently with a previous sentence and his probation is to run consecutively with a prior probation.

Charges of battery against him by Sharon Lucas and Wendy Porter were placed on the stel docket at the requests of the victims.

Those charges had been filed against him following an altercation at the Town Motel in which Miller allegedly scratched Lucas's arms with a light bulb, threw a chair at her, and damaged a telephone when she attempted to call for help. He also allegedly pushed Porter into a bathtub causing a large laceration to her back and slammed her fingers in the door. The Garrett County Sheriff's Office investigated the report.

Mischelle E. Ervin, 31, Elk Garden, W. Va., was found guilty of one count of common scheme misdemeanor after being charged with 20 various counts of petty theft, bad check, forgery, uttering false documents. The other counts were not prosecuted in plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office. Judge Jack R. Turney ordered a pre-sentence investigation in the

EASTER EGG FUN - The sixth annual Easter Egg Hunt at Herrington Manor State Park was held on April 10 with several "hunters" participating. The Oakland McDonald's restaurant donated 50 dozen eggs for the event, which were then dyed by Crellin Elementary School's first, second, and third graders, pictured above. These young artists were supervised by Sue Steyer, office supervisor. Prizes donated by Englander's Pharmacy and Proudfoot's Pharmacy, both of Oakland, were awarded to the four participants who found the most eggs. Pictured below front are the top four finders. From left to right are Derek Riley, five years; Devon Riley, three; Terri Tasker, six; and Michael Steyer, seven. Standing in the back are the Easter Bunny (alias Ranger Lisa Baker) and Ranger Mike Cooper. The rangers expressed their thanks to all who donated to the event and to all who attended.

Ervin had also been charged with failure to appear in court on February 9 to face those charges. A bench warrant for her arrest had been issued at that time.

Ervin had been charged by the Maryland State Police after it was determined that she had stolen four checks from Robert Weed and Teresa Britt. She had reportedly obtained goods from the Accident PTA with the checks from the account that had been closed.

Dale E. Guthrie 1, 29, Frostburg, was found not guilty of two counts of detaining a child from the lawful custodian.

He had been charged with those offenses by Jewell Guthrie who stated that Dale Guthrie had kept the children longer than the courts allowed. He had the children from June 16 until July 10 of last year, according to Mrs. Guthrie.

Denzil D. Smith, 48, Oakland, was found guilty of being disorderly in a public place and of driving while intoxicated. For the disorderly charge he was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $100, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. For the DWI charge, he was handed a 90-day suspended jail term, fined $500, and placed on 18 months of probation. The terms are to run concurrently.

Charges of resisting arrest, assault, negligent driving, and reckless driving were not prosecuted in plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office.

Smith had been charged with those offenses by the Maryland State Police following a February 4 automomobile accident in which Smith was injured. He reportedly became combative with rescue squad personnel, police, and later with hospital personnel and used profane language. He reportedly assaulted two police officers during the incident.

OTHER DWI CASES
A number of other DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in District Court last week.

Paul R. Smith, 67, Md., was granted 12 months of supervised probation before judgment on a DWI charge. He was also fined $250. He had been charged with that offense by the Maryland State Police on February 11.

Edith B. Nicholas, 48, Md., was found guilty of months of supervised probation. She had been charged by the state police on November 27, 1992.

Ronald C. Crosby, 31, Md., was found guilty of DWI and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered in the case. He had been arrested by the state police on October 13, 1992.

Tracy L. Wilson, 22, Md., was found guilty of DWI and handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. That charge had been filed by the state police on September 9, 1992.

Larry W. Maust, 27, Md., was found guilty of DWI and was handed a 90-day suspended sentence, fined $500, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation.

Gary C. Moore, 34, Md., was found guilty of DWI and handed a one-year jail term (all was suspended but 30 days), fined $1,000, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. He had been charged by the state police on August 16, 1992.

Jason P. DelSignore, 19, Md., was found guilty of DWI and handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on January 24.

Potomac Edison Releases Kite Flying Warning

As the days get longer and warmer, children will be heading outside to fly kites in the spring breezes, and Potomac Edison Company says it is important for children to keep electrical safety rules in mind when playing out-of-doors.

Nancy Neff, Western Division manager for Potomac Edison, reminds children of all ages to fly kites, model airplanes, or other toys in wide, open fields, away from overhead power lines. Ms. Neff also warns that if kites accidentally get tangled in the lines, children should leave them alone and not try to pull them down.

"Children whose toys get tangled in Potomac Edison's power lines should ask their parents to contact us for assistance," she said. "No one should try to retrieve a kite or model airplane from power lines. This can be extremely dangerous."

"When making kites, it is important for children to remember to use paper and string, not metallic materials such as tinsel or wire that could serve as conductors for electricity," added Ms. Neff. "Kites should be flown on sunny days, not in rainy weather, because a wet kit and string become conductors for electricity during a thunderstorm."

Children might also encounter some potentially dangerous situations while exploring their neighborhood during the warmer days ahead, she added.

"Summer storms can knock down tree limbs onto power lines, causing them to fall to the ground. Children should stay away from fallen power lines and never, ever touch them, even if they seem harmless," she said.

Ms. Neff added that children finding downed power lines should notify an adult, who can call Potomac Edison.

Children should also stay far away from electric power line structures, substations and transformers for underground service. Also, they should use care when handling ladders or pool-cleaning equipment near overhead lines.

"Electricity is very powerful and can make our lives more enjoyable. But, when care is not taken, electricity can also be dangerous," Ms. Neff said. "We promote electric safety through a variety of programs at Potomac Edison to ensure that our customers stay safe. When school is out, children have more time outdoors and should be very careful to stay clear of electrical facilities. We urge parents to remind their children of the importance of using wise safety rules when near electricity throughout the year."

Potomac Edison's Western Division serves Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland.

Shriners Selling Vidalia Onions

The second annual Ali Ghan Shrine Temple Sweet Vidalia Onion Sale is underway. Orders are being taken through April 24th and afterwards will be sold on an "if available" basis. Delivery is expected around May 7 or 8. "Delivery is a little later this year because of the Blizzard of '93," stated Tim Jacobs, assistant Rabban and project chairman. Anyone may call the office at 301-777-5276, Tuesday through Friday, from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. and order onions by phone, using a Visa and MasterCard, or by mailing a check or money order to the Temple office.

"Our onions are authentic from the rich clay soil of Georgia," continued Jacobs.

The Oakland Area chairman, Russ Bowser, may also be contacted at 301-334-9698 for additional information.

Fathers United Chapter Formed In Cumberland

Fathers United of Maryland has recently opened a new chapter in Allegany County. The organization will be meeting twice monthly.

Fathers United, which has formed chapters all over Maryland, helps fathers, both custodial and non-custodial, grandparents, second spouses with issues dealing with custody, visitation, child support, and other issues.

The organization has been able to help members with custody and support cases in the local area.

The new chapter will be organizing workshops, guest speakers, and informational meetings. The election of officers for the chapter will be held at one of the meetings.

Interested people from Garrett County are invited to attend the meetings.

The next meeting will be held May 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the South Cumberland Library on Seymour Street.

For more information, persons may call the local coordinator, Jean Hollibaugh, at 301-777-2730 or the national number for the organization, 1-800-964-2373.

A Rite of Renewal

Mmmm ... how sweet the sensation ... those warm wispy fingers caressing your face and running through your hair like faithful friends returning from a long journey. You run to meet them ... smell the fresh familiar fragrance. You embrace Spring.

Spring is a rite of renewal. It is a running start at life. Catch it quickly and run with it! Soar with the seedlings planted in fertile soil, flowering with faith, petals turned toward the sky.

There is yet another rite of renewal, a weekly renewal with God, the Creator, in His house. Visit regularly and you shall depart refreshed and rejoicing, facing the firmament, filled with strength for whatever challenges life may offer. Embrace Spring. Embrace God.

"Faithfulness will spring up from the ground, and righteousness will look down from the sky."

—Psalm 85:11

These firms invite YOU to a House of Worship each week.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

NEVER HUNGRY AGAIN, April 25, 1993

Background Scripture: John 6

Devotional Reading: John 6:22-29

As I write, the 1993 Super Bowl is only a few hours away. By the time you read this, it will have become history. And I for one am tempted to say, "Thank God!"

I have always loved but not excelled at sports. When I was a junior in high school I was hired by the local daily newspaper to write a regular sports column and I partially worked my way through college and seminary writing sports. I was then and still am a sports fan and, more specifically, a Dallas Cowboys fan.

But this past week, I have been tempted to say, "Enough! Let's get this thing over with. It is, after all, just a game, a great game, perhaps, but still a game. On Monday, when the final score has been posted (in favor of the Cowboys, I hope), there will be other headlines that will not have gone away by virtue of a Super Bowl victory: there will still be war, famine and conflict.

THE SECOND COMING. During these past few weeks the newspapers, radio and television have virtually identified the Super Bowl with the Second Coming. It isn't. It wasn't. I never can be Karl Marx defined religion as "the opiate of the people." He was wrong: in today's world sports, entertainment and material things are the opiate of the people. If one-fourth of the energy and attention given these last few weeks to the Super Bowl had been devoted to solving some of the massive problems that face us, perhaps I wouldn't be feeling so frustrated.

The Bible is one long story of people looking to things to give them the peace and power that things, no matter how wonderful and beautiful, can never bestow. In the Old Testament it was the recurring fascination of Israel, first with idols and then with military hardware. Again and again, through his prophets, God called his people to find their hunger and thirst assuaged by the intangible things of the spirit. But even when they seemed to hear the message, they often settled for some thing less, and eventually felt unfilled.

Jesus knew we have certain physical needs and in his model prayer, he taught us to pray, "Give us this day our daily bread." In John 6, when a multitude followed Jesus to the Sea of Galilee, he knew these people would have to be fed and the story of the feeding of the 5,000 is the meeting of that need. Getting daily bread in those days was no small feat. Today, we'd probably sniff at a church luncheon of five barley loaves and few fish—and a local newspaper critic could probably give it a bad review, noting, "the servings were small and the service was unprofessional!"

PERISHABLE FOOD. But Jesus is disturbed because people are focusing on the physical instead of spiritual dimensions. "Do not labor for the food which perishes, but for the food which endures to eternal life" (6:27). Even the manna, which was given to Israel in the desert, although it came from God, could not satisfy the true human hunger. "Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and they died. This is the bread which comes down from heaven, that a man may eat of it and not die. I am the living bread."

Once again, some of them misunderstood him literally: "How can this man give us his flesh to eat?" Always looking for a material thing, they miss the spiritual reality. Nothing in this world brings us satisfaction or nourishment that lasts—not even the World Series and Super Bowls. We are meant to enjoy them briefly. Only the bread which Christ offers us, Himself, can endure throughout this life and into eternity.

Year of the woman?
Not that Reed can see

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

For many viewers, including actress Pamela Reed, the funniest thing about the Academy Awards last month wasn't Billy Crystal. It was watching the producers expose just how male-dominated the movie industry is with their feeble attempts to come up with something anything in support of the evening's theme: Year of the Woman.

"If this is the year of the woman, what's next year?" The year of the Nike?" jokes Reed, who would seem to be in an enviable position, having had a starring role in a movie blockbuster — an Arnold Schwarzenegger movie blockbuster — "Kindergarten Cop" (1990).

"I just go from job to job," she corrects. "I don't have the problem of only making $3 million a movie. Even though I understand fundamentally as a feminist what that issue is all about (top actors earn millions more than top actresses), sometimes the analogy is a bit much for me. I just think that women — especially women over 35 — have to really look for the good roles and hope to God that they get the opportunity to play some of them. Because they're really few and far between."

One that Reed did find is in "Born Too Soon" (airing Sunday, April 25, on NBC), a wrenching TV movie about the experience of journalist Elizabeth Mehan (played by Reed) and her husband, Fox Butterfield (played by Michael Moriarty), have when their daughter Emily is born three months prematurely.

"Certain things stay with you all your life about every job," says Reed. "But this film is different. It's something that will never leave me. I will never go into a hospital and be unaware of what the neo-natal unit of the hospital is and what goes on there."

But why is it that roles like this one come along so rarely? And why, when they do, are they invariably on television? "You can't just blame it on the writers," says Reed. "Someone was saying that actors are always at the bottom of the food chain. I said, 'Not in Hollywood. Writers get that lovely honor.' They're treated horribly here. And I know lots of writers who have told me that they have written movies for female leads and women 35 to 40. And it's always either 'make her a lot younger' or 'make it a man.' Usually, it's make it a man."

But if Reed could pick and choose, she knows what roles she'd pick.

"I'd rather be the one who says the funny stuff and doesn't have to cry," she says. "At this stage of my life, give me the nice dress and the quick line. But after what we talked about, I'll take anything that has a couple of independent clauses in it."

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

NOW, VOYAGES — I know there was a series called "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," but my husband says that there was also a film by that title. Were they about the same thing? Did they have the same cast? — F.L., Appleton, Wis.

Walter Pidgeon

The 1961 movie "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" starred Walter Pidgeon, Joan Fontaine and Robert Sterling. The 1964-68 series of the same name was based on that film and, in fact, used many of the same sets. Both movie and series focused on the exploits of the state-of-the-art atomic submarine Seaview. The series starred Richard Basehart as Adm. Harriman Nelson. David Hedison costarred as Lee Crane. It was produced by Irwin Allen, the director of the film. Allen went on to greater fame producing disaster movies such as "The Poseidon Adventure" (1972) and "The Towering Inferno" (1974).

FARE PLAY? — I don't. Rhea Perlman has a part in "Taxi." I vividly remember seeing her in that series, but my husband says that "Cheers" has been her only TV series. Also, where is she from, and how tall is she? She appears to be the shortest member of the "Cheers" cast. — S.C., Bay City, Mich.

Your husband is correct about "Cheers" being the only series in which Perlman has been a member of the permanent cast. However, although she wasn't a regular in the cast of "Taxi," she did have a recurring role as Zena, the girlfriend of dispatcher Louie De Palma (who was played by Perlman's real-life husband, Danny DeVito). Perlman hails from Brooklyn, N.Y., and she is 5 feet 11 inch tall.

WARNER'S YEARS — How old is Malcolm-Jamal Warner? — R.B., Shreveport, La.

Warner was born on Aug. 18, 1970, which makes him 22 years old.

INITIAL INQUIRY — I've been a movie buff since I was a child, but for the life of me I can't figure out what the initials "RKO" stand for. — C.H., Lancaster, Pa.

The production company RKO (whose actual full name was RKO Radio Pictures) began in 1921 as a joint venture between the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) and the Keith-Orpheum theater chain. So RKO stands for Radio Keith-Orpheum.

Daytime Emmy nods are respectable this year

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

After several rotten, misrepresentative years, the people doing the nominating for the 20th Annual Daytime Emmy Awards (which will air in prime time May 26 on ABC) seem to have been actually watching TV this year.

How else can you explain the Best Supporting Actress nomination of Kimberlin Brown ("The Young and the Restless")?

Mark Darwin

Restless" and "The Bold and Beautiful"? She plays Sheila Carter, the hottest character on daytime TV right now.

Or the Best Supporting Actor nomination for the marvelous Gerald Anthony, whose Marco Dane showed up on "General Hospital" this year after originating years ago on "One Life to Live"?

Or the Best Actor nomination of Mark Darwin (A.J. Mallet, "Guiding Light")? Mallet is long on Bogart-like charm and short on words — totally unlike the florid fellows played by nominees Peter Bergman (Jack Abbott, "Y&R") and David Canary (Adam and Stuart Chandler, "All My Children"). The other big news is the shocking exclusion from the Best Show category of the medium's lightning-rod soap, "OLTL." Nominees include "AMC," "As the World Turns," "GL" and "Y&R."

In addition to Derwin, Bergman and Canary, the Best Actor category includes A Martinez (who formerly played Cruz on "Santa Barbara"), Michael Zaslow (Roger Thorpe, "GL") and a real surprise — Robert S. Woods (who plays Bo Buchanan on "OLTL," and whose character was put on the back burner last year).

The Best Actress category is a real horse race between Ellen Dolan, whose Margo Hughes on "ATWT" (a role now played by Glynis O'Connor) was raped and faced the possibility of AIDS, and Linda Dano, whose Felicia Gallant on "Another World" became an alcoholic this year. Other nominees include Maeve Kinkead (Vanessa, "GL"), Julia Barr (Brooke, "AMC") and yes, yes, yes — Susan Lucci (nomination 14 for her performance as Erica on "AMC").

Besides Anthony, the Best Supporting Actor nominees are Thom Christopher (who formerly played Carlo Mortimer on "OLTL"), Charles Keating (Carl, "AW"), Kin Shriner (Scott, "GH") and Rick Hearst (Alan-Michael, "GL"). This is 1993's toughest category — all were excellent.

Besides Brown, Best Supporting Actress nods went to Jill Larson (Opal, "AMC"), Jane Elliot (Tracy, "GH"), Ellen Parker (who formerly played Maureen on "GL") and Tonya Walker (Alex, "OLTL").

ON THE CABLE

'Lifesense' looks at us through animals' eyes

BY KIRK NICEWONGER

As we write, 51 stories above us a peregrine falcon family is surveying the concrete canyons of New York City from the aerie they have made in the facing of this building. The aesthetics may not quite measure up to those of the forest primeval, but you can't beat the view — or the menu: a plentiful supply of pigeons whose survival instincts are dulled from generations of easy urban living.

However, disastrous human impact has been on any number of animal species. To others we're the best thing that ever came down the pike. We may be Conan the Destroyer to the American bison, but to the black rat and the German cockroach, we're Daddy Warbucks strewing largesse from the caboose of the gravy train. House martins have made our homes their castles, skunks view garbage cans as pantries. "Lifesense," a fascinating three-hour special premiering Sunday, April 25, on A&E, turns the traditional nature documentary inside out. Instead of examining the animals whose lives intersect with ours, it imagines how we must seem to them, using an array of special effects and film techniques. It may sound a little gimmicky, but "Lifesense" is a serious examination of animal behavior — and our behavior toward animals.

We learn why moths fly into lamps, why cats invariably gravitate to the one person in the room who can't stand cats, that New York City can support more falcons than an equivalent tract of open land can and that cockroaches process information 10 times faster than humans do. We see animals as entrepreneurs of survival, many of whom, contrary to cliché, have been far more adaptable to us than we to them.

Along the way, it argues for a re-examination of our attitudes toward animals, especially domesticated ones. By contrasting how pigs are raised in Papua New Guinea with the unthinking cruelty exacted on swine in modern agribusiness, "Lifesense" bares the Western contempt for animals as we become increasingly remote from our sources of food. It makes what to us is an irrefutable case — not for a sentimental quasi-adoration of animals, but to give to them something that they offer all living things, including ourselves: simple respect.

Engrossing and provocative, "Lifesense" has made us think again about what has always been our favorite riddle: If humans are at the top of the food chain, how do you explain the mosquito?

MOVIES ON TV

Action and adventure top 'Lethal Weapon 3'

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

"Lethal Weapon 3" (HBO, May 1) should please anyone who liked the first two violence-packed buddy pictures of the series, since this version is more of the same. Spectacle reigns supreme in this sequel, which is heavy on the pyrotechnics and ear-drum-bursting action. Danny Glover and Mel Gibson are back in action as Los Angeles police officers Roger Murtaugh and Martin Riggs, who perpetually in over their heads and perhaps having taken LAPD sensitivity training, commit as many acts of random violence as time allows. This time Murtaugh — a week away from retirement — lets his doggie biscuit-chomping partner drag him into an explosive, deadly and oh-so-exciting crime plot involving a gun-running real-estate developer. Along the way there is plenty of macho banter, romance, car chases, smash ups, shoot-outs and tired stereotypes, with hardly a moment devoted to establishing a coherent plot. Joe Pesci reprises his "Lethal Weapon 2" role as Leo Getz, and Rene Russo is introduced as Lorna Cole, an Internal Affairs agent who heats bad guys into a bloody pulp as effortlessly as she wins hearts. This combination of toughness and beauty is tenderly conveyed in a romantic interlude in which she and Gibson gradually disrobe as they compare their various scars, scrapes and bullet wounds. Darlene Love also stars.

From the first moments of the based-on-fact "Born Too Soon" (NBC, April 25), viewers will be fully aware something devastating is about to crop up in the lives of Elizabeth Mehan and her husband, Fox Butterfield, as they coo and fawn over expectant mother Elizabeth's growing tummy. Everything is just too perfect for these New York journalists on the fast track to Utopia. Misfortune soon rears its ugly head when Elizabeth, only 25 weeks pregnant, gives birth to a premature baby, weighing 1 pound, 11 ounces. The parents must wait anxiously as their frail daughter Emily lays in an intensive-care ward for weeks on end, every minute a struggle for life. Unfortunately, as painful as the experience undoubtedly was, Pamela Reed ("Woman With a Past") and Michael Moriarty ("Law & Order") elicit little sympathy in their bland, tired depiction of people debilitated by their premature baby's suffering. There's no reason why the practically guaranteed emotional gravity of a child's illness fails to arouse concern or even interest in these people's plight, but it does.

SPORTS CALENDAR

Ewing looking to stuff critics as playoffs begin

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

In 1984, his Georgetown teammates hoisted him to the rim, as if he couldn't have gotten there all by himself, to snip a few strands of cord. The Hoyas had just won the NCAA national championship, and to sweeten the moment, Patrick Ewing had been named the tournament's most valuable player.

By all indications, that

should have been the first of many such moments in the sun for Ewing. But in fact, it was just over nine years ago, and the New York Knicks center has been reaching in vain for the golden ring ever since.

First, Villanova got in his way in 1985. Later that year, the Knicks made Ewing the very first pick in the NBA draft. "Patrick," they said, "take us to the top." But that goal hasn't yet been met, and in the eyes of many, Ewing has been the chief culprit.

The knock? Consistency. Through his first seven seasons, Ewing was a wildly erratic performer. On any given night he might score 35 points, grab a dozen rebounds and block 10 shots. Then again, he might go to the bench with his sixth foul midway through the fourth quarter, with two points, no rebounds and no blocks to show for his efforts.

But this year it has been different. The off nights have been infrequent, and the Knicks are challenging for a title. Perhaps it was Pat Riley's up-front insistence that the Knicks need Ewing to show up big every night in order for the team to reach the top. Or perhaps Ewing has just found the drive within himself.

Whichever, if Ewing is able to carry it into the playoffs, there is no limit to how far he and the Knicks can go.

On Sunday, April 25, Ewing and the Knicks host the Chicago Bulls in the first game of a doubleheader on NBC. (The second game had not been announced at deadline.) The game, which could be a preview of the Eastern Conference final, is the season opener for each team, and there's plenty on the line.

At deadline, the Knicks and Bulls were still battling for the top spot in the East, which brings with it home-court advantage through the conference finals. But even if the teams' final positions are solidified by game time, both will be eager to set the tone for any potential best-of-seven meeting in the coming weeks.

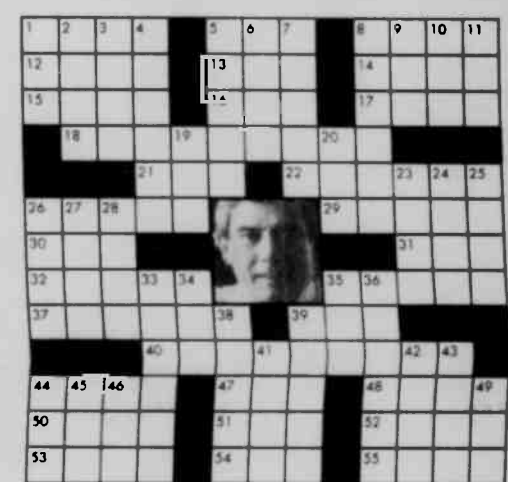

The first round of the NBA playoffs begins Thursday, April 29, and TNT airs two games each on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. NBC's playoff coverage begins Saturday, May 1, with two games.

IN FOCUS

On Tuesday, April 27 (check local listings), PBS's "Frontline" airs "L.A. Is Burning," an examination of the events leading up to last year's riot the riot itself and what has happened since. Five Los Angeles, of different backgrounds revisit hot spots, and talk with other residents. These street-level conversations, unexpectedly, are often sophisticated and enlightening — and make other media coverage of the riot seem simplistic.

IN FOCUS

For some reason, it doesn't appear on our wall calendar, but Friday, April 30 is "Gerard Depardieu Day" on Cinemax, as the cable service airs, back to back, five films starring the French actor. First up is "Cyrano de Bergerac" (1990), in which Depardieu (pictured) gives a haunting and deeply moving performance. It is followed by "Tranquillity" (1991), "Get Out Your Handkerchiefs" (1978), "Going Places" (1974) and "1900" (1977).

JERUSALEM RIDGE TO PERFORM - The Glendale Assembly of God Church will host the bluegrass gospel group, Jerusalem Ridge, on Saturday, April 24, beginning 7 p.m. at the church. The group is from Somerset, Pa., and consists of Ken Scheffel, acoustic guitar; Steve White, mandolin and fiddle; Rick Pyle, bass fiddle; and Gary Shaffer, banjo. All four musicians sing as well. The group presently has three recordings available on cassette: Prayer Balls of Heaven, Little Mountain Church House, and Water Grave. Glendale Assembly of God is located off Rts. 219 and 495 on Glendale Road.

Health Facilities Connected To Library Network

Libraries are no longer just books and magazines on a shelf, as computers have expanded the "information world." Through the touch of a keyboard, an individual can access library resources worldwide. Today's health professionals are benefitting from the growth of electronically accessible libraries. In the western Maryland region there is a computer linked network serving health care practitioners.

A consortium of 19 facilities, coordinated by the Westtern Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC), has obtained the equipment and training to access worldwide networks of medical information as well as share information regionally. The consortium includes hospitals, community health centers, academic institutions, and public libraries in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. This technology means access to more sources of information and quicker delivery of information to the patron. Rural health care consumers benefit because health professionals obtain the most up-to-date medical information, according to an AHEC spokesman.

The Garrett County Health Department and Garrett County Memorial Hospital are among the 19 participating facilities.

"The importance of health information to quality patient care is recognized by both health professionals and health care organizations," the spokesman said. This consortium was developed with the help of a grant to the Western Maryland AHEC from the National Library of Medicine. As a community health professional development organization, the Western Maryland AHEC coordinated meetings of area librarians and health professionals to develop the application for the network proposal. The consortium is nicknamed ACTION which is short for Access Computer Technology Information Outreach Network.

Computer systems at each of the 19 facilities allow patrons to dial into databases to search for journal articles on particular health subjects. The computer then identifies the library which has the journal and transmits the request for the article to the library. Also, each consortium member is able to access the resources of the National Network of Libraries of Medicine, which is an international network of health sciences libraries coordinated by the National Library of Medicine in Bethesda.

Most often, the system is used by health professionals at their affiliated hospital or health center. They also can search the databases for their office computers using Grateful Med software produced by the National Library of Medicine (NLM). They then request articles through one of the consortium members. "Being able to obtain the latest information on research and advancements in health care improves patient care," the AHEC spokesman said.

ACTION services also are used by students enrolled in allied health and health professional education programs. The Allegany County Public Library on Washington Street in Cumberland and the Allegany Community College Library are the two places that community residents can go to request information through the consortium network.

"The world of medical information is now at the fingertips of health care practitioners in Western Maryland," the spokesman concluded.

Earns Scholarship At Lipscomb Univ.

An Oakland resident has been awarded a memorial scholarship at David Lipscomb University, Nashville, Tenn.

Tara Lynn Wildesen, a general studies/interdisciplinary studies teaching major, was awarded the Gladys Chunn Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Wildesen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Franklin Wildesen, Star Route 2, Oakland.

Memorial scholarships are established by alumni and friends of the university who wish to honor or remember a loved one or other close acquaintance. Contributions are used to create endowments, which provide scholarships from the interest generated.

David Lipscomb University offers nearly 100 major programs of study leading to bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, master's degrees in Bible, and the master's degree in education. An Accelerated Adult Degree Program is also available.

Lipscomb is associated with the churches of Christ.

Seminar Scheduled For Area Dentists

A spring dental program, "New Horizons in Advanced Bonding," is scheduled for April 28 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Holiday Inn in Cumberland. Howard Strassler, DMD, FADM, will be the guest lecturer for the event which is cosponsored by the Allegany Garrett Counties Dental Society and the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC).

Dr. Strassler is an associate professor and director of operative dentistry in the Department of Restorative Dentistry at the University of Maryland Dental School in Baltimore. Dr. Strassler has a private practice in general dentistry with an emphasis on esthetic dentistry. He is also a consultant to more than 10 dental manufacturers and has published over 100 articles on esthetics in dentistry, dental bonding, operative dentistry, and dental materials.

Topics covered during the dental program will include adhesives, crown and bridge repair, tooth whiteners, veneers, and other new techniques. Dentists who attend the full day seminar will be eligible for six continuing education units from the Academy of General Dentistry. For registration information, persons may contact the office of John Davis, DDS, at 301-724-3411.

The Western Maryland AHEC has been approved by the Maryland Academy of General Dentistry as a sponsor of continuing dental education in western Maryland. The AHEC, an organization in the Maryland Statewide Medical Education and Training System, works to improve health care through health personnel education in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

Whether toasting an engaged couple or preparing to welcome a new baby, spring is the season for hosting and attending showers. Preparation will be a breeze if you follow a few simple guidelines. Careful planning and an appetizing menu will make honoring the bride-to-be or the expectant mother "a piece of cake."

BRIDAL SHOWERS

Once the bride has accepted your offer to host a shower, the first step is deciding whether you will be the sole host, or if you will co-host. Co-hosting a shower is a terrific way to share the cost—and work. Next, it's time to determine the guest list.

Traditionally it's the bride's responsibility to supply the hostess with a guest list. The list should be a manageable size for you and your co-host. Keep in mind the same people shouldn't be invited to every party, and choose a group of people who will mix well with one another.

Choosing a theme for the shower makes gift-giving easy and prevents opening fun. On the invitation, be sure to indicate the theme, where the bride is registered and what her colors are. You might want to ask the bride if there are any items she and her fiancé really have their hearts set on. For larger gifts, ask everyone who attends to contribute toward a group gift. Some fun shower themes include:

♦Around-The-Clock Theme—Assign each guest a different time of the day. Each gift should accurately reflect the time. For example, 8:00 a.m. is the perfect time for a breakfast in bed tray or juicer.

♦A Room-In-The-House Theme—Invitations should include a floor plan of the couple's home. Each guest is assigned to bring a gift for a specific room.

♦Tool/Gadget Theme—The perfect theme for coed bridal showers. This will help make the groom's involvement more enjoyable.

♦Holiday Theme—Assign each guest a holiday. Whether it's a platter for the Thanksgiving turkey or spooky decorations for Halloween, newlyweds will love decorating their home with the gifts at different times throughout the year.

BABY SHOWERS

The same guidelines apply to baby showers. Decide whether you will co-host the shower and then ask the guest-of-honor to develop a guest list. Check with the mother-to-be to see what time of day fits best with her schedule. You may want to plan the shower in her seventh month of pregnancy so she is still comfortable and will have time to write thank-you notes before the baby arrives. Ask if there are any larger nursery essentials they still need. If there are, the group could go in together on this gift. In addition, if the expectant mother knows the sex of the baby and wishes to tell everyone, be sure to indicate it on the invitation so gifts arrive for the appropriate gender. Also include the nursery theme or colors on the invitation.

Help the mother-to-be stay organized when she is opening gifts. Designate someone to write down the gifts on their corresponding cards and place them in a Ziploc® storage bag for safekeeping. When it comes time to write thank-you notes, everything she needs will be in one convenient place.

No baby shower is complete without playing games. Try some of the following to "liven up" your party.

♦Draw a chart or calendar spanning time before and after the baby's due date. Have everyone choose a date when the baby will be born. The one closest wins a prize.

♦Ask guests to bring photos of themselves as babies and have everyone guess who's who.

♦Play Baby Shower Bingo. Ask everyone to fill in a blank bingo card with potential gifts. When the expectant mother opens her presents, cross off the items like: huggies, numbers. The first guest to get "five in a row" wins a prize.

An elegant menu provides sumptuous fare for a bridal or baby shower. Pictured clockwise: Raspberry Celebration Cake, Cabbage Strudel, Flavored Party Mints, Shrimp with Oriental Chili Sauce, Smoked Turkey and Nut Pate.

Shrimp with Oriental Chili Sauce

2 cups finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped green onions and tops
2 to 3 teaspoons minced jalapeno pepper
4 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
4 teaspoons EACH dried dill weed, dried mint leaves and dried thyme leaves
1 cup chicken broth
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1 tablespoon rice wine or cider vinegar
2 teaspoons soy sauce
¼ cup sugar
1 pound medium deveined peeled shrimp, cooked, chilled

In medium saucepan, sauté green pepper, onions, jalapeno pepper and garlic in oil until tender. Stir in herbs, cook over low heat 2 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients except shrimp and heat to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, until sauce is reduced to 2 cups. Serve warm or chilled with shrimp. Makes 12 servings.

NOTE: Cooked sauce and cooled shrimp can be refrigerated separately in Ziploc storage bags—sauce up to 3 days, shrimp up to 1 day. Sauce and shrimp can be combined in a bag to marinate in refrigerator up to 1 day.

Smoked Turkey and Nut Pate

½ cup EACH walnut and pecan halves
½ cup thinly sliced green onions and tops
½ pound smoked turkey breast, cut into ¼-inch pieces
3 ounces brick cheese, cut into ½-inch cubes
½ to ¾ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 to 1½ tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
¼ teaspoon ground white pepper
Assorted crackers

Combine nut halves and onions in food processor until very finely chopped. Add turkey and cheese, process, using pulse technique, until finely chopped. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, mustard and pepper, process until smooth. Spoon mixture into small crock or bowl, cover and refrigerate at least 8 hours for flavors to blend. Serve with crackers. Makes 12 servings (about 2½ cups).

NOTE: Smoked turkey breast can be purchased in the deli section of the supermarket, cooked chicken breast can be substituted.

If not using a food processor, process nut halves and turkey separately in blender until finely ground. Finely shred cheese and mince onion. Combine all ingredients, except crackers, in large bowl, beat with electric mixer until smooth.

Cabbage Strudel

1 small onion, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
4 cups thinly sliced cabbage
1½ teaspoons caraway seed, crushed
¼ cup chicken broth
½ cup dark raisins
Salt
Pepper
8 sheets frozen filo pastry, thawed
Melted butter or margarine

Sauté onion in 1 tablespoon butter in large skillet until tender. Stir in cabbage and caraway seed; add broth. Heat to boiling; reduce heat to low and cook, covered, until cabbage is tender and broth absorbed, about 10 minutes. Stir in raisins; season to taste with salt and pepper. Cool 5 to 10 minutes.

Arrange 1 sheet filo on clean kitchen towel; brush lightly with melted butter. Top with second sheet filo and brush with melted butter; repeat with 2 more sheets filo and butter. Spoon half the cabbage mixture along short side of filo, about 1-inch from edge; roll up tightly and place on cookie sheet. Brush top of filo with melted butter. Repeat with remaining filo, melted butter and cabbage mixture. Bake at 350° F until golden, 15 to 20 minutes. Cut strudels into 1-inch pieces; serve warm. Makes 12 servings (2 pieces each).

NOTE: Strudels can be cut into halves and stored baked or unbaked in Ziploc storage bags—refrigerate up to 2 days. Cabbage mixture can be made in advance and refrigerated in bags up to 2 days.

Flavored Party Mints

6 ounces white baking squares or vanilla milk chips
Assorted paste food colors
Assorted candy flavorings

Melt baking squares or vanilla milk chips in small saucepan according to package directions; let cool until mixture is somewhat thickened, about 5 minutes. Divide mixture into 3 or 4 small custard cups; stir in small amount of food colors and candy flavorings. Spoon each mixture in separate small Ziploc storage bag; gently squeeze out the air and zip the bag closed, twist the top of the bag above the icing; cut ¼-inch off corner of each bag with scissors. Pipe 1-inch mints onto waxed paper-lined cookie sheets. Refrigerate until firm, about 10 minutes. Carefully remove mints from waxed paper; refrigerate in storage bags. Makes about 3 dozen.

NOTE: The food colors and flavorings are readily available in supermarkets. Candy flavoring is oil based—ordinary extracts will cause the melted mixture to harden, as would ordinary liquid food color.

Raspberry Celebration Cake

2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen unsweetened raspberries, thawed; or 2 pints fresh
2 packages (18.25 ounces each) white cake mix
1½ cups water
6 egg whites
½ cup vegetable oil
Buttercream Frosting (recipe follows)

Grease and flour 2 oval cake pans, 7½ x 5½ inches and 13 x 9½ inches. Process raspberries in food processor or blender until smooth; strain and discard seeds.

Make cake mixes in large bowl using water, egg whites and oil, following package instructions; gently mix in raspberry puree. Pour 2½ cups batter into small pan and remaining batter into large pan. Bake at 350° F until cakes spring back when touched and begin to pull away from sides of pans, about 25 minutes for small cake, 30 to 40 minutes for large cake. Cool cakes in pans on wire racks 10 minutes; invert onto wire racks and cool. Using cakes as patterns, cut 2 ovals from waxed paper to use for decorating.

Place large cake on serving plate, frost with Buttercream Frosting. Arrange small cake on top and frost.

Spoon frosting into quart size Ziploc storage bag; cut scant ¼-inch off corner of bag with scissors. Pipe decorative design on waxed paper ovals; refrigerate until firm, about 10 minutes. Carefully remove designs from waxed paper with knife and place on cake. Spoon remaining frosting into small Ziploc bag; gently squeeze out the air and zip the bag closed; twist the top of the bag above the icing; cut ¼-inch off corner of bag with scissors. Pipe decorative border around top and sides of cake layers. Makes 1 large cake.

NOTE: Round cake pans, 6" and 10" or 7" and 12" can be used. Or, recipe can be cut in half and baked in two 8" or 9" square pans to make a regular two layer cake.

Cake layers can be baked up to 2 days in advance and stored in Ziploc storage bags in refrigerator. Frosting can be made up to 3 days in advance and stored in refrigerator in bags. Let stand at room temperature several hours until soft.

Buttercream Frosting

1½ cups butter or margarine, softened
1 package (2 pounds) powdered sugar
1 to 2 tablespoons milk

Beat butter in large bowl until fluffy; heat in powdered sugar, adding enough milk to make frosting consistency. Makes about 4½ cups.

Fill a quart size Ziploc storage bag with up to 2 cups of icing.

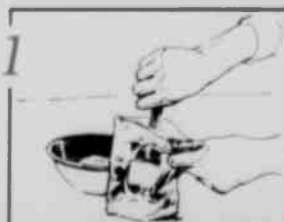

Gently squeeze out the air and zip the bag closed.

Twist the top of the bag above the icing.

Snip off approximately one-eighth of an inch from the bottom corner of the bag. The larger the hole, the wider the piping will be.

Pipe the icing onto the cake into desired pattern or design.

To create the delicious cake pictured above, follow the recipe listed at right.

Over 250 Attend Second Annual County Job Fair

Over 250 job hunters attended the Garrett County Job Fair held Saturday at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

Sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Business Association in coordination with the Garrett Community Job Placement Center, the Maryland Job Service, and the Western Maryland Consortium, the Job Fair featured 27 area businesses searching for full- and part-time positions.

Participating merchants ranged from area restaurants and shops to larger local industries.

A light luncheon was held for participants, with food donated by Coca-Cola, Sysco Foods, Garrett Community College, and the Deep Creek Lake Business Association.

There were several door prizes awarded throughout the day to job applicants. These prizes were donated by Bausch & Lomb, WKJJ Radio, and the Maryland Job Service.

The Job Fair was considered a success by all those involved. Brenda McDonnell, president of the Deep Creek Lake Business Association, stated, "Next year I hope more employers get involved. There were so many applicants and this is a wonderful opportunity for merchants to take advantage of all the talent available in Garrett County."

She also extended "a hearty thanks" to all those people who donated their time and energy to make the Job Fair such a success.

Student Receives Achievement Award

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Brian A. Messer, a student at Southern High School, has been named an Academy award winner in the area of student council.

Messer, who is a son of Andrew and Anita Messer, Oakland, was nominated for the award by teacher David Mayfield, who is the advisor for Southern's student council. The Academy selects award winners upon the recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other school officials, and upon a variety of criteria, including academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, citizenship, and others.

Messer has also been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students for four straight years.

JOB FAIR CONSIDERED SUCCESS - Over 250 persons seeking information about employment attended the Garrett County Job Fair at Garrett Community College on Saturday. The event sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Business Association, involved 27 area businesses providing information on employment at their establishments. ## Mtn. Top Home Schoolers To Tour Hospital

The Mountain Top Home Schoolers, a group of home schooling families living in and around Garrett County, will be meeting Wednesday, April 28, at 9 a.m., in the main lobby of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, for a tour of the hospital.

Interested persons are asked to call Vicki at 334-4480 by the evening of Monday, April 26, to confirm.

The group recently toured the Oakland McDonald's restaurant and, according to a spokesperson, were appreciative of the opportunity to do so. "We want to thank McDonald's (Michelle Miller, in particular) for the fun and informative tour," said the spokesperson.

Frostburg State Dance Company Performance Set

The Frostburg State University Dance Company will be presenting "Dimensions in Dance" on Thursday and Friday, April 29 and 30, at 8 p.m. in Compton Auditorium. The annual Spring performance will feature the familiar, lovable characters from the "Wizard of Oz."

In opening, the whipping, swirling movements of the tornado will whisk Dorothy off to meet new friends, good and evil witches, munchkins and the inhabitants of Emerald City, according to an FSU spokesman. All ends well with the traditional clicking of the heels.

Reflecting on American heritage, the second half of the concert, "Rhythms of America," will begin with a stirring visualization of early prairie life set to Copeland music, and choreographed by Carole Wiedebusch. Ending the Americana will be a segment of western dances including the latest dance craze - country line dancing. Also, America's pastimes and eras, such as swing, hip-hop, and baseball, will be represented.

Instructors of dance and directors of the FSU Dance Company, Claudia Palumbo and Carole Wiedebusch, say the concert promises to be an "energetic and entertaining show."

The concert is open to the public and is free of charge.

Dads Without Kids Group Organizing

A support group for fathers, who through divorce or separation are without their children living with them, will be forming at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

Dads Without Kids will be a non-denominational group open to men seeking ways to deal with the problems of helping to raise their children when they are not living within the family full-time. "This will not be a how-to sort of group," stated a spokesman for the group. "Rather, it will be a support group where men can come together sharing a common goal: nurturing their children in the most loving and best possible ways they can. We will share our ideas on dealing with the pain of separation, ways of staying in touch, and more."

Interested persons are asked to get in touch with the rector of St. Matthew's, the Rev. Chip Lee, either at the church office at 334-2510 or at home, 334-1106.

The first meeting of Dads Without Kids will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 27, in St. Matthew's Parish Hall, located at the corner of Second and Liberty streets in Oakland.

Church Youth To Host Dinner

The youth of the Deep Creek Lake Charge of the United Methodist Church, comprised of youth from Hoyes, McHenry, and Paradise United Methodist Churches, will sponsor a spaghetti dinner at the Hoyes United Methodist Church this Saturday, April 24, from 5-8 p.m.

The dinner will include "all-you-can-eat" spaghetti, a salad and dessert bar, rolls, and beverage. The cost is $5 for adults and $2 for children under 12 years of age.

Film Showing Set Earns Scholarship

The Billy Graham Film production, Zamperini, Still Carrying the Torch, will be shown during the 7 p.m. service, Sunday, April 25, at the Oakland Church of the Nazarene. All are invited to attend.

The Oakland Church of the Nazarene is at the corner of 8th and Alder Streets in Oakland.

Dart To Speak At Home Expo

RE MAX 100 West recently announced Broker Owner Craig Dart will be speaking to move-up and vacation on home buyers at the "Home Buyer's Expo" sponsored by the Washington Post Newspaper. The Expo will be held Sunday, April 25, at the Holiday Inn Crown Plaza Hotel in Rockville.

Dart, also a homeowner in Deep Creek, will be promoting the benefits of Deep Creek and Garrett County second home ownership during his presentation. His RE MAX 1000 Rockville office which actively promotes Garrett County real estate, was recently recognized by over 5,000 realtors in Montgomery County as having two of the top 10 agents in Montgomery County.

Although Dart does not participate in Montgomery County Association of Realtors awards, he is nationally recognized by RE MAX as the Top Sales Associate in the State of Maryland.

Cindy Nicole Friend, daughter of Don and Linda Friend, Walkersville, and the granddaughter of Wayne and Mary Friend, Friendsville, has accepted a Dean's Academic Scholarship in the amount of one-third tuition to attend York College of Pennsylvania where she will study nuclear medicine technology.

Miss Friend will graduate from Walkersville High School in June with a 3.8 GPA. While in high school she has been a member of the varsity cheerleading squad, National Honor Society, powder puff football team, and Junior/Senior Committee. She was inducted into Who's Who Among American High School Students and received an honorable mention award from Governor Schaefer as a Distinguished Scholar.

GCC Faculty Appreciation Week Scheduled

A Faculty Appreciation Week has been declared at Garrett Community College by Dr. Steve Herman, president, and Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs. During the week of April 26-30, special activities have been planned to "thank the faculty for their dedication to GCC students," said Dr. Herman.

The highlight of the week will be a luncheon on Wednesday where all faculty will be honored. Their certificates will read, "In appreciation for your tireless efforts in the pursuit of educational excellence for our students."

Annual Spring Choral Concert Slated At FSU

Frostburg State University's Department of Music will present its Annual Spring Choral Concert on Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m., in the Pullen Auditorium on the FSU campus. The concert will feature the Collegium Musicum and the University Chorale under the direction of Dr. Karen Soderberg.

The University Chorale will perform Franz Schubert's "Mass in G." Soloists are: Lisa Kauffman, Shannon Washington, Jill Crosby, and Jennifer McCagh, sopranos; Daniel Henderson, tenor; and Andrew Parrish and Kevin Brown, baritone; accompanied by pianist, Kimberly Andrews. The Chorale will also perform "Soon Ah Will Be Done" by William L. Dawson and "Set Down Servant" arranged by Robert Shaw and Alice Parker.

The Collegium Musicum selections include Renaissance Madrigals by Morley, Pilkington, and Bennett; Maurice Ravel's "Three Chansons"; Bela Bartok's "Four Slave Folk Songs"; P.D.Q. Bach's "My Bonnie Lass" and three Manhattan Transfer vocal jazz arrangements: "Tuxedo Junction," "Java Jive," and "Route 66," accompanied by Kimberly Andrews, piano, and Scott Morrison, percussion. The concert is free and open to the public.

Healthier Year 2000 Committee To Meet Tuesday

The Garrett County Health Committee will meet Tuesday, April 27, at 7 p.m. in the new Community Service Center, adjacent to the hospital/health department complex. All Healthier Year 2000 Task Force members and other interested county residents are urged by organizers to attend the meeting.

The agenda will include discussion on priority issues recommended by six of the 12 task forces, including heart disease and stroke, cancer, oral health, maternal and infant health, and tobacco.

"The task forces are recommending priority issues in each area to allow the committee to develop county health goals to strive for by the year 2000," said Dr. Donald R. Richter, committee chairperson.

The task forces have been meeting during the past year to analyze data, assess community needs, and set objectives. The task forces need reporting at this meeting will report at the next meeting on Tuesday, May 25.

For more information, persons may contact the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8116.

Somerset Rural Elec. Co. Notes Rate Increase

Electric bills of members of Somerset Rural Electric Cooperative will increase in June, according to new rate schedules that have been filed with the Rural Electrification Administration.

The new rates will increase the Cooperative's annual revenue by approximately 4 1/2 percent, in comparison with calendar year 1992. Depending on the monthly level of usage, the increase for residential members may be very small when compared with recent months when a $5 additional Customer Charge was added to members' monthly bills.

In announcing the rate increase, Harold E. Nicholson, general manager, also announced that the special $5 charge, which was adopted last August, will be eliminated. Residential members will see an increase of $9 in the monthly Customer Charge and an increase of three-tenths of a cent in the energy charge per kilowatt hour.

For the average Cooperative residential member-consumer, which uses 840 kilowatt hours per month, the increase will be less than one percent if the $5 special charge is included in comparing present rates with the new rates. However, without the special charge factored in, the rate to rate increase will be seven percent per month.

"The last change in the Cooperative's rate schedules was in 1986," Nicholson explained. "We have exhausted all other avenues to keep our service goals and meet the financial requirements that are required by our mortgage holders."

"The past winter season renewed in all of us a keen awareness of how important it is to maintain good right-of-way and distribution power lines," he emphasized, "and also to have a trained and competent work force to respond to outage situations especially in extreme weather conditions."

Last year of 74 percent of the Cooperative's revenues from rates was spent to purchase wholesale power, Nicholson said. The remaining 26 percent is used to pay for actual operations, making principal and interest payments on the long-term debt, and payment of taxes.

Nicholson commented further, "I believe the Cooperative's record of not raising rates for the past seven years, despite minimal annual increases in sales and continued inflation, speaks well for our continued concern for costs and our desire to operate more efficiently."

"If members have questions," Nicholson said, "we hope they will visit our office, write or phone us. We will try to answer all inquiries. We also will continue to work hard to keep rates down."

FSU Benefit Dinner, Auction Slated April 27

The second annual "Spring Fling" Dinner and Auction to benefit Frostburg State University scholarships and departmental programs will be held Tuesday, April 27, at Scampy's II in Clarysville.

Sponsored by the FSU Foundation, the evening will begin at 6 p.m. with a social hour featuring entertainment by FSU music students. A special Scampy's seafood buffet including a baron of beef will open at 7 p.m., followed by a live auction at 8 p.m. with auctioneer Al Feldstein. The Student Alumni Ambassadors will assist with the auction.

Chairperson for the event is Mary Martha Dailey, Foundation board member, with committee members Dr. Jim Poland, Rick Thayer, Phyllis MacVeigh, Bud Willets and Deborah Alexander.

Items for the auction have been donated by friends of FSU. Proceeds from tickets and the donated items may be designated to particular funds or for the general scholarship program.

Last year the event generated over $5,000. Tickets are $25 each and may be reserved by calling the FSU Foundation at 689-4161 prior to April 23. Ticket groups of eight or more may designate proceeds to a specific scholarship, endowment, or program fund. Ticket sales are limited to the first 200 reservations.

Some of the auction items include: one-quarter acre of residential property at Alpine Lake Resort; two tickets to Baltimore Symphony Orchestra; two tickets for box seats at WVU-MD football game; two tickets for corporate seats at Pittsburgh Pirates baseball game; two tickets for a Penn State football game; art-works; framed photographs; gift certificates for local restaurants and businesses; autographed baseball from

ADVANCE TO NATIONAL FINALS—Thirteen members of Powersource Youth Ministries of Crellin Assembly of God recently participated in a District Fine Arts Festival in Manassas, Va. Youth ages 12-18 from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and Washington, D.C. competed in categories including vocal, instrumental, drama, and short sermon. A superior rating in any category entitled the individual or group to compete in the National Fine Arts Festival in Minneapolis, August 19-24. Crellin youth receiving a superior rating include Vocal Soloists Brittney Decker, Amy DeWitt, and Rebecca Wilt; instrumental soloist Chad DeWitt; and the Drama Team, which took top honors at the competition. The Youth Choir also received a superior rating. The drama team will present its skit at the Potomac Youth Convention this weekend in Woodbridge, Virginia. Pictured above are the youth who participated in the competition. Kneeling, left to right, are Brittney Decker (vocal solo, Youth Choir); Amy DeWitt (vocal solo, Youth Choir, Drama Team); Joyce Thomas (vocal solo, vocal ensemble, Youth Choir, Drama Team); and Allison Reckart (Youth Choir, Drama Team). In the second row, same order, are: Tim Miller, minister of youth and worship; Chad DeWitt (instrumental solo, Youth Choir, Drama Team); Alex Mellott (vocal solo, vocal ensemble, Youth Choir, Drama Team); Tina Savage (short sermon, Youth Choir); and Leslie Miller (Youth Choir, Drama Team). Standing, same order, are: Mark Cannon (Youth Choir, Drama Team); Jeremy DeWitt (Youth Choir, Drama Team); Rebecca Wilt (vocal solo, Youth Choir); Christy Decker (piano solo, Youth Choir); and Larissa DeWitt (instrumental solo, Youth Choir, Drama Team).

Thank You

To those who helped me on the day of my car accident March 18, 1993, and afterwards, I would like to say thank you. Southern Rescue Squad, Deer Park Fire Co., Oakview Motors, Inc., Emergency and Hospital Personnel, Doctors, U.S. Post Office Personnel, Family and Friends. For those who called, sent food, flowers, cards, transported me to doctors, store, church, etc. Those who came and tended to my coal furnace and cared for my animals till I could take care of them myself. I especially want to thank my sister, Mrs. Lois Ford, for all she has done during this time.

Dear Readers.

We are always aware of the down clauses of a situation. It is so seldom we hear of the great things people do. Well, I would like to say thank you to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Emergency Room Staff and especially O.B. Unit! My special thanks goes out to Dr. Pope who showed such care for another doctor's patient and O.B. nurse Shirley Rounds. When Dr. Schwam came into the situation to perform a c-section everyone was so caring for my daughter. I know it is the job of doctors to do their duty for a patient! My special thanks goes out to all of you.

Thank You So Very Much

Save Thousands!

Buying a home? Most buyers arrange their purchase with a combination of down payment and a 30-year mortgage. By stretching payments out over a long period—say 30 years—they are reduced to an affordable level.

Take, for example, a home selling for $100,000. Buyers might pay $20,000 as a down payment, and finance the balance of $80,000 for 30 years at 8.5 percent interest. Payments for principal and interest would amount to $615.13 per month.

At the end of the loan, after 360 payments, a total of $221,447.09 would have been paid back on the original $80,000 mortgage. Does that sound high? Want to know how to save $62,164.48 and pay off the mortgage in only 18½ years?

The answer is simple. Pay an extra $100 per month, along with the regular $615.13 payment. By paying a little extra each month the principal balance is reduced more quickly. This results in less interest each month which, in turn, accelerates the principal payoff even more. The result? The loan is paid in less than 19 years.

Before paying extra each month, verify with the lender that you can make extra payments to principal. If so, make a separate check for the $100, and identify that it is to be applied against principal.

Here's an alternative that can save you even more. Many mortgage lenders offer interest rates that are ½ percent lower if you borrow for only 15 years. The same $80,000 loan set up at 8 percent for 15 years, would bear payments of $764.52.

Over 15 years, you would save an additional $21,669.01 over the earlier example. That's an impressive total savings of $83,833.49 over what you would have paid on a 30-year mortgage.

Ask a real estate agent for information about other mortgage plans currently available. There are many, and the likelihood is high that there is one perfectly suited to your financial needs.

W.O.W. NEWS

Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 met Monday evening, April 12, at the Woodmen Building, with President James Guthrie in charge.

Plans were made for the pre-convention meeting on April 18 at the Woodmen Hall.

HOST PRE-CONVENTION

Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 hosted the Pre-Convention meeting for the Garrett County, Cumberland, and Hagerstown Lodges, on April 18. Thomas Bender chaired the meeting of 57 officers, delegates, and friends.

State Manager Billy Groce III expressed how "pleased" he was to be here for the last nine months and gave a report on his success. Area Manager Robert Rodeheaver also spoke.

Wayne Graham will be at the convention on May 14-16 at the Holiday Inn in Cumberland.

They checked on the lodges that have wheelchairs, crutches and walkers. A memorial scholarship fund for Spencer Graham has been set up.

The corn roast was planned for all the Lodges at the Bittering fire hall on Sunday, Sept. 12, at 2 p.m. Thomas Bender was retained as president, Tom Bernard as vice president, and Orlen Rider as secretary.

Darlene Jenkins, president of the jurisdiction, presented a program and brought all of her plans for the convention up to date.

Cookbooks are for sale, and a drawing on a doll house and a 50-50 drawing will be held.

Tom Bernard spoke on the new officers and tentative plans were made.

Chauncey Friend and Mary Frantz resigned their offices. There will be two national delegates.

Lodge No. 41 served refreshments.

$2000 FOR AHA

Some $2,000 has been turned into the American Heart Fund and the rest will be collected at a later date.

Soil Stewardship Week Targets Individual's Care Of Environment

Soil and Water Stewardship Week
April 25 - May 2, 1993

Emphasizing that the greatest influence on the environment comes from individuals doing ordinary, thoughtful tasks in their neighborhoods, the Garrett Soil Conservation District is encouraging individuals and local school, camp, church and organization leaders to join the nationwide observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 25 to May 2.

The conservation district, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is providing encouragement for individual responsibility and care for natural resources. The local district is one of early 3,000 conservation districts nationwide that works with the National Association of Conservation Districts to encourage the wise use of natural resources through the annual week-long observance.

George Bishoff, chairperson of the Garrett Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, said he hopes Stewardship Week will challenge individuals to begin, or continue, individual conservation actions that heal the area in which they live. "The fact that you may now run less water to brush your teeth is just as important to our environment as a builder installing sediment control basins in a major urban development. Both require individual action...both make a difference," said Bishoff.

More information on Soil Stewardship Week, which has a 1993 theme "Hands of Healing," may be obtained by calling the Garrett Soil Conservation District office at 334-1900.

Oakland FFA Places In State Meats Contest

Members of the Oakland FFA Meat Judging Team placed fourth in the recent state contest held at Mt. Airy Locker Company in Mt. Airy. The Wagner Brothers of Mt. Airy Locker annually host the contest which is sponsored by the Montgomery County Agriculture Center as a special project of the Maryland FFA Foundation. The high scoring individual for the Meats Contest was Matt Ernst, FFA member of the Clear Spring Chapter. The Clear Spring Chapter took second place in the contest, with the Walkersville FFA Chapter taking first place.

The Oakland FFA Chapter placed fourth with bronze medals going to Dan Smith, who placed 8th individually, and James Rhoades, placing 9th individually.

According to Contest Superintendent and Official Judge Dr. John Buric, a retired member of the Animal Science Department at the University of Maryland, College Park, there were five teams registered with 21 members participating.

Elaine Bailey of the University of Maryland's Institute of Applied Agriculture and the Wagner Brothers assisted Dr. Buric with the contest. The contest consisted of a written test section including meat formulation problem solving, a section on retail meat cuts identification, a section on beef quality, yield grading, and carcass pricing. Also included were four placing classes selected from carcass classes as well as retail and wholesale cuts of lamb, pork and beef. Charles Cramer of the Walkersville FFA chapter was the teacher chairperson and supervised contest activities. Ike Williams coordinated the scoring of the contest.

Spring Fieldwork Active In State

During the week ending April 18, Maryland farmers were able to make good progress toward preparation of fields or actual planting of crops. Fruit bloom and plantings of potatoes and green peas were well behind normal.

An average of 3.4 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending April 18, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, 10 percent of the topsoil had adequate moisture, while 90 percent had surplus moisture. Subsoil moisture was adequate in 15 percent of Maryland, while 85 percent had surplus moisture.

Field preparation was behind normal with only about 14 percent completed. Eastern Shore farmers had four days suitable while west of the Bay about two days were available. Pastures and cattle were in excellent condition, with adequate hay supplies and pastures developing nicely. Small grains were in fair to mostly good condition. Some farmers were still unable to apply spring fertilizer. Plantings of green peas and potatoes made rapid progress, both now nearly 50 percent planted, but behind normal progress. Planting of both sweet corn and field corn has begun. A few melons were planted on the Eastern Shore.

Maryland's progress for the week ending April 18 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Planting progress: Corn for grain, 2, 8, 6; sweet corn, 6, 12, 9; spring oats, 9, 55, 63. Fruit bloom: Apples, 1, 30, 36; peaches, 14, 43, 80; and strawberries, 2, 16, 26.

WEATHER
Maryland weather for the week ending April 16 was warmer than normal with heavy precipitation. Precipitation averaged 1.92 inches, ranging from 0.72 at Patuxent to 4.01 inches at Cumberland. Regional averages were: western, 2.79; north central, 2.19; southern Maryland west of the Bay, 1.37; and Eastern Shore, 1.54 inches. Temperatures averaged 55.2 degrees, 0.8 degree above the normal of 54.4 degrees for the April 10-16 period. Minimum temperatures ranged from 29 to 44 degrees. Maximum temperatures were mostly in the 70's.

Record Keeping Regs Issued

The Department of Agriculture has issued the final rule requiring users of restricted-use pesticides to keep records.

The rule, passed as part of the 1990 farm act, becomes effective May 9.

Hints To Growers

Jim Simms
Extension Agent, Agriculture Science

Beet Seed-Germination Problem

Why do only half of the beet seeds planted germinate? The most probable cause of poor beet germination is soil crusting. Crusting occurs when the soil bed is worked too finely. When it rains the evaporated water leaves behind a hard packed soil layer on the surface that seedlings cannot penetrate. Beet seedlings are especially weak so they can't break through crusted soil as readily as a bean seedling can. To prevent crusting leave the soil slightly coarse (about the size of peas) and cover the bed with a thin layer of sawdust or mulch.

Beet seedlings also need a constant supply of moisture throughout germination. Any drying of the soil during this time prevents the seed from sprouting. Soak seeds overnight before planting to get a jump on germination.

Controlling "Black Rot" on Grapes

Are you having problems with your grapes rotting before they ripen? Chances are that your grapes have the fungus disease called "black rot." This one fungus can cause the fruit to rot before it begins to color. This black rot fungus attacks the leaves, shoots, tendrils, canes, blossoms, and fruit, but the disease does not attract much attention until mid-summer, when the nearly half-grown grapes begin to rot. When you see the symptoms it's too late to save your grapes. Usually about two weeks elapse between the time of infection and the appearance of symptoms. Normally, black rot of grapes can be effectively prevented with six to eight applications of a good fungicide such as Ferbam or one of those general purpose "home fruit" or "home orchard" sprays applied between the "new shoot" stage and just before harvest. It is very important that you prune off and remove all infected parts, including dried rotten fruit clusters, during the dormant pruning of your grapes to reduce the chances of this disease recurring next year.

Hints For The Home Gardener

"When the spring is very wet and the soil is too muddy to work, try planting your seed potatoes on top of the ground. Lay the cut seed flat on top of the wet earth with the eye up, spaced in rows 24 inches apart and 12 inches apart in the row. Then cover them with 8 inches of oak leaves and water the leaves heavily enough to pack them so they won't blow off. This method saves digging a planting furrow, hilling, and digging up the potatoes. Just pull back the leaves and there they are, nice and clean and not sunburned."

"Wild greens are often best in early spring when their flavor is mild. Common weeds that are edible include: pigweed, mustard, purslane, lamb's quarter and dandelion greens."

"When the weather is wet and cold, allow about twice the germination time listed on the seed packet. If there are no signs of growth after this time, dig around a little to check for sprouting seeds. If you find no signs of life, the seed has probably rotted and you will need to replant."

"When planning your vegetable garden, consider that leafy vegetables need at least six hours of sunlight in order to develop properly. Fruiting vegetables such as tomatoes, squash, eggplant, and peppers need ten hours of full sunlight."

"For easier watering of tomatoes and other large vegetables, plant a gallon milk jug with holes punched in the bottom nearby the plant. Watering through the jug keeps the water off the top of the ground and puts it near the roots where it is needed."

"Swiss chard is a soft-textured, milk-flavored green. It will give repeated harvests all summer because it does not bolt and go to seed in hot weather."

Farmers will be required to keep records for three years indicating the location of the treated field, the date, the amount used, and the name of the product. Access is limited to the state agencies dealing with pesticides, according to Mark Maslyn, an American Farm Bureau Federation director of governmental relations.

"The general public cannot have access to the records directly," Maslyn said. "They can, however, get access to the aggregate information that may be compiled from the state."

Farm Bureau has felt it is in farmers' interests, short term and long term, to support this requirement. Most farmers have been keeping records anyway, he said.

"We've had a number of questions over the years about food safety, water quality, farmer liability, and for all of those reasons it's prudent that the farmer keep good records," Maslyn said. "Simply from the management standpoint it makes you a better farmer if you keep records of your inputs."

Failure to comply will result in a $500 penalty for the first offense and $1,000 for subsequent violations. The state agency that currently has responsibility for enforcing federal pesticide law also will enforce the record-keeping regulations.

The new rule applies only to restricted use pesticides, not general use pesticides. Application of restricted use products requires farmers to complete a pesticide applicator training program and become certified.

"Most farmers have already done that; it's been the law for many years," Maslyn said.

The regulations were to have gone into effect two years ago, but were held up by a Bush administration moratorium on regulations. A lawsuit was filed by environmental groups demanding that USDA issue the rule.

Determination Of Land Erodibility Should Be Made Before Planting

Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, says if farmers want to retain eligibility for 1993 USDA benefits, it is important that they know before planting 1993 crops whether the land has had a highly erodible land or wetland determination made by the Soil Conservation Service as mandated by the 1990 farm bill.

Farm program participants also need to know whether crops to be planted on highly erodible land are in accordance with a signed conservation plan, and whether they have land that was a wet area that was manipulated after December 23, 1985, that cannot be planted to agricultural commodities.

Bachtel says planting areas that were drained after this date by someone else does not excuse a producer from ineligibility if they plant the converted area. Farmers are advised to get an official wetland determination from SCS before planting if there is any doubt.

Once a crop is planted in violation of the highly erodible land or wetland requirements, Bachtel said it is too late. The producer will be ineligible for 1993 USDA benefits.

North Central DHIA Banquet Held In Aurora

The North Central DHIA Annual Banquet and Meeting was held last Wednesday, April 14, at the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department in Aurora, W. Va. with approximately 60 dairymen and their families attending.

The welcome was given by President Mark Teets and the banquet was served by the Aurora VFD Auxiliary.

Milford Gibson was presented an award for milk, fat and protein at the state level with his 66.1 cow herd producing 22,214 pounds milk, 810 pounds fat and 739 pounds protein.

At the local level, he also placed highest of the top five herds for milk, fat and protein. The 22.3 cow herd of Mark and LeDeana Teets place second for milk, fat, and protein, with 21,670 pounds of milk, 771 pounds fat, and 697 pounds protein.

Placing third for milk was Thomas R. Mason's 64.8 cow herd, producing 20,261 pounds of milk. Fourth was the 33.9 cow herd of Kenneth and Dorothy Bachtel with 19,031 pounds milk, and fifth was John and Connie Fint's 44.1 cow herd with 18,611 pounds of milk.

John and Connie Fint's herd placed third for fat with 757 pounds, Thomas R. Mason was fourth with 746 pounds, and Stanley and Melvin Harsh's 30.6 cow herd was fifth with 710 pounds.

Placing third for protein was Thomas R. Mason with 652 pounds, fourth was John and Connie Fint with 606 pounds and fifth was Kenneth and Dorothy Bachtel with 606 pounds.

The five top active herds with the greatest increase in milk for one year were: Sybolt Brothers' 81.2 cow herd with 3,296 pounds increase or 26%; Carl Bachtel's 53.9 cow herd with 2,125 pound increase or 15%; W.J. Bradley's 49.6 cow herd with 1,580 pound increase or 12%; Randall E. Snyder's 37.8 cow herd with 1,496 pound increase or 10%; and C. Herbert Hunter, Jr.'s 64.9 Guernsey herd with 1,120 pound

SECOND HIGHEST HERD — Owners of the second highest herd in North Central DHIA for milk, fat and protein are Mark and LeDeana Teets, pictured above. Ag Liming Materials: Calcium And Magnesium

While limestone is applied primarily to neutralize soil acidity, it also serves as a source of essential calcium (Ca) and magnesium (Mg). When a soil test indicates the need for magnesium, limestone is the most economical way of meeting that need. The magnesium content of limestone varies considerably. Unfortunately, there is no official trade classification of limestone according to magnesium content. Local classification schemes often create confusion. Therefore, to select the proper limestone material, rely on the actual magnesium analysis rather than a name (e.g., dolomitic lime, high-magnesium lime, or high-calcium lime).

Dairy Situation And Outlook
It is now quite clear that the basis formula milk price, the Minnesota-Wisconsin price (M-W) bottomed out early this year at $10.74 per hundredweight for February. The M-W increased $2.28 in March to $11.02 per cwt. The M-W had dropped below year ago levels in October of last year. However, the March M-W was $0.04 per cwt above March a NATIONAL YOUTH SERVICE DAY was held on April 20, and students from Northern High School (NHS) participated by volunteering their services to various sites in Grantsville. The day is designed to recognize young people who serve in their communities and to encourage more young people to get involved. A total of 13 NHS students volunteered at five local organizations. Ginnie Blocher, Sabrina Davis, and Heather Rowe worked at the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Shelly Oaster, Lisa Stevens, and Scott Hanlin cleaned the Casseken Park. Aleatha Vance, Carmen Hummel, and Katie Dileworth volunteered at the Grantsville Fire Hall, and Michelle Robertson and Kandi Sukow worked at the Grantsville Town Park. Jamie Broom and Carla Butler help at the Grantsville Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library. Barbara Law, student service alliance instructor, accompanied the students. Refreshments were donated by the Grantsville Station, and transportation was provided by Billy Bender Chevrolet. Shown at right are volunteers at the rescue squad and, above, students are shown cleaning the fire hall.

Maryland Public TV To Broadcast Crime Summit

Maryland Public Television and a number of radio stations to broadcast the second annual Governor's Crime Summit, a live town meeting to mobilize citizens' concerns into practical suggestions for creating a safer Maryland.

The Governor's Crime Summit will be broadcast in its three-hour entirety on radio. Maryland Public Television will host an exclusive television the first hour on Sunday, April 25, from 8-9 p.m. on Channel 36, Oakland.

Viewers are invited to call the MPT studios where the governor, Bishop L. Robinson, secretary of the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services; and Colonel Larry Tulliver, superintendent of Maryland State Police, will be on air to talk with callers. In addition some five other cabinet members, as well as experts on crime prevention, criminal investigation, corrections, and specialists on victim witnesses and substance abuse, and representatives from Baltimore County and city police, and from Juvenile Services, will be in the studio taking calls from citizens and to note reports of as yet unreported crimes. Last year's summit elicited 140 calls and led to 10 investigations.

"Maryland Public Television is proud to participate in the Governor's crime prevention initiative," said Raymond K.K. Ho, president and CEO of MPT. "It is MPT's aim to keep government close to the people. Only through the unique format of public television can we provide viewers the opportunity to interact with their elected officials."

Marylanders who call 1-800-926-0629 to speak to the governor may have their voices heard on the air. Those callers who don't wish to be on the air, but who want to speak with their elected officials, are invited to call 1-800-222-1292. Callers using the latter phone number will be assured anonymity should they wish it.

All callers' suggestions for addressing the roots of crime will be considered for inclusion in a report entitled "Maryland's Crime Prevention Strategy: In Partnership with the People." That report will be culled from citizens' suggestions and concerns during the Crime Summit broadcast and from another citizen-government symposium, The Governor's Summit on Violent Street Crime, to be held at Coppin State College, May 19 and 20. To participate in the Coppin State Summit, citizens may call 410-225-4806. This two-day symposium features Attorney General Janet Reno, Senator Joe Biden, and other dignitaries.

CBSI To Sponsor Orienteering Course At GCC

A Michigan-based international software and systems consulting firm, Complete Business Solutions, Inc. (CBSI) has contracted to sponsor the beginning orienteering course being offered through the Adventure Sports program at Garrett Community College, May 7, 8, and 9.

The course, which teaches navigating over land by map and compass, will be instructed by Lt. Col. Bob Turbyfill, head coach of the U.S. Orienteering Team and current national champion orienteer.

The class will meet for the first session in the college gymnasium at noon on Friday, May 7, then will move to an outdoor location in Garrett County. Registration information is available by calling the college at 301-387-3000.

Founded in 1985 by Raj Vattikuti, CBSI has grown to a company of over 500 employees with offices throughout the United States, Europe, and Asia. The company specializes in meeting the software and systems development needs of users and computer hardware manufacturers and vendors. It provides business solutions tailored to client needs, including contract programming services, software applications, systems integration and training, and works with industries ranging from WINS POSTER CONTEST - Stephanie Weeks, pictured above with Dennett Road Principal Asa McCain, was recently named winner of the school's annual R.I.F. (Reading Is Fundamental) poster contest. She is a second grader in Donna Miller's class. Stephanie received a $50 savings bond and a gift certificate to the Book Market at Oakland. Dennett Road will hold its first R.I.F. distribution of this year on April 29 and 30. This will be held in conjunction with Readersaurus Week. R.I.F. is a nation-wide, non-profit organization that strives to inspire children to read by offering books they may keep at no cost.

"Dishpan Hands"

Always wear vinyl protective gloves while doing the dishes or using household cleaners. Use lukewarm water and only the smallest amount of soap when washing the hands. Apply a moisturizer (such as white petrolatum) after handwashing and throughout the day. Avoid perfumed moisturizers, as they may cause further irritation of the hands. If the condition persists, use a topical hydrocortisone ointment (a 1 percent concentration now is available without prescription). Use the ointment several times during the day.

year ago and is expected to stay above year ago levels for at least the next three or four months. There is a wide difference of opinion as to when the M-W will peak this year and at what level.

The M-W price is higher than what was earlier forecasted. What are the reasons behind stronger milk prices? Much stronger than expected cheese prices for this time of the year is the major driving force behind higher milk prices. Further cheese price increases are anticipated.

There are several factors driving up cheese prices. Adverse weather last fall and winter has negatively impacted milk production for the second leading cheese producer, California. Weather related herd health problems has resulted in heavy culling of milk cows in California. Replacements have been purchased to hold up milk production, but indications are that replacement cow numbers are becoming tight.

Feed quality problems has adversely affected milk production in New York and Pennsylvania, another cheese producing area. A number of dairy farm exits are resulting declines in milk cow numbers is holding down milk production in the leading cheese producing area of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Recognizing these milk production trends, cheese buyers have become very aggressive in placing orders. Many wish to build inventory before cheese supplies become tighter and prices increase. The potential problem here is that once inventories are adequate, cheese orders will trail off. What happens then to cheese prices will depend on milk production over the next couple of months and what production looks like for the summer. If milk production begins to show strength, cheese buyers may stop inventory building and instead change their strategy to purchasing primarily for near term needs. A real potential exists for an early peak in June and milk prices in July, as they did last year and then begin declining.

Jeffery Elizabeth Hickman Becomes October Bride Of Joseph H. Shrum

Jeffery Elizabeth Hickman became the bride of Joseph Howard Shrum on October 3, 1992, during a double-ring ceremony at historic St. Anne's Episcopal Church, Church Circle, Annapolis. The Rev. Dr. John Randolph Price officiated the 5 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Linda Pitts Hickman, Smeria Park, and the late Bart Ingalls Hickman Jr. She is also the granddaughter of Hilda Mae Pitts, Second St., Oakland.

The groom is the son of George and Wylidene Shrum, Clawson, Mich.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Bart Ingalls Hickman III, and given in marriage by her brother and mother.

Monica Willsey, a college friend of the bride served as matron of honor. The best man was Tom Richardson, a college friend of the groom.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at the Holiday Inn of Annapolis. After a dinner buffet, a five-piece band with vocalists provided dancing entertainment for 150 guests.

The bride graduated summa cum laude with a bachelor of science degree from Syracuse University. She is presently attending school at the University of Maryland in College Park. The groom received his bachelor of science in philosophy from Kenyon College and is an account executive with Snelkinson & Sisco in Jessup.

The couple honeymooned in Barbados, West Indies, and are currently residing in Crofton.

Miss Cooper To Marry Mr. Iden

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cooper Sr., Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Iden, McHenry, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their children, Julie Michelle Cooper and Gregory Lynn Iden.

Miss Cooper is a 1989 graduate of Southern High School and has received a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Frostburg State University. She is currently substitute teaching and working at Nanny's Bear Care while searching for an elementary teaching position.

Mr. Iden is a 1988 graduate of Northern High School and is currently employed by the Maryland Conservation Corps, Department of Natural Resources.

A July wedding is planned.

Barnhouse-Brantner Wedding Scheduled

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph "Buster" Barnhouse, Kitzmiller, and Mr. and Mrs. William Brantner, also of Kitzmiller, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their children, Amy Marie Barnhouse and EM2 SW Michael Wayne Brantner.

The couple will be united in marriage in a private ceremony on Sunday, May 16, 1993. A reception will follow at 4 p.m. at the Kitzmiller Community Building. Some invitations are being sent, but all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Miss Hebb Becomes Bride Of Mr. Rounds In September Event

Mai Linh Hebb and Robert James Rounds were united in marriage on September 2, 1992.

The double-ring ceremony took place at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, with the Rev. John Grant officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Trong Bean, Oakland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rounds, Oakland.

Given in marriage by her mother, she was escorted to the altar by her stepfather, William Bean.

The bride chose a gown with an elegant Queen Anne collar that ended in a sweetheart neckline and a princess bodice, with heavily beaded lace over satin. The fitted see-through sleeves ended in bridal points and dangling pearls were added to the Basque waist. Beaded lace covered the sheer back yoke, edged the dainty peplum, and highlighted the cathedral train that was hemmed in a lace border.

The bride chose a pearl descent crystal headband with silk roses and pearl sprig side accents, net pouf, and shoulder-length veil.

The matron of honor was Mary Ann Jones and the bridesmaid was Phoebe Marie Neary. They wore ankle-length dresses of peach silk.

The bride's bouquet was of peach tea roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

The bouquets of the matron of honor and bridesmaid were of peach roses and baby's breath.

The bride's bouquet was later placed on the groom's grandfather's grave.

Theresa Helbig To Wed Wayne Miller

4-H Club News

NORTH STAR by Beverly Sebold, reporter

In March and April the North Star 4-H Club has had a lot of activities.

In March the members and families went ice skating in Morgantown, W.Va. It was the first time ice skating for many.

On March 28 the group went bowling.

April 9 began with an Easter egg hunt at the Accident fire hall. The afternoon was spent coloring eggs, making candy eggs, and hunting for prizes. A special thanks to the parent volunteers and the committee for making fun for everyone.

For the Achievement Dinner, Sharron Bolyard made named tags for the members present. The club received a banner seal.

On April 13 the regular meeting was held. Debbie Green did a demonstration on how to feed a dairy calf, and Heidi Makolm shared her guinea pig.

The club is going to have a family picnic on May 16 at 2 p.m. at the Accident Town Park.

Our next meeting will be Tuesday, May 11, at 7 p.m.

COVE KIDS by Melissa Paugh, reporter

The meeting of the Cove Kids 4-H was held April 16 at St. John's Church in the Cove. There were 22 members and six parents present.

Jessica Stemple read the treasurer's report. We discussed the booth committee. Vernon Paugh is the chairman and Shonna DeWitt and Melissa Paugh are helpers. The float and booth committees must have an idea of what they are doing by next month's meeting. Jessica Stemple collected the money for our special fund.

The demonstrations for next month will be presented by Jessica Stemple and Tony Bender. The next meeting will be May 13 at the St. John's Church at 7 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on May 6, 1993 at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Commission meeting room (Third Floor, Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review an application made by Mr. Ralph Burnett, attorney for Red Run Restaurant, Inc. (Docket VR-313). Application is made for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the requirement that a lot may not be divided by a street and a Variance from the minimum lot size requirement. Specifically Mr. Burnett is requesting Variances to allow the establishment of a 56 acre lot with a width of 90 feet to remain with the Red Run Restaurant and to dedicate an additional 59 acre parcel and located along Mayhew Inn Road to the restaurant to bring the total area above one acre. The application for Variances is being made in order to allow the creation of a one acre building lot adjacent to the restaurant. The property is located off the Mayhew Inn Road (Zoned LR).

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that GAYLORD FUEL CORPORATION, STONE DIVISION, P.O. Box 128, McHenry, MD, will conduct blasting at its surface quarry operation located at Sang Run Road on Hoyaes Run, Garrett County, from January 1, through Dec. 31, 1993, in compliance with all State and Federal laws.

Blasting will occur either between the hours of 8 a.m. and noon, or between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday weather permitting. This scheduled will be followed except during adverse conditions that will prevent blasting, or if the operator or public safety requires unscheduled detonations.

At least 10 minutes prior to all detonations all access roads will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry. A warning signal will be sounded at least 3 minutes prior to detonation with 3 blasts of 5 seconds duration at 5 second intervals. The warning signal will be sounded once after detonation for a 20 second duration as an all clear signal.

NOTICE TO RESIDENTS OF OAKLAND

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland is considering the submission of an application to the Maryland FY 1994 "Small Cities Community Development Block Grant" (CDBG) Program. The CDBG Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed towards neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development and improving community facilities and services. A public hearing to obtain the views of citizens on community development and housing needs will be held on Monday, May 3, 1993, at the Oakland Town Hall, starting at 7:15 p.m. Copies of the Maryland Small Cities CDBG Program Design, which describes the CDBG program in detail and sets forth available funding limits for eligible activities, will be made available for review by interested parties. Residents of Oakland, particularly low to moderate income persons, are urged to attend and provide written or oral comments regarding potential projects.

ASSIGNEES' SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

12 acres more or less
Maryland Route 669, The Springs Road,
1 mile North of Grantsville, Maryland

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a mortgage from R. Kimberly Getz and Rebecca W. Getz to Liberty Bank of Maryland dated July 22, 1987 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Book 500 page 230, the mortgage having been duly assigned to me for the purpose of foreclosure and default having been made under the agreements, covenants and conditions of the mortgage, I will offer the property described below at the public auction at the property located on Maryland Route 669, The Springs Road, 1 mile North of Alternate Route 40, Grantsville, Maryland on Tuesday, May 11, 1993 at 11:00 a.m.

ALL THOSE LOTS, pieces of parcels of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 3, Garrett County, Maryland, and describe as follows, to-wit:

Parcel 1 BEGINNING at the East margin of Maryland Route 417 at its intersection with the center of the County Road leading to the property of Irwin E. Yoder and running with said East margin of said Maryland Route No. 417, North 0 degrees, 45 minutes East, 354 feet, North 4 degrees East, 389 feet to a fence post, thence leaving said margin and running with the residue of the land of Elmer D. Schrock and wife, South 81 degrees, 30 minutes East, 545 feet to a post, thence, South 83 degrees, 30 minutes East, 429 feet to a post on the line of land of Noah J. Yoder and others, thence with said land and with land of Irwin E. Yoder, South 817 feet to the center of the aforementioned County Road, and with the center of said road, North 65 degrees West, 240 feet, North 82 degrees West, 113 feet, North 85 degrees West, 534 feet, North 79 degrees West, 158 feet to the beginning, containing 17.6 acres, more or less.

EXCEPTING from the above land conveyed 7.95 acres, more or less, which was previously conveyed by Grantsville Community Sale, Inc. to Noah J. Yoder, et al. by deed dated February 1, 1964, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. No. 255, folio 210, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

SUBJECT to the right of Elmer D. Schrock, et al. to use water from the well on the above described property and also SUBJECT to the restriction against the sale of any alcoholic beverages on said premises.

Parcel 2 BEGINNING at a post standing in the southwesterly corner of a tract of land owned by Earnest Mast and running thence from said post along the line of land of the said Earnest Mast land and land of which the parcel hereby conveyed is a part, South 74 degrees, 15 minutes East, 167 feet to a post standing 14 feet from the centerline of Maryland Route No. 669, known as the Springs Road, thence by said road, South 13 degrees, 15 minutes West, 650 feet to a post standing 14 feet from the centerline of said road, thence leaving said road and running through the land of which the parcel hereby conveyed is a part, North 76 degrees, 45 minutes West, 167 feet to a stake, thence North 13 degrees, 16 minutes East, 657 feet to a post, the place of beginning, containing 2.507 acres, more or less.

ALSO, all fixtures and personal property situate on the above-described property.

EXCEPTING, however, all that piece or parcel of land conveyed by John L. Spiker and James A. Fancher to Harold L. Humberson and Gladys M. Humberson, his wife, by deed dated June 28, 1986, and recorded in Liber No. 481, folio 11 & c, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

ACCORDING to information supplied to me by American Trust Bank, successor to Liberty Bank of Maryland (the Lender), the property is improved by a concrete block and wood frame constructed building currently used as a livestock sale barn with attached restaurant facility. The original portion of this structure was built in the early 1940's and was used as a processing plant for peas from local farms. This original portion was metal clad and is still observable with the structure today. Various expansion areas have been added since that time. At present, the improvements include:

Restaurant. This portion is a 20 x 35 concrete building with poured concrete floor. The interior has minimal restaurant facilities, including but not limited to an oven, sink, refrigerator and luncheon counter with stools. Information supplied to the Lender indicates that the restaurant is operated only 4-5 hours per week in conjunction with the livestock sales.

Loading Area. This portion is 22 x 30 and is constructed of rough cut, hardwood timbers. It is partitioned into several individual pens and has an elevated concrete loading dock for loading and unloading animals from trucks.

Animal Holding Pens. This portion is located along the rear of the building and comprises approximately 11,500 square feet. The holding areas have a poured concrete floor and metal, sheet type roofing. The interior of these portions has numerous individual holding pens constructed of rough cut hardwood lumber.

Sale Barn. This barn measures approximately 41 x 103, is constructed of rough-cut hardwood, and is comprised of a small office, several box stalls, and a sale area with metal animal holding pens surrounded by elevated wood seating. This portion of the structure is heated by a suspended gas space heater. Floors in the area are poured concrete and the roof is metal clad.

Office Building. This structure measures 21 x 35 and is of concrete block construction. It consists of a single room with concrete floor, paneled walls and a suspended ceiling. Heat for this area is provided by a gas-fired hot water baseboard system. Public restrooms are located in a hallway adjacent to this office area.

I can make no warranty as to the accuracy of the above information, that information having been supplied to the Lender from other sources. Furthermore, I can make no warranty concerning the condition of any of the described features including whether or not the mechanical devices are in good working order.

The above described real estate together with its improvements shall be offered for sale at public auction. All property is to be sold "as is."

A representative of the Lender will be available at the property at 9:00 a.m. on the day of sale so that interested persons may view the improvements located on the property.

Terms of sale, $25,000.00 on the day of sale and the balance by certified or bank check upon the delivery of a good and sufficient deed to the purchaser. The sale is subject to ratification by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

All state and county taxes and other public charges will be adjusted as of the day of sale. Recordation and transfer taxes will be payable by the Buyer. I reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

GARRETT COUNTY SANITARY COMMISSION
SEWER LINE EXTENSION FOR THE I-68 VISITORS' CENTER AT FRIENDSVILLE, MARYLAND

INVITATION TO BID

Receipt of Proposals

Sealed bids marked "Bid for Sewer Line Extension for the I-68 Visitors' Center at Friendsville, Maryland" will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary Commission (hereinafter referred to as Owner), at 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550, until 10:00 a.m. on Friday, May 14, 1993 and then there the bids will be publicly opened and read.

General Description of Work

This project will run about 6,000 feet of four (4) inch variable grade sewer (VGS) from a septic tank at the I-68 Visitors' Center at Friendsville, Maryland to a road bore crossing the interstate. The 4" VGS will then run along the shoulder of Maryland State Route 53 approximately 3,000 feet and then tie into an existing manhole near the lower Cemetery Road.

Pre-Bid Conference

A pre-bid conference will be held on Friday, May 7, 1993 at 10:00 a.m. at the I-68 Visitors' Center at Friendsville to answer any questions concerning the Contract Documents. All bidders are invited to attend.

Contract Documents

Contract Documents will be available after Monday, April 26, 1993, for inspection during regular working hours at the Office of the Owner.

Contract Documents may be obtained from the Owner upon written request and remittance of full payment of one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each set with checks made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. Payment will not be refunded, said payment being retained by the Owner to cover cost of printing, handling and shipping. Requests for Contract Documents shall be submitted to:

Garrett County Sanitary Commission
313 East Alder Street
Old Courthouse, Room 200
Oakland, Maryland 21550

All Bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects, to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorized postponement thereof. Any Bid received after the time and date specified will not be considered. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 90 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope of work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done. All excavation is unclassified without provisions for extra payment for rock excavation.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

Bid Security and Bond Requirements

There are no bid securities or bond requirements for this project. Progress payments will be made for work in place and a ten percent (10%) retainage will be held on all work until the project is completed and the contract requirements are satisfied.

The Owner may for any reason whatsoever, determine that it is not in its best interest to award a contract, the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the ninety (90) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and contract forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of an acceptable Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract is awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the Owner not execute the Agreement within such period, the Bidder may, by Written Notice, withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted.

Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

Time For Completion

The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work on or before Wednesday, June 30, 1993.

Award of Contract

The award of any contract will be made by the Owner. Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents, however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals, or to award a contract or contracts which in its judgment is in the best interest of the Owner.

Nondiscrimination of Employment

BIDDERS ON THIS WORK WILL BE REQUIRED TO COMPLY WITH THE PRESIDENT'S EXECUTIVE ORDER NO. 11246, THE REQUIREMENTS FOR BIDDERS AND CONTRACTORS UNDER THIS ORDER ARE EXPLAINED IN 41 CFR 60.4.

Notice of Requirement for Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities

Bidders and offerors are cautioned as follows: By signing this bid or offer, the bidder or offeror will be deemed to have signed and agreed to the provisions of the Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities in this solicitation. The certification provides that the bidder or offeror does not maintain or provide for his employees facilities which are segregated on a basis of race, creed, color, or national origin, whether such facilities are segregated by directive or on a de facto basis. The certification also provides that he will not maintain such segregated facilities. Failure of a bidder or offeror to agree to the Certification of Nonsegregated facilities will render his bid or offer non-responsive to the terms of solicitations.

Date at Oakland, Maryland, this 21st day of April, 1993.

Estate No. 7496
TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE OF Gertrude Elizabeth Aronhalt

Notice is given that First United National Bank & Trust, Oakland, Maryland, was on April 5, 1993 appointed personal representative of the estate of Gertrude Elizabeth Aronhalt, who died on March 5, 1993, with a will.

Further information can be obtained by reviewing the estate file in the office of the Register of Wills or by contacting the personal representative or the attorney.

All persons having any objection to the appointment (or to the probate of the decedent's will) shall file their objections with the Register of Wills on or before the 5th day of October, 1993.

Any person having a claim against the decedent must present the claim to the undersigned personal representative or file it with the Register of Wills with a copy to the undersigned on or before the earlier of the following dates:

(1) Six months from the date of the decedent's death, or

(2) Two months after the personal representative mails or otherwise delivers to the creditor a copy of this published notice or other written notice, notifying the creditor that the claim will be barred unless the creditor presents the claim within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. A claim not presented or filed on or before that date, or any extension provided by law, is unenforceable thereafter. Claim forms may be obtained from the Register of Wills.

Progress Being Made On County 911 Enhancement

Garrett County Director of General Services F. Gary Mullich reported to the Garrett County Commissioners that work on the county's conversion to the 911 enhancement system is progressing on schedule, as aerial photography is being conducted this week by the consulting firm of MSAG Data, Inc., Orange, Va., in preparation for the new system.

Mullich explained that the new system would be phased in over the next eight months "if everything goes well." The county is converting to the new system as the result of a state mandate, and the deadline for compliance is July 1, 1995, said Mullich. He also noted that Allegany County is currently in the process of developing the new system, as is Somerset County, Pa.

The new system is being implemented in an effort to aid emergency management officials in more efficiently and accurately identifying the location of county residences so that rescue personnel will be able to respond to calls more quickly.

Mullich advised the commissioners that an addressing ordinance would have to be passed to give county government the legal authority to issue the new addresses and to approve any new names of roads located outside municipalities, noting that addresses and street names would not change within the town limits if a review revealed that "sound standards" had been applied.

Mullich has requested that the county residents who were most recently affected by address changes brought about through the authority of the U.S. Postal Service be the last ones to be affected by any address changes that occur from the 911 enhancement system.

Individual residents who will be affected by possible changes in road names will be contacted by the consulting firm with information about naming or renaming a road, he said, adding that persons with post office boxes may still use that number for some mailing purposes.

Mullich stated that map reference books will also be produced with map identifier numbers

THIS IS THE GOOD READER that makes the good story, so the saying goes. Making a good story at Swan Meadow School this week was Joni Miller, pictured at right reading to a captive audience during that school's B.E.A.R. Week (Be Enthusiastic About Reading). Mr. Miller, accompanied by his wife Martha (left), read writings of his mother that told the harrowing story of an explosion of a steam-powered thrasher many years ago. Teacher Jeneane Tice invited several grandparents to the school on Monday to read to the children for the special BEAR week. On Tuesday, the GOBA bear visited the children and read stories, and on Wednesday, students dressed as their favorite book characters. Johnny Appleseed is scheduled to visit today to present his autobiography, and poetry about the earth will be shared by staff and students. The students will vote for their favorite authors tomorrow, and BEAR certificates and prizes will be presented in a special assembly. "We're having a BEARy fun week," Ms. Tice said.

Tuesday Mishap Sends Woman To Area Hospital

A Tuesday two-vehicle mishap near McDonald's at Keyser's Ridge sent one woman to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where she was treated and released, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Mary E. Hayes, 59, Frostburg, was taken to that hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Tfc. G.S. Becker investigated the 2:45 p.m. mishap and stated that Lynne Stevens, 29, Morgantown, W.Va., operating a 1988 Plymouth Colt exited McDonald's parking lot to travel westbound on Rt. 40 when she reportedly failed to yield the right of way to a 1985 Ford LTD, operated by Hayes. Hayes vehicle struck the Stevens vehicle in the left rear.

Stevens was reportedly charged in the mishap.

DNR Requesting Input On Black Bear Management

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., has announced the opportunity for public input on the DNR Wildlife Division's black bear management plan and priorities.

"As part of our continuing effort to seek public input, the Wildlife Division has made available a citizen participation packet titled 'Black Bears in Maryland - Your Input Please.'"

The packet presents the most up-to-date information on bear research, summaries of past meetings, and a public comment sheet that will help provide information to DNR.

DNR requests responses by May 20, 1993.

The Wildlife Division is seeking input on education, research, priorities, and management related to implementing the state's black bear management plan.

Black bear packets are available upon request by calling: the DNR Wildlife Division in Annapolis at

Sheriff's Office Investigating Reported Thefts

Several incidents of theft were reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week. Investigations are being conducted in the crimes, which include breaking and entering a summer residence as well as the apparent theft of a four-wheeler.

Gene Beavers, Jeanette, Pa., contacted the Sheriff's Office to report the breaking and entering of his summer home, located on Bracken Road. The victim reported that someone entered the residence between March 21 and April 3 and apparently stole a 19" color television, valued at $350, and a Homelite chain saw, worth approximately $80, according to the report.

The culprits apparently entered the home through a basement window.

A four-wheeler (all-terrain vehicle) was reportedly stolen from the White Oak Trailer Court sometime last Friday. Shannon Lee told police that the vehicle had been parked in the yard, approximately 50 feet from the road. It was last seen there at 12:45 a.m. Friday, and was gone by 6:30 a.m., according to the report.

The four-wheeler is a 200 Blaster, worth approximately $500. It has gray fenders, a black seat, a green gas tank cover, and a cracked clutch case.

A camper top was apparently stolen sometime between April 19-23. The top was on plastic barrels at the Greta Rex property on New Germany Road. Carolyn Rounds reported its disappearance on April 23.

The camper top is an older model with crank-style windows. It is about eight feet long and is white fiberglass. The loss in this theft has been estimated at $200.

Two puppies were reported stolen from Patricia Boyce's residence on Old Wilson Road. The dogs, Cocker Spaniel and Lapso Apso mixed, are worth $50 each and were apparently stolen on April 24. One puppy was reportedly dropped at JoAnna's Floral Boutique, and someone offered to take it before Ms. Boyce was aware of the theft.

Investigations into these crimes are continuing by the Sheriff's Office.

County Recycling Effort Progresses Despite Problems

Garrett County Recycling Coordinator Lee Thorne this week provided an update on the county's ongoing recycling effort, as well as plans to upgrade and add to the current recycling sites throughout the county.

Thorne reported that grants obtained through the state will be used to improve the sites during the summer months to make them "safer and more accessible," and that recycling bins will be placed at the King's Run site -- the only dumpster site in the county without the bins.

County officials, along with others throughout the nation, have experienced difficulty in finding markets for certain of the recyclables and for storing others until they can be transported to markets outside the county.

However, the problems are slowly being worked out, and Thorne reported that the newspapers are being utilized by a West Virginia farmer; the aluminum and steel cans are being taken to B&S Scrap; Dove Enterprises, Inc., is collecting recyclable cardboard; and a market has been found in Keyser, W.Va. for glass items.

Gathering and transporting the cans was no easy matter, according to Thorne, who explained that the lids of the bins were frequently left open, causing rain to cover the cans and be frozen.

Local Citizen Tips Police In Finding Escapee

A local citizen aided Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, Monday evening in finding an escapee who fled after being arrested on traffic violations, including operating a stolen vehicle.

Lawrence Marshall, 35, no address known, was apprehended on U.S. Rt. 219 near Friend's Stockyard at 5:55 p.m. after he was observed leaving an unoccupied residence near the Cove scenic overlook.

Marshall had escaped from Tfc. W.E. Mowbray at approximately 2:30 a.m. Monday after he told the trooper he had to relieve himself. After stopping at the overlook, Marshall returned to the vehicle, but then ran from the cruiser into a wooded area just below the overlook.

After an extensive search in the area with police and K-9 units, Marshall was not located. Residences and out buildings in the area were searched to no avail. Then late Monday afternoon, a Cove resident called Garrett County Emergency Management and said they saw him leave a residence owned by a Baltimore County resident. Troopers responded and after a short foot chase, Marshall was apprehended. At that time, he was not wearing the clothes earlier described to police.

Marshall had reportedly changed clothes at the home he had entered by throwing a brick through the window. A cleaning lady had been at the residence earlier in the day and police believe he saw her leave before entering the house. He had allegedly stolen a hat, clothing, some antique dishware, and two wooden flutes. Marshall still had on the handcuffs that had been placed on him by Mowbray. He reportedly tried to use a grinder to get them off, but was unsuccessful. He was able to break the center chain.

Marshall is incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. He was charged with breaking and entering and theft as a result of entry into the Cove area home. He was also charged with three additional counts of theft and charges of resisting arrest, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, making a false statement to police, exceeding the posted speed limit, unsafe lane change, driving without a license, and attempting to manipulate a vehicle with malice intent.

THEFTS PROBED

In other state police news, a number of reported cases of breaking and entering and theft are currently being investigated by state police.

Thurl Tower, Oakland, told police that someone entered his small cottage on Mosser Road sometime between February 1 and April 20 and removed an 18-inch RCA television and a Savage .22 caliber rifle.

Tpr. M. Rodeheaver is handling the investigation. Rodeheaver is also probing a theft involving Garrett Community College. College officials told police that on April 15 between noon and 1 p.m. someone removed a Zenith lap top computer, Model 2-184-1, from the

Numerous Charges Incurred By Local Man After Police Chase

An Oakland man was taken into custody of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office last week after he apparently attempted to elude a deputy. Larry G. Wilson, 30, was arrested on multiple charges after he engaged in a five-mile chase with Deputy J. Green in the early hours of April 22.

According to the police report, Wilson was operating a pickup truck along Rt. 135 in Mtn. Lake Park when Green stopped him. The defendant apparently could not produce a valid driver's license, and when the officer asked Wilson to get out of the vehicle, the defendant instead put the truck into gear and allegedly reached under the front seat. Green had been advised that the defendant may have had a gun, although none was found during a later inspection.

Wilson allegedly dropped off his one passenger in the roadway, did a three-point turn in his truck, and drove directly toward the deputy's patrol car. Green swerved to miss a possible collision, according to the officer's report, and a chase ensued.

Wilson traveled east on Rt. 135 at 67 miles per hour in a 50 m.p.h. zone, according to the report. Green followed, having called in for back-up assistance. The defendant turned on to Sand Flat Road, then Spring Glade. He proceeded to Snow Drift Drive, where he stopped at a residence. Green removed him from his vehicle, according to the report, and handcuffed him.

Wilson was charged with reckless driving, resisting arrest, driving while intoxicated, fleeing police, failure to drive right of center, driving without current tags, failure to display license on demand, driving at a speed greater than reasonable, and failure to stop at a stop sign. He was also cited for a seat-belt violation and for driving without a valid license. He was released from the Garrett County Jail after posting $10,000 bond, an office spokesperson said.

In a separate case, a Deer Park man was charged with arson Sunday after he allegedly burned down a neighbor's dog house and set fire to a mattress outside the victim's home. Donald R. Park, 32, is currently incarcerated on $25,000 bond, charged with one count of arson of a dwelling, one

Tim Hinebaugh Winner In State Writing Contest

Among the top finishers in the 1993 "Maryland You are Beautiful" student literacy writing competition was Northern High School junior Timothy J. Hinebaugh.

A total of 12 first, second, and third place winners in four age categories were selected out of some 150,000 students who participated statewide. Hinebaugh won third place in the 9-12 grade category with his essay, written in the form of a letter to his school principal, Mildred Wucik, suggesting ways to help youth "Say No to Drugs and Yes to Success," which was the theme of the contest. His winning essay appears on Page A-4 of this issue of The Republican.

"I wanted my ideas to be real stuff, not phony ideas that I didn't believe in," Hinebaugh said. Some of his suggestions include mandatory one semester drug education courses, "reality field trips," and fun activities which would all stress the contest theme.

"This is a battle we must win - and the tremendous response to this contest proves that some of the best ideas on how to stop the abuse of alcohol and other drugs among our youth can come from the kids themselves," stated Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The 12 statewide winners will be honored in a formal awards ceremony May 17 in the Governor's Reception Room at the State House in Annapolis. The four first-place winners will each receive a weekend for four in historic Annapolis, including food, lodging, and tours, plus a $100 savings bond and an overnight stay at Paramount's Kings Dominion with complimentary passes for four. Second- and third-place winners will each receive a $50 savings bond and complimentary passes for four to Kings Dominion. All 12 winners will also receive complimentary game tickets for four and special recognition by the Baltimore Orioles, and an engraved trophy presented by the governor.

A panel of professional educators and administrators from the Maryland State Department of Education and the University of Maryland System selected the winning entries, which were judged on content, organization, choice of words, and mechanics.

AAUW ENCOURAGES GIRLS TO PURSUE SCIENCE - The Garrett branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) has targeted seventh-grade girls in the county for an upcoming Computer, Math, and Science Career Fair to encourage the students to study these subjects. This one-day fair will be held at the Morgantown Mall (Westover Exit on I-79) on Saturday, May 1, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. It is open to the public and is free. Over 50 exhibitors will be present, including those from Garrett Community College, West Virginia University, and other area colleges and universities. NASA representatives will be on hand for aviation and space subjects, and several businesses, both locally and nationally known, will present various exhibits. Businesses scheduled to be represented include IBM Hercules, Inc.; Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; Union Carbide; Westvaco; One Valley Bank; and Miles, Inc. Topics will include computers, architecture and design, engineering, health, accounting and economics, and the sciences from animal science to zoology. A highlight will be a laser light show titled "Lighta Fantastic." The local AAUW is encouraging parents to take their middle school students, particularly girls, to the fair, a spokesperson said. Pictured above are several Southern Middle School students interested in the science field. Shown left to right are Ann Wease, Christina Wease, Teacher Polly Ramsey, Tina Knox, Teacher Susan Hinebaugh, Erin Ball, and Jennifer Smith.

LOCAL ARMY CAPTAIN RETURNS FROM SOMALIA - U.S. Army Captain Geoffrey Hamill, son of Marjorie Hamill, Oakland, and the late Judge Stuart Hamill, returned home recently from Somalia, where he was assigned to the 87th Infantry Battalion as part of "Operation Restore Hope." As the photograph reveals, Capt. Hamill had the opportunity to visit with then U.S. President George Bush. Hamill is a graduate of West Nottingham Academy, Colorado, and graduated with honors from New Mexico State University.

Bloodmobile To Visit Grantsville Wednesday, May 5

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region, invites persons to donate blood at the Grantsville fire hall on May 5, from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m.

According to Lela Bender, Garrett County Blood Services chair, blood collection now is important to maintaining the blood supply prior to the Memorial Day holiday.

"The Johnstown Region Blood Services needs to collect at least 125 units of blood in Grantsville on May 5 to help prepare for the Memorial Day holiday," Bender said.

She explained that donors of all blood types are urged to come out to the May 5 drive, but particularly those people with Rh negative types.

Ed Majoris, donor resources consultant for the Johnstown Region, added that the Grantsville community consistently supports Red Cross bloodmobiles.

"The people in this community always come out and donate at our bloodmobiles. And, we are asking the community to continue supporting the Red Cross and local hospitals by donating at the bloodmobile on May 5," he said.

Requirements for donating blood include: being at least 17, weighing at least 105 pounds, and being in general good health.

The Johnstown Region must collect at least 700 units of blood each work day to meet patient need throughout the hospitals it serves. The Johnstown Region Blood Services meets the needs of patients in over 75 hospitals throughout 46 counties (including Garrett County) across five states.

Hiring Policy Change Noted By MSP Head

Colonel Larr W. Tolliver, superintendent of the Maryland State Police, announced this week a change to the agency's hiring policy concerning sexual orientation.

Tolliver directed the commander of the Personnel Management Division to ensure that employment decisions are not affected by the employee's or applicant's sexual orientation. He further stated that the non-discrimination policy will be complied with and that no direct or indirect inquiries regarding sexual orientation would be included in any phase of the employment process.

GARRETT COUNTY DAY OF PRAYER PROCLAIMED - The Garrett County Commissioners this week proclaimed that Thursday, May 6, will be honored as Garrett County Day of Prayer, with the observance to be held in the Garrett County Courthouse Rotunda, from 12:20-12:40 p.m. Activities at that time will include prayers, scripture readings, and the singing of hymns. The public is invited to attend. Shown in the above photo, seated, left to right, are the commissioners, Brenda Butcher, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey. Standing, same order, are Robert P. Johnson, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Paul W. Stauffer, pastor of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, and James R. T. Boyce, pastor of the Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God Church.

Annual McHenry Highland Festival Slated For June 5 At Fairgrounds

The sixth annual McHenry Highland Festival will be held Saturday, June 5, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Festival field activities will include open athletic competitions, sheepdog exhibitions, grand opening ceremonies with parade of clans and tartans, massed bands, and the Scottish Military Heritage Society. Other field activities include bagpipe band concerts, Kilted Mile Race, Ladies' Haggis Hurl, tug of war, and children's games.

Indoor stage and other activities will include Scottish Highland and country dancing, folk music by renowned Scottish singers Carl Peterson and Christina Harrison, performances by harp, and bagpipe work-shops, Scottish Highland cattle, and living history military encampment units. Clan Societies and Scottish shops and foods are also part of this day. The Athlete of the Day and Piper of the Day awards will be presented during the closing ceremonies.

At the end of the day, persons may visit one of many local restaurants for dinner, then plan to attend the ceilidh (Scottish party with entertainment) at the Wisp Ski and Golf Resort for a full evening of fellowship and entertainment featuring festival entertainers and dancers, beginning at 8 p.m. The ceilidh will feature free snacks and a cash bar and seating is limited.

On Sunday, June 6, a Kirkin' O' the Tartans will be held at 10 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park. Following the services, the Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums, host band for the festival, will perform in concert.

Admission to the festival is $5 for anyone 12 and over and admission to the ceilidh is $3 per person.

This festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council, Maryland State Arts Council. The ceilidh is hosted by the Wisp Ski and Golf Resort and the McHenry Highland Festival. For a free festival brochure, advance tickets, or more information, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Crisis Pregnancy Center Sponsoring Walk-A-Thon

Mountain Top Crisis Pregnancy Center, Inc. (MTCPC) will be holding its annual five-mile Walk-A-Thon, Saturday, May 15. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the center, located at the corner of Rt. 135 and G Street in Mtn. Lake Park. A rain date of May 22 has been set.

MTCPC is a non-profit, tax exempt organization which offers alternatives to abortion. MTCPC does not take a girl woman's choice away, but believes in educating her on the development of the child after conception and educating her on abortion so she can make an informed decision. MTCPC receives no government funding, has no paid employees, and operates solely on donations.

Some of MTCPC services include pregnancy testing, counseling, referral services, transportation, adoption programs, shepherding homes, single parent and post-abortion support groups, and provisions for maternity and baby clothes, baby furniture, food, formula and diapers.

A goal of $10,000 has been set. Each walker will receive a "Precious Feet" pin, and walkers who received $100 or more in pledges will receive a free T-shirt. Coffee, juice, and doughnuts will be available during the registration. A picnic for the walkers and their families will be held after the walk. Persons who cannot walk but would like to participate, may rock in a rocking chair on the front porch of the old Assembly Hall.

A trophy will be given to the youth group that raises the most money and will remain in their home church until next May. A trophy will also be given to the church having the most participation and will remain in that church until next May. The to keep the trophy in their church by participating again next May.

More information and sponsor sheets may be obtained by calling Mtn. Top Crisis Pregnancy Center at 334-1058.

Silver Tree To Host Celebrity Dinner For AHA

Some of Garrett County's best-known citizens will be sharing a heart-healthy dinner on Friday, May 14, at the Silver Tree Inn. But they won't be eating dinner; they'll be serving it, as participants in an American Heart Association event called Celebrity Celebration for Heart.

Dr. Jim Jones of the Vision Group, Bob Lohr of Lohr Distributors, Tracy Martin of WXIE Radio, Dave Thomas of Mettiki Coal, Dr. Dan Koch of the Dental Health Group, Jill O'Connell of Bauch & Lomb, Wendell and Ruth Beitzel of the Point View Inn, Gary Daum of S&H Marine, Wheeler

Stewart of the Oakland Country Club, and Jim Lascaris of the Silver Tree Inn will be "serving" their guests a variety of dinner items, including water, dinnerware, napkins, songs, dances, etc. - each for the price of a "tip." Serving as celebrity bartenders for the event are Larry Smith and Mike Lewis of the Silver Tree Inn.

The heart-healthy menu for the evening will be salmon mousse in puff pastry with beurre rouge or twin petit filet mignon (stuffed with shrimp and sauce Americane) or blackened boneless breast of chicken in raspberry sauce served with house salad, wild rice blend, broiled tomato stuffed with creamed peas, dessert, and coffee.

"Celebrity Celebration for Heart will be a great time for the waiters and their guests," said Elaine McDonald, chairperson of the event. "It could be our best opportunity to watch Oakland's celebrities act as crazy as they can to raise money for a good cause."

She said the waiters will earn tips based on the quality of service. "All the waiters hope to convince their guests that they're the best and most entertaining waiters by singing, dancing, performing magic tricks, and more. Anything goes on this fun-filled evening."

Cathy Clocker of WKHJ Radio is handling the publicity for the event and Paul Mullen of WCBC Radio in Cumberland will be the master of ceremonies.

Celebrity Celebration for Heart is a fundraising event benefitting the research, public education, and community service programs of the American Heart Association in the fight against heart and blood vessel diseases.

For more information, persons may call Elaine McDonald at (301) 387-4040 or the American Heart Association at (800) 734-3789.

Dr. Alta Schrock To Receive Honorary Degree At FSU

ment exercises for students completing graduation requirements in January and May will take place Saturday, May 15.

In addition to Dr. Gira, Dr. Alta Schrock, Grantsville, will address the graduates.

Dr. Schrock, community activist and former FSU professor of biology, will be presented with an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree by Dr. Gira.

Dr. Schrock is a long-time friend of Frostburg State University and the surrounding tri-state area. A student of nature since her childhood, she studied science at Waynesburg College, the University of Cincinnati, Kent State University, and Oberlin College, and in 1944 became the first Mennonite woman to earn a doctorate in biology at the University of Pittsburgh. She performed relief work in Europe and taught at the college level (including 17 years at FSU), but is perhaps best known for her efforts in preservation and promotion of the traditions and crafts of the Upper Appalachian mountain people, to whom she has devoted much of her time, efforts, and resources since 1957.

She is founder and has served as leader of many community programs, such as the Springs Historical Society, Folk Festival and Museum of Early Settlers, Penn Alps, Inc., Council of the Alleghenies and The Highland Association, among others, and is now organizing Friedensheim, or House of Peace. This latest endeavor will provide a place of spiritual, emotional, and physical renewal in a Christian environment. She is the recipient of an honorary degree from her alma mater, Waynesburg College, and in 1989 was named to the Maryland Community Action Hall of Fame. She was the Honorary Golden Ambassador to the Garrett County Autumn Glory Festival in 1990 and named to the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame in 1991.

A reception for Dr. Schrock and the graduates will follow in the auxiliary gymnasium.

GCC Foundation Spring Dinner/Dance Scheduled

The first major project sponsored by the Garrett Community College Foundation this year will be the Spring Dinner and Dance to be held this Saturday, May 1, at Will O' the Wisp.

According to Donna Sites, chairperson, guests will be entertained by John Hawkins on the keyboard during the social and dinner hour and will dance to the music of the Crosswinds.

Other members of the committee planning the dinner dance are Barbara Briggs, Wendy Friend, Rob Michael, Lillian Mitchell, and Nancy Priselac.

REPUBLICANS HONORED - Two local Republicans were honored recently as "Republicans of the Year" during the annual Lincoln Day Dinner. ## Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Health Check Program Changes Noted

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Health Check Program, which will be offered to both men and women May 3 through June 30, has recently been revised to include specific tests and services that are appropriate for age and gender.

The Health Check Program will now be referred to as the "Wellcheck Program" in order to "encourage individuals to view their doctors as part of the health care prevention team and to visit doctors when they are well rather than waiting until a problem arises," according to Debora Nichols, Wellness Together coordinator for Garrett Memorial.

"Individuals will now purchase a Wellcheck that denotes tests and services appropriate to age and gender," explained Nichols. "We are implementing this change in an effort to curb unnecessary testing, but still keep appropriate testing available."

Coupons will be available for men and women under the age of 50 and men and women over the age of 50. Testing will include blood tests, a complete physical exam which includes a PAP test and clinical breast exam for women, and a hemocult test. Women over the age of 50 will receive a mammogram, while men over the age of 50 will receive a prostate cancer test (PSA).

Two new features are included in this year's Wellcheck Program. Individuals will have their blood work done prior to the complete physical examination "so that physicians can have their patients' test results available at the time of examination," said Nichols.

"Another feature of the Wellcheck Program includes the 'Special Wellcheck.' These may be purchased only with physical recommendation once the complete physical examination is performed," Nichols said.

Special Wellchecks are only available for purchase at Garrett Memorial's Wellness Office located in the Community Services Center located between the hospital and the Garrett Medical Group.

For residents living in or near the Oakland area, Wellchecks can be purchased at the Wellness Office. As a convenience to residents

Quilters Auditions Set For May 5-7 At GCC Theatre

Auditions for the musical Quilters will be held May 5, 6, and 7, at the Garrett Community College auditorium. Seven women from the ages of 15 on up will comprise the cast.

Produced by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, the production will be directed by Jane Avery, who will be assisted by Nancy Learey, musical director, and George McDowell, conductor.

To audition, each woman will be asked to read three different selections from the play, which will be provided, and to sing a song of her choice. Applicants are recommended to bring sheet music for the accompanist.

Rehearsals for May and June will be limited to two to three nights a week, and July rehearsals will be scheduled four to five times a week, Ms. Avery said. The performances are slated for August 4-7. Persons may obtain more information by calling Avery at 334-4359.

Objectionable Ads...

Is it just this writer, or are there many others out there who get extremely irritated at the television advertising of several law firms?

It has been only the past several years that attorneys have been legally allowed to advertise their services, and because we are in the advertising business and also believe that they should be entitled to advertise just like anyone else, we support this fairly recent change in the law. However, we find much of their television advertising objectionable, particularly that which offers litigation services in accident cases.

These attorneys stand in front of the camera and basically tell us that the insurance companies are operated by nasty people who will not hesitate to "rip us off" by not paying "what we deserve" for our pain and suffering. With these allegations comes the guarantee that there will be no charge for their legal services unless we win.

While we recognize that not all insurance companies and their agents are lily white, we believe most of them are, in fact, reputable and willing to cover the losses of their customers. This nation is in the midst of a major health care crisis, and part of the reason for that crisis is the rampant defrauding of insurance companies by some of their customers, coupled with litigation cases that result in the awarding of billions of dollars to a wide variety of "victims." Not only is such advertising a slap in the face to honest insurance companies, but it also adds fuel to the health care crisis by feeding man's inherent greed.

Now, before the members of the Garrett County Bar Association become enraged with the above paragraphs, we wish to emphasize that not one of them is involved in this type of hype, and we greatly appreciate that. The great majority of our local attorneys are not among the "ambulance chasers" that seem to be so common in the more metropolitan areas.

In his first 100 days in office President Clinton has discovered how tough his job is in general, and particularly how out of control the health care crisis has become. Among the major changes needed to even begin to attack the problem is a change in attitude when it comes to health related litigation. Whether such a change is possible remains to be seen, but the attorneys responsible for this kind of television advertising are certainly making a recovery more difficult, and should be held accountable for at least some of the increases in health care costs and insurance premiums.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

One of my favorite posters reads "Narrow-mindedness is a handicap too."

In a letter to the editor in the April 22nd Republican, Bill Aspinall pointed out that you, Mr. Sincell, continue to use phrases such as "the handicapped individual" giving priority to the disability rather than the person. These same issues were pointed out in a letter from Lyz Biser, and she went on to remind you that twice on previous occasions she has provided you with information on the preferred language to use when talking about people with disabilities. Despite all of the attention drawn to this matter in the past week alone, the front page of the very same issue has a picture of a group of educators visiting from France. The caption reads, "most of them are directors of special schools for socially, mentally, or physically disabled children and young adults."

Why, Mr. Sincell, did your staff find it impossible to write, "for children and young adults with disabilities?" Could it have anything to do with the example set by the editor?

Unfortunately, focusing too much attention on the issue of language draws attention away from a far more important issue, that of the content of the editorial. You question the need for "big brother government" to legislate issues effecting equal access and opportunity for individuals with disabilities. Perhaps a very meaningful analogy will help you understand.

On the cover of the April 22nd issue of The Republican, you featured a story about two individuals from New York who were to be guest soloists for Elijah. I notice from their photographs that they appear to be of African-American descent. I believe that they would both agree that without the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the chances of either one of them studying at Juilliard and performing opera worldwide tours would have been minimal. The world, and the town of Oakland, would have been deprived of some exceptionally rare talent. Only through federal legislation did this nation benefit from the opportunities that occur when equal access to reasonable lifestyle is given to a minority population.

Who knows? Perhaps 30 years from now, your children will have the privilege of performing on the front page of The Republican, an article about two other guest performers in our area, and they will not even feel the need to mention that one performed from a wheelchair, and the

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of May 3-7 is as follows:

Day 1 - Pineapple juice, Hawaiian chicken, rice, peas & carrots, biscuit, strawberry shortcake w/whipped topping
Day 2 - Garden salad, liver & onions, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, whole wheat bread, pear halves
Milk, coffee, and tea are served with all meals

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows: Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8824; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8358; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 746-5419; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-2844; Starmer Hill Apts., Grantsville, 595-5092; Jennings Community Building, Jennings, 245-4244; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 433-3415; Oakland Senior Center, Mtn. Lake Park, 334-3399; and Swanton Community Building, Swanton, 947-0191.

ADDITIONAL SERVICE DAYS OFFERED

In recognition of "Older Americans Month," the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging is sponsoring an additional meal each week at all of the nine locations during the month of May. This will include all congregate and home delivery clients. Participants are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity.

The schedule for meals will be as follows: Swanton - Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday; Finzel - Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Oakland - Monday, Wednesday, Friday; Flowery Vale - Monday, Tuesday, Thursday; Friendsville - Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday; Grantsville - Monday, Tuesday, Thursday; Gorman - Monday, Tuesday, Thursday; Jennings - Monday, Wednesday, Friday; Kitzmiller - Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday.

The menu for the extra meal will be the cook's choice. The regular serving schedules will resume June 1.

other without benefit of sight.

If you noted that few people made use of the ramp installed for this performance, perhaps it is because the attitudinal barriers in this community remain far greater than the physical barriers.

Katie Kierstead Swanton

Dear Ms. Kierstead, It is absolutely fascinating, and puzzling, to me that the primary organization in Garrett County that supports and works to make life better for persons with disabilities is named the Garrett Organization for THE HANDICAPPED. Would you be so kind to write back to me and explain why this organization is so named?

Editor

To the Editor:

Your editorial in The Republican of April 15, "Grossly Out of Sync," was well put and I was tempted at the time to write briefly and say "Amen." Upon attendance at the very excellent performance of Elijah (Applause, Applause) I saw "the ramp" that was required for state funds to support the performance. Further investigation provided the information that this had to be built to federal specifications, which were probably determined by a group composed of a mathematician, and engineer, an environmentalist (lumber from unendangered trees), a doctor, a psychiatrist, and just maybe a handicapped individual, at a cost to the taxpayer of a huge sum to add to the deficit. Frankly, I would not have wanted to walk up it on crutches, the steps would have been preferable. A simpler solution would have solved the problem. By the way, I saw one wheelchair at the performance and an elderly lady with a cane who used it for Sunday morning mass.

Let it be said, now and up front, I endorse wholeheartedly the awareness and progress brought about in recent years of the enormous difficulties the disabled have faced in the marketplace, and the measure taken to correct them—ramps, openings in curbs, wide automatic doors, rest room facilities, provisions for attendance at public functions, etc.—things the business world, in particular, and others may not always have considered. But didn't this start with the disabled themselves and compassionate and caring people who supported and fought for and with them? The "Federal Enforcer" only got into the act very recently, and they have managed, as usual, to overdo it.

There is a risk to be taken here of alienating some very nice people. I have recently met with whose letters last week I must take issue. It was said that the "issues of making... presentation(s) truly open to all were never thought about until the Americans with Disabilities Act (unaided was passed) requirements were presented to those planning the event." It was also said that the AWDA "was made necessary by the laissez-faire attitude of mainstream America toward people with disabilities." This is just not true, and I will at this point qualify myself as an "expert" in all pertinent fields. I worked 30 years for the federal government, have spent a lifetime in theater and public performances, was president of the Garrett County Arts Council for four years and responsible for procuring grant monies for local groups, and for a brief time 19 years ago was physically disabled, and have remained partially so ever since.

I know that long before the federal bludgeon was wielded every possible measure was taken to provide special requirements for those who needed it. I produced dinner theatre for four years and have been house operations manager for the Garrett Lakes Art Festival since its inception, and we have been aware and supportive of any problem—providing special seating, sound amplification, accessibility, etc. For example, last year I had a request for an aisle seat on the left hand side of the auditorium from a rather tall, well built gentleman who had an unbendable left leg and must perform be seated where the leg could extend into the aisle. Sorry, this came up just before curtain time, and I didn't have time to consult state and federal regs to see if it was required to, and just how I should do this!

As president of the Garrett County Arts Council I dispensed monies to local groups for educational purposes and for the creative and performing arts. Let's say I worked to provide the state money allotted to Garrett County to encourage local groups in these fields, and no, I didn't ask about accessible facilities, the first because I wanted nothing to impede the encouragement and growth of the arts in this county and the use of funds available, and second, because I knew the people in this area did not need to be forced to be compassionate. I did turn down a couple of requests because the presentations were questionable as to good taste, something the federal government through the National Endowment for the arts has not seen fit to do since it openly sponsors pornography.

About 20 years ago I fell and shattered my right hip, necessitating a metal replacement. I never encountered "Laissez-faire." Shortly after discharge from the hospital I attended a charity luncheon at a country club in Montgomery County. There were about four or five steps from the entrance to the dining area, and one of the sponsors had very thoughtfully arranged for two—I might say very attractive—men from the local rescue squad, to carry me up the stairs. (Sometimes a handicap can be rewarding, don't you know.) The AWDA did not have to legislate compassion and consideration. It has always been there. We all need to be aware of the limitations of some of our fellow men, but it is not necessary for the federal government to threaten, specify, and mandate that it be so. That is counter productive in the nth degree.

I do not wish to offend or appear callous to any person with a disability of any kind. As I sat and listened to that beautiful music Sunday, I thought of a musically talented young couple I once knew. He taught, composed, and performed and their love

CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION MONTH

Note: The following is the fourth in the series of articles for Child Abuse Prevention Month from the Western Maryland Child Care Resource Center. Have You Hugged Your Child Today? Do You Need A Hug Today?

by Fanny Crawford, technical assistance director for the Western Maryland Child Care Resource Center

The National Association for the Education of Young Children and the Western Maryland Association for the Education of Young Children recently declared that the week of April 18-24 was The Week of the Young Child, as part of Child Abuse Prevention Month.

The purpose of the Week of the Young Child was to spotlight the needs of young children and their families, and the programs and services which can help them meet those needs.

The following are a list of suggestions that were presented in observance of the week.

• Think of special ways to enjoy your children. Take a walk together. Sit down and read a book. Find out what your child's been watching on TV and what he likes about it. Talk about something fun you did together last week. Plan a picnic, or a trip to the lake, or another favorite place.

• Find ways for your child to share play-time with other kids. Visit another family so the children can play together and adults can talk, too. Invite another child on a trip to the library or a bike ride.

• Visit your child's school or child care program in the middle of the day. Get to know the teachers or provide a little better.

• Offer to plan an activity for the classroom or child care program. For example, prepare a short, hands-on activity for the children about your job.

• Do something new and different for yourself and your kids. Being a parent is a hard job. It's even harder if you feel all alone in it. Join or start a parent support group.

Parenting is a very stressful job, and parent support groups can help you cope with some of that stress. Most parents involved in incidents of abuse or neglect of children love their kids very much, but don't have the coping skills to manage stressful parenting situations. Parent support groups can give you ideas for coping with difficult situations.

In Garrett County information about parent support groups may be obtained by calling the following people: Sue Athey-Oxford, Office for Children and Families, 334-5030; Elaine Butts, Parents Supporting Parents, 334-4847 (leave message); Brenda Marucci, Community Action Committee, 334-9431; or Beverly Sincell, Health Department Child and Adolescent Services, 334-1216.

If you can't find a group which focuses on a topic that's important to you, think about starting your own. Garrett County Community College often sponsors parenting classes for the general public. You may find other interested parents there.

If the topic you want to talk about is one that parents of school age children would be interested in, ask your local PTA to help you get started. If you want to talk about children with special needs, the professionals who helped to diagnose your child may know other parents who can talk to.

Parenting may be the most difficult job in the world. Most of us who are parents didn't know how difficult it would be when we decided to take the job. Now you know. Find ways to make the job easier. Find other parents to talk to.

And most important of all, find ways, every day, to enjoy your kids.

Essay Winner...

Editor's note: Timothy J. Hinebaugh, a junior at Northern High School, was the third place state winner (for grades 9-12) in the "Maryland You are Beautiful" Student Literary Writing Competition. He wrote his winning essay to include many clear-cut ideas on programs and resources that are needed to "Say No to Drugs and Yes to Success" throughout our schools. "I wanted my ideas to be real stuff, not phony ideas that I didn't believe in," he said.

Hinebaugh, who is active in basketball, football, track and the peer counseling program at Northern, has been named to the Who's Who of American Scholars for two consecutive years. His winning essay, written in the form of a letter to his principal, Mildred Wucik, is as follows:

Dear Miss Wucik:

As you well know, drug and alcohol abuse in our schools is a very realistic and difficult problem to deal with. Many methods have been used to reduce substance abuse. Assemblies have been held, pamphlets have been passed out, and many adults have spoken to students about the dangers of drugs and alcohol. Although these methods are somewhat effective, they do not meet the students' real needs. They deal with the obvious problems but do not deal with the students on a personal level.

My solution to drug and alcohol abuse is for the state and local levels of government to develop programs that "get down to earth and personal" with the students. I have three ideas that I believe would be very beneficial in helping to reduce abuse in our schools.

First, a summer camp could be organized to mix both straight and drug-and-alcohol-abusing kids together. This would allow kids to see both sides of abuse and would enable them to work together to fight drugs and alcohol.

Next, a mandatory one-semester course could be put into effect in Maryland's public schools. In this class, students would be taught the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse, how to deal with these dangers, and how to help friends who have given in to peer pressure and have begun drinking or taking drugs. Teachers could organize activities and field trips to show students the reality of substance abuse and the pain that it causes. This would be an informal class in which students would be free to speak their opinions.

Finally, programs could be developed that make people feel good about not drinking.

For example, weekly meetings could be established after school for students, and support groups could be formed by people who in the past were, or who currently are, involved in drug and alcohol abuse. Recreational (basketball, baseball, hiking, etc.) and industrial (arts, crafts, etc.) activities could be started for interested students as an alternative to going out and getting drunk.

I know it will be a very difficult fight to overcome substance abuse. I feel that if these three programs could be started, along with other programs already in service, we could destroy the threat that drugs and alcohol hold over us. If we can come together and work as a team, we will be able to end drug and alcohol abuse forever.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely yours,

Timothy Hinebaugh

To the Editor:

The Garrett County Health Department ran an ad in the Republican and Weekend newspapers on April 21, 1993, concerning tobacco use. The ad named numerous local doctors and dentists who are advising their patients to quit using tobacco products.

Due to an unintentional oversight on our part, several doctors and dentists who supported our ad were omitted. I would like to take this opportunity to apologize for the mistake. Their support in our tobacco cessation activities is very valued and appreciated. Those doctors and dentists whose names did not appear in the ad, but who have asked to be a part of it are: Dr. Jerry Adams, Dr. Dona Alvarez, Dr. Joseph Alvarez, Dr. Rex D. Archer, Dr. William Becker, Dr. Stewart Callis, Dr. William Pope, and Dr. David Sheets. Again, my sincere apologies for the oversight. It is very important for the community to know that our local physicians and dentists care about their health and safety concerning tobacco use.

Thank you,
Brandon Seifert

To the Editor:

Something that I have been thinking about are our banks policies. First thing is, when I do business with the banks I feel like the tellers are holding a gun, pointing it at us, and straining every last penny out of us; legal robbery I would say. If payment is not made by 2:00 in the afternoon, it is not counted until the next day. By George, my day doesn't end at 2:00.

If payment is due on Saturday after 12:00 or Sunday it is not counted until Monday, but we pay interest on Saturdays and Sundays, and this is what I call legal robbery. Also when you apply for a loan you are required to have tax returns for only the past one or two years, but the banks tell me it doesn't matter that I have been paying back loans on time for more than 20 years. You tell that to a mule and he'll kick you where you sit down.

I think you should get credit for making payment on the day payment is made even if it is after 2:00 p.m. I would like for a farmer to be able to stop working at 2:00 in the afternoon. Come on banks: give me a break. How about midnight to midnight? Possibly a computer could post mark deposits made at night, like the postal system, and give us that little bit of credit we need when we need it.

In his book Earth in the Balance, Vice President Al Gore discusses global warming, ozone depletion, and a carbon dioxide (CO2) emissions, all of which pose tremendous threats to our global environment.

Gore spends considerable time treating the economics of the environment.

The book is a comprehensive treatment of the problems of and dangers to our environment and should be read by every American.

To the Editor:

As a director I constantly search for plays that will please our local audiences as well as bind the cast into a solid group which will impart the production's message with conviction. For this year of a Celebration of Garrett County Women, I have found a perfect jewel of a play—a seven-woman musical entitled Quilters.

Quilters is a joyous, moving celebration of American womanhood. In it, a pioneer woman and her six daughters interact in a series of related scenes which form a rich mosaic that captures all of the elements of life on the prairie. The ultimate message of the play pertains to human dignity and steadfastness in the face of adversity.

Auditions for Quilters are set for May 5, 6, and 7, at the G.C.C. Auditorium (please see the article in this week's Republican for details). I intend to cast women of a variety of ages and appearances, and I hope to see women from all areas of the county at auditions. In addition to the seven women needed for the cast, there are crew positions available. If you cannot become involved in the production, I hope that you will support us by attending one of the presentations in August.

Quilters will be one of the most difficult productions I've ever directed, and I'm looking forward to the challenge. This project will encourage its cast and crew to

You published a letter in your paper of March 25 from a Cynthia Knight that I would like to respond to.

First, I want to point out the fact that she calls herself a Christian, but then goes on to denounce what all true Christians believe in and that's the Bible.

If you look up Ruth 4:12, Judges 18, Matthew 1:21, women and men are told even before they conceive, what and who the child will become. That's the same mother

Deer Park Man Given Nine Month Term For VOP

A Deer Park man was given a nine-month jail term after being found guilty of violation of probation by Judge Jack R. Turney in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Paul A. Dixon was handed that sentence with the recommendation that he complete an alcoholic program at the Massie Unit.

Dixon had been found guilty of being disorderly and disobeying police, resisting arrest, and causing a disturbance while intoxicated in April 2, 1992, court proceedings. Then at a sentence revision hearing in June of 1992, his sentence was amended to "all suspended but time served" while his initial 18-month probation continued.

Dixon was then reportedly arrested in November of last year and charged with DWI. He also failed to report to his probation officer on a number of occasions. Both were grounds for the violation of probation charge against him. Dixon was also found guilty of DWI last week in traffic court and handed a 90-day jail term (all was suspended but 48 hours), fined $1,000, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation.

In other District Court news, Thomas K. Vance, 41, Swanton, was sentenced on a drug conspiracy charge of which he had been found guilty in January court proceedings.

Vance was given an 18-month jail term (six months were suspended), fined $200, and placed on 24 months of supervised probation. There was an outpouring of letters on Vance's behalf praising him as a reliable citizen and family man. The judge recommended him for work release after serving 30 days in jail. Three additional counts of drug conspiracy and one count of CDS possession against Vance were not prosecuted in plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office.

The conditions of Vance's parole include abstaining from alcohol and/or illicit drugs, participating in Narcotics Anonymous, submitting to and paying for random urinalysis, and paying his supervision fees when released from jail.

Vance had been charged with the drug offenses after a sting operation conducted by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Troy C. Pyles, 41, Cassville, W.Va., was found not guilty of battery and a charge of petty theft against him was not prosecuted because the State's Attorney James Sherbin determined that it was a civil matter.

Pyles had been charged with those offenses by Har-

PROM PROMISE - Approximately 70 percent of Northern High School's prom age students have signed a Prom Promise, promising not to use drugs or alcohol on prom night (especially while driving), according to Jenny Rider, one of the school's Prom Promise promoters. The Prom Promise is a nationwide campaign, led by Nationwide Insurance, and local Nationwide Insurance Agent Jerry Ferguson and Maryland State Police Trooper Paul R. Brown recently spoke to the students about the campaign. Brown discussed fatality rates because of the use of alcohol and/or drugs while driving. To encourage high school students to remain drug and alcohol-free on prom night, several activities have been organized to motivate the students. riett Pyles who stated that Mr. Pyles called her an obscene name and she slapped him. He reportedly slapped her back, knocking her glasses off her face. She also claimed he stole things from her house.

Roger Tilgner, 37, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty but was found guilty of assault and one count of disturbing the peace. The judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation in the case. Tilgner was found not guilty of a second count of disturbing the peace.

Tilgner was charged with those offenses by Cynthia Bavy, pharmacist at a Drug Fair in Grantsville. She stated that Tilgner confronted her about his wife's prescription being short three pills and said he had alleged that on numerous occasions that his wife's prescriptions had been short one to four pills. Bavy said when she left the store, Tilgner came up behind her and showed her a gun and said he wanted to make sure his wife's prescriptions were right. Bavy then entered her car, locked the door, and left.

At sentence revision hearing for two Ohio residents, probation before judgment was granted in lieu of earlier guilty verdicts.

Both Patricia A. Lizzi, 38, Castalia, and David A. Riedy Jr., 23, Sandusky, had been found guilty of battery, resisting arrest, and disturbing the peace in January court proceedings. Their probation will now continue until next January.

The two had been arrested by the Maryland State Police at the Wisp Resort in August of last year after causing a disturbance at that establishment and reportedly resisting arrest.

DWI CASES
A number of DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in District Court last week.

A bench warrant was issued for Randy Ryals, 32, Md., who failed to appear on a violation of probation charge stemming from an earlier DWI charge. His bail was set at $3,000.

Steven E. Wotring, 22, Md., was granted probation before judgment at a sentence revision hearing for an earlier DWI conviction. He had initially been arrested for DWI on June 13, 1992, by the Maryland State Police.

Beverly M. Cornish, 27, Md., was found guilty of DUI and handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. She had been charged with that offense on December 6, 1992.

Daniel A. Georg, 22, Md., was found guilty of DUI. He was given a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been charged by the state police on January 12.

Karen E. Gould, 40, Md., was found guilty of DUI and given a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. She had been charged with that violation on December 4, 1992, by the state police.

Angela K. Hinebaugh, 23, Md., was found guilty of DUI. She was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. She was also found guilty of failure to drive right of center and fined $25. She had been stopped by the state police on January 31.

David R. Armstrong, 20, W.Va., was found guilty of DUI. He was sentenced to a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been charged by the Garrett

Local Teachers Selected For Gov.'s Academy

Garrett County teachers Mary Jane Fike and Sandy Wilson have been selected to participate in the Governor's Academy for Mathematics, Science, and Technology this summer, according to a spokesperson from the Garrett County Board of Education. Fike, who teaches sixth grade at Southern Middle School, and Wilson, fourth grade teacher at Broad Ford Elementary, were chosen among only 120 teachers throughout Maryland to take part in the Academy, the spokesperson said.

Only outstanding classroom teachers are eligible for the month-long summer program, held at Towson

State University. In addition to full days of classes and activities, the teachers will take part in evening programs, field trips, lab experiences, and will meet visiting experts. Follow-up meetings are planned for the coming school year as well, in an effort to keep fresh the ideas of the Academy.

"When they complete the Academy, Ms. Fike and Ms. Wilson will join a group of about 400 graduates from previous years who have taken advantage of this opportunity for professional growth," the spokesperson said. "They are part of the growing unit of teachers committed to excellence in math and science for Maryland students."

Wildflower Walk Set For Saturday

Potomac-Garrett State Forest will be the site for a spring wildflower walk this Saturday, May 1, at 2 p.m.

Kevin Dodge, assistant professor of wildlife & biology at Garrett Community College, will lead the walk along the Lostland Run Trail. This area is well-known for its colorful and unique spring wildflowers.

Anyone interested in joining the walk should meet at the Potomac State Forest Headquarters at 2 p.m. For more information, persons may call the Forest Headquarters at 334-2038.

Hearing Impaired To Be Served By New Organization

A meeting for all persons interested in the needs of the hearing-impaired will be held this Saturday, May 1, at 10:30 a.m. at the Christ United Methodist Church, located on the corners of 4th Ave. and Race Street in South Cumberland.

The goal of the meeting is to affiliate with "Deafnet" of Washington County. Deafnet is a non-profit association established to provide interpreting services for the deaf community. Interpreters are on call 24 hours, seven days a week. In addition, the Association provides sign language classes, interpreter workshops, monthly informational meetings on issues related to deafness, T.D.D. training, and resource information. Such an organization would propose to serve the deaf community in Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland, as well as Mineral and Hampshire counties in West Virginia. The speaker for the meeting will be Harold Bible, co-founder of Deafnet.

The public is invited to attend. Interpreters will be provided. If special assistance devices are needed, persons should contact Ann Getty at 777-7258 after 5 p.m.

Right To Life Group To Meet

The Garrett County Right to Life Group will meet Monday, May 10, at 7 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene in Oakland. After a brief business meeting, an audio cassette produced by Focus on the Family will be presented. Post abortion syndrome is the subject in "Tillie," a dramatic story of a woman's struggle to deal with an abortion she had as a young woman.

Anyone interested in pro-life issues and wishing to learn more about post abortion syndrome is welcome. For more information, persons may call JoAnn Fletcher at (301) 689-5829.

Demonstrations were given by Marlene and Angie Wilburn. Marlene did her demonstration on abstract graphs. Angie did her demonstration on string manipulation.

The next meeting will be Monday, May 3, at the Caselman Valley Sportsmen's Club at 7 p.m.

NORTH GLADE by Adam Herbert, reporter

Eight members and six leaders were present for the regular meeting of the North Glade 4-H Club in April.

President Chris Herbert reported on Achievement Night. The Club received the Fair Club Award for its participation in the 1992 Garrett County Fair. Chris received the All Star trophy for Outstanding Record Book. A total of 20 members and their families attended the dinner. Members Jason O'Brien, Bobby Schmidt, Chris and Adam Herbert, along with two adults, did Adopt-A-Highway on April 18 as part of the "Earth Month" celebration in the state of Maryland. Several members and parents attended a program on animal health presented by Dr. Jim Fearer at Garrett Community College on April 19.

There will be a Camp Planning Committee meeting at the Extension Office on April 29 at 7 p.m. All youth and adults interested in helping to plan camp for 1993 are asked to attend.

Chris Herbert will conduct a new member record book workshop for the club sometime in May. The club will serve lunch at the Wade Bernard sale on May 15.

The next meeting will be May 12 at 5:30 p.m. The North Glade Cemetery will be cleaned, followed by a covered-dish cookout. So members should come prepared with rakes, clippers, etc.

FOUNDER OF SALEM CONCEPT VISITS COUNTY - Gottfried Mueller, founder of the Salem concept and Salem Villages throughout the world, came to Garrett County last week to visit with the children and staff of the Maryland Salem Children's Trust. Mueller, 79, began the first Salem program when he opened shelters for homeless adults in 1957. Originally from Stuttgart, Mueller's homes were sprinkled throughout Germany. In the early 1960's, these homes were closed, and he began the work with children. Currently, there are two Salem Children's Villages as well as a Salem Health and Wellness Center in Germany. The Maryland Salem Children's Trust moved from Southern Maryland to Garrett County in 1979. Located on Lower New Germany Road, the trust owns a 380-acre farm which was purchased from Dr. Alta Schrock, who has actively supported the program ever since. Mueller is assisting in the development of Salem projects in other parts of the world. Uganda and Namibia in Africa, Colombia in South America, Rumania and Russia in Europe, and Iraq (Kurdistan) in Asia. The word "salem" means peace in the sense of total well-being, and the Salem programs minister to the physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual needs of each individual, according to Louise Richards, director. Persons desiring information about Salem may contact the Garrett County program at 301-689-8176. Shown in the above photo, left to right, are Dr. Schrock, Mueller, and Richards.

Founder Of Salem Concept Visits Garrett County

Gottfried Mueller, founder of the Salem concept and Salem Villages throughout the world, came to Garrett County last week to visit with the children and staff of The Maryland Salem Children's Trust.

Mueller, 79, began the first Salem program when he opened shelters for homeless adults in 1957. Originally from Stuttgart, Mueller's homes were sprinkled throughout Germany. In the early 1960's, these homes were closed, and he began the work with children. Currently, there are two Salem Children's Villages as well as a Salem Health and Wellness Center in Germany.

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust moved from Southern Maryland to Garrett County in 1979. Located on Lower New Germany Road, the Trust owns a 380-acre farm which has four children's houses as well as the office farmhouse and the grandparents' house. It provides a family setting and, if needed, a permanent home to 32 children who can no longer live with family or relatives. The Salem program is founded on Christian principles.

The farm was purchased from Dr. Alta Schrock, who saw a way of realizing her long-time vision to use the land to help and to heal people, stated Louise Richards, director.

Richards added that Dr. Schrock had even "prayed over the land for her dream to come true. She's been a support to the program ever since."

The children are involved in many local church and community activities and participate in special activities at Salem such as music therapy, horseback riding, and counseling. Salem also operates a school on the grounds for children needing specialized educational programs.

Mueller is assisting in the development of Salem projects in other parts of the world: Uganda and Namibia in Africa, Colombia in South America, Rumania and Russia in Europe, and Iraq (Kurdistan) in Asia.

The word "Salem" means peace in the sense of total well-being, and the Salem programs minister to the physical, emotional, mental and spiritual needs of each individual.

Persons desiring further information about Salem may contact the Garrett County program at (301) 689-8176.

FSU Percussion Ensemble Concert Slated May 5

The Frostburg State University Percussion Ensemble will present its spring concert on Wednesday, May 5, at 8 p.m. in Pullen Auditorium. The public is invited to this free event.

According to director Ron Horner, the Ensemble has been a favorite of many who have heard their performances given in concert tours which have taken the group throughout Maryland and Pennsylvania. The groups perform a variety of works including avant-garde, popular transcriptions, and novelty works.

This performance will feature works by Bellson, Benson, Brown, Dauwalder, Khachatryan, and Williams. Ensemble members include Brent Caperones, Mechanicsville; Jason Dyhouse and Scott Morrison, Silver Spring; Christie Hotchkiss, Red House.

Do you have some spare time and enjoy working with others, nature maintenance, or sharing your own skills and interests? If so, why not volunteer and help yourself, your community, and the State Forest and Park Service. This is an excellent opportunity for individuals, families, youth service groups, Rotaries, Lions clubs, etc. to get involved in supporting the Department of Natural Resources and the "Volunteer Maryland" program. Also, this would serve as a good work experience for those compiling a resume.

Automated Phone Tips Relayed To Public By GCC

Because there have been a number of questions and concerns expressed about the new automated telephone system at Garrett Community College, the college has relayed the following tips for people to remember when calling.

From touch-tone phones:

1. Make certain you have your touch-tone phone set on "tone," not on "pulse."

2. If you know the number of the person you wish to reach, dial it directly.

3. If you do not know the direct dial number, dial 387-3000 and wait for an answer. Press "1," then dial the first four letters of the last name of the person you wish to reach. If you do not know the name of the person, press "0," and an operator will answer. Ask for the direct dial number and make a note of it while the operator connects your call.

4. If the person you are trying to reach does not answer, leave your name, phone number, and a brief message in the "voice mail box."

From rotary phones:

1. If you are using a rotary phone and do not know the direct dial extension of the person you wish to reach, dial 387-3000 and wait until the operator answers. Ask for the direct number for future reference while the operator connects your call.

After-business hours: (After 4:30 p.m. and weekends)

Because there are no "live" operators on duty after 4:30 p.m., you must either know the direct dial number of the person you are calling or stay on the line until you are able to leave a message in the "General Mailbox." If you do not know the name of the person you need to contact, leave enough information so that we can forward the message to the appropriate person.

Day Program Services

Addiction Treatment Available At Two Garrett Co. Offices

Note: This is the last in a series prepared by the Garrett County Health Department's Addiction Services program in commemoration of Alcohol Awareness Month.

Treatment for substance abuse addictions is available through the Garrett County Health Department's Addiction Services Program. Patients can receive counseling services at both the Oakland and Grantsville offices of the program.

Jim Nielsen has worked for the local program for almost three years as an addictions counselor. Nielsen's background in residential treatment, clinical therapy, and adolescent and family counseling supports his current responsibilities, providing individual, group, and family therapy for the local program. Nielsen developed and implemented the educational program that the local addictions services is currently using. The program is designed to educate the patient in the history and background of his/her addiction prior to discussing individual treatment.

"I bring to our local program the ability to cross the boundary between the addictions and mental health areas in treatment, networking with local resources, and giving and receiving referrals," stated Nielsen.

Ruth von Gustedt is the Family Life therapist for the Addictions Services program. Dr. von Gustedt brought 13 years of experience and a number of degrees with her when she began working for the local program about two years ago. Dr. von Gustedt counsels family members, married couples, and individuals of various ages, and plans to work with parent groups in the future.

"Years ago, I saw the increasing problems with families and society as a whole, in handling discipline, relationships, and coping with alcohol and drugs," stated Dr. von Gustedt. "Society changed and progressed in many of these areas, and I decided that I would like to be a part of the change agent, helping community members live well-functioning, satisfying lives."

Addiction Services is a local supporter of April's

Alcohol Awareness Month. More information may be obtained by contacting the program at 334-8115.

Elder Abuse Prevention Week To Be Observed

In an effort to enhance public awareness, the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging was recently presented a proclamation from Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer declaring the week of May 2-8 as Elder Abuse Prevention Week.

Statistics indicate that one out of every 20 adults, aged 60 or over, are victims of elder abuse. Furthermore, the elderly are the subject of over 65 percent of all reports to the Department of Social Services regarding adult abuse, neglect, or exploitation.

This year, the Maryland Office on Aging and the Maryland Department of Human Resources are working cooperatively to effectively address the problem of elder abuse.

In observance of "Elder Abuse Prevention Week," representatives from the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging and Adult Protective Services will be located at local shopping centers and supermarkets with information and literature about this crucial issue on May 6 and 7.

Questions or concerns can be addressed at that time or individuals may phone the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging at 334-5856, between 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or Adult Protective Services at 334-5404.

Continuing Ed. Courses Offered

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College is offering several non-credit courses, two of which are as follows:

Cake Decorating
A Basic Cake Decorating Course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course will begin May 5 and will be held each Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. for a total of four sessions at the Oakland Center of the College.

Donna Werdebaugh will be the instructor for this course which will introduce the student to cakes, frostings, and basic decorating techniques.

The cost of the course will be $16 tuition plus a $4 registration fee. Students will be responsible for their own materials. Interested persons may contact the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College at 334-8304 or the McHenry Campus at 387-3089 for registration information.

Line Dancing Texas Two-Step

Two courses entitled Line Dancing and The Texas Two-Step are being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. The courses, with instructor Maudine Simms, are scheduled to be held at the Oakland Center of the College for a total of six sessions each. Both courses will be held each Tuesday in Room 601, with course number one meeting from 1 to 3 p.m. and course number two meeting from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Tuition for each of these courses will be $16 plus a $4 registration fee. Interested persons should contact Patricia Baer at the Oakland Center, 334-8304, or the Continuing Education Division at 387-3089 for registration information.

Recycling Effort

into one solid mass. The county was responsible for bringing heaters to the sites in order to thaw the cans so they would be accepted by the scrap company.

The cans - particularly the aluminum ones - present another problem because they are frequently stolen from the containers. The problem here, said Thorne, is that it causes the count to be inaccurate. The state mandates that the county recycle 15% of its solid waste stream by January 1, 1994. Thorne did indicate, however, that county government has contracted for bars to be welded across the openings so that, once the materials are placed inside, they cannot be taken out.

MCC DISCUSSES VOLUNTEER EFFORTS - An administrative meeting was held last week in New Germany State Park by the Maryland Conservation Corps (MCC) in an effort to form linkages to improve volunteer services in Garrett County state parks and forests. During the meeting, Kenny Wuertenberg, Western Maryland coordinator for Volunteer Maryland, and Bill Durst, Volunteer Maryland coordinator, Garrett County Community Action Committee, spoke to the group's crew chiefs from around the state about the volunteer activities available in Garrett County for MCC members. As part of the MCC experience, corps members are required to perform community service. Shown in the above photo, standing, is Bill Durst. Kneeling, left to right, are Brian Friend, assistant crew chief for Savage River State Forest, and Clarissa Harris, MCC crew chief at the forest.

"A lot of recycling is being done out there," said Thorne, "and we need to get credit for it."

Thorne faces another hindrance in attempting to provide accurate reports to the state because of the difficulty in obtaining counts from individual farmers who use newspapers for animal bedding purposes.

Currently, glass items are also a problem because the county has no way of storing the items in sufficient quantity before they are trucked to Keyser. County officials are searching for a storage site, however, and a few buildings have been identified as possibilities. Even though plans call for a storage facility to be built at the new landfill site, "the county commissioners asked that something be done in the meantime," said Thorne.

Large household appliances, commonly referred to as white goods, are also being recycled, said Thorne, noting that they are being taken from the present county landfill site to B&S Scrap. State funding is expected to cover the cost of removing freon from the appliances in the future.

Tires are another item the county is faced with disposing of properly since the state has mandated that no more tires be accepted at the landfill after January 1. "We're trying to get help from the state in finding markets for the tires," Thorne stated.

He also noted that two sites exist in the county for the recycling of anti-freeze and oil -- one at the Round Glade landfill and one in the town of Accident. "Actually, anti-freeze is much more toxic than oil, partly because it mixes with water and oil doesn't," he said.

Finally, Thorne reported that the county commissioners are currently advertising for a solid waste manager for the county, and that consideration is being given to manning the sites so that scavenging would be kept to a minimum, and to provide assistance to the public in sorting recyclables.

THE BEST PREVENTIVE MEDICINE SINCE THE APPLE. GET YOUR WELLCHECK* MAY 3RD - JUNE 30TH.

If you want to be healthy, feel your best and decrease medical bills, this message is for you. Formerly known as Health Checks, Wellchecks are about a better approach to health care - prevention, which requires more than eating an apple a day. Wellchecks allow you to have regular check-ups before you get sick.

This year the Wellness Together staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital has designed Wellchecks just for you according to age and gender, allowing you to avoid unnecessary tests and services.

Both men and women can purchase Wellchecks from May 3rd - June 30th at the following locations: Garrett Memorial's Community Services Center, Oakland (located between Garrett Memorial and the Garrett Medical Group), Beachy's Pharmacy, Grantsville, Friendsville Pharmacy, Friendsville, Gregg's Pharmacy Terra Alta, WV and Valley View Pharmacy, Davis, WV.

For more information about Wellchecks, contact the Wellness Together office at (301) 334-2155, extensions 443 and 362.

Lakers Take Two From Chesapeake, Wesleyan; Drop Twinbill To Trojans

The Garrett Community College Lakers played a trio of doubleheaders this past week, sweeping them in two of them and being swept in the third. Coach Lawrence Nusselblatt's team took two from visiting Chesapeake on Saturday, dropped a pair of games to Allegany CC Sunday afternoon, 7-3 and 11-3, and then took two from the West Virginia Wesleyan junior varsity yesterday, 9-3 and 3-2, also on the McHenry diamond.

The Lakers are now 16-8 on the season and will play another twinbill today at CCAC South in Pittsburgh. The highlight of Saturday's twinbill against Chesapeake was a three-hit shut-out pitched by Mike Perko in the second game, which the Lakers won, 10-0. They held on for a 4-3 victory in the first game.

Garrett took a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the first game, as Bob Whittington and B. Bishop each singled, Deron Godby followed with a double to plate Whittington, and Bishop came home on a single by Doug Bertolini.

Chesapeake answered with a single run in the top of the fourth before the Lakers came back to score their second two runs in the bottom of that frame. Sam Adams led off with a single. Brian Clark then replaced him on base on a fielder's choice, stole second, and came home after he attempted to steal third and the catcher's throw went over the third baseman's head. Whittington followed with a walk, moved to third on a double by Bishop, and scored what would be the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Mike Crosby.

Chesapeake picked up single runs in the fifth and sixth innings, but the Lakers held on for the win.

Bishop finished with a double and two singles, Godby doubled and singled, and Bertolini singled twice in the Lakers' 10-hit effort.

Mark Bayle, who pitched into the seventh inning, earned the win by improving his mark to 3-2. He struck out six and walked two. Earning his third save of the year was Bill Batty.

The second game was shortened to five innings because of the 10-run rule, as the Lakers scored four runs in the first inning, two in the second, and four more in the third, while Perko held the visitors scoreless. The former Fort Hill stand-out struck out four and walked three to up his personal mark to 2-0.

Crosby tripled and singled to lead G.C.'s 12-hit effort, while Bishop, Whittington, and Darrell Conzatti all singled twice.

After splitting an earlier doubleheader with Allegany, the Lakers were unable to after Bishop and Godby singled and Crosby smacked a homer over the right field fence.

Mark Bayle upped his pitching record to 4-2 with relief help from Mike Perko in the sixth inning.

The Lakers wasted no time scoring in the second game, as they recorded three runs in the first inning, but were then held scoreless the rest of the way.

Clark led off the inning with a triple and Whittington followed with a double.

After Whittington stole second, Bishop grounded out to score Clark. Then with two outs Crosby followed with a home run.

Wesleyan rallied for two runs in the fifth, but could not score again, 8-2.

Each team added a single run in the seventh, with ACC's being recorded on a double by DeBernardis and a single by Hamilton, while the Lakers were scored on a double by Bertolini and a single by Conzatti.

Pozun struck out seven and walked five to get the complete-game win.

The Lakers kept pace with the Trojans in hitting in the nightcap, as each team finished with 11 hits.

A two-run double by Deron Godby in the first inning of yesterday's opening game against the Wesleyan juniors put the Lakers on top for good.

Joe Pecore followed with a two-run double in the third to put Garrett up 4-0.

After Wesleyan recorded two runs in the top of the fourth, the Lakers added two more scores in the bottom of that inning, when Brian Clark led off with a home run and Mike Crosby doubled home Godby for a double.

Garrett scored three insurance runs in the sixth, two in the seventh, and four more in the third, while Perko held the visitors scoreless.

The former Fort Hill stand-out struck out four and walked three to up his personal mark to 2-0.

Crosby tripled and singled to lead G.C.'s 12-hit effort, while Bishop, Whittington, and Darrell Conzatti all singled twice.

After splitting an earlier doubleheader with Allegany, the Lakers were unable to get to closer Jamie Talercio led the West Virginia team with three singles and a double.

Neil Bailey, who recorded five strikeouts in four innings, improved his record to 2-0, as Bishop recorded his fourth save.

SHS Softball Team Gets By Salisbury, 9-7

The Southern High School softball team improved its record to 2-1 Tuesday afternoon by rallying to defeat visiting Salisbury, 9-7. It was the Rams' second win over the Pottsville team this season.

Rich Ann Murphy tossed a five-hitter to earn the win on the mound. She walked five and struck out 11. Scott Showalter was the losing pitcher, as he gave up a dozen hits, walked four, and had three strike-outs.

The Rams were down 7-4 going into the bottom of the sixth inning and proceeded to score five runs in that frame to secure the win.

Leading Southern's hitting effort were Carolyn Tasker, Crystal Sims, and Emily French, who each recorded two hits. Christy Stoner added a two-run double during the sixth-inning comeback.

Robertson and Yoder each finished with two hits for Salisbury.

The Rams will play a doubleheader Monday at Preston County and will host Northern in a twinbill next Wednesday.

Home Blood Pressure Monitoring Advantage

Researchers with Kaiser Permanente Medical Care Program report that home blood pressure monitoring could significantly lower blood pressure management costs. In a 12 month study, researchers found that the annual cost of conducting blood pressure checks was 6 percent lower at home than for checks provided in clinics and doctor's offices. If other indirect costs could be determined, home blood pressure monitoring might be even more cost-effective.

Huskies Rally To Bring Rams Undefeated Streak To An End

Sixth and seventh inning rallies highlighted a big one-run win by the Northern Huskies over the Southern Rams, two of the area's top high school baseball teams, Friday afternoon on the Huskies' diamond.

The 14-13 defeat was the first of the season for Coach Jim Bosley's Rams after winning five straight, while the victory upped Coach Phil Carr's squad's mark to 7-1.

The slugfest featured a total of 31 hits and 11 errors, as high winds made defensive play difficult, but helped carry the ball over the fence when it was soundly hit. Southern's Mark Elliott recorded two home runs, while teammate Sonny Livengood ripped one.

After just one-half of the first inning it appeared the Rams were going to easily pick up their eighth win, as they scored seven runs behind Livengood's three-run shot, RBI singles by Gary Upole and Rich Warnick, and a pair of errors.

The Rams added a single run in the second to make it 8-0 before the Northern bats came alive in the bottom of that frame when the Huskies scored five runs.

Southern responded with two runs in the third on a home run by Elliott and then added three more in the fifth, which featured a powering solo shot by Elliott, making the score 13-6.

The Huskies cut the Southern lead to one run by scoring six runs in the bottom of the sixth on RBI singles by Derek Mason, Alan Sebold, and Robert Beachy, plus a run-producing double by Brian McKenzie, and a fielder's choice by Ryan Folk.

The Huskies kept the Rams scoreless in the top of the seventh and then won the game with two runs in the eighth, as Mason doubled home Paul Edwards to tie the score and Folk followed with a one-out single to send Mason home with the winning run.

Beachy led the Huskies' 14-hit performance with a double and two singles, while Mason and Wright each doubled and singled and Edwards singled twice.

Besides the home runs by Elliott and Livengood, Josh Woods, Mark Dawson, and

IT WAS A SLUGFEST at Northern High School last Friday, as the Huskies and Southern Rams combined for 31 hits on the afternoon in a thriller that was ultimately won by the Huskies, 14-13. Northern trailed 8-0 early in the contest and were behind 13-12 going into the bottom of the final inning before scoring a pair of runs and handing the Rams their first loss of the season. Smacking a single in the above left photo is Northern's Derek Mason. Firing a pitch in the photo at right is Southern's Gary Upole. See story for game details. Photos by Craig Speicher

Jeremy Bosley each finished with a double and a single and Warnick and Matt Newcomb each added two singles to pace the Rams' 17-hit effort.

Warnick, who came into the game as the Rams' leading hitter, has been sidelined with mononucleosis.

The Rams traveled to Keyser on Saturday and were upset by the Golden Tornado, 6-3, before rebounding for a 4-2 win over a strong Allegany team yesterday, while the Huskies defeated visiting Hancock, 5-1, on Saturday, were upset Tuesday by host Flintstone, 5-4, and then defeated host Rockwood yesterday, 8-2. (See separate stories.)

Huskies Top Hancock, Upset By Flintstone, Then Defeat Rockwood

After pulling off a big one-run win over previously undefeated Southern last Friday, see separate story, the Northern Huskies topped visiting Hancock on Saturday, 5-1, were upset by host Flintstone on Tuesday, 5-4, and rebounded yesterday to record an 8-2 win over host Rockwood.

The results left Coach Phil Carr's squad with a 9-2 record, which they will put on the line today against visiting Mount Savage, the third ranked team in the state.

Derek Mason tossed a five-hitter against the Hancock Panthers on Saturday, striking out six, and the Huskies managed just four hits, but took advantage of four Panther errors to record the win.

After Hancock scored a single run in the top of the second, the Huskies tied it with an unearned run on a dropped fly ball in the bottom of that frame.

Northern went on top for good with three runs in the fifth inning when Brian McKenzie and Paul Edwards reached on singles, McKenzie scored when Rob Speicher's fly ball was misplayed, and Edwards and Speicher both came home on fielder's choices.

The Huskies added an insurance run in the sixth when Robert Beachy rapped Northern's only extra base hit, a double, and later scored on an error.

A three-run triple in the sixth inning by Flintstone's Richard Haines was the determining blow in the Huskies' upset loss to the Aggies on Tuesday. It was only the third win in eight starts for the home team.

The Rams took a 2-0 on an RBI single by Jeremy Fitzwater in the second inning and a sacrifice fly in the fourth that scored Fitzwater. But Keyser answered with five runs in the fourth, highlighted by a two-run triple by Nick Bromhal.

The Rams answered with a single run in the top of the fifth on an RBI double by Jeremy Bosley.

The Golden Tornado added an insurance run in the fifth when Bromhal singled home Scott George.

Bromhal also gained the win on the mound, as he allowed six hits.

Bosley and Fitzwater each finished with a double and a single for the Rams.

Copeland scattered seven hits yesterday in the Rams' big win over Allegany, while Mark Elliott provided a critical two-run double in the fourth inning.

The Campers took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Mike Ansel singled, stole second, and came home on a hit by Mike Carter.

The Rams tied the score with a run in the third as Josh Woods walked, went to second on a fielder's choice, and came home when Bosley's fly ball was dropped in center field.

Southern took a 4-1 lead with three runs in the fourth. Mark Dawson doubled and scored on a double by Brian Reams. Then Woods walked and Elliott smacked his two-run double.

The Campers tried to rally in the sixth when Corey May and Carter drew walks, but May was thrown out at third trying to advance on a passed ball. Brett Miller singled home Carter for the last run of the day.

Copeland recorded five strike-outs in going the distance, while Miller gave up just five hits and struck out seven. The loss dropped Allegany to 7-5.

"We played just terrible defense against Northern and Keyser," Coach Bosley said. "But we really put it all together against Allegany. This was probably the best game we have played in three or four years."

The Rams will travel to Tucker County this afternoon and then host Tri-Valley in a 3 p.m. game this Saturday.

Rams Upset By Keyser Before Coming Back To Defeat Allegany

After being edged by cross-county rival Northern on Friday (see separate story), the Southern Rams were unable to re-group Saturday and were defeated by home-standing Keyser, 6-3. However, Coach Jim Bosley's team got back on track yesterday and defeated a strong Allegany team, 4-2, in Cumberland.

After committing seven errors against the Huskies, the Southern defense continued to sputter against Keyser and was tagged with six miscues. Southern pitcher Doug Copeland allowed only three hits in five-plus innings pitched.

The Rams took a 2-0 on an RBI single by Jeremy Fitzwater in the second inning and a sacrifice fly in the fourth that scored Fitzwater. But Keyser answered with five runs in the fourth, highlighted by a two-run triple by Nick Bromhal.

The Rams answered with a single run in the top of the fifth on an RBI double by Jeremy Bosley.

The Golden Tornado added an insurance run in the fifth when Bromhal singled home Scott George.

Bromhal also gained the win on the mound, as he allowed six hits.

Bosley and Fitzwater each finished with a double and a single for the Rams.

Copeland scattered seven hits yesterday in the Rams' big win over Allegany, while Mark Elliott provided a critical two-run double in the fourth inning.

The Campers took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Mike Ansel singled, stole second, and came home on a hit by Mike Carter.

The Rams tied the score with a run in the third as Josh Woods walked, went to second on a fielder's choice, and came home when Bosley's fly ball was dropped in center field.

Southern took a 4-1 lead with three runs in the fourth. Mark Dawson doubled and scored on a double by Brian Reams. Then Woods walked and Elliott smacked his two-run double.

The Campers tried to rally in the sixth when Corey May and Carter drew walks, but May was thrown out at third trying to advance on a passed ball. Brett Miller singled home Carter for the last run of the day.

Copeland recorded five strike-outs in going the distance, while Miller gave up just five hits and struck out seven. The loss dropped Allegany to 7-5.

"We played just terrible defense against Northern and Keyser," Coach Bosley said. "But we really put it all together against Allegany. This was probably the best game we have played in three or four years."

The Rams will travel to Tucker County this afternoon and then host Tri-Valley in a 3 p.m. game this Saturday.

Aerodynes Capture Honors At West Virginia Championships

Six members of the Garrett Gymnastics Club Aerodynes recently competed in the West Virginia State Gymnastics Championships, held this year in Morgantown. The six local gymnasts competed in the Level 6 and Level 7 divisions against gymnasts from throughout the state of West Virginia who qualified to compete at other sanctioned meets.

The top achievements of the day were accomplished by Amanda Miller and Susie Mosser, who each won a first place Miller, who was competing in the Level 6 (ages 12-14) division, was the West Virginia champion in the balance beam with a score of 9.0, while Mosser, who competed in the Level 7 (ages 12-14) division, was named the state uneven bars champion after scoring an 8.7.

Miller also placed second in the floor exercise with an 8.6, a 7.5 on the bars (third), and a 7.15 in vault to give her an all-around (AA) score of 32.25 and a third place overall trophy.

Mosser finished third on balance beam with a 7.9, fifth in vault with an 8.5, and seventh in floor exercise with a 6.3 to give her an AA score of 31.40 and a fourth place overall finish.

Competing in the Level 7 Optional division (ages 9-11), Andrea Bender placed second in vault with an 8.35 and fifth places on the beam (6.9), bars (5.0), and floor exercise (8.35), which resulted in a fifth place overall finish with an AA score of 28.60.

Bryanne Miller, who competed at Level 7 compulsory (ages 12-14) finished in fifth place overall with an AA score of 31.20. Her individual scores were: 8.7 on bars (second place), 8.1 on vault (sixth), 6.9 on beam (sixth), and 7.5 in floor exercise (fifth).

Competing in the same division was Heather Hanline, whose best placement was a fourth in the vault with a score of 8.1. She earned a 7.3 on beam (sixth), a 7.35 on bars (seventh), and a 7.4 in floor exercise (seventh) to finish with an AA score of 30.15, seventh best in the state.

Also competing at Level 6 (ages 9-11) was Aerodyne Shasta Steffan, who finished ninth overall with an AA score of 28.85. Her individual scores were: 7.6, vault; 7.0, bars; 6.55, beam; and 7.7, floor.

The members of the coaching staff of the Garrett Gymnastics Club noted their congratulations to their gymnasts "for their hard work, dedication, and determination all year that resulted in outstanding finishes in the West Virginia State Championships," noted Tammy Tressler, head coach.

Wednesday Night Bowling League Concludes Season

The Wednesday Civic Bowling League concluded its season Wednesday, April 21.

The team sponsored by Little Sandy's Restaurant placed on top for the first half. The team members are: Jeff Friend, Bill Murphy, Ron Friend, Charlie Harsh, Gary Friend, and Greg Wotringer.

The team called the Road Kills finished the second half in first place. The team members here are: Rocky Smith, Doug Ratliff, Babe Ratliff, Red Guthrie, and Craig Robertson.

The roll-off for the league championship between these two teams began at 6:30 p.m. Little Sandy's gave up 87 total pins in handicap to the Road Kills. The three-game roll-off ended with a 32 pin handicap, advantage in favor of the Road Kills.

This league also holds a Bowler of the Year competition. The "A" Class is for bowlers averaging 170 and above. The "B" Class is for bowlers averaging 160 and below. A three-game qualifier is bowled to determine the top six seeds in each class.

The qualifiers for the "A" Class were: John Sharpless, Dave Simmons, Hugh Schrier, Charlie Harsh, Gary Friend, and Jeff Friend. The qualifiers for the "B" Class were: Larry Reckart, Oliver Guthrie, Rocky Smith, Babe Ratliff, Gary Powell, and Harold Fike.

The "A" Class pitted Charlie Harsh and Gary Friend against each other, to break a tie for the fourth/fifth spots, with Charlie Harsh winning this match. The first regular match saw Jeff Friend shoot 263 to Gary's 168. The next match had Jeff shoot 235 against Charlie's 210. After that Jeff shot a 194 against Hugh Schrier's 181. Then Dave Simmons defeated Jeff with a 254 to 208. In the final match Dave shot a 221 to defeat John Sharpless's 187. Dave will receive a ring as The Bowler of the Year. The "B" Class saw Harold Fike best Gary Powell, 157 to 190. Babe Ratliff shot a 245 to defeat Harold with a 201. Then Babe overpowered Rocky Smith, 223 to 142. Oliver Guthrie was Babe's next victim at 230 to 178. In the final match Babe shot a 203 against Larry Reckart's 158. Babe will also receive a ring as his trophy for winning The Bowler of the Year.

Soccer Assoc. Plans To Start Classic Program

The Mountaintop Soccer Association has announced it has authorized the creation of a Classic Soccer program as a spring and summer sport.

There will be one team formed at each of the under 12, under 14, and under 16 levels. Players interested in participating must have a birthday that falls between August 2, 1976 and August 1, 1983 to be eligible.

All those interested in playing should come to the Bausch & Lomb field at Southern Middle School this Monday, May 3 at 6 p.m. Performance drills will be conducted to assess skill levels. Players must wear shin guards to participate. Fact sheets will be available for parents of prospective players. These will describe the differences between classic soccer and the recreational program held each fall.

The session will be coordinated by Selwyn Brown, loss prevention manager at Bausch & Lomb and a former captain of the Arkansas Diamonds of the United States Interregional Soccer League (USISL).

In other business, the organization has decided to have a booth at the Garrett County Fair. "It will be action oriented with proceeds being targeted to share between the MSA and the Garrett County Board of Education when soccer becomes a varsity sport in the system," stated Secretary Dave Spirk. "We have a couple very interesting concepts that will benefit both Northern and Southern high schools as a result."

Chief Coordinator Don

Nuce recently attended the Maryland State Youth Soccer Association's Annual General Meeting. He reported that membership in this organization will prove beneficial as the MSA grows. "In three short years, we have grown to be the 13th largest recreational association in the state. It was interesting to see how some of the more mature organizations function. It was also amazing to me that there are more than 25,000 registered soccer players in the State of Maryland," Nuce said.

Nuce also commented that the MSA would be given an allotment of tickets for purchase to the world Cup games to be held at RFK Stadium in Washington during June-July, 1994. The allotment is based on enrollment and members will be given first option on their purchase.

Tom Peterson, past-president/member-at-large, reported that the May soccer clinics will be held at the Southern Middle School fields on May 16 and May 23. Times will be from 2 to 4 p.m. The sessions are open to players of all ages from 4 years to 18 years.

Spirk commented that pre-registration for fall recreational leagues will be held at that time as well.

"We really want to enroll as many kids as possible in advance so we don't have the last minute scramble assigning players to teams. We anticipate that costs will be the same or similar to last year," he said. Details will be announced prior to the activity days.

Peterson stated that a coaches' clinic is planned for late July or early August. It will be an official license from FIFA at either the F or E level depending on whether the person takes one or two days of training. It will be taught by the MSYSA State Coach Graham Ramsey. "We're also going to offer the referee's licensing course in August like we did last year," Peterson said.

President Carole Ann Lovett reported that the proposal for adding soccer as a varsity sport seems to be moving forward. It is now with the Teachers' Association and must still be approved as part of the budgeting process. "The MSA is committed to help the Board of Education with the funding of this effort because of the large number of students we believe are interested in participating," she said.

The MSA Executive Committee will meet again May 24. This meeting will immediately precede the Association Annual Membership Meeting. All members are encouraged to attend. Constitutional changes can be ratified only at this meeting. Anyone wishing to make changes must send their proposals to Dave Spirk no later than May 10th. Anyone wishing to be on the agenda must do the same. Officers will be voted upon as vice-president, treasurer, and member-at-large all come due on odd numbered years. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Bausch & Lomb training rooms.

Southern Netters Topped By Keyser

Area Speedway Review

Somerset County Speedway

Racing will begin at The Somerset County Speedway, located at the Somerset County Fairgrounds in Meyersdale, Pa., on Friday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m.

The 1993 season at The Somerset County Speedway begins with 115 cars registered to race, and drivers coming from all over the tri-state area.

If during the summer there is a threat of rain, a decision about canceling will not be made until 4 p.m. After that time, a message will be put on the answering machine (814-634-0916) only if it is canceled.

Cumberland Raceway

The first race of the Cumberland Raceway 1993 season saw Wayne Johnson, from Hancock, win the Late Model Feature. Bob Elbin, from Bedford, Pa., took the Semi-Late Feature, and Buddy VanMeter, from Cresaptown, won the Pure Stock Feature.

There were 20 Late Models, 21 Semi-Lates and 34 Pure Stocks in the pits for the opening night, which was Hamilton Chrysler-Plymouth, Keyser, W.Va., night at the track. T.O. Hamilton presented an extra $200 to Wayne Johnson, $150 to Bob Elbin and $100 to Buddy VanMeter. "The Gang" and Lamberts' Auto Repair gave $100 to Johnson, $20 to Elbin and $10 to VanMeter.

In the Late Model Feature, a Heads-Up start saw Wayne Johnson, in his Price Budweiser Chevy, get the jump on last year's track champion, Tom Clise. Johnson had a large lead wiped out on lap 12 when the caution came out for Larry Wright. On the restart, Clise and Butch Moyer raced for second place, with Moyer getting the edge for his best finish ever at Cumberland. Clise finished third, followed by Todd Price, Scott Brode, Greg Tressler, Spencer Husted, Jeff Miller, Tony Flanagan, and Bill Phares. Heat winners were Tom Clise and Wayne Johnson.

In the Semi-Late Feature, Allen Buckley went to the front and led for seven laps until he got caught in the traffic. Bob Elbin, who started eighth, made the right move and took the lead. The two raced nose to tail to the finish with Elbin getting the win. Behind Buckley was Jerry Robinson, Donnie Witt, Dion LaSalle, Lynn Ogden, Bob Gordon, Brian Weyandt, Brian Lowery and Jim Sacco, Jr. Heat winners were Allen Buckley, Donnie Witt and Lynn Ogden.

In the Pure Stock Feature, Buddy VanMeter held off Greg Fuller and Wade Peer for the win. Wade Peer nipped Fuller at the flagstand for second. Behind Fuller was Darras Deneen, Sam Steele, Travis Beaver, Dennis Sponaugle, Jim Locke, Bill Buchanan and Bill VanMeter. Heat winners were Travis Beaver, Buddy VanMeter, Sam Steele and Jason Bonnett. The Conay winner was Dewey Hall.

In the Pure Stock Feature, Jason Bonnett flipped several times and was hit by Robert Flanagan, Jr. Neither driver was injured.

This week's Tri-State Racing Photos Hard Charger Award went to Bob Elbin.

Kids ages 6 - 12 are invited to join the Cumberland Raceway Junior Fan Club, and may come to the Speedway Trackside Novelty Stand on May 1 for a membership application.

Racing returns Saturday, May 1. Gates open at 4:30 p.m. and racing begins at 7 p.m.

Interstate 79 Speedway

Tim Hitt, of Weston, W.Va., won the season opener for the second year in a row at Interstate 79 Speedway on Friday night. Coming from the 12th starting spot, Hitt, in his Draine powered Rocket, worked his way to the front while leader Doug Horton pulled away from the field. On lap 19, Hitt went around Horton to take the lead of the 25-lap event while a lot of passing was taking place back in the pack. Following Hitt across the line were Horton, Mike Hawkins, Mark Myers, Frank Wilson, Sr., Frank Wilson, Jr., Chuck Harper, Joe Meadows, Denny Chamberlain, and Henry Hornsby. Heat winners were Hitt and Harper.

Continuing his winning streak from the 1992 season, Danny Hamrick picked up the Semi-Late Feature event starting from the pole. Scott Miles came from the last starting position to take the runner-up spot followed by Eddie Shuck, Mike Benedum, and Rick Strickler. Miles and Strickler took the heats. Jack Kress bested the field of UMP Modifieds over Bernie Petanowick, Clifton Cochran, Steve Cooke, and Kenny Rogers. Heat wins went to Donnie Garrett and Kress.

In the 4 Cylinder Stock Class, Pat Woodburn earned his first career feature win, beating out Greg Wilt and Tim Golden at the line. Terry Conrad picked up where he left off in 1992 by winning the 4 Cylinder Modified Feature with Ray Johnson and Norman Weaver in second and third.

With most of the pure stocks painting their cars to resemble Winston Cup stock cars, Kim Ammons led the way in his Rick Mast look-alike. Ron Parrish and Terry Towson followed Ammons across the strips.

Regular Friday night racing continues on April 30 at 8 p.m. with gates opening at 6 p.m. On Friday, May 7, race fans will have a chance to meet their favorite drivers during Auto-graph and Picture Night at the speedway.

SHS Harriers Finish Second In Quad Meet

The Southern High School track teams hosted a quadrangular meet Tuesday afternoon and placed second in both the boys' and girls' competition.

The Keyser High teams won both the boys' and girls' meets, while the Preston County teams placed third and Tucker County teams finished fourth. The Keyser boys amassed 111 points, followed by Southern with 70, Preston with 58, and Tucker with 16. The Keyser girls won with 128 points, followed by Southern with 82, Preston with 27, and Tucker with 15.

The Southern boys' squad was led by C.J. Getson, who won the 100- and 200-meter dashes and was on the winning 400-meter relay team with Brian Chickener, Andrew Lane, and J.R. Reams. Chickener was the winner of the 400-meter dash. Adam Harvey won the high jump and Jonathan Lane won the triple jump.

Pacing the Southern girls' team were Carolyn Alvarez and Jenny Reams. Alvarez won the 100- and 300-meter hurdles and was on the winning 400-meter relay team with Aaron Buser, Andrea Devens, and Miranda Marple, while Reams placed first in the 200- and 400-meter dashes. Cheryl Browning won the high jump and Buser won the triple jump.

The Keyser boys were paced by Brandon Crites and D.J. Likens, while the girls were led by Jamie Nutter.

The rains will complete again this afternoon in a triangular meet at Frankfort.

 scriptures God knew us even before we were conceived. He had a plan for us before we were conceived in our mother's womb. The Bible makes that plain.

God tells us how to choose, there is a choice given, life for you and your seed or baby. You know it was wrong for Dr. David Gunn to be killed, but it was bound to happen somewhere, sometime. People are becoming desperate to save innocent babies. How many babies have died?

I believe the only way this controversy will ever stop is if laws are made that compromise the pro-choice and pro-life sides. God-fearing people cannot condone what God and the Bible has clearly said is wrong. Non-believers of the Bible will not admit abortion is murder.

I seriously suggest that our President, Senate and House members come up with a law that both groups can live with. If abortion was made only legal if the mother's physical life is in jeopardy, if rape or incest is proven, I think most pro-lifers would agree. But when abortion is used to choose sexes, to keep from losing their figures, so they won't have to put a career on hold, or as a form of birth control, those are not acceptable.

Pro-choice people should realize they have choices, to use one of many forms of birth control pills or devices to adopt out the baby, to put it in foster care until they can care for it, or to abstain from sex until they want a baby. They have choices, but murder should not be one of those choices.

God forgives our sins. God knows us and our life plan even before we are conceived. If we continue to interfere in God's plans for us and our babies, one day we'll face his judgment. I fear he won't find the murder of innocent babies, (yes, they are babies, their heart beats in 4-6 weeks, so it is a living being) to be a choice, but a murder. True Christians know their Bibles, they know God's words are law, and we can't accept innocent unborn babies being killed by the thousands every day.

I will agree with Ms. Knight on one point: please do write your President, Representatives, Senators, and House members and tell them it's time to stop murdering our babies. We are not Hitler.

To the Editor:

The debate over abortion is distorted by an aggressive false presumption. There is a total blackout, and/or unquestioned allegiance to the non-personhood of the unborn. If there is a fanatical religious zeal on the part of those who oppose abortion, there is a matched non-rational fanaticism which will not even discuss the possibility that life and death rather than freedom of private choice is the question.

Those who oppose abortion would like nothing better than to be convinced by medical and scientific scholarship that the unborn is a non-person. What a marvelous gift to mankind it would be if millions of supposed murders could be proved to be simply the purging of unwanted body tissue. Why should any of us agonize over abortion if the facts are in favor of the unborn being something other than a viable life at some point of the pregnancy term?

When I exited my car in the parking lot of our local hospital the other day, I saw a bumper sticker that has prompted all the above reflection. The sticker simply showed the heart monitor graph and underneath were the words - Abortion Stops A Beating Heart. As if amending my aroused conscience, within a week I received in the mail a local church newsletter that has as its cover a photo of a well developed unborn infant safely encircled by its mother's womb. The caption read - Is This A Child Or A Choice?

These are creditable declarations which deserve rebuttal in kind, that is from the disciplines of science and medicine. I will be glad to visit our local library and to check out a specific AMA Journal article, or other pertinent data on this subject.

Of course, there are a great many important spin-off problems that need compassion and solutions revolving around the issue of population expansion. These impact upon the core question, but they do not change the question.

As much as other circumstances enter into this issue, there finally appears only three options. One, the unborn is not a person, and therefore the question is entirely one of private, personal choice. Two, the unborn is a person and therefore is entitled to the protection of life. Three, the question is undecided and therefore allowance for error is to be extended in the direction of protection of possible life rather than in the direction of permissive allowance.

To the Editor:

Today a very big problem called abortion is facing our country. Being a supporter of the Pro-Life movement, I'm going to do what I can to stop this problem.

The Bible says in Exodus 20:13 that we are not to kill. I feel that abortion is killing a precious life. There is a story in the Bible about Hagar and her baby Ishmael who were in a barren desert with no water. Hagar put her baby under a bush and left it there to die. God didn't like the idea of a baby dying so he opened Hagar's eyes and she saw a well that was full of water. God doesn't want innocent babies to die.

Suppose someone like Abraham Lincoln would have been a victim of abortion. Where would our nation be today without him? Many babies are aborted each year which means that there are that many fewer people around who can grow up and praise God, their Creator.

Why would a mother want to abort her baby in the first place? A mother finds more joy in her baby than any other thing that she has. Without children, how will the family name be carried along? If it were impossible for someone to take care of her baby, there are many loving couples who can't have children of their own and would be delighted to adopt a baby. There are other options to abortion.

People say "It isn't really a live person in there." If I were to take a Bald Eagle's egg and smash it on the steps of the White House, I would be charged for destroying a member of an endangered species. Is there a difference between the life of a bird in an egg and the life of a baby in his/her mother's womb. There is no question in my mind that abortion is wrong.

Sincerely,
 Durrell Orendorf

To the Editor:

On the evening of Tuesday, April 20, 1993, someone removed our lab/setter dog, Lady, from her chain, in our yard, and took her away.

A few minutes earlier, I had heard voices outside, and had seen a woman in whites beside a car which was parked in the alley, but nobody had knocked at the door, or in any way tried to contact anyone inside. (If I could hear voices, I surely would have heard a knock, had there been one!).

A GRAND OPENING of an appliance showroom was held recently at Electronics Express, located in the former Harold's TV building on the corner of U.S. Rt. 40 and Rt. 669 in Grantsville. Electronics Express is now the area's exclusive Jenn Air and Magic Chef dealer. The store also carries a full line of Zenith televisions, video cassette recorders, and camcorders, plus provides full service for all the products they sell. Store hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. Pictured are Doug Beltzel, store manager, left, and Carl Murphy, head technician.

When the car pulled out, I saw that it was the town (Oakland) police car. I then went out, and found that the dog was missing.

My daughter contacted the police to see if they knew anything about Lady. The officer told her that Mrs. Clark, from the Humane Society, had taken our dog into custody until she could be seen by a vet -- because we were starving her to death!

Lady had been back outside for only 10 days, and she was being fed and cared for -- in spite of how she looked! That was not of our doing!

She had been missing from February 14 to March 22, when she returned in a very starved and run-down condition.

We had called the animal shelter, and the Oakland Police Dept. when we discovered she was missing. And when our other dog, Hobo, got outside and wandered away on March 18, and we called the pound to check about him, the girl there asked if we had gotten Lady back. We told her no, she still was missing.

Lady was taken to the Pineview Veterinarian Hospital immediately after she returned, where she spent two days. After examining her, Dr. Jenkins said she was in good health -- except for the weight loss: 20 pounds! And he sent her home.

After she came home, she could not keep down anything she ate, but would regurgitate her food within a few minutes after eating. Dr. Jenkins said to try her on dry dog food -- the canned might be too rich. We did, but after later talking with my son-in-law, and still later, with me, she seemed more understanding and amicable.

She did suggest that we move the doghouse, which we were planning to do.

We had heard no more from Mrs. Helbig, or any other member of this fine organization, until after Lady was taken -- and then, only through the Police Department when we inquired about her. No one from the Society called us until we called Mrs. Clark, and she finally returned our call.

Coincidentally, Lady's removal came just after we had notified a local woman, whose sister works with the Humane Society, to remove her dogs from another property which we own.

This woman had asked to put her dogs there "temporarily" until she could find a place for them. That was last September -- and, at this writing, they still are occupying our yard!

We want to put our own dogs there, where they will have more space, and quieter surroundings.

It seems to me that the Humane Society could better utilize its time and energy to help find homes for these three about-to-be-displaced dogs, and others in the same (or worse!) fix, rather than taking one that has a place and is being fed and cared for; and that they should get the facts instead of jumping to wrong conclusions.

Since the Humane Society knew why the dog was so thin, their action in removing Lady from her home seems high-handed and presumptuous. An abuse of power -- if you will!

We feel we are being unjustly harassed in this matter and want our dog returned to us immediately!

Sincerely yours, count of arson of a private structure, two counts of arson of personal property, and three counts of reckless endangerment.

The victim in the case is Steven P. Uphold, Deer Park, who contacted the fire department when he spotted "an orange glow" outside his back door. Uphold found that a mattress had been set on fire, and the flames were jumping to the supports of a back walkway to the residence. The dog house had been burned earlier that day.

Park was reportedly found lying in the woods approximately 100 yards from the victim's residence. He was arrested at that time.

Other Sheriff Office arrests include the charging of Stephen K. Fonzi, 39, Mtn. Lake Park, on Saturday. Fonzi is accused of maliciously destroying property of LITERACY COUNCIL ADDS TRAINER - The Literacy Council of Garrett County has added another tutor trainer to its training team. Lorraine Ledden, left, was recently presented with her trainer certificate by Bonnie Tucker, apprentice supervising trainer. Mrs. Ledden has completed two and one-half years of work to meet the national trainer requirements of Laubach Literacy Action. Her certificate was signed by Peter Walte, executive director of LLA, and Robert Coswell, president of Laubach Literacy International. Her certificate allows her to train LLA tutors anywhere in the world. The Laubach philosophy for reading is "Each one teach one." The Literacy Council is the only literacy agency in the county that offers exclusive one-to-one reading instruction. Anyone interested in obtaining information about the program may call the Literacy Council office at 334-8808.

Jane L. Bennett, Oakland, and Franklin M. Harvey. The defendant apparently broke the windows of a trailer while Harvey and Bennett were inside the residence. He apparently blocked the driveway with his vehicle, threatened Ms. Bennett, and then left the home on foot. He was arrested on the strength of two arrest warrants, and was later released on his own recognizance.

Russell W. Slagle, 20, was arrested on the strength of two arrest warrants this past week. Slagle is charged with theft of cash less than $300 from Wisp Resort on March 11, and with daytime burglary on Shingle Camp Road against William Baranowski, according to the report.

Dennis J. Garlitz, 28, Loch Lynn, was arrested April 26 by the Sheriff's Office. Garlitz has been charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance with intent to distribute. Further information was not available.

An arrest warrant was issued for James B. Thomas, 21, Swanton, for telephone misuse. Thomas is accused of repeatedly calling Linda Warnick, harassing her and intending to annoy her, according to the report. Thomas was arrested last Thursday.

An Oakland man was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) by Det. J. Murphy early Sunday morning. Steven R. Steyer, 37, was originally stopped by the officer for driving erratically along Rt. 135, according to the report.

Ronald D. Smith, 27, Mtn. Lake Park, was charged this week with disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct by Lt. P. Pratt. The charges were incurred by Smith after an altercation with Catherine A. Helbig, 25, Mtn. Lake Park. Pratt responded to the scene of the incident and arrested Smith at that time, according to the report.

A bench warrant was issued for Paul A. Dixon II, 32, Deer Park. Dixon has apparently failed to pay deferred costs.

Norman G. Guthrie, 27, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant charging him with failure to appear in court. Guthrie was scheduled to face traffic charges, according to the report.

Concetta Whitacre, 36, Mtn. Lake Park, was served a bench warrant for failure to appear in court. Ms. Whitacre was apparently to be the complainant in the case.

Gregory Kozemchak, 37, New Alexandria, Pa., was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to appear in court. He was to face traffic charges.

RECEIVES McLAREN AWARD - James Flanigan, owner of Nu-Way Interiors, Oakland, was awarded the Woody McLaren Memorial Award for 1993 at the 17th annual Workshop and Trade Show of the Tri-State Restorers and Specialty Cleaners Association, held recently at the Seven Springs Mountain Resort, Champion, Pa. The award is presented to the member of the Association who most closely typifies Woody McLaren's dedication to the cleaning industry, integrity of business operation, the continuing support of education within the industry, and who is a long-time, contributing member of the Association. "The bestowing of the 1993 award upon Jim was exceptionally appropriate," stated Walt Werner, Association president. "Not only does he conduct his business as did Woody, support his Association and continuing education as did Woody, but Jim resembles Woody in both stature and personality. He is always willing to help out anyone in the industry who needs assistance." Flanigan operates Nu-Way Interiors, a carpet and upholstery cleaning firm, with his son, Alex.

Highland Fest Will Feature Piping Events

Competitions between musicians of the bagpipe have been a major traditional component of national and international highland festivals for hundred of years, and amateur solo piping competitions will be one of the events of the Sixth Annual McHenry Highland Festival on Saturday, June 5, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. Ma Joyce McIntosh, Pittsburgh, will be the judge for the competitions, which are sanctioned by the Eastern United States Pipe Band Association.

Amateur bagpipe musicians will compete in Grades I, II, III, IV and V (practice chanter) for first, second, and third place prizes in each category, and the Piper of the Day will be awarded the McHenry Cup. Festivalgoers who would like to learn more about the bagpipe are encouraged to attend the "History of the Bagpipe" workshop by Rev. John A. Grant at the festival.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $5 for anyone 12 years and over. A ceilidh (Scottish party) will be held at 8 p.m. on Saturday evening at the McHenry House at Wisp. Admission $3. A Kirkin' O' the Tartans will be held Sunday, June 6, at 10 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park.

The festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, and hosted in part by Wisp Ski & Golf Resort. It is funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council, Maryland State Arts Council. For more information, a free festival brochure, or an application for the Solo Piping Competition, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone 301-334-1948.

Rebecca Jacobi To Speak At Cherry Glade

Rebecca Jacobi, a Jewish Christian from Norfolk, England, will be at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, Accident, on Wednesday, May 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Jacobi is spending two months in the United States promoting her new book, I Will Go. The book reportedly tells of her decision at age 18 to follow the Messiah and the dramatic consequences that followed.

The public is welcome to come and meet Jacobi and hear her testimony and see her presentation about the Jewish Passover.

The Cherry Glade Church is located on the Accident-Bittering Road. Persons desiring additional directions or more information may call 245-4143.

SWANTON

Twila Flores, who had surgery in Garrett Memorial Hospital, was released Monday. She is now recuperating at home.

Joe Friend is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Orval and Mareva Teets and Wayne and Hazel Goff attended the Chessie Credit Union dinner at the Shrine Club, Cumberland, Saturday evening.

On Saturday afternoon Charles and Sonya Craver celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary by renewing their vows at the Rocky DREAM Assembly of God Church. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Deer Park fire hall. Many friends and family members from Swanton were among those who attended the celebration.

Lester Sweitzer is a patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Maude Beckman has been a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, for more than two weeks.

CHURCH NEWS

Barbara Rexrode and Orval Teets attended the Romney District Council of Ministries meeting in Keyser, W.Va., Saturday.

Pastor Gus Monu of the Swanton-Kitzmiller Charge has been assigned to another charge and will be leaving this area in June. A new pastor has not yet been assigned for the Swanton-Kitzmiller Charge. Eliha Harvey, Richard Gerlach, Orval Teets, Harley Wildesen, and Jesse Skipper attended the Brotherhood breakfast at Caselman Hotel, Grantsville, last Saturday.

Dr. Howard Bright, West Virginia Wesleyan College,

Buckhannon, W.Va., will be speaking here on Sunday, May 2, at the 11 a.m. worship service. He will answer questions on the church's involvement in the "Second Century Campaign" for Wesleyan College.

Kitzmiller Assoc. Plans Ramp Dinner

The Kitzmiller Civic Association will hold its fifth annual ramp dinner this Saturday, May 1, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Kitzmiller fire hall.

Ramps, ham, soup beans, fried potatoes, cole slaw, rolls, beverage, and dessert are included on the menu. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children ages 15 and under.

Proceeds from the event will go into the Association's general project fund.

Historical Soc. Bus Tour Slated

The Garrett County Historical Society has scheduled its spring bus tour of northern Garrett County for May 22.

Sites to be visited on the tour will include: the Drane House in Accident, the oldest house in Garrett County which is presently undergoing renovation; the Finzel sub-arctic swamp, source of the Savage River; Stanton's Mill, Caselman Bridge, and Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville, and Tomlinson's Stone House.

The tour will coincide with the National Pike Festival and Wagon Train. The cost is $5 for the bus fare and lunch will be available at Grantsville for about $5. Persons should make reservations by sending their fares to Martha Kahl, Corresponding Secretary, Rt. 3, Box 4542, Deer Park, MD 21550, by May 19.

The tour is open to the first 50 persons who make reservations. The bus will leave the Oakland town parking lot at 8 a.m., leave the Garrett Community College parking lot at 8:40 a.m., leave the Accident IGA parking lot at 8:55 a.m., and leave the Grantsville Texaco station at 9:30 a.m.

First Financial Corp. Announces Quarterly Results

First Financial Corporation of Western Maryland, the holding company for First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, has announced net income for the nine months ended March 31, 1993, of $1.6 million or $1.14 per share compared to $2.5 million or $2.02 per share (on a pro forma basis) for the same period in 1992.

Approximately $1.3 million, net of applicable income taxes, of the 1992 net income resulted from the sale of below investment grade securities, a portion of which had been previously written off. The 1993 results include gains of approximately $326,000, net of applicable income taxes, on the sale of mortgage-backed and investment securities. The 1993 results also reflect an $800,000 reduction in the provision for losses on loans and real estate owned compared to the 1992 provision and include compensation expense of $1.0 million relating to the Company's employee stock ownership plan (ESOP) and recognition plans for directors and key management personnel. Net interest income rose $765,000 or 10.2% to $8.3 million in 1993.

The Company paid a quarterly cash dividend of $1.0 per share on March 31 to stockholders of record at the close of business March 15, 1993.

Net income for the quarter ended March 31, 1993 totaled $367,000 or $.28 per share compared to $625,000 or $.47 per share (on a pro forma basis) in 1992. The 1993 results include compensation expense totaling $800,000 relating to the stock recognition plans for directors, officers and employees approved by the stockholders on October 28, 1992. The Company will have recognized the major portion of the expense for these plans by April 28, 1993. Net interest income rose $78,000 or 2.9% to $2.8 million in 1993.

Stockholders' equity totaled $36.4 million, which represented 10.5% of assets at March 31, 1993. Tangible, core, and risk-based capital ratios at March 31, 1993 stood at 9.8%, 98% and 19.7% respectively, which exceed all regulatory requirements. There were 1,303,206 shares of common stock outstanding resulting in a book value per common share outstanding of $27.94.

Non-performing loans and other assets totaled $10.6 million or 3.1% of total assets at March 31, 1993 compared to $9.9 million or 2.9% of total assets at June 30, 1992. The Company's total allowance for losses equaled $5.9 million or 55.1% of total non-performing loans and other assets at March 31, 1993 compared to $5.6 million or 56.5% at June 30,

1992

Eastern Star Chapter Meets

Oakland Chapter No. 87, Order of the Eastern Star, held a stated meeting on Tuesday, April 20, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple.

Worthy Patron Theodore Raynovich called the meeting to order. Mrs. Harvey, Worthy Matron, opened with a reading and then greeted the following: Archie Minor, Associate Grand Patron; Juanita Leese, Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturers of Maryland, Juanita Bosley, Deputy Inspector of West Virginia; Wilda Hile, Grand Representative, and brothers holding Masonic honors, Lewis Marks, Grant Warrick, Reaford Purbaugh, and Theodore Raynovich.

Installation of the Worthy Patron, Lewis Marks, was held. The Worthy Matron reminded all of sessions to be held in Hagerstown, April 25-28. The next meeting, May 4, will include a welcome of the new Worthy Grand Patron, Archie Minor, with a special program. All members are encouraged to be in attendance.

Mrs. Harvey closed with a reading and refreshments were served in the dining room by Mary Clark and her committee.

Teleconference On MS Stated At Comfort Inn

People with multiple sclerosis, their families and friends, and medical professionals are invited to participate in a nationwide discussion of clinical trials of possible MS drugs on Saturday, May 1, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Comfort Inn in Frostburg.

Sponsored by the Maryland Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, the discussion will feature two renowned MS researchers: Kenneth P. Johnson, MD, University of Maryland Medical School, and John N. Whitaker, MD, University of Alabama.

Participants will first view a video of the researchers, who will then take questions via telephone from the audience. Local participants will be at one of an expected four to nine sites which will be hooked up for a simultaneous hour-long question and answer period. All members of the audiences of simultaneous sites will hear questions and answers from all locations.

Drs. Johnson and Whitaker, who have both been involved in clinical trials, will discuss how clinical trials work, why they are important in research, what treatments for MS are currently in clinical trials, and the benefits and risks of being a volunteer participant in clinical trials.

For further information and to register, persons may call Clara Clow at the Maryland Chapter, Western Maryland Office, at (301) 791-5754.

CAC Accepting Applications For Surplus Foods

The Garrett County Community Action Committee is currently accepting applications for its June surplus commodity distribution. The Community Action office is located at 360 West Liberty Street, Oakland, and operation hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Persons who receive surplus commodities in December and March or completed an application for energy assistance before April 15, 1993, need not re-apply.

Deadline to apply for surplus commodities will be May 4.

Legal Aid Bureau Announces May Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during the month of May in Oakland, on May 4 and 18 at the National Guard Armory, Eighth St.

The Bureau representative will be available from 10 a.m. until noon to provide legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Bureau is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the Outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland office, according to a Bureau spokesman.

Registration For Food SHARE Set In Grantsville

The next registration for Grantsville SHARE will be Saturday, May 1, from 9 to 10 a.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Grantsville. The next delivery day or pick-up day will be Saturday, May 22.

Participants may register on May 22 for the June SHARE pick-up.

Anyone can become a SHARE participant by contributing two hours of community service work for someone other than a family member and paying $13 (plus $1 - gas donation) for each food package desired. Each food package normally

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1993 B-7

Spring Into Healthy Eating

What should I eat to stay healthy? It's a question that is on everyone's mind. Staying fit is a year-round undertaking, but especially right now thoughts turn to fitness and healthier foods.

Eating healthy, tasty food really isn't so difficult if you are armed with some basic information and do a little planning. The most important fact is to eat a variety of foods in order to get adequate amounts of vitamins, minerals, protein and fiber.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends using the Food Guide Pyramid. At a glance, the Pyramid helps you understand more about the foods you need, from what food groups and in what amounts. It shows you where to put your emphasis. Clearly, you should include generous portions of grain products, such as rice, along with plenty of fruits and vegetables in your daily meal plans.

Nutritious eating, however, isn't bland and boring. Here is one example of a taste-tempting menu that fits the guidelines of the Food Guide Pyramid. A succulent roast turkey breast, which is easy and convenient to prepare, is accompanied by Cherry Rice Pilaf, a flavorful combination of rice, dried cherries and California walnuts. Put more grains into the meal by serving Lemon Walnut Muffins. Add a green vegetable, such as fresh asparagus, your favorite beverage and Cherry Dream, a quick-to-prepare dessert, to complete the menu. Any leftover turkey and plain cooked rice can be used to prepare Sesame Turkey Salad, a one-dish meal that's perfect for a night when there is no time to cook.

So, begin to enjoy tasty, healthy meals today.

Using The Food Pyramid

TURKEY BREAST WITH APRICOT AND PORT GLAZE

- 1 bone-in turkey breast (5 to 6 pounds)
- 1-1/2 cups apricot nectar
- 3/4 cup tawny port
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh rosemary (or 1 teaspoon dried)
- 1/2 cup water
- 1-1/2 teaspoons cornstarch

Place turkey breast skin-side up on rack in a (13x9x2-inch) roasting pan, lightly coated with vegetable cooking spray. Roast turkey breast, uncovered, in 325°F oven for 2 to 2-1/2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers 170°F in deepest portion of breast.

Combine nectar, port, honey and rosemary in medium saucepan. Bring to a boil. Simmer, stirring frequently, 10 to 15 minutes over medium heat, or until reduced to 1 cup. During last 15 minutes of roasting, brush turkey with 1/4 cup glaze.

Combine water and cornstarch. Stir mixture into remaining glaze. Cook over medium-high heat until mixture is clear and slightly thickened. To serve, spoon sauce over turkey breast slices.

Makes 12 servings.

Each serving provides 245 calories, 39.0 g protein, 1.6 g fat, 12.4 g carbohydrate, 0.2 g dietary fiber, 110 mg cholesterol and 75 mg sodium.

CHERRY RICE PILAF

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup dried cherries
- 1/2 cup California walnuts, chopped
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme (or 1 teaspoon dried)
- 1 tablespoon (chopped) fresh marjoram (or 1 teaspoon dried)
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 3 cups cooked rice

Cook onion, celery, cherries, walnuts, thyme, marjoram and pepper in margarine in a large non-stick skillet over medium heat 10 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Add rice; cook until thoroughly heated.

Makes 8 servings.

Each serving provides 192 calories, 3.8 g protein, 6.4 g fat, 30.3 g carbohydrate, 1.6 g dietary fiber, 0 mg cholesterol and 35 mg sodium.

LEMON WALNUT MUFFINS

- 3 tablespoons finely grated lemon peel
- 2 tablespoons water
- 3/4 cup sugar, divided
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 egg
- 1 cup nonfat yogurt
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1-1/4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup California walnuts, chopped
- 1/4 cup lemon juice

Combine grated peel, water and 1/2 cup sugar in medium saucepan. Stir over medium heat 1 to 2 minutes, just until sugar dissolves. Remove from heat. Add oil, egg, yogurt and milk to saucepan; heat well. Set aside.

Mix flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt in large bowl. Add sugar mixture and walnuts; stir just until batter is moistened. Do not overmix. Spoon into muffin tins coated with cooking spray, filling each cup 2/3 full. Bake in preheated 375°F oven for 15 to 18 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center of muffin comes out clean.

Combine remaining 1/4 cup sugar with lemon juice in small bowl. Let stand 2 to 3 minutes, stirring frequently until sugar dissolves.

Remove pans from oven and pierce tops of each muffin 3 times with a fork. Spoon 1 teaspoon of lemon mixture over each hot muffin, letting it run over the top and down the edges. Let cool in pan about 5 minutes before serving.

Makes 16 muffins.

Each serving provides 158 calories, 3.7 g protein, 5.7 g fat, 24.0 g carbohydrate, 0.8 g dietary fiber, 14 mg cholesterol and 157 mg sodium.

SESAME TURKEY SALAD

- 3 cups cooked rice
- 2 cups cooked turkey breast strips
- 1/4 pound fresh snow peas, trimmed and cut into julienne strips
- 1 medium cucumber, peeled, seeded, and cut into 1-1/2 x 1-1/4-inch strips
- 1 medium red pepper, cut into 1-1/2 x 1-1/4-inch strips
- 1/2 cup sliced green onions
- 2 tablespoons sesame seeds, toasted (optional)
- 1/4 cup chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon peanut oil
- 3 tablespoons rice or white wine vinegar
- 3 tablespoons low-sodium soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon sesame oil
- 1 head lettuce, shredded

Combine rice, turkey, peas, cucumbers, pepper, onions and sesame seeds in large bowl. Combine broth, peanut oil, vinegar, soy sauce and sesame oil in small bowl. Pour over rice-turkey mixture; toss lightly. Serve over shredded lettuce at room temperature or slightly chilled.

Makes 8 servings.

Each serving provides 201 calories, 12.4 g protein, 5.6 g fat, 25.0 g carbohydrate, 2.0 g dietary fiber, 21 mg cholesterol and 338 mg sodium.

CHERRY DREAM

- 5 cups loosely packed angel food cake cubes (about 10 ounces or 1/2 of large angel food cake)
- 1 21-ounce can cherry filling and topping
- 1-3/4 cups (4 ounces) frozen non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
- Fresh mint, for garnish

Sprinkle cake cubes in bottom of 9x9x2-inch baking pan. Fold whipped topping into cherry filling in medium bowl. Spread cherry mixture evenly over cake cubes.

Let chill, covered, several hours or overnight. Garnish each serving with a sprig of mint.

Makes 8 servings.

Each serving provides 227 calories, 3.7 g protein, 3.8 g fat, 45.1 g carbohydrate, 0.8 g dietary fiber, 0 mg cholesterol and 125 mg sodium.

How Much is Enough?

The USDA Food Guide Pyramid gives a range of servings for each food group. The number of servings that are right for you varies, but almost everyone should eat at least the lowest number of servings in each range on a daily basis. So:

- Eat 6 to 11 servings of grain products. Count as one serving: 1/2 cup cooked rice, cereal or pasta; 1 slice bread; 1/2 bun, bagel or English muffin; and 1 ounce dry, ready-to-eat cereal.
- For fruits, eat two or more servings daily. Count as one serving: 1 cup cherries or other small or diced fruit; 1 medium apple, orange or banana; or 3/4 cup juice.
- For vegetables, you need three or more servings. Count as one serving: 1 cup raw leafy greens or 1/2 cup other kinds of vegetables.

- You need two to three servings milk, yogurt or cheese. Count 1 cup milk or yogurt; 1 1/2 ounces natural cheese or 2 ounces processed cheese as one serving.

- Eat two to three servings turkey, other poultry, meat, fish, dry beans, eggs, walnuts and other nuts. Count as one serving: 2 to 3 ounces cooked lean meat, poultry or fish; 1/2 cup cooked dry beans; or 1 egg.

- Use fats, oils and sweets sparingly.

- For recipes that contain foods from several groups, do the best you can to estimate the number of servings for the main ingredients. Some ingredients may not be a whole serving; add up partial servings from all meals each day.

Local Students Fare Well In Science Expo

The fifth annual Western Maryland Regional Science Expo was held Friday, April 16, at Garrett Community College under the joint sponsorship of the Regional Education Service Agency, Garrett Community College, and Allegany and Garrett County boards of education.

The expo recognized the achievements of award-winning middle and senior high school students who have carried out independent scientific study over the school year. The event was underwritten in part by corporate sponsors who were acknowledged at the Expo Awards Ceremony. Bausch & Lomb, Cumberland Lions Club, First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, First United National Bank & Trust, Superfos Packaging, and TCI Cablevision of Maryland. The ceremony capped the day for 111 middle and high students from the two counties.

Each student had the opportunity to participate in a project review under the direction of a team of science judges. The student was interviewed to determine the level of knowledge and understanding developed in carrying out his/her scientific experimentation.

The Expo was divided into two groupings with middle school and senior high school students competing in separate divisions. The students competed in 13 categories for

Students were hosted to a luncheon and dinner as guests of the Expo. In addition, they participated in workshops designed around special elements of science of particular interest to students of the participants' age group. Wally Finster, director of environmental health, Allegany County Health Department, talked to the students on environmental careers following the workshops. A feature presentation, "Arcs and Sparks," was presented under special arrangements with the Maryland Science Center in observance of Maryland Science Week.

Maryland Science Week, April 25 - May 1, is a celebration of mathematics and science and all of the ways mathematics and science influence and enrich life. The Expo was the vehicle to launch Maryland Science Week, and students received literature and pins in commemoration of the event. A public viewing of the students' projects followed "Arcs and Sparks."

The Expo 1993 award recipients from Garrett County were: Behavioral & Social Sciences -- (Middle School Division) Laura Schlosnagle, Northern Middle School, first place; Cyndi Thomas, Northern Middle School, third place; (High School Division) Julie Strider, Northern High School, first place; Cindy Graham, Northern High School, third place.

Botany -- (Middle School Division) Stephanie Gosnell, Northern Middle School, second place; Josh Robinson, Northern Middle School, third place; (High School Division) Bill Younkin, Northern High School, second place.

Chemistry -- (Middle School Division) Glenda DeWitt, Northern Middle School, third place; (High School Division) Michael Hetrick, Northern High School, first place.

Computer Science -- (High School Division) Josh Kolbe, Northern High School, first place.

Earth and Space Science -- (Middle School Division) Juanita Bittinger, Northern Middle School, first place; Aaron Miller, Northern Middle School, second place; (High School Division) Robert Swiger, Southern High School, third place.

Engineering -- (Middle School Division) Kim Bittinger, Northern Middle School, third place; (High School Division) Kelly Friend, Northern High School, second place; Rodney Wachter, Northern High School, third place.

Environmental Sciences -- (Middle School Division) Chad Montgomery, Northern Middle School, first place; Michelle Geis, Northern Middle School, third place.

Mathematics -- (Middle School Division) Derek Berger, Northern Middle School, first place; (High School Division) Chris Wright, Northern High School, first place; Erika Durst, Southern High School, second place.

Medicine and Health -- (Middle School Division) Jamie Vent, Northern Middle School, second place; (High School Division) Jason VanSickle, Northern High School, second place; Amy Carey, Northern High School, third place.

Microbiology -- (Middle School Division) E.J. Scofield, Northern Middle School, second place.

Physics -- (Middle School Division) Michael Zimmerman, Northern Middle School, third place; (High School Division) Ben Vitez, Northern High School, third place.

Zoology -- (Middle School Division) Heidi Martin, Northern Middle School, second place; (High School Division) Amy Platter, Northern High School, first place; Kelly Durst, Northern High School, second place.

Award presentations for the U.S. Army were made by Sergeant Collins. In addition to the grand prize Army award won by Amy Donhardt, of Beall High School, the following Garrett County students received certificates from the Army: Stephanie Gosnell, and Juanita Bittinger, Northern Middle School; and Jason VanSickle, Northern High School. Calculators were presented to Kim Bittinger, and Michael Zimmerman, Northern Middle School; Joni Wilson, Southern High School; and Chris Wright, Northern High School.

Four first-place Navy awards were given, which consisted of a programmable calculator, certificate, and invitation to compete in the Navy national science fair. Winning students included Michael Hetrick and Josh Kolbe, Northern High School.

Francis Tam, Physics Department, Frostburg State University, presented the TAM Awards. Certificates are given in three categories. Winners will be given preference in competition for a Tam Scholarship if they attend FSU following high school. Winners included Ben Vitez, Physics; Kelly Friend and Rodney Wachter, Engineering; and Robert Swiger, Earth and Space Sciences.

Michael Hetrick of Northern High School received the Eastman Kodak Award for use of photography in his exhibit. Only 11th-grade students are eligible for the Yale Science and Engineering certificate, which was presented to Josh Kolbe of Northern High School.

An American Meteorological Society certificate was presented to Joni Wilson of Southern High School. Chris Wright, Northern High School, received a certificate and calendar from the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Ben Vitez of Northern High School received the U.S. Department of Energy certificate.

Expo 1993 was conducted under the direction of Mike Logsdon of Garrett Community College and Frank Peto of the Regional Education Service Agency. The expo was presented by RESA in cooperation with RESA member institutions: Allegany Community College, Allegany County Board of Education, Frostburg State University, Garrett Community College, Garrett County Board of Education, Hagerstown Junior College, Washington County Board of Education, and the University of Maryland System.

Church Women Plan May Event

Church Women United of Garrett County held a meeting Monday to finalize plans for the annual May Fellowship Day, slated for May 7 at Bethel United Methodist Church, Mtn. Lake Park.

"Human Touch, Divine Healing" is the theme for the service this year, which was written by church women in Buffalo, N.Y.

Two programs will be held on May 7, with registration beginning at 9:30 a.m. The World Day of Prayer service will get underway at 10 a.m., followed by a covered dish dinner at noon and the May Fellowship program at 1 p.m. There will be two offerings, plus the Least Coin collection.

Present for Monday's planning meeting were: Helen Silver, Helen Keller, Hazel Margroff, Helen Holline, Audrey Brenneman, Fernie Beachy, Charlotte Mousch, and Evelyn Steyer.

New Officers For GOBA Are Named

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) met recently and named new officers. The group discussed the upcoming Fresh Air Festival, scheduled for May 29, and the Northern and Southern high school after-prom parties.

Although the customary time of year to elect officers is the end of each year, GOBA members decided to re-organize the current board this month. Named as president for the remainder of this year was Janna Naylor, who represents A.D. Naylor Co., Inc. Serving as co-vice-presidents will be Bob Flinn of Flinn's Family Store, and Amy Rudy of Rudy's. Becky O'Connell is the secretary. The voting was unanimous.

The spring Fresh Air Festival will be held May 29. Included in the activities planned is a Civil War re-enactment event. As there were no battles actually fought here, the re-enactors will set up an encampment because those involved are strict about historical authenticity. There were encampments in and around the town of Oakland during the 1861-1865 Civil War.

Also planned is a performance by the Silver Dollar Band, and, tentatively, a "sheep to shawl" event. Canoe races, foot races, crafts, and the annual Outhouse Race are scheduled. Food and drink will be sold as well.

Business representatives were asked to consider contributing gift certificates to the Northern and Southern high schools' after-prom parties. The certificates will be used as door prizes. The representatives were advised to contact the schools if they were interested in donating. The new Oakland postmaster, Tom Twyman, will be the guest speaker at GOBA's May meeting.

Corrections Noted

A story concerning Northern Middle School's achievements in the Garrett County Science Expo appeared in last week's issue of The Republican, and contained one error and one omission. The omission was in the eighth grade division section. Jamie Jo Vent should have been listed as a second place winner in medicine and health. Also incorrect was the name Harold Mosser. The correct name is Von Mosser.

Spaghetti Dinner Slated To Aid Cancer Patient

A spaghetti dinner, sponsored by the Northern High School Peer Counseling Group, will be held Friday, May 7, from 5-7 p.m. at the Northern High Cafeteria. The proceeds from the dinner will help defray medical costs of Roger "Bo" Durst, a cancer patient and student at Northern.

The cost of the dinner will be $4.50 for adults and $2 for children under 12. All donations will be accepted.

Persons desiring additional information may call Joannie Martin, teacher, at 746-8668 or 895-5434.

GOP Central Comm. Holds Annual Dinner

The Garrett County Republican Central Committee held its annual Lincoln Day Dinner at the American Legion Post 71 in Oakland on Saturday, April 17, with approximately 125 people in attendance. Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans, master of ceremonies, welcomed the crowd and led in the pledge of allegiance. Dave Martin, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court, sang the National Anthem, followed by Rev. William C. Skipper, who led the invocation.

Elected officials, district chairpersons, and special guests were introduced by Sheriff Evans. Special guests included Joyce Terhes, Maryland Republican Party chairperson; Richard Taylor, Republican National Committeeman; Sixth District Congressman and Mrs. Roscoe Bartlett; Delegate Robert Flanagan of Howard-Montgomery counties; Robert Neal, county executive of Anne Arundel County; and Bill and Lois Sheppard, former candidates for Maryland governor and lieutenant governor.

U.S. Attorney Richard Bennett, guest speaker for the evening, reported that the next couple of years would be very important ones for the Republican Party with both the federal and state government being dominated by the Democratic Party. He predicted a major opportunity for Republicans at the state level with the coming demise of the Schaefer Administration.

He enumerated many positive steps which had been taken during the Reagan-Bush era to strengthen the criminal justice system and encouraged members to stay active in order to make a difference in the future, according to a spokesperson.

Following Attorney Bennett's presentation, District 1-A Delegate Senator John Hafer presented a Republican of the Year award to Judge Lewis R. Jones. A moment of silent prayer was observed in memory of Burlin Holler, district chairperson, Crellin, who recently died.

The evening concluded with Dave Martin leading the group in singing "God Bless America."

Local Churches Plan Vacation Church School

Vacation Church School involving several Oakland area churches will be held July 26 through July 30 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day. Openings and closings will be held in St. Peter's Catholic Church, with classes in St. Peter's new building and at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Registration forms are available at the five participating churches: St. Mark's Lutheran, St. Matthew's and St. John's Episcopal, St. Paul's United Methodist, and St. Peter's Roman Catholic. The due date for these forms is Sunday, June 27.

All children entering kindergarten in September 1993 through ninth grade are welcome to attend. Youths who are not members of these churches are also invited.

Anyone going into 10th grade or older, including adults, are invited to help. Persons may contact Kathy Shaffer at 334-9032 to volunteer or obtain more information.

Garrett Seniors Earn Departmental Honors At FSU

At Frostburg State University's recent Honors Convocation, five Garrett County undergraduate students received six departmental awards for excellence. The Honors Convocation included presentation of the FSU Foundation Faculty Achievement Awards, the Dr. R. Bowen Hardesty and R. Bowen Hardesty Jr., Award; Graduate Program Honors and Undergraduate Departmental Honors.

Local students awarded undergraduate departmental honors include: Brenda Ruggiero, Accident, mass communication; Paul Browning, Deer Park, computer science and mathematics; Kimberly Czuchrey, English, and Gloria Broadwater, mathematics, both of Grantsville; and Nancy Buchanan, Oakland, art education.

A non-traditional student, Brenda Ruggiero will graduate in May with highest honors. After completing a practicum with a local publishing firm, she was hired and now serves as an associate editor of the firm and is supervising another FSU practicum student. She earned dean's list honors and received a Maryland State Scholarship.

Kimberly Czuchrey graduated in December with a perfect 4.0 grade point average. Recipient of a Meritorious Achievement and the Upper Division Education Achievement Awards, during her time at FSU she maintained a high level of activity with her church and community. She has taught at Zion Academy and Garrett Community College, and is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, the English Honorary Society. She plans to attend graduate school in English or education.

Nancy Buchanan developed experimental classes for children under the auspices of Department of Visual Arts Professor Patricia Smith. She has worked as a substitute teacher and teacher's aide and has been a Cub Scout Den Leader and Girl Scouts Group Leader. She was 1992 recipient of the Art Education Merit Award.

December 1992 graduate Paul Browning earned departmental honors in both his majors, mathematics, and computer science. He is a member of numerous academic honor societies and professional groups, and is president of the FSU Computer Science Club. Author of several published computer user's guides, he gives presentations on computer topics and is employed as a consultant and troubleshooter by TCI Computer Systems, Oakland. He is also active in community life, in his church, local 4-H group, and the Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums.

Gloria Broadwater will graduate magna cum laude in May. She has served as a tutor for the mathematics department's Introductory Statistics course and is a member of Kappa Mu Epsilon, mathematics honor society. Recipient of the Excellence in Mathematics Scholarship, she is completing an internship with the Department of Health and Human Services at the National Center of Health Statistics. She plans to pursue doctoral work in statistics.

Soil and Water Stewardship
April 25 - May 2, 1993

"Hands Of Healing" Is Theme Of National Soil Stewardship Week

For centuries, men and women have offered humble thanks to God for the priceless gifts of soil, water, air and sunshine which make all living things possible. This gratitude by religious people has been expressed in many ways over the years but in all its forms there has been a continuing thread of emphasis on the wondrous powers of the Almighty to create and to heal.

The world as we know it could not exist without a fruitful agriculture. A regular harvest is a critical matter. But nature, like man, is erratic. There are times when the very elements seem to conspire against a yield.

When the rains cease and the earth cracks, when storms and pestilence wreak their havoc, fields become barren and livestock grow gaunt in search of grass. It is then, and particularly in times of prolonged hardship, that the call goes out for divine intervention to ease the suffering and restore the bounty of the soil.

In the United States, the decision to set aside a week each year to acknowledge before God our gratitude for His gifts of soil and all the bountiful resources associated with it has met an evident need of a great many people.

The week -- known as Soil Stewardship Week -- has become a special time to remind all people that these gifts of the Creator warrant their best in creative conservation and considerate management.

In parts of the South earlier in this century, a few churches and their congregations began to set aside the fifth Sunday after Easter as Soil and Soul Sunday. Subsequently, this designation was changed to Soil Stewardship Sunday when, in 1946, the publishers of Farm and Ranch magazine took an initiative. They suggested to religious leaders in a number of southern states that one Sunday be set aside each year as time for a special reminder to the men and women of their congregations about the ethical obligations of all people to serve as responsible stewards of the land.

The response of clergymen and laymen was so warm and widespread that observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday spread steadily to additional churches and additional states. In 1954, the publishers of the magazine (circulated primarily in the South) suggested to the officers of the National Association of Conservation Districts that a still wider observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday could aid significantly in bringing about a national awakening and recognition of man's duties as stewards of the earth.

To help achieve this goal, the publishers offered to transfer their limited sponsorship of Soil Stewardship Sunday to the Association, which represents some 3,000 local conservation district organizations in all the states and territories of the nation. The NACD accepted and, beginning in 1955, undertook to foster the observance on a nationwide basis.

A year later, recognizing possible conflicts with Rural Life Sunday and other events often observed on church calendars, Soil Stewardship Sunday was changed to Soil Stewardship Week -- beginning always with the fifth Sunday after Easter and continuing through the sixth. The change provided a helpful latitude in church timing for the observance.

In its stewardship efforts, the association has been guided by a Soil Stewardship Advisory Committee of clergymen representing a number of the nation's major religious denominations. Many other church leaders have provided notable assistance. Officers and members of the NACD Ladies Auxiliary have been particularly helpful, as have members of several cooperating farm and conservation organizations.

The Soil Stewardship Week observance, by its very nature, is one to be joined in by everyone who shares a sense of personal responsibility under God for the care of soil, water and the other vital elements making up our environment. The prime concern of conservation districts, along with thousands of involved clergymen and laymen, is to encourage an ever-growing participation by Americans in this annual recognition of the continuing importance of thoughtful stewardship.

Haying & Grazing Period Will Close June 1, 1993

Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), said the official grazing and haying period will close June 1 for acreage conservation reserve (ACR) and conservation use (CU) acreage for payment (including the required 8%).

"Farm program participants are not authorized to hay or graze these acres between June 1 through October 31," Bachtel said. The wheat and feed grain programs prohibit haying and grazing of designated acreage during the principal growing months. "Farmers who fail to comply with these restrictions could lose program benefits."

He explained that cropland designated as ACR or Farming In Maryland.....

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

CU for payment must have been devoted to a row crop, small grain, or another annually planted crop in one of the last five years, and must meet certain size and width requirements.

ACR and CU for payment must be maintained in accordance with the program contract, and must be protected from wind and water erosion through approved cover crops or conservation practices. ASCS official Bachtel said farmers will be out of compliance if they do not carry out proper conservation measures, or fail to comply with grazing, haying, or harvesting restrictions.

Education Has Improved Progress Of Conservation

America's farmers are reducing soil erosion and have become more efficient in their use of crop-protection chemicals. They also are increasing the use of conservation tillage as they make steady progress toward full conservation compliance, the American Farm Bureau Federation told a House Agriculture subcommittee Wednesday.

During a hearing on the Site-Specific Agricultural Resource Management Act of 1993 (H.R. 1440), AFBF President Dean Kleckner cited agriculture's ongoing conservation progress through "education, not regulation."

Last year, Farm Bureau projected the percentage of conservation compliance program acres fully implemented by 1993 would be 57.6 percent. The Soil Conservation Service's recent data indicates farmers are just slightly ahead of that pace, at 58 percent of acres fully implemented.

Kleckner warned, however, of the need for increased educational, technical and cost-share assistance in addition to plan flexibility to help farmers reach total compliance by 1995.

"We frankly have a concern that to burden SCS with the additional load of developing single comprehensive plans for agricultural land users during 1994 (as called for in H.R. 1440) is simply asking more than is humanly possible in the time allotted," Kleckner said.

"We strongly support the idea of SCS being the lead agency in conservation activities affecting agriculture. The most technically qualified people to develop comprehensive plans and to determine compliance work for SCS," he said. "Unfortunately, having SCS do both jobs will be perceived as improper by some people--SCS should not be asked to be both an enforcer and a judge."

To strengthen the system, Farm Bureau supports the establishment of an impartial appeals process to resolve disputes between producers and SCS regarding the application of conservation compliance provisions.

Another concern about H.R. 1440, Kleckner said, is it requires the agriculture secretary to issue regulations within 180 days of its passage.

"This is too fast to do a good job," Kleckner said. "It would likely produce a waste of resources. We need to get it as close to right as we can the first time. One year's time would be more appropriate."

Despite those concerns, Kleckner said H.R. 1440 contains many positive features. But, he encouraged the subcommittee members to avoid unnecessary "mandatory and punitive measures."

According to Kleckner, soil erosion has been reduced 90 percent or more on 36.5 million acres of land in the conservation reserve program. Also, through the conservation compliance program, soil erosion on another 135 million acres will be reduced by 50 percent to 60 percent. However, prior to conservation compliance, farmers voluntarily reduced erosion by 2.75 times as much as the program will when fully implemented in 1995.

Meanwhile, crop protection chemical use is down 20 percent from 1982, and nitrogen fertilizer use efficiency on corn is up 14 percent from 1980. The use of conservation tillage has increased steadily, now representing 31.2 percent of all planted acres. As an example, no-till soybean acreage quadrupled between 1980 and 1992, the Iowa farmer testified.

"I hope you will continue to support a voluntary, incentive-based, educational conservation effort," Kleckner said. "It is the road to success."

Sheep & Wool Festival Set For May 1 & 2

The 20th Annual Maryland Sheep & Wool Festival will be held May 1 and 2 at the Howard County Fairgrounds. Sponsored by the Maryland Sheep Breeders Association, the festival will feature over 700 sheep, especially bred for wool production. Sheep breeders and producers use the festival as an opportunity to make private treaty sales of their fine breeding stock and young animals.

A special festival feature will be the Cotswold Sheep Exposition displaying the versatility and history of the Cotswold. Animals are evaluated according to a Card-Grading System.

Some 30 breeds of sheep can be seen in the Sheep Breeds Display Barn, with literature explaining their differences. Spectators are invited to feel free to talk with owners about their sheep's uniqueness and purposes.

Feeder lambs will be exhibited for competition and for auction. Buyers, such as 4-H members, use them in summer lamb projects and competitions.

The Fleece Show and Sale, in the Main Exhibition Hall, has hundreds of high quality fleeces for competition and for sale.

Over 200 craft and supply booths will be in the festival buildings, barns, and outside where one-of-a-kind items can be purchased.

Mouth-watering samples of prepared lamb will be available in the Festival Food Building. The public may enjoy tasting samples and watching the cooks at work on the Grand Lamb Cookoff. At mealtime, the public may stop by the Lamb Vendors Booths for old favorite recipes and tasty new ones that will tempt their palate.

The "Sheep Shearing Through the Ages" show will be presented both days, covering the equipment and techniques of sheep shearing from early times to the present. On-going demonstrations of sheep shearing, spinning, weaving, sheep dogs working, gourmet lamb cooking, and others concerning additional facets of the sheep industry will take place both days.

Everyone, especially children, will enjoy seeing "Woolamina," who will be visiting from the New York State Fair. They will also enjoy listening to Maggie Sansone's hammer dulcimer music, bagpipers rendering popular Scottish and Irish airs, and other surprise entertainment.

Admission to the festival and parking are free. All buildings are accessed at ground level, permitting use of wheelchairs and strollers. The fairgrounds is located on Rt. 70 near Woodbine in Howard County.

Ground Still Too Wet For Much Fieldwork

During the week ending April 25 Maryland farmers worked as much as their slowly drying fields would allow, to make progress preparing fields and planting crops. Fruit trees welcomed some spring-like weather.

An average of 3.3 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending April 25, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, 35 percent of the topsoil had adequate moisture, while 65 percent had surplus moisture. Subsoil moisture was adequate in 24 percent of Maryland, while 76 percent had surplus moisture.

Field preparation was behind normal with about 21 percent completed. Pastures and cattle were in excellent condition, with adequate hay supplies and pastures developing nicely. Small grains were in fair to mostly good condition, plants were still gaining size and only rarely were beginning to head. Plantings of green peas and potatoes made rapid progress, now two thirds to three fourths planted, but behind normal progress. Planting of both sweet corn and field corn advanced slowly. Sweet potato growers were finishing their plantings.

Maryland's progress for the week ending April 25 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Planting progress: Corn for grain, 4, 10, 11; sweet corn, 12, 16, 15; spring oats, 13, 75, 80. Fruit bloom: Apples, 3, 34, 53; peaches, 64, 64, 89; and strawberries, 7, 25, 42.

with heavy precipitation. Precipitation averaged 1.45 inches, ranging from 0.60 at Chestertown to 2.71 inches at College Park. Regional averages were: western, 1.77; north central, 1.43; southern Maryland west of the Bay, 1.66; and Eastern Shore, 1.16 inches. Temperatures averaged 56.3 degrees, 0.4 degree below the normal of 56.7 degrees for the April 17-25 period. Minimum temperatures ranged from 29 to 43 degrees. Maximum temperatures were in the 80's in a few locations.

Clean Water Act Rewrite Needs Sensible Programs, Adequate Funding

Any rewrite of the nation's Clean Water Act must be science-based and incentive-oriented to be successful, the American Farm Bureau Federation told a House Public Works and Transportation panel last week.

Testifying before the panel's Subcommittee on Water Resources and Environment, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau President Keith Eckel said, "It is important for everyone to know that whatever water quality problems exist in rural America they are manageable problems and not a crisis."

Sensible non-point source pollution programs should include locally designed solutions, reasonable wetlands regulations and pollution permit trading, Eckel said.

Eckel outlined the need for a non-point source pollution program that retains the basic tenets of the current Clean Water Act's Section 319. That program preserves "the right of the states as the unit of government responsible for water quality stan-

Conservation Assistance To Farmers Available

The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) is a program designed to help farmers and landowners, who qualify, in cost-sharing on conservation practices to correct soil and water problems on their land.

The ACP assists in the installation of soil saving practices, including grass cover, sod waterways, strip cropping, watering troughs, manure pits and stream protection in order to control erosion. Assistance is also available to establish and improve timberland.

These practices help farmers and landowners reduce sediment, chemical and livestock wastes that contaminate streams. In addition to protecting the natural environment, ACP also increases agricultural productivity.

Cost-sharing is limited to $3,500 per person per fiscal year and the landowner must have a Conservation Farm Plan on all farms he owns or operates before the application is approved.

The ACP is administered by the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) who provides the technical assistance to landowners.

For additional information on the ACP program applications and payment, contact the Garrett County ASCS Office, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or call 334-1901.

lands law be passed. "From the standpoint of equity of landowners and good conservation," he said, such a statute is long overdue.

"Wetlands protection efforts have grown not by design but by default, litigation and bureaucratic expansion, rather than clear congressional intent," he said. "No one can defend (current regulations) as a credible wetlands policy. It is not fair to landowners, nor does it adequately protect wetland areas."

Effective wetlands and non-point source programs depend on "an adequate commitment of financial resources," Eckel said.

"If it is in fact a priority, Congress must re-allocate resources and consider new approaches like permit trading, which recognizes property rights and markets for making real, long-term water-quality improvements," he testified. "To establish programs without the means to make them succeed merely sets us up for failure."

Eckel, an AFBF board member, observed that farmers and ranchers want to do what is right for the environment, and they will respond to problems when provided with sound science and reliable, cost-effective solutions.

"Our public policies affecting water quality should be based on fact, not perception," he said. "There is a critical need for continued research and a greater understanding of the site-specific linkages between farm practices and water quality."

Eckel identified an "urgent need to consolidate the multitude of water-quality programs at the federal and state level," but he expressed concern with a few aspects of

H.R. 1410, a bill introduced by Rep. Glenn English (D-Okla.), which would enable farmers to establish a single conservation plan for their farms and ranches.

What To Expect From The Alfalfa Weevil

Exceptionally cool, wet weather has greatly delayed weevil development. Furthermore, the short fall season of 1992 limited adult activity and thus, reduced the threat of early spring infestations of larvae from the hatch of overwintered eggs. Although it is too early for management decisions, I suggest that you concentrate scouting on fields with southern exposures to spot early weevil development. Although the present outlook calls for late and subnormal levels of weevil, one never knows for sure.

High-Lysine Corn

Yellow and white dent, waxy, high-lysine, high-oil, sweet and pop are examples of the flood of current day corn types. Each has unique characteristics that affect its use and, in some cases, in how it is grown.

Let's take a look at high-lysine corn. All protein is a combination of building blocks called amino acids. Although normal dent corn contains about 9.4 percent protein, the quantity of two essential amino acids, lysine and tryptophane, is below nutritional requirements for non-ruminant animals and humans. High-lysine (opaque-2) corn corrects this deficiency and may be advantageous in swine feeding rations. Appropriate feed supplementing is the alternative method of balancing the ration for these amino acids.

Adapted varieties of high-lysine corn are limited in number and are generally lower in grain yield than normal dent corn varieties. The softer kernels of lysine corn result in more breaking and cracking at harvest, which can lead to higher incidence of kernel or ear rot. Production fields must be grown in isolation from other corn fields. Cross-pollination results in normal dent corn. A separation distance of 100 yards is suggested.

Which One Do I Use?

Surfactants, additives or adjuvants...more products on the market than you can count on your "fingers and toes." Sometimes they are needed, sometimes they are not! Which one do you choose? Let's take a brief look at what they are.

When added to a pesticide, a surfactant reduces the surface tension between two unlike materials, such as a spray film and a solid surface. For example, by adding a surfactant to a sprayer, oil and water will mix and can be sprayed on plant surfaces. With increased emphasis on safe application of pesticides, such factors as droplet size, spray pattern, and pesticide drift have focused more attention on surfactants to give ideal coverage for pesticides.

Surfactants include: activators, compatibilizers, defloculators, detergents, dispersants, emulsifiers, foam and drift suppressants, and spreading, sticking and wetting agents (wett). These materials are added to a spray mix to help keep the pesticide in suspension; improve cohesiveness and dispersion of the spray; and increase the wetting (or coverage) of the leaves, fruits and stems.

The pesticide label should state whether a surfactant is needed or should be added to a spray mix for certain application and should indicate restrictions in the selection of compatible surfactants. In many cases, surfactants have been designed specifically for use with fungicides, insecticides, or herbicides.

All commercial spreading, sticking and wetting agents should be mixed strictly according to label directions. Adding more surfactant than recommended may cause excessive runoff, resulting in a poor spray deposit and reduce control. In general, if the spray mix contains one or more pesticides produced or formulated by the same company, use a surfactant sold or recommended by that company. Surfactants are sold separately from pesticides and are not subject to EPA registration.

Although choosing an effective surfactant to accompany a specific pesticide is not a simple task, the label will state whether a surfactant is needed and the brand that should be used. Some pesticide products will already contain the surfactant.

Hints To Growers

Jim Simms
Extension Agent, Agriculture Science

Strawberry Weevils Or Clippers

Many of our area strawberry growers may have never noticed or recognized the strawberry clipper. However, you probably have wondered many times what was clipping off the strawberry buds. The clipped buds are much easier to spot than the weevils. After 2 or 3 days of warmer weather with temperatures above 65 degrees, the overwintered adults will emerge to feed and lay eggs in the unopened buds. Clipper problems are most likely to occur in plantings adjacent to woodlots where concentrations of overwintered adults are the greatest. If you have had a problem in the past, I would suggest that you initiate a spray program until you learn more about the habits of the weevil or clipper. I would recommend that you apply either Methoxychlor or Lorsban IEC for control (follow directions on the label). Apply after new growth starts and before fruit buds are visible. Repeat 10 days later.

Host Families For Ag Students From Russia Needed

John R. Moore, assistant dean for international programs, reports that the College of Agriculture at UMCP is cooperating again this year with the Maryland Department of Agriculture in seeking farm families to host Russian agricultural exchange students for six weeks, starting about July 1. Each host family is expected to teach modern methods of agriculture informally to one Russian student in a work-study environment.

For further information, those interested may contact Dr. Moore at 2213 Symons Hall, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742; phone (301) 405-4776. Or get in touch with Robert L. Walker, Secretary, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401; phone (410) 841-5880.

Asparagus Beetle

Wherever asparagus is grown, the asparagus beetle will make its appearance as soon as the shoots push above the soil in the spring. They gnaw out the tender buds at the tips and cause the tips to be scarred and browned. The eggs are deposited in great numbers on the tips. After the leaves come out, the beetles and their slug-like larvae gnaw the surface of the stems and devour the leaves, thus robbing the root system of the food materials needed to form a good crop of shoots for the following season. The larvae also excrete a black fluid that stains the plants. Adult asparagus beetle injury is especially serious in new plantings.

The adult asparagus beetles are about 1/4 to 3/8 inch in length and are smooth, shiny and slightly elongated. The common asparagus beetle has a metallic blue head and bluish black wing covers with three yellowish squared spots and reddish outer margins. The area just behind the head is red with two blue spots. The spotted asparagus beetle is red-orange or tan and has six black spots on each wing cover.

Control Measures - Asparagus plants should be sprayed or dusted with Sevin or Malathion. Reading the label on retreatments and harvest dates. After the cutting season, the plants should be dusted with Sevin or Malathion, not only to lessen the injury to developing plants, but also to reduce the number of beetles the following spring. Many beneficial insects feed on or parasitize the various life stages of the beetle. Ladybird beetles, other predaceous beetles, soldier bugs, certain small wasps, flies and dragon flies reduce asparagus beetle populations. However, these beneficial insects often do not give sufficient control. The insect appears to be much less destructive in wet seasons. In small gardens, larvae can be knocked from plants onto the soil. The larvae usually are unable to re climb the plant and die on the soil.

Hints To The Home Landscaper

With the planting season just around the corner, many homeowners will be bringing plants home from nurseries and garden centers. One or more of the following mistakes for new plants may cause dissatisfaction with the outcome:

*Buying the wrong plant. The problem is usually not the plant but the location of the plant in your garden or landscape. All too often I find gardeners purchasing plants because the plant has a chance to survive under conditions of their garden. A similar problem occurs when the plant grows too large for the landscape.

*Setting the plant too deep into the soil. This will cause problems with most plants. Plants that are container-grown and balled or burlapped should be set slightly higher in the hole to allow to settle after planting. Bare-rooted plants can be set slightly lower with little harm.

*Setting a dry plant. Most container-grown plants are produced with an artificial material around their root system. When this organic material dries out, it can be very

Rural Community Fire Protection Applications Sent

Applications have been sent to all fire protection agencies in Maryland on the Rural Community Fire Protection Program (R.C.F.P.). This program is funded through the U.S. Department of Agriculture-Forest Service under Title IV, Rural Development Act of 1972, in cooperation with the State of Maryland.

A total of $34,200 has been allocated to Maryland for fiscal year 1993, and is available to qualifying fire protection agencies of Maryland. The main qualifying guidelines are: saving lives and protection of property in unprotected or inadequately protected rural areas; and the funding will reimburse up to 50 percent of the cost to local agencies after approval and certification that the items have been received and paid for by the agency.

Fire companies interested in applying for funding under the Rural Community Fire Program must have their completed applications into the Maryland Department of Natural Resources-Forest Service, by May 10, CLANCY, a female bloodhound who is a member of the Maryland State Police K-9 unit, was among the guests of the Bear Creek Delta neighborhood watch group at its spring meeting, held recently at the Accident fire hall. Accompanying Clancy, as well as Chester, a 120-pound German shepherd, and Bocephus, also a German shepherd, were Troopers First Class Larry Smith, pictured left, and Charles Brehm. The troopers and their canine companions demonstrated K-9 techniques used to apprehend and arrest suspects. The group also elected officers for 1993 and they are as follows: Harry Miller, re-elected chairman; James Moore, co-chairman; Sue Smith, secretary/treasurer; Francis Miller, chaplain; and Hugh McCormick, advisor. Plans were also made for the annual picnic, slated for July 11 at the Pleasant Valley 4-H Center. Approximately 50 persons attended the spring meeting.

1993. All applications should be sent to: Alan Zentz, Supervisor, Resource Protection, MD D.N.R. Forest Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, MD 21401.

Fire companies that have not received their applications should contact the D.N.R. Forest Service Office at Mt. Nebo at 301-334-3296.

past 10 years, Woodmen's life insurance in force has grown by $20 billion and assets have tripled.

The Society added more than $30 million to its contingency reserve in 1992, bringing it to $271.5 million.

During the past year, Woodmen has focused on budgeting and cost control. "Our budgeting controls resulted in a 4.2 percent reduction in general expenses," said Bookout. "Our expense ratio is lower than five years ago."

"We feel very good about these results," said Bookout, "particularly in today's financial environment."

Woodmen of the World, whose Home Office is in Omaha, Neb., is one of the largest fraternal benefit societies in the United States. It offers insurance protection which includes Whole Life, Universal Life, Term and Hospital Supplement insurance, and annuities.

The Society's 848,000 members, who hold 985,000 certificates, belong to 3,000 lodges throughout the United States. Woodmen lodges across the country conduct fraternal projects of benefit to people and their communities. These projects range from the presentation of U.S. flags to the donation of equipment to fire departments, rescue squads and hospitals, and assistance for senior citizens, the handicapped and orphans.

W.O.W. Society Records Best Financial Year

Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society recorded its strongest financial year in its history in 1992. National President and Chief Executive Officer John G. Bookout has announced.

Net gain from operations before dividends reached $117 million, an increase of 21.7 percent over the $96 million reported in 1991. This marks the first time in its almost 103-year history that the Society has surpassed the $100-million mark.

Woodmen also recorded a record net investment income of $244.6 million in 1992, a 9.7 percent increase over the $222.8 million recorded the previous year.

Woodmen reported total income of $786,812,787 in 1992, an increase of $129.9 million over 1991, and paid $85.1 million in dividends to members in 1992. Woodmen's net income after dividends increase from $11.9 million in 1991 to $31.8 million in 1992, an increase of 167 percent.

Premiums from annuities reached $161.2 million, an increase of 34 percent, while total premium income grew 15 percent in 1992 to $470.6 million.

The Society's assets increased 13.7 percent, from $2.67 billion in 1991 to $3.03 billion in 1992. Life insurance in force reached $27.3 billion, an increase of $1.5 billion over 1991. During the

Senior Citizen Outreach Rep To Be Available

During the month of May, the Senior Information and Assistance program sponsored by the Area Agency on Aging will continue to "reach out" to Garrett County senior citizens in an effort to meet the needs of all Garrett County elderly residents who are uncertain of available services or programs or of where to locate specific ones that would benefit them.

A representative will be available at several locations throughout the month to provide personal assistance in areas such as health, social services, housing, nutrition, income, and financial aid.

The outreach representative will be available at the Kitzmiller Community Building, Tuesday, May 11; the Pinzel fire hall, Thursday, May 13; and at The Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, Tuesday, May 18.

Garrett County senior citizens living in these areas are invited to bring their questions during the hours

CRIME SOLVERS

The case of the week for the Garrett County Crime Solvers concerns a recent armed robbery at Fox's Pizza Den in McHenry.

An unknown suspect, armed with a bolt action rifle, apparently entered the establishment at 11:35 p.m. on April 18. He demanded money from the person behind the counter, and at that time an undetermined amount of cash was turned over to the culprit. He fled the store and was not apprehended.

The suspect is described as a white male, approximately 20-25 years of age with black hair and a moustache. He is about six feet tall and weighs approximately 170 pounds. He was wearing a toboggan-type hat, dark sunglasses, and had a nylon stocking over his face. He had on a light camouflage jacket with a tan t-shirt underneath, camouflage pants with a black belt, and brown jersey gloves.

Any person with information about this crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

The spring Little League

The Caught In The Middle staff has been busy collecting news and pictures for our column. We are currently planning two field trips this spring to journalism workshops in the area. Pictured are (left to right) Autumn Williams, Christina Shetler, Jennifer Friend, Karrie Nine, Jackie Stanley, Erin Shaffer, and Amanda Mountain.

season is getting closer! It starts on May 1. Be sure and go watch a game this year. There are teams sponsored by many businesses. They are Brownings, Big Tee, Woodmen of the World, American Legion, A&A Realty, Orioles, Knights of Pythias, Lions, Glatfelter's, and American Trust.

Erin Shaffer

Nathan Rickman, eighth grade, recently took a third place finish at the Mid-Atlantic AAU Western Regional Wrestling Tournament. This qualified him to move on to the Eastern National Championship in Bloomsburg, Pa., where he placed seventh in his division. Congratulations, Nathan!

A Celebrity in Our Midst!

Andrew Harvey, seventh grade, was a guest soloist in the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Elijah. He sang the part of the Youth. He was a soloist with world famous singers. Andrew said, "I was really excited getting to sing with all of those stars!"

Karrie Nine Dances

The following dates are dances at Southern Middle. They are May 14, May 28, June 4, and June 18. It is $3 a person and drinks and snacks are provided for 50 cents.

Older Americans' Month Proclaimed; Events Scheduled

Governor William Donald Schaefer and Rosalie S. Abrams, Director of the Maryland Office on Aging, announce that as a tribute to the seniors of Maryland, the month of May will be designated as "Older Americans' Month." This is in line with "Older Americans' Month," the national effort to recognize seniors throughout the month of May.

To officially kick-off this month-long observance, Governor Schaefer has issued a proclamation that honors the more than 735,000 Marylanders over the age of 60 for their contributions to improving and advancing the State of Maryland.

"I am delighted to pay special tribute to Maryland's older residents this way," said Governor Schaefer. "I am urging all community leaders, public officials and other citizens who are concerned with the well-being of seniors, to help make Maryland a better place for older residents to live."

"Throughout the month of May, the Maryland Office on Aging will be working with the local Area Agencies on Aging to host many activities that honor our older citizens," said Ms. Abrams. "As one of the State's Partners in Prevention, we have focused our resources primarily on programs designed to prevent premature institutionalization."

May 2-8 is "Elder Abuse Prevention Week." The Maryland Office on Aging is working to address the problem of elder abuse through public information, outreach and development of related programs and services. To acknowledge the importance of this problem in the lives of older Marylanders, some of the Area Agencies on Aging will sponsor elder abuse prevention programs in their jurisdictions.

In Garrett County, all nutrition sites and senior centers will provide Medication Management "Brown Bag" Reviews during the month of May. Then on May 21, an exhibit and reception will take place for the Garrett County participants and winners of the Maryland Senior Citizens' Creative Arts Competition. The event will be held at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident. Each participant in the competition will win an award. From May 23 to May 30 all nutrition sites and senior centers will host a "Bring a Friend to Lunch Day," one day during this week.

For more information about these events, persons may contact the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging.

For more information on the State activities being planned for May, persons may contact the Maryland Office on Aging. The Maryland Office on Aging can be reached by dialing 1-410-225-1273 or 1-800-AGE-DIAL.

Arthritis Support Group To Meet

The next meeting of Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Arthritis Coping Together (ACT) support group will be held Tuesday, May 4, at 7 p.m. at the Health Department Center in Grantsville, located along Miller Street. Charlotte Bock, vice president of patient care services at Garrett Memorial, will be the group facilitator.

The purpose of the ACT support group is to help those people whom arthritis has touched know they are not alone. It will also give them the opportunity to share how they have been able to cope with and control the problems that may have been caused by their condition," said Bock.

ACT support groups are presented in cooperation with the Arthritis Foundation. These groups can help those with arthritis and their families cope better with daily living by sharing feelings, common concerns, frustrations and experiences, Bock explained.

The first meeting of the ACT support group, held April 6 and facilitated by Bock, was attended by 12 people from Oakland, Grantsville, and Aurora, W.Va.

Following the May 4 Grantsville meeting, another ACT support group meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, May 11, at 7 p.m. in the boardroom of Garrett Memorial.

Persons desiring more information about the ACT support group may call (301) 334-2155, ext. 359.

Multiple Sclerosis Month Proclaimed

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer recently proclaimed May 1993 as Multiple Sclerosis Month. The Multiple Sclerosis Association of America requested the proclamation to create public awareness and understanding toward the disease.

MSAA, which is the first MS group to originate this program, provides patient care services to MS sufferers in Maryland as well as thousands across the country.

The proclamation, in part, states: "Maryland is pleased to join in celebrating a special month whose honorable aim is to make a productive difference in the lives and life experiences of MS sufferers."

MS is a nervous system disorder, affecting over 300,000 Americans. It strikes young adults, with symptoms ranging from blindness to paralysis. MSAA services include a toll-free 24-hour hotline, counseling, the free loan of therapeutic equipment, support groups, barrier-free housing, bi-monthly newsletter, and referral information. For more information, persons may call 1-800-833-4MSA.

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

WHITE OAK LEVEL is the name of this area situated between Hickory Ridge and Oak Hill, west of Accident. Before settlers removed the white oak trees, the area was a dense, broad-leaved forest. The photo shows a sawmill on the Joseph Groer farm. Steam engines were relatively new around 1900, but brought great advances in the lumber business. Some of the people in the photo are: Della Miller, Emma Deal, Joseph Groer and wife, Benjamin Schroyer, and Peter Kahl (with the baritone). Note the zig-zag rail fences and extensively cleared land. Evidence of extremely laborious work by these early Garrett County dwellers. This photo, on loan by Mary Strauss, Accident, is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican. The Historical Society will hold its spring bus tour of northern Garrett County in conjunction with the National Pike Festival and Wagon Train next month. The tour will include several historic sites in the Accident and Grantsville areas. See story elsewhere in this newspaper for more information.

Mental Health Month Proclaimed By Gov. Schaefer

Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), announced that ceremonies will be held on May 3 to mark the start of "Mental Health Month" in Maryland, as proclaimed by Governor William Donald Schaefer. Maryland Congressman Ben Cardin will be the guest speaker.

The program will begin at 11:30 a.m. at Gold Ring Mall, on Philadelphia Road in Baltimore County. May is also "Older Marylanders Month," so the program will also address the mental health needs of the elderly.

"It is important that we educate the citizens of Maryland at an early age if we are ever to win the battle to reduce or conquer the stigma of mental illness," said Governor Schaefer.

Students from Perry Hall Middle School and RICA-Baltimore, senior citizens from local senior centers, state officials, and representatives from community mental health agencies will participate.

"Mental Health Month activities have been designed to help all citizens learn the warning signs of mental illness and seek treatment," said Secretary Sabatini.

The kick-off activities will involve demonstrations of the therapies in art, dance, movement, music, new games in recreational therapy, and a performance of an anti-stigmatization information booth will be sponsored by community mental health programs and lunch for the students and senior citizens will be donated by Roy Rogers of Gold Ring Mall.

Similar events are planned throughout the state, and open houses will be held throughout the month. Locally, there will be an open house at Garrett County Courthouse on May 19 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"It is important that we do everything we can to reduce the stigma of mental illness - stigma is a burden no one should have to bear," said Stuart B. Silver, M.D., Director of the DHMH Mental Hygiene Administration.

REAL ESTATE'S BEST!

Fact #3

RE/MAX has the most effective referral system in real estate.

The heart of our successful network is direct agent-to-agent interaction. Our agents set their own fees and deal directly with one another, with no middlemen involved. As a result, the rate of RE/MAX referrals resulting in completed transactions is approximately four times higher than the industry average.

RE/MAX's innovative program is the key to our agents' selling and listing success. Our experienced professionals benefit by working as independent entrepreneurs, yet enjoy the support of an international real estate network. They are in business for themselves, but not by themselves.

RE/MAX associates have the freedom to negotiate directly with clients, develop and implement their own marketing strategies, and conduct all types of real estate transactions. That's why RE/MAX agents out-produce competing agents by a 3-to-1 margin.

We're the only Garrett County real estate company with over 100 offices in Baltimore, Washington, Northern Virginia, and Pittsburgh to serve our clients, customers, and agents. Call Tommy today at 1-800-345-9221 or 301-387-4442.
